Agribition is hit

Holden's eight annual Agribition was held recently in the Holden Agricultural Complex.

With a goodly number of local entries and several from more distant points, the showing was seemed a successful event.

George Shewchuk of Edmonton, who judged the horticultural section was amazed and pleased with the high quality of the exhibits in the floral and vegetable classes. He and his wife gave of their time to discuss problems and handout gardening hints to the interested that gathered in the arena after the judging.

The five arts show brought many favorable and encouraging comments from Barbara McArthur, District Home Economist in Wainwright, who judged this section along with the sewing and handicraft.

Mrs. Elizabth Durie who serves the Vegreville and surrounding area in the capacity of Home Economist, did the judging for the baking and preserves. This display table was loaded this year.

Entries for the horse show were down this year but, the lack of number was compensated by the fine specimens shown. This event was judged by Neil McKinney of Viking. He also handles the pet show.

Paul Shtokal, resident of the Holden and District Agricultural Society and the members of his Agribition Committee extended a "thank you" to all those who brought the more than 300 exhibits, thus making the show a success.

Don Roth with the Projected Tofield Mun. Hospital Plan and Leonard Kowalchuk with Beaverhill Crime Watch, both of which created a great deal of interest in the afternoon with their exhibits.

Plans for next year's Agribiton will soon be underway.

The annual awards will be presented to the following for the highest number of points received:

Individual Adult Award-Doris Ogrodnick

Family Award-Doris and Joe Ogrodnick

Junior Award (under 18 yrs.)-Darcy Shtokal

Junior Award (10 and under)-Lori Kraus.

Batik workshop held in Tofield

by Lesley Primeau

An unique workshop was held at the Tofield Arts and Crafts room last Friday afternoon when Bintu Olaniyi of Nigeria conducted a batik session.

Batik, as defined by Oxford, is the art of printing coloured designs on textiles by waxing parts not to be dyed. The process is a rather lengthy one and entails the drawing of the initial design followed by the step by step dying and waxing of various colours, starting with white and continuing through progressively darker colours.

In Nigeria, Bintu Olaniyi has the distinction of having many of her works displayed in galleries and her work is readily sought after by many tourists.

She has spent the past two months conducting batik workshops in Camrose, Stony Plain, Medicine Hat and Edmonton, under the sponsorship of the Alberta Crafts Council.

Perhaps the greatest difference between batiks done in this country and those done in Nigeria, aside from the designs, would be the dyes.

In Canada, dyes can be purchased almost anywhere and many are specifically for batiking. However, in Nigeria, the dyes are natural coming from flowers, mushrooms or other naturally coloured products from which the colour can be extracted.

Later this fall, other crafts classes will possibly be conducted.

Trail ride held

On Sunday, the Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club held a trail ride at the Blackfoot Grazing Reserve.

Approximately 20 riders took part in the ride, some riders being from as far away as High Prairie.

Refreshments and ice cream were served after the ride.

Jack and Don Grey were the guides.

Club members will be taking part in the Kiddies Day rides in conjunction with the Legion and anyone having a pony that can be used for the rides is asked to please contact Walter Krystal before Saturday.

Anyone wanting to lead ponies is also asked to contact Walter by Saturday.

Scouts reach midway mark

. . . in fund-raising

by Lesley Primeau

A number of Tofield Boy Scouts were on hand Sunday afternoon at the Tofield Golf Club for a presentation by Charles Kallal of a cheque for $2,000 to help the Scouts in their continuing effort to raise the necessary funds to take part in this year's Australian Scout Jamboree.

Mr. Kallal had earlier this year promised the Scouts 10% of this year's golf fees which would have aided the Scouts greatly. However, Mr. Kallal, in recognition of the young men's eforts, doubled that amount, making his donation $2,000.

This donation is in addition to the profits from the club house concession which will also help the Scouts in their next 50% goal. Mr. Kallal chipped in the use of the clubhouse, the freezer and picked up the tab for the power costs.

The Scouts are still extremely active in their efforts to earn that last 50% and hope that the planned bottle drive this Thursday evening will aid the cause.

Scouts will also be collecting newspapers soon and urge Tofield residents to hang on to old papers for a while until the Scouts have a chance to collect them.

This week's Farmer's Market, to be held Friday afternoon, will find the Scouts with their usual assortment of home baking, cookbooks, souvenirs, fruit and cotton candy.

At last weekend's Old Strathcona Farmer's Market in the Park, held in Edmonton, the Scouts were on hand with many items for sale including fresh farm vegetables.

The Scouts will be attending their next market to be held September 11.

While at their booth in old Strathcona, a kindly doctor, who wished to remain anonymous, donated $100 towards the Scout's trip.

Another anonymous benefactor within the Tofield area gave the Scouts a car to sell and with that the Scouts were able to add an additional $1,000 to their pot when the vehicle was sold.

On Sunday, the Scouts will be attending the Beaverhill Light Horse Club's horse show to be held on the Fairgrounds. The club will be completing the show originally rained out at the Tofield Fair. The Scouts will be operating the concession throughout the day.

Recently a group of Scouts hoed 250 trees used for a spring shelter belt. In addition to that, the Scouts have been quite successful with their firewood sales and are now offering a half-ton truck load for $75, delivered.

In the weeks to come, they are expected to scrape, prime and paint the Hastings Lake Community Hall, continue to sell firewood, attend country fairs and ball tournaments as well as do the odd jobs in and around the community.

For the latest ventures the Scouts have been without the help and support of Grant Berg who has been a patient at the University of Alberta Hospital for the past couple of weeks. Grant, who recently suffered a ruptured spleen, had been extremely active in the fund raising projects.

The Scouts are more than interested in doing any job large or small, for whatever sum of money in order to realize their dream of going to the Australian Jamboree.

Those willing to hire the Scouts for lawn mowing, hedge trimming or window washing as well as anything else imagineable may contact Scout Master Don Kondrat or, any Scout.

This is what a cheque of $2,000 looks like. Charlie Kallal originally told the Tofield Scouts he would give them 10% of the golf fees for this year and then to their delight, doubled that amount. The Scouts hope to attend the Australian Jamboree.

"So what if it isn't a prime rib? Do what Ottawa tells you: eat less, chew longer!"

50 years?

The old question "Compared to what?" came to mind recently as people said high interest rates are behind the problems of the real estate market. The lack of sales, the lack of new home starts, the problems with rentals.

And one realtor holding national office commented on how things would take off again, how the building slump would be solved, if only interest rates could drop to fifteen percent.

FIFTEEN Per Cent? Why it's barely more than a year ago that twelve percent was considered iniquitous, and absolutely beyond the capacity, or the willingness, of people to pay. And now they want to get it down to fifteen percent.

Just goes to show how we can be manipulated to accept intolerable conditions if they first are made far worse, then relaxed. Anyone who even murmured fifteen percent a year ago would have been ridden out of the industry. Now he can hold a seat on the national executive.

Premier Lougheed's Tory members held a caucus a few days ago to discuss points which will be brought out during the fall session coming in a little over a month, but not even a whisper reached the public. In the meantime, WCC leader Gordon Kesler announces that if elected his party would immediately institute thirteen percent ceilings on interest rates. Without any really practical idea of where the money would come from, he's already scooped the Conservatives. Oh, sure, it would come from the Heritage Savings Fund . . . after all, it's got oodles of money, hasn't it?

Who knows, Lougheed may come out this fall with a thirteen percent program, (after Trudeau misses the chance at the premier's conference) but Kesler will still be able to say "Don't forget you heard it from us first." The trouble with an interest reduction program is that it must go on year after year after year until rates eventually drop to twelve percent or lower, which seems now to be an eternity away. Trudeau's program of $3,000 grants, on the other hand, is a once in a lifetime program, doing nothing for the homeowner. It will go to the vendor in the first place, rather than reducing the price of the property, and it won't cut the monthly payments.

Speeding seeding

(IDRC) - A simple mechanical seeder may increase soybean yields and free women from back-breaking labour in Thailand.

Soybean crops often follow rice to take advantage of any remaining soil moisture. Handsowing is important. Placing the seed accurately in the rice stubble gives a rough guide to proper sowing density, and allows the soybean to penetrate the soil easily by following the rotting rice roots, picking up extra nutrients at the same time.

In the traditional hand-sowing method -- a hard and tedious chore largely done by women -- the sower stoops or squats to put two to four seeds in a hole opened with a stick or trowel.

Scientists from the Asian Institute of Technology in Thailand have been able to cut seeding time by 20 percent, while easing the workload by letting the sower stand, using a hollow staff-like seeder that opens the soil and measures out two or three seeds at the same time. Working with a grant from Canada's International Development Research Centre, the AIT scientists are refining the design and preparing blueprints to be distributed to farm equipment shops in the country's soybean growing areas.

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint...

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (SF)- There really isn't much chance that Canada will pull out of her economic morass this year — or even next year. It won't happen, because those who created the mess are not ready to admit they've caused it and are not prepared to reverse some of the policies at fault.

When Finance Minister Allan MacEachen produced the latest version of his budget on June 28, he staggered some people by estimating that Canada would run a deficit of $19.6 billion. That's very nearly $850 for every man, woman and child in Canada.

It should not have been a surprise. In fact, the deficit is likely to be bigger when all the chits are covered — more like $22 billion. The other day I offered to bet a senior government official that the 1982-83 deficit would be closer to $24 billion than $20 billion, and he wouldn't bet.

The government is not only suffering a loss of revenue through lack of economic activity in the form of taxes, its also spending more and taking more out of the economy in the form of taxes. That leaves far less money around for private industry to borrow, so we can build houses, factories, or new stores. It means that government becomes the major borrower from banks and financial institutions, and it means that interest rates will be bid up further, to highs that only government can afford.

Economic expansion, dampened by government borrowing, will mean even less taxes paid, and more unemployment insurance cheques sent out by the central government, which remains truly convinced that it can run the economy better than any free market system of checks and balances.

One is tempted to use an impolite word about such foolishness.

It is not, however, seen as foolishness in the Cabinet chamber or the halls of Ottawa bureaucratic power, and that's the problem. The standard answer when things don't work for the federal government is that people don't understand, or that the provinces are fighting the system. Nobody around here ever admits they were wrong.

There's no sign that the people who fool about with the levers of power in Ottawa, and they always consider their own interests first, are even beginning to think they've made some major mistakes. Until they make that basic admission to themselves, there's not a snowball's chance that Canada can perform at the level of which she's capable. That's more than a chance. It's tragedy.

Those owful vowels

Attending a national agricultural conference exposes one to more than scientific data and professional opinion. It parades for all to hear the Canadian regional manner of speech. Three days of lectures and arguments gave this writer a chance to hear some differences in how Canadians from one part of the country abuse the vowels in our language compared with speakers from another region. Let me remind you that most of those presenting papers had two or three degrees from universities, all had at least one. Let it also be stated that not one person was heard to end a sentence with the word 'eh", so there!

The conference was of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, only English was used and I heard no speakers whose first language was evidently French. The vowel distinctiveness is a product of those whose mother tongue is English. Generally the peculiarities have to do with how we pronounce our a's and o's. Let me give you some examples.

Ontario schools a generation ago must have stopped using a's and substituted e's in their place. That is what would cause a professor to talk about "a trector built in Cenada". His Ontario associate also referred to "a dairy bern and registered brends of food end that's not all".

Still in Ontario, one is led to believe that Brooklyn, New York or Chelsea, England, are closer to Guelph than we thought. 'It is toyme for development of new toypes of taxation", for instance. "Outsoyde of these limitations I will stand behoynd the research" and "Moy case can be confirmed".

The letter "a" gets special treatment in Cape Breton and a lecturer spoke of "a slotted floor bayrne for pigs, a moter cayr and malting bayrly". An original P.E.I., thence Ottawa and now B.C. economist, repeatedly spoke of "government progrums". Of course, he also liked to use words like "operationalize" and "researchwise".

Our academic elite contains many who took a degree or two across the briny. Some of these fellows have adopted the roundest "o" imaginable. We heard, 'I nowt a statement by Dr. —— and will quowte briefly".

It was harder to identify the Canadian region responsible for pronouncing the word debate as debotte, the word applause as aplose and the word behooves as behoves. All three were used in this way by a former Westerner now in darkest Ontario.

This little article has no serious purpose except to point out that visitors think they can tell Canadians from Americans by how we pronounce vowel combinations, especially words containing ea or ou. It begins to sound as though Canadians can begin to laugh and fight about how "that other region talks", as well. "That should draw us closer", he said in his flat prairie twang.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

Today's pre-occupation with the "unwanted child" and subsequent abortion mills across the country makes me wonder sometimes if a child really cares about material things. God willing, our children will never actually suffer the acute poverty of the Great Depression. On the other hand, as a child born into the Depression, there are no bitter memories of daily jaunts to the Free Meal Kitchen, hand me downs and ice cream made with ice from the fishmonger sprinkled with sugar and lemon juice. There are, however, golden memories of love, sacrifice, laughter, music and a blanket of communal concern and care — where a neighbourhood of Good Samaritans could be relied upon for a few slices of bread, a few candles when the gas mantle burned out and the maintaining of order amongst a small army of hungry urchins.

If today's world seems short on caring and concern, it can only be that an affluent society and a greed-oriented advertising media has driven a wedge between humankind. As possessions are offered as a status symbol, so Government has taken on the duties once afforded by caring neighbours. Human charity and compassion has become a giant bureaucratic machine made up of forms, questions, and rules that strip man of his dignity to the point where he would suffer rather than submit to the indignity of the professional do gooder.

As against the hundred and one agencies that have taken on this job of loving one's neighbour, the purely personal and voluntary act of individual kindness is seen as somewhat redundant. The Good Samaritan simply looks up the yellow page and directs a man to the appropriate agency!

To be sure, between job, family, housework, cooking and recreation, time is often our most precious commodity. Often, it is easier to write a cheque than telephone a lonely widow. Yet money cannot provide this precious gift of time — a gift that often means the difference between feeling worthless and unwanted and being part of the human race.

When I look back on my life, I do not feel a warm glow at the great personages I have met. While history may record their achievements, they are diminished by the purely human acts that expressed love without any strings attached, acts of caring given without measure. There was Miss Pannet, the teacher who gave encouragement to a twelve year old writer. There was Leonard Crocumbe, the magazine Editor who gave an aspiring writer her first dictionary and so many more. These are the pearls in my necklace of life — a necklace clearly marked "Made by heart."

District news from Ryley

by Lena Neil

Eileen Owen of Lacombe visited with her parents, the Gerald Owens recently, also Gerald's sister's Dean and Helen of Edmonton. They also visited their sister, Dorothea and Bert Kirkeland in Ryley and attended the senior citizens get-together.

Robert Lyslo phoned his mother again last week and he was in Baden, Germany which is the area his great grandfather J.R. Stauffer, came from. He plans on being home this week.

Ruby and Pete Hunka of Tofield and Ida and Stan Hunka of Ryley South motored to Edmonton on Sunday to visit John and Mae Hunka and Gina Anderson.

Last Wednesday was Mike Pawalko's 89th birthday. Lunch was served with birthday cake and ice cream. Lucy Owen and Gwen Campbell prepared the lunch.

Mrs. Mary McKay and James received the sad news that Mary's only daughter and James' sister, was killed in a car accident in Spokane, Washington.

Mrs. Margaret Helgeland has been a patient in Tofield Hospital, also Jorgen Davick, Kenny Nerasaen and Mrs. Holm, Sr.

Senior citizens, 15 of them, motored to Bellis on Monday to pick blueberries but, their picking was shortened by rain and on Saturday, twenty-four seniors went on a tour of Fort Edmonton.

A family get-together was held at Henry and Laura Podrumy's in Camrose on Sunday to help Henry's mother celebrate her birthday and on Monday morning, Laura's aunt and cousin of Ryley got in on a piece of the birthday cake.

On August 6, 7, and 8th at the farm of William Pope, was a family gathering. The descendants of William Pope and Amy Innis who are Amy (Ted) Bird of England, William (Ann Hastland) of Ryley, Winnifred (Albert) Johnson of Holden, Marguerite (John) Fish of Ryley, Robert (Helen Nesbitt) of Fergus, Ontario, Francis (Helen Medivitt) of Ryley and their families all gathered for a reunion.

Many cousins met for the first time. Most people brought their campers and trailers and stayed all weekend.

On Saturday night, there was a banquet in the Ryley Community Hall and a dance followed. The friends who were present from the farthest point were the Takeuchi family from Hamamatsu, Japan.

The other family members from the farthest point were Robert and Helen Pope and their son, Bobby and his wife, Kathy and Robert's grandsons, Sean and Brett, all of Ontario.

On Sunday afternoon approximately 275 people gathered at the Salem Mennonite Church Fellowship Hall to help Leo and Ellen Lauber celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. A program began with several group songs led by Calvin Lauber.

The account of the 1957 wedding, which had appeared in The Tofield Mercury, was read while three young ladies modeled the wedding gown and two of the bridesmaid dresses. Son-in-law Wayne then shared some very interesting items for the Edmonton Journal of Aug. 30, 1957. Just to name a few, he noted that jeans (either Texas, denim or boxer style) sold for 99c; tires $14.95, installed free; and B.C. peaches were $2.49 a case.

"Let's Reminisce" brought laughter from the crowd as Merlin and Betty Stauffer and Ben Lauber shared memories from the past about Leo and Ellen. Luella, youngest daughter of Leo and Ellen, sang a solo and Lonnie, youngest son of Leo and Ellen, read a poem. Several gift presentations were made, to which both Leo and Ellen replied.

The cake was then cut. It was a duplicate of the wedding cake 25 years ago, which Ellen's mother had decorated. Edith Wideman made the duplicate. It looked beautiful beneath an arch of flowers which Ellen's mother had made 25 years ago.

Lunch was then served which brought the afternoon to a close.

Farmers' grants

A recent publication put out by Alberta Agriculture and entitled "Assistance Available for Alberta Farmers" provides a comprehensive list of nearly 40 assistance programs that are available to Alberta farmers.

It outlines programs related to nearly every aspect of farming from crops and livestock to energy and water development.

A description of the recently announced Range and Soil Improvement Program is included as are various provincial and federal energy assistance program.

Among these are the Propane Vehicle Grant Program and the Assistance for the Rental or Purchase of Fuel Oil or Propane Tanks Program.

Copies of "Assistance Available for Alberta Farmers" (Agdex No. 871) can be obtained, free of charge, from your district office or from the Farm Business Management Branch, Alberta Agriculture, Olds, Alberta, T0M 1P0.

Minerals needed

A large number of both grain and roughage samples that were analyzed in a survey carried out by Alberta Agriculture in 1980-81 were found to contain less than the recommended levels of manganese, copper, zinc and selenium.

According to Ron Weisenburger, the head of Alberta Agriculture's nutrition section of the beef cattle and sheep branch, there was no clear geographical distribution of the mineral deficiencies except in the case of selenium.

Here the highest number of samples that had less than the standard 100 ppb of selenium came from the black, dark grey and grey wooded soil zones west of Highway No. 2 and north of Highway No. 16.

Mr. Weisenburger also reports that a study of forages in the Barrhead area showed that the concentration of many minerals decreased as the forages matured. He says the location where the forage is grown and the type of minerals involved can have a significant effect upon the forage's concentration of a specific mineral.

Mr. Weisenburger also says that a reduction in livestock feed intake followed by reduced gains, milk production and reproductive performance are usually the first symptoms of a mineral deficiency. Although cases of apparent trace mineral deficiencies are not uncommon, he warns farmers not to look upon the supplementation of trace minerals as a "cure all"! He advises them to check the levels of energy, protein, calcium, phosphorous and vitamin A in the rations they are feeding, and if these are adequate, to check out the possible presence of a disease-related production problem with their veterinarian.

Mercury dipped

It was close!

Fortunately, records weren't broken.

The mercury dipped to five above on Saturday and Sunday, a week ago, and that was only two degrees warmer than the record low for those two dates.

For the most part over the past two weeks, temperatures have come within two to four degrees of record lows for this time of year with some of those record lows dating back as far as 1938.

While most daytime highs aren't usually near any records, the closest occasion occurred on August 10th when the mercury did climb 27 degrees, just four degrees short of the record which had been set last year.

The average record low for August is a minus six while the average record high is thirty-four degrees above.

Looking ahead to the next month, there is quite a variance in the day and night average records.

The average daytime high is thirty-two above while the average nightlight low is a cool minus sixteen degrees.

Maybe it's time you jumped into something more demanding than a car pool.

POLICIES AND REGULATIONS

1. Admission to Kindergarten or Grade One

REGULATION - Children may be admitted as beginners in the schools of the County of Beaver according to the following:

Kindergarten Classes:
A child who will be FIVE YEARS of age by December 31st, in any year MAY attend a kindergarten class beginning in September of that year.

Grade One:
1. A child who will be six years of age by November 30th, of the year in which the child is presented for enrolment will be admitted at the start of the school year.
2. A child who will be six years of age during the period December 1st, to the last day of December of the school year in which the child is presented for enrolment, may be admitted to school as a beginner. However, if after attending school for a minimum of three weeks the child is judged to possess inadequate ability and/or social maturity to cope successfully with even a modified grade one program, the parents shall be required to withdraw the child from school, and may be requested to enrol, or re-enrol, him/her in the kindergarten class.

The decision to request withdrawal of the child from grade one is to be made by a committee consisting of the child's teacher, the Principal of the school and either of the Supervisor of Instruction or the Superintendent of Schools. The Principal is responsible for conveying the decision of the committee to the parents.

2. School Bus Pick Up Points

REGULATION - Residence approach pick up will be provided wherever feasible. However, in situations where residences aer in close proximity or back tracking and turnabouts are required the Board of Education will establish pick up points within ½ mile of the Pupil's residence approach. Pupils will be required to load the bus at these pick up points.

When establishing these pick up points factors such as the age of the pupils, distance of the residence from the County road, etc. will be taken into consideration.

Any exceptions to the above will be ruled on individually by the School Bus Committee.

Insulation saves money

The money you spend on insulation today will return benefits of lower fuel costs and increased comfort for years into the future.

The concept of good insulation is to provide a blanket of comfort over the whole house. Years ago when fuel was cheap, a small amount of insulation kept annual fuel costs within the average family's budget. Today, as fuel costs increase, better insulation standards become economical.

The best time to install insulation is when the house is being built. It's easier to put in place then, and will last for the life of the building.

Prior to construction, the structure can be designed to accommodate recommended increases in insulation. For example, the roof clearance over the exterior wall can be increased to take RSI (R40) insulation which is about 12 inches thick. Similarly, a wall with RSI 3.5 (R20) insulation can be achieved by using 2 x 6 studs, or 2 x 4's plus extra exterior rigid insulation.

"R" or "RSI" numbers, which appear on insulation wrappings, indicate the measure of resistance to heat flow. The R number is the old imperial measure and the RSI is the metric measure. For example, R12 is equivalent to RSI 2.1. The higher the R or RSI number, the more effective the insulation.

Insulation does not stop the flow of heat out of the house. It can only slow it down, so that it becomes easier to heat the house in winter and requires less energy to maintain a comfortable inside temperature.

Standards are minimum

At present, standards for the amount of insulation required in homes are minimum, and do not reflect energy-efficiency considerations. But there are various recommended standards that have been proposed by industry groups.

The original standard for insulation in new buildings formulated by the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air-Conditioning Engineers, is ASHRAE Standard 90. The Canadian equivalent of this standard is the "Measures for Energy Conservation in New Buildings", published by the National Research Council.

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) has adopted some of these recommendations. And the Canadian Electrical Association has launched an energy efficient home program which calls for RSI 7 (R40) insulation in ceilings, RSI 3.5 (R20) in walls.

Discussion is underway among interested groups on the standards for a "super insulated" house. This could result in a house with RSI 10.5 (R60) ceiling insulation and RSI 7 (R40) in 12 inch-thick walls. Windows would be triple-glazed and probably covered with shutters at night. A few progressive builders are already building this type of house in colder areas of Alberta.

Types of insulation

Insulation materials readily available in today's market are mainly made of glass fibre, cellulose fibre and foamed plastic.

The glass fibre insulation, in the form of batts, is probably the most common. Most houses use friction-fit batts, placed between the wall studs and covered with a polyethylene vapour barrier.

Cellulose fibre insulation is normally reconstituted from waste paper, treated with fire retarding and moth repelling chemicals. Properly made, this material is good insulation and is useful for blowing into attics and empty stud walls of existing homes.

When cellulose material is blown into a wall, careful checks must be made to ensure that there are no holes in the inside, allowing insulation to fill cupboards or others spaces. When blown into a ceiling space the insulation should not block vents or cover unprotected recessed light fixtures.

All insulation materials require a CMHC approval number, usually printed on the bag. When insulation is being installed, it's important to check that the contractor is providing the proper amount, at the proper density to result in the required R factor of insulation.

Foam insulations are commonly used on flat areas, such as the exterior of basement walls, flat roofs or roofs with low slopes. The most common foam insulation is expanded polystyrene foam. (Urea formaldehyde foam is no longer permitted to be installed as an insulation material because of potential health hazards.

Polystyrene foam is a light, easily handled, easily cut material which is not greatly affected by soil acids or by moisture. It must, however, be coated with paint or other opaque material, because it decomposes over time if exposed to the sun's ultra-violet light.

Vapour barrier a must

Any insulation must be covered by a vapour barrier in addition to the interior finish. The vapour barrier prevents moisture from penetrating the wall or ceiling space and condensing within the insulation material. This condensation makes the insulation more heat conductive, reducing its insulating value. The material used in most instances as a vapour barrier is polyethylene sheets, applied over the insulation.

Plumbing and wiring should be on the warm side of the barrier and this barrier should be as close to the inside wall as possible. Openings where wiring or plumbing enter frame walls or ceilings should be sealed to prevent penetration by moist air. Holes, tears or cuts in the vapour barrier should also be repaired before covering with the wall finish.

In building basements or crawl spaces, a 6 mil. polyethylene barrier should be spread on the ground before the concrete floor is poured; this reduces moisture entering the house from the ground and causing high humidity.

Areas where the joists are not quite snug between floor frames, window frames, or frame walls and the concrete foundations should be caulked or sealed. All caulking should be done from the inside to prevent moisture from entering the wall or ceiling cavity. However, where there is water leakage caused by wind and rain penetration, caulking should also be applied from the outside at the points where the leaks are occuring.

ALFALFA BLOAT PROJECT

Alfalfa is already the number one forage legume in the world. However, alfalfa has one major drawback — it sometimes causes gas to form in the animal's rumen, resulting in alfalfa bloat.

Federal scientists in western Canada have been working on ways to eliminate alfalfa bloat. They know the bloat is caused by the presence of the high protein levels and the rapid breakdown of the cell walls in the legume by the rumen bacteria. Several new strains of alfalfa with stronger cell walls have been identified and the scientists believe these could help eliminate bloat in the future.

No need to roam... SHOP WITH US The best shopping's here at home

What would it mean to you? How would you fare financially?

It could happen. In some towns it already has because the local people did most of their shopping out of town. We all know of communities with lots of empty stores... and empty stores mean less tax support... a lot less.

Did you ever think about how much of our community's taxes are paid by business? If they were no longer paying their share, do you know how much more your taxes would increase to pay for essential local services? If they no longer made charitable donations to those groups to which you belong, how much more would you have to pay?

A healthy business community benefits everyone. Shop locally.

Another old-timer passed away last week. Reid Burchard farmed for several years on his farm 1 mile north of the creamery in Tofield before retiring from farming and going to B.C. for a few years before deciding to return to Tofield to retire among friends. Mrs. Burchard is at present in the Tofield Hospital where her friends can visit her.

Among several old time friends that formerly lived in Tofield and districts around that attended the funeral of Reid Burchard were Mrs. Lucille (Doc) Morrison and her three sons and their families and Mrs. Kay (Doc) Baines as well as several others as well as a younger generation of his former friends who have already passed away.

Mrs. Eva Bridgman of Burlington, Ontario who is visiting her nephew, Norman and Virginia French spent from Aug. 14 to Aug. 19 with her cousin Ellen Eaton in Tofield. Norm and Virginia brought Eva down to visit with Ellen before returning home. During the afternoon, Eva and Ellen attended the Tofield Agriculture Fair, then on Sunday, they went out to Ellen's farm with Rose and Clayton Ross. On Wednesday, they attended the Tofield Golden Club. Thursday evening Virginia came for Eva from where she visited another nephew at Linaria before going to Regina to visit her daughter, Sheila and her husband, Don McKay before returning to Ontario.

Students adopt girl

In a press release issued by the Foster Parents of Canada, it was announced that the Ryley Junior High School Students Union has adopted Dora Alba Riascos of Buenaventura, Columbia.

Through the program the Ryley Students will see to it that fourteen year old Dora continues her education, wears proper clothing and has perhaps a slightly better existence than she would without the program.

The Foster Parent Program also stresses the need for proper medical care, dental care and vocational training. The Program is adapted to suit the needs of the particular child and family.

Dora, an avid basketball player, is in grade one of the high school program and lives with her mother, Olivia, brothers Hugo, Agustin and Heder and sisters, Maria and Consuelo in a wood house with a tile roof.

Senor Riascos died earlier this summer and his contribution as head of the household will be severly missed. As a driver, his monthly wage amounted to approximately $80, most of which was spent on the bare necessities of life.

The Foster Parents Program is active in Canada, Australia, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom and the United States of America and involves the assisting of children in 20 countries in the Third World.

A non-profit organization, Foster Parents Plan of Canada works tirelessly on their national campaign. The Ryley Students will be responsible for making a family's life just that more pleasant.

This week, the two-month playground comes to an end.

We have had very successful Special Event Days.

The first was a Scavenger Hunt with an Hawaiian Punch, animal bingo, penny carnival, day camp and sleep over.

All of the Special Events wnet over very well.

Our Year End wind-up will be a trip to Edmonton on Thursday to see the Provincial Archives Museum, a picnic lunch at Laurier Park then to Storyland Valley Zoo and a stop for lunch on our way home.

We bussed to Ryley for swimming on Aug. 14 and 24, in the afternoons.

Next year's program will include two day camps, one for the older kids and one for the younger kids.

Hopefully there will be rollerskating and a program for pre-teens and teens.

Future bride feted

by Grace Phillips

Sixty ladies gathered in the social room of the Tofield United Church on Thursday to wish happiness to Vicki Wall in her forthcoming marriage to Roly Kern.

The guests of honor were seated at the bride's table which featured tall yellow tapers, a bouquet of gladioli, and an arrangement of summer flowers.

The bride-elect, her sister, Mrs. Anne Oslund, and her mother, Mrs. Melita Wall were presented with corsages of red roses by Mrs. Marjory Everitt and Mrs. Hazel Patterson.

Mrs. Everitt welcomed Vicki and her attendents, as well as the ladies who had come to honor the bride.

She introduced the guests at the bride's table which included Vicki, her sister, Mrs. Anne Oslund, who will be matron of honor; Miss Verna Miklas; Mrs. Darlene Wagil; Mrs. Melita Wall, mother of the bride; and a special guest, Mrs. Mary Stinson, who has been known to all the Wall children as Grandma Stinson.

She gave a brief resume of Vicki's life saying that, though Vicki had been born in Ontario, she had spent all her formative years in Tofield. Coming from a secure and loving home, said Mrs. Everitt, will give Vicki a positive basis on which to model her marriage to Roly.

On behalf of all present, Mrs. Everitt wished Vicki a long and happy marriage

Mrs. Patterson introduced Mrs. Evelyn Moore and Mrs. Florence Ingam who presented a skit purporting to be an episode in the Wall home during which Vicki's approaching marriage was discussed.

The many beautiful and practical gifts were presented by Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Everitt to Vicki who was assisted in opening and listing them by her sister and Darlene Wagil.

Vicki thanked the ladies who had made the shower such a happy occasion.

Lunch was enjoyed during the social hour which followed.

Vicki, a graduate of the Tofield High School and of NAIT is a Registered Medical Records Librarian at the Edmonton General Hospital. She is the daughter of John and Melita Wall of Tofield.

Her fiance, Roly Kern of Edmonton is employed by R.D.O. Office Supply. He is the son of Ben and Herta Kern of Edmonton.

Roly and Vicki will be married on September 11 in the Tofield United Church. They will make their home in Edmonton.

Smith heads BRTA

Lindsey Smith of Settler will be the new president of the Battle River Tourist Association.

Smith was elected to the BRTA's top position by acclamation, according to a committee report submitted during a monthly meeting held last week.

Smith will be installed as president when the BRTA holds its annual meeting in Camrose in October.

The Settler representative will take over the chairman's position from Carol Land of Wetaskiwin.

Named to serve as 1st vice-president is Joyce Harrison of Hardisty while Rolf Jacobsen of Sedgewick will be 2nd vice-president.

When the BRTA holds its annual meeting, travel journalist with the Edmonton Journal, Stan Williams, will be the guest speaker.

Last week's meeting was held in Sedgewick on Thursday with Mayor Ernie Koehli and Flagstaff Councillor Rolf Jacobsen on hand to greet delegates.

Manager Sylvia Clemens reported that, while the overall tourist industry in Alberta was down somewhat this year, it didn't seem to affect the BRTA area and she illustrated that fact by giving figures on attendance during various attractions throughout the zone.

Members were advised that seven workshops in regards to the Battle River Tourist Destination Study were planned for September. One of the meetings will be held in Camrose on Sept. 15th.

Clemens also reported that the BRTA had been well represented in parades throughout the zone, having participated in fourteen such events, up to last week.

President Carol Land told delegates that souvenir sales (lapel pins and spoons) was going so well that a second shipment had to be ordered and had been received.

Members were told that the exact site of the future location of the Reynolds-Alberta Museum (formerly Reynolds Museum), which is to be near Wetaskiwin, should be announced shortly.

It was announced that the firm of Tien, Rostad & Budd of Camrose had been appointed as the BRTA's auditors.

The next BRTA meeting will be held in Leduc on Sept. 18th.

Tofield is a hubub of construction lately. With Highway 14 and Highway 834 road crews are everywhere and in the north of town, the Gospel Church is moving right along. The church is located directly behind the Tofield Lodge.

primeau's play pen

This might strike you a mite peculiar and I have to admit frankly it strikes, moi, with a tinkle or two, but I may have missed my true calling in life, after all if the truth be known I really wasn't born with a pen in hand, nor was I born with an IBM Selectric, though I may have a preference to the new Canon machines . . . I mean after last night's shenanigans at Linda's and Tim's there on 55th Street, I might very well have been a better brick layer than a reporter.

Deryl, 'walk a chicken, now into canning peaches' Karen Brennan's husband, was aiding in some home improvements at Tim's and low and behold the man can slap mortar with the best of them. Well, after a spell or two of watching that fella work I figured perhaps I could give it a try. One brick and we knew the right guy was working on that house. After all if in ten years the brick falls off can it still be my fault?

Now I might not be too good at the actual placement of the brick, but boy can I pick color and I'm mighty good at running that little wheelie thing that adds definition to the design . . . talent, I tell you, this girl has talent . . .

And now I must thank all those who came to our party at the office on Friday and partook of Donald Duck cake (could any other do?). We had a fine time I tell you and I thank all those who made the day that much more special.

Then there was the get-together at Browns' on Sunday where we lazed around, soaking in the rays and enjoying some good company. I had a great time and extend a very warm thank-you to those special people who came out.

A very special hello to Babe and Vic for their extra special bit of thoughtfulness which I found very moving. In a small community like Tofield you sure find warmer people than you night in the concrete jungle.

On a parting sneeze, in keeping with my cold, I want to assure Miss Dorothy, that while I am sure eating milk boiled onions in bed is a sure cure for a cold, the entire idea gives me the willies . . . after all next to fish I hate onions most. As for the garlic ideas thrown at me by others (with garlic you'd have to throw it) I think I will pass on that too. Mrs. Eaton's cold pills seem to have had a better effect than onions and garlic, after all then neither made me cry nor stink, so I owe a debt of gratitude there. Best suggestion of all is the stay at home, in bed and sleep. I'm real partial to that . . .

My parting shot for the night or morning depending on when you read the paper is a hello to the creamed tune expert extraordinaire . . . imagine, sneaking a fish into all that sauce with nary a bone and some peas to boot . . right Marg??

Around the town

Hullo, hullo and welcome to Rebecca, not of Sunnybrok Farm, but of Prince George, visiting those funny folks at J & D Confectionnery. Rumor has it that Rebecca is interested in the store business, therefore when you pop in for a cold soda welcome her to Tofield.

And a hearty welcome home to Bradley and Barb out there in Ryley . . . I have no idea where they went, when they went or even why they went, but I am certain they must be back or are coming back . . . of course it is entirely possible they never went.

A speedy recovery to Grant Berg who's just lazin' around the University Hospital in Edmonton. This young man seems to have a magnetic attraction to hospitals, he can't pass one without staying for awhile, must be the food. Either that or he's simply grown tired of rock cleaning and weed pulling for the Scouts. Grant is one of those enterprising young fellows who plans to go down under.

Try to remember, hockey fans, the Toros tryout is slated to begin Friday Sept. 3rd. If you need more inforamtion give Lorne a call at 662-3420 and he'll fill you in. Knowing how to skate helps. . .

Quick reminders . . . the farmers' market this Friday afternoon, the usual place and the Scouts bottle drive is tonight, Thursday, so ante up . . . and don't forget Kids Day on the fairgrounds this Saturday afternoon at 2.

Tree disease alert

Although Dutch Elm Disease (DED) has not yet made its appearance in Alberta, constant vigilance against this destructive disease is being urged.

Dr. Ronald Howard, plant pathology specialist at the Alberta Horticultural Research Center in Brooks, asks anybody who thinks that he or she may have seen an elm tree with DED symptoms to contact his or her nearest Alberta Agriculture regional crop laboratory, and, if possible, to submit a sample of the branch or branches that appear to be diseased for an analysis. He stresses that the early detection and the prompt removal of DED infected trees are basic to the control of this disease.

A typical symptom of DED between mid-June and mid-July is the wilting and curling of leaves on one or more branches. The main symptom later in the summer is usually a drooping and pronounced yellowing of affected leaves. Sometimes elms become infected in the late fall and do not display any symptoms until the following spring. According to Dr. Howard, such trees usually leaf out normally but their leaves are smaller than normal on one or more branches and sometimes over the entire tree.

Dr. Howard says the American elm, large numbers of which have been planted in Alberta cities and towns, is extremely susceptible to DED. On the other hand, Asiatic elms like the Chines and the Siberian elm are very resistant.

Both the native and the European elm bark beetle are mainly responsible for the spread of DED. Dr. Howard says that surveys carried out during the past three years have failed to find either species in Alberta, but he points out that they can easily be brought into the province in elm wood. And there is a real danger that the beetles could spread the fungus from DED-infected wood to nearby elms.

Plant protection specialists in Alberta have been concerned for some time now about the possiblity of campers bringing fire wood into Alberta from DED-infested areas in Manitoba and Montana. Hence, all camping grounds and border crossings have been posted with "KEEP DED OUT" notices to remind travellers of the risk of transporting DED in elm fire wood.

DED was declared a plant pest under The Agricultural Pests Act of Alberta in 1978, which makes it illegal to bring infected elm wood into Alberta. The act also spells out the steps that tree owners would have to take to eradicate DED if it should be found here.

Weeklies score

The results of a brand new readership Survey are in, results which have given the community weekly newspaper a healthy dose of credibility in the eye of advertisers, both national and local.

Made even more welcome by the fact that the survey results show weekly community newspapers (specifically Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association, or AWNA), newspapers enjoy a high readership among subscribers, during a time when advertisers are sharpening their pencils and fine-timing their ad budgets.

Because times are getting tough, advertisers are seeking more detailed information than mere circulation figures, to help them arrive at the most 'cost effective' media buy.

To aid advertisers in this end, and to emphasize the true impact of a community weekly upon its trading district, the AWNA commissioned its 1982 Readership Survey, which was prepared by Opinion Research Index, an independent market research and public opinion polling company.

The Survey results provide a wide range of readership statistics—figures the AWNA believes are more reliable than CPM's (unit cost to reach every 1000 subscribers) in the measurement of advertising 'cost effectiveness'.

"The weekly community newspaper shares a kinship with its readers that simply is not matched by any other media serving non-metro Alberta," says W. W. (Bill) Draayer, Association Secretary-Manager.

"The AWNA believes that community weeklies have stronger circulations, are more thoroughly read and more influential than any other medium serving the 40% of Albertans who reside and work outside the province's major cities."

Following are highlights of the 1982 Readership Survey:

* 80% of households in non-metro Alberta receive at least one AWNA community weekly newspaper.
* 86% of non-metro Alberta households which receive any issues of an AWNA community weekly newspaper usually receive all issues of the newspaper.
* 97% of adults in households where an AWNA community newspaper is received read the newspaper.
* 48% of readers of AWNA community weekly newapapers read the newspaper on more than one occasion.
* 98% of AWNA community weekly newspapers received in the households are usually kept in the home for seven days or more.
* The average amount of time spent in reading one issue of an AWNA weekly community newspaper is 30 minutes.

Draayer says the Canadian Advertising Research Foundation (CARF) has scored the survey as "an excellent study," the Foundation's highest compliment.

The AWNA currently operates with 100 members representing more than 98% of all eligible papers in Alberta and Northwest Territories.

Association members have a total audited circulation of more than 300,000 based on ABC, VCC, or VCP audit. The surevey, conducted by the telephone interview method, covered all areas of the province except the cities of Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Red Deer.

Twenty-five hundred telephone numbers were selected by a systematic random method from telephone directories. Respondent grids were used to ensure a representative, random selection of adults, age 18 and over, within the household.

The completed sample of 1,882 interviews represents a response of 86% of the initial sample of 2,300.

Browns win

by Lesley Primeau

The Peter Brown family of Tofield was named farm family of 1982 at the recently held Camrose Agricultural Fair.

The award is presented to the family with the most points in the fair earned through entry in various categories such as livestock, horticultural, photography, grains and seeds, handicrafts and the junior division. The points accumulated are for three family members.

The Brown family consists of Peter, long-time farmer of the Tofield area; Yvonne, long noted for her involvement with various community organizations and projects and children, Daniel, Douglas, Dale and Deanna.

The Brown children are all students at the Tofield School and very active in school activities and various community clubs.

During the recent Camrose and Tofield Agricultural Fairs, family members entered various categories with the hope of taking home a blue ribbon.

Although many ribbons were awarded to the Brown family, Yvonne was further honoured by winning the Owl Drug Mart Trophy at the Tofield Fair for best collection of vegetables.

Harvesting starts

Harvesting of the 1982 crop is now underway in a number of area.

Farmers in four regions began cutting rapeseed last week and others are expected to commence operations this week.

According to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool, harvesting in all areas should be well under by about Sept. 10th.

Five percent of the rapeseed crop around Dayaland had been cut by the end of last week and a start had been made in Bawif, Rosalind and Ryley.

Cutting should be general in the New Norway, Holden, Round Hill, Hay Lakes and Tofield areas by the end of this week or, early next week, and cutting in other regions should begin by the following week.

Threshing operations should get underway in some areas by the end of next week.

Varied weather conditions that have prevailed throughout this part of the province are cited as major factors for the difference in starting dates for the harvest season.

Rainfall amounts differ radically from one community to another with the Bawlf area recording 680 millimetres of rain since May 1st while the Round Hill region was at the other end of the scale with only 238 millimetres.

Spring estimates for yields per acre have been revamped.

In a number of instances, expected average acreage production has been dropped because of hail, rain and wind damage and in a few instances, has been increased because crops are considered to be well above average.

All reports now indicate that no additional rainfall is required and that ideal weather conditions for crop development and harvesting operations would be hot and dry.

Estimates receive indicate that rye should produce about 1100 kilograms to the acre; Barley and oats should average 1000 kilograms; wheat should be about 900 kilograms; rapeseed should be in the vicinity of 600 kilograms; and flax production is estimated at 525 kilograms.

Initial indications are that farmers around the New Norway area should have the best production.

Estimates submitted show that average yields per acre in New Norway should top the list for wheat, barly, flax and rye (only region where this crop is being grown).

The top yield in rapeseed is expected in the Round Hill region while the Dayaland area should have the biggest yield in oats.

Adverse weather conditions will result in Bawlf having the lowest yields in wheat and rapeseed (with Camrose being about the same in rapeseed); while Round Hill's production of oats will be the lowest and the Holden region will have the lowest yield in barley.

Grant received

by Lesley Primeau

Ninety-five thousand dollars in MCR money has come into the Town of Tofield coffers and all but approximately $30,000 has been allocated to various qualifying organization, Town Council was informed on Monday evening during the regular bi-monthly council meeting.

The money, used primarily for capital expenditures, must be matched by the organization or club applying for the grant dollars. The money is available to any chartered community group and must be applied for.

Approximately $40,000 will go towards the Tofield Library while another $25,000 has been allocated for expenditures by the Fairgrounds.

The grounds have had fencing done, the corrals have been re-located, a certain amount of landscaping has been done and part of the grounds has been gravelled.

The remaining money has been applied for with approximately $30,000 as yet unspent.

Applications for MCR grant dollars may be made through the Town of Tofield Recreation Board.

Council was also given a brief progress report on the Highway 834 construction. The project, slated to be completed by mid-November, is expected to cost $1,600,000 as tendered by Standard General Construction Ltd.

The project will involve the reconstruction of 1st Street from 60th Avenue north, south to 51 Avenue and west on 51 Avenue to Main Street (50th Street) and construction of 55 Avenue from 1st Street to 48 Street.

The purpose of the project is to reroute present Secondary Highway 834 through town.

A delegation from Town Council will be meeting with a delegation from the Tofield Golden Club to further discuss the tentative lease agreement of the old fire hall.

The Golden Club is seeking the property as a future drop-in centre for the seniors of the area. To date, there have been no firm drawings but, executive members of the club are entertaining many ideas as to the layout of the proposed centre.

Ryley votes 'yes'

by Lesley Primeau

With an almost 100% voter turnout, residents of the Village of Ryley voted on over-whelming 77% in favour of seeking a hazardous waste treatment and disposal facility for their community in a plebiscite held last Wednesday.

The vote did not give the Village Council carte blanche to build such a plant but merely gives them the power and support to negotiate with the Department of Environment in determining whether Ryley is a feasible location.

Of the 317 residents who cast a vote, 219 voted yes, 94 voted no and a surprising 34 ballots were spoiled. Of the spoiled ballots 30 indicated a 'yes' preference.

Following the closing of the poll the ballots were counted by Sheila Pitt, Village Secretary and Returning Officer. Also on hand for the count were scrutineers Herman Jensen and Vivian Wilde. Josh Davison checked voter's names throughout the day and was also present at the count, as was Marie Britz.

Mayor Jack McKeen felt the victory was a resounding vote of confidence and stated the vote would never have been held if the council for the Village and the members of the advisory committee had not been 100% in favour of investigating the feasibility of siting such a facility.

The next step, according to Mayor McKeen, would be negotiations with the Department of Environment for test drilling on the proposed site located directly north of the village. The land would eventually have to be annexed by the village.

Mayor McKeen felt the seminars held by the Village and the Department of Environment were of great assistance to the residents who were each invited to attend the informational meetings. A certain amount of myth was incurred by the Village when the invitations were not extended to everyone, however land owners directly adjacent to the village were also contacted regarding the seminars.

Now that the Council and Advisory Committee has the support of the village residents, Mr. McKeen hoped those opposing the plant would work with them supporting the plant to assure that the utmost of safety standards are met. He felt it would be in the best interest of all concerned if the community at large could work together.

Tracy Strilchuk, president of the Concerned Citizens Group of Ryley, feels the vote has no bearing on the county ratepayers as a whole and that the issue is far from over. Proclaiming their democratic rights have been eroded, the CCGR plans to join forces with other county factions in assuring the earlier county plebiscite, when the county voted 2:1 against a plant, is upheld.

Many country residents, both urban and rural, have expressed concern that the county plebiscite was not a regional vote and should not be considered.

The CCGR and the BVAPA are adamant that 250 people will not dictate to the majority, although neither group discusses concerns of the villages and towns in the County of Beaver that their democratic rights were completely ignored in the county vote and therfore 1394 residents are dictating to the rest of the county.

War declared on Ryley

by Lesley Primeau

'We have quite a bit of money in the war chest and we're going to fight with it', said Don Rosaghen, president of the Bruce Viking Agricultural Protective Association, Monday night at the Ryley Community Hall.

The statement was made to assure the approximately 150 people who attended the meeting that the BVAPA would continue to fight against a hazardous waste treatment facility and if the Village of Ryley thought the opposition had gone the way of the pickypegs' they were in for a rude awakening.

The BVAPA formed a coalition with the Concerned Citizens Group of Ryley and a faction from the Tofield area in a common front to that will fight any effort to build a hazardous waste treatment and disposal facility in Ryley.

The three groups picked three members each to sit on the new board of directors. Representing the BVAPA will be Don Rosaghen, Fred Thiese and Bernard Lansing. From the CCGR comes Tracy Strilchuk, Mel Boyda and Peter Budinski and from Tofield comes Alan Caplan, Ivan Sundal and Dennis Perry. From this group of nine a president will be picked as well as a secretary.

According to Mr. Rosaghen, 'we don't like to have 250 people tell 1300 people what to do', a statement that reflects the view formed in both the recent Ryley poll and the earlier county plebiscite with regards to a waste facility.

The Village of Ryley has been investigating the feasibility of siting such a plant in their community and went to the polls to let the residents have their say. The Ryley voters responded with an overwhelming 77% in favour of the plant and Ryley will not seek active negotiations with the Department of Environment.

At the outset of Monday night's meeting Mel Boyda read a statement from MLA John Batiuk which said that in his opinion Ryley was not the location for a hazardous waste plant.

Mr. Boyda also noted that in conversation with Jack Cookson, Minister of Environment, he had received assurances that Ryley was the preferred site and the province had neither the time nor

The Tofield Hospital is on its way. The new multi-million dollar facility is expected to commence in spring of 83. The facility will house an extended care hospital, nursing home and an active treatment area. Kids Day is held

by Lesley Primeau

Despite the threatening black clouds that loomed overhead, the Tofield Legion's third annual Kids Day was held Saturday afternoon at the Tofield Fairgrounds with a record number of children taking in the day's festivities.

The Day, one of many community projects that the Legion is involved with, allowed children of all ages to take part in pony rides, free hot dogs and pop and all the ice cream they could eat.

Various members of the Legion took part in organizing the day's activities. Chuck Curtis and Ralph Dunham were responsible for making sure there was plenty of hot coffee for the 'older' kids. Eugene Carlisle was responsible for rounding up the hot dogs which Doug Herrick cooked on the stove he provided.

Pete Kerbis made certain there was plenty of chocolate and vanilla ice cream while Tony Osman and Jim Williams provided for soft drinks for all the children.

Manning the booth throughout the day were Nels Taylor, Jessy Murray and Georgia Dunham. Bob Scott made sure there were a few chairs around for those leary about sitting on the ground.

Fourteen ponies, provided by the Ketchemest Family Riding Club and led by their members, were kept busy throughout the entire day and were given brief rests between hordes of children.

Sitting on this year 's Legion executive is Manro Coleman as president, Ed Ferguson, Nolan Ryan and Tony Osman as vice-presidents, Nels Taylor as secretary, May Thomas as treasurer and Marie Engleman as membership co-ordinator.

The next major function of the Legion will be their annual family supper and awards night to be held September 24.

Announcements with further details will be made later.

Sunday opening

There's a tremendous amount of publicity about a number of stores in an Edmonton mall opening Sundays in defiance of the Sunday opening law.

Yet nothing is being done, by police, or by province, except to note the names of the offenders. The offending stores, that is, not the owners and operators of the mall, who have been instigating and encouraging the opening.

But why isn't anything being done?

Why aren't the enforcement agencies in there, just as surely as they would be if they saw a number of people driving through red lights, or firing guns illegally? Or setting off firecrackers?

The law may not be right (we feel that it is) but it still is the law. If we don't like it, let's change the law, but in the meantime it should be observed.

Not "it should be observed". It must be observed. This country was built on the concept of obedience to the law. By people, it must be acknowledged, who objected at times to the laws as they stood, but who were willing to accept the consequences of their disobedience.

It wasn't built, nor will it be maintained, by people who prefer to shirk their responsibility, to look the other way when a law is being flouted. Not even when it is done by people who have friends or influence in high places.

Bikers

We found it interesting to read recently where more than $1,600 in fines were levied against a group of motorbikers charged in an Ontario court with more than a hundred offences ranging from possession of liquor for sale without permit, to selling it without a permit. 90 provincial police officers took part in the October 31 raid. Obviously, if only $1,600 was levied in fines, many of the charges must have been dropped.

But it seems police in Ontario racked up a better score than a group of policemen in Alberta were able to do when their Labor Day arrests came up in a Camrose court. Were the charges less serious? Were police better prepared? Was the Court more receptive? Or is there some other reason why Albertans would seem to enjoy less protection under the law than residents in a small Ontario town? In these days of what seem to be lawlessness escalating with impunity, we would all do well to look for lessons.

Honourable Jack Cookson Minister of Environment
Room 232

Dear Mr. Cookson:

Re: Selection of a Site for a Hazardous Waste Treatment Facility

Having lived in the County of Beaver most of my life, it distresses me to see the ever increasing hostilities between good friends, neighbours, and even families, which is being generated over the possible locating of the above mentioned facility in our County.

It is painfully clear that this situation cannot be resolved within our boudaries due to the lack of knowledge and/or willingness to listen by members of the pro and con factors.

Since the selection of a location for a waste treatment centre is undoubtedly of an highly technological nature, in an effort to cool down the rival groups, I believe it would be to everyones best interest, if your department would officially make it known, that the selection of the plant site cannot be substantially influenced by any group of emotional or irrational individuals. In essence, this decision must be made on the basis of a professionally obtained impartial study and not by petitions, or by plebiscite results, voted on by frightened or reckless citizens.

At present, the need for a hazardous waste disposal plant is at the point of becoming an essential service, and I urge you to get on with the necessary hosting and make your decision as to the best possible location. If this location is in the County of Beaver, then we as Albertans have a responsibility to accept it. If this location is elsewhere, then you sir, as the Minister of Environment, must place it elsewhere.

Yours very truly,
Brian D. Strilchuk,

CONFUSION

Sir:

Energy Minister Marc ("Restraint is for others") Lalonde's office has now confirmed that his ads implying that energy self-sufficiency is just around the corner have cost taxpayers more than $970,000 in the period up to August 15 alone.

In one part they assert that "new oil discoveries" have been made in the past year and a half in the Beaufort Sea, Mackenzie delta and in the Arctic Islands areas. Curious because it is common knowledge in western and northern Canada that there is regrettably not yet a single barrel of economically recoverable oil anywhere in the North. I was referred by the Deputy Energy Minister's office to their Communications section. A spokesman there, asked whether this part of the ads might not in fact mislead people, replied: "We attempt here to indicate what is being said in ads."

Other officials in both the Energy Department and at the National Energy Board confirmed, presumably without wishing to be identified, that because of still prohibitive transportation costs northern oil is yet economically recoverable. The N.E.B. official referred to some estimates as the earliest dates that oil might reach southern Canada: 1985, 1987, 1988, 1990 and 1995.

Back at the Energy Minister's office, a special assistant protested that by his minister's order no department official "Can give out information without the minister's express permission." Astounded, I asked, "what about our recently-passed freedom of information legislation?" "I don't know about that", replied the special assistant.

Yours truly,
David Kilgour, M.P.

Buffalo elevators to Brazil

Farmers of Brazil will soon have the most efficient, high-speed elevator handling system in the world, as a result of technology developed in Alberta.

Brazil has completed several agreements with Canada recently. One of the agreements is a joint venture between ABL Engineering Ltd. of Alberta and Cibrazem of Brazil, to design and construct 17 inland Buffalo Sloped Bin (BSB) grain elevators. The Brazilian structures will look different than those constructed in Alberta, but will have the same principle, stated Rich Driedger, the person who designed the world's first BSB elevator.

The BSB elevators to be constructed in Brazil are expected to be three to six times larger than any one constructed to date in Alberta. The units will have much larger bins and will be designed for high volume movement of soybeans, corn and rice. Direct loading of hopper cars can reach 1 000 tonnes per hour from the BSB facility.

The transfer of technology agreement, which actually gives Brazil a license to construct the BSB model elevator, was signed in the driveway of the BSB elevator located at Port Saskatchewan on July 23. ABL Engineering and Silos, a Brazilian joint-venture engineering company, signed the agreement.

Signing of the agreement was witnessed by Dr. Sally Saojaferber, President of Cibrazem, the Brazilian stateowned grain corporation, and Hon. Horst A. Schmid, Alberta's Minister of State for Economics Development and International Trade.

Full credit must go to Hon. H. Schmid for making original arrangements to get the two parties together. The $45 million (U.S.) sale to Brazil is the result of two years of work. The Alberta Minister stated he was very happy to provide the encouragement to get the two countries together and look forward to continued trading with Brazil.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

Over the years, sundry politicians have won themselves brownie points by laying out their programs for "The Great Society" or "The New Society" and what have you. So what do we have in North America? Something that has been called "The Sick Society"-enhanced largely by governments who constantly soften up the laws, judges too timid to enforce those that remain and a public seemingly without an self destruction.

Well don't look now but we are all part of this Sick Society-like it or not. Yes indeed, I'm sick-I'm sick of a news media that considers good news as news and an entertainment media that apparently sees sex as the only theme of human events. I'm sick of hearing about pot, pornography and perversion. I'm sick of reading about rights to the exclusion of right. I'm sick of paying taxes to rebuild schools smashed by the little darlings we try to educate. I'm sick of providing colour TV sets, University courses and day passes to convicted criminals. I'm sick of not being able to use the word "gay" without provoking titters and I'm sick at the seeming demise of such words as honour, heroism, purity and trust.

I'm sick of workers who go on strike and disrupt the lives and living of thousands of taxpayers who pay their wages. I'm sick of politicians with the spine of a jellyfish; of bleeding hearts who see no wrong in soaking the public to give "foreign aid" to nations who thank us. I'm sick of being blamed for all the evils in the world because my skin is white and because I became advantaged through the sweat of my own brow. I'm sick of being assailed by four letter words when I turn on the TV set. I'm sick of being called Mid-Victorian because I've never smoked pot. I'm of those who would impose a new constitution upon me that could "legalize" as infringement upon the rights I already enjoy; who arrogantly presume to speak for me while refusing to hear my voice. I'm sick of having our law enforcement officers called pigs, parents call authoritarian and private enterprisers labeled "reactionary".

Yes indeed, I'm sick of The Sick Society-but not sick enough to lie down with a whimper. Indeed, when the time comes, I'll be there up front with all my battered sensibilities to help preserve this endangered human species.

Propaganda angers Ryley

by Lesley Primeau

Factions both for or against a hazardous waste treatment and disposal plant being sited in the Village of Ryley are incensed over articles which have appeared in The Edmonton Journal, by Elizabeth Stirling through the mail and by allegations of coercion.

Tracy Bruckal, president of the Concerned Citizens Group of Ryley has charged, in The Edmonton Journal, that 'money and jobs' were bait to ensure that residents in the village supported the plant proposal. She feels the information about the plant has been sugar-coated and questions the lack of signatures by the proponent.

Mrs. Strilchuk further claimed the province was supporting the village with pro-plant information aimed at swinging the vote. To that effort she felt the province and village would then push for a quick decision to catch the opposition unprepared.

One allegation carried by The Journal and attributed to Mrs. Strilchuk, said the COGH planned to have scrutineers at the pool to 'ensure that outsiders don't stuff the ballot box'. According to The Journal, Mrs. Strilchuk felt plant supporters 'wouldn't be above using dirty tricks to get their way'.

This particular allegation has incensed many village residents who feel it suggests the village is incapable of holding a democratic vote according to the law, and seems have gone so far as to say it sheds a rather dim light on the abilities of the returning officer, who in this instance is Village Secretary Sheila Fitz.

The COGH has inundated the mail with literature which some claim has questional facts. One mail flyer entitled Food for Thought suggests that the cancer rate in the Ryley area will rise with the siting of such a facility, mentions how the residents would feel about being harmed or had injured during a disaster, and asks if it makes him feel better on his death bed.

Questions such as, 'What will go through your mind when you run a glass of water and give it to your child?, 'How would you feel if they had to evacuate the village and someone didn't make it? Would you want to come back? What if you didn't hear the sirens or nobody came to tell you to leave town?, raised concerns about the logic of the entire flyer.

The flyer questions land values and whether the reader would continue to eat food. It asked the reader about nuclear wastes and whether Ryley would take them. Concerns were raised about the government's ability to build a safe plant, run a safe plant or care about the people near the plant.

The flyer concludes with the question, 'Can money bring back a dead child?' 'A husband?', 'A wife?', and suggests in order to prevent this direction a vote against the plant is most advisable.

In another memo sent following the vote, the COGH points out that the residents of the village have chosen to ignore the wishes of the people surrounding the village and therefore are ignoring democracy which states the majority rules. There was no indication as to the feelings of those who had no say in the county plebiscite.

Some Ryley Council members have complained about chemical and land zoning phone calls they have been receiving. Mayor Jack McKeen has had his private phone number changed to a silent number expressing concern over calls that arrived hourly including one caller who spoke to Mrs. McKeen and said 'you're trying to kill our children you f'ing bitch.' and then hung up.

The COGH plans to join forces with the Tofield group and the BVAPA in a combined front to further protest and halt the construction of a waste plant in the Village of Ryley.

Booklet aids young people
. . .setting up home

Leaving home for the first time isn't easy but a new booklet, Moving Out, makes that step towards independance easier by detailing and analysing almost every aspect of setting up and living in one's own home.

Published by Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Moving Out is directed towards people between the ages of 16 and 25 years-old and provides a wealth of "information that will never outdate," said Bob Pitman of Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs.

The information is categorized into groups such as Housing, Transportation, Marketplace, Lifestyle, Money, Credit and Entertainment. In each section questions a young person may ask about that aspect of setting up home are thoroughly examined and pros and cons are presented clearly.

For example, in the Housing section such things as apartment rent, acquiring pots and pans and constructing bookshelf furniture are examined. The section looks at the inexpensive ways a young person can decorate his/her apartment and how he/she can save money by tracking down bargains at garage sales and second-had stores.

An important section entitled Money examines the cost of moving from one's parents and establishing one's own home. As well as having rent to pay, there are additional expenses such as utility hook ups, insurance, staple food items, and the first week's groceries. This section emphasizes the necessity of a budget and the need to plan ahead financially.

The booklet hopes to prepare young people for the working world and independance by giving them adequate information about living away from one's parents.

Consumer and Corporate Affairs people are seeing "younger clients in counselling," Mr. Pitman said. "They're not aware of the many problems they may encounter (living alone)...prevention is better than cure," he said, referring to the advice given in Moving Out.

Mr. Pitman said it's important young people are prepared for what lies ahead and the booklet is emphasizing shopping skills, especially in the area of credit, legal and health agencies young people can get help from and who to turn to when young people need help.

Approximately 60,000 copies of the booklet were published in spring and it can be obtained in the District Home Economist's office.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

With the approach of Fall, and student assistants' return to school, the Library hours must unfortunately be shortened. We wish Betty Hooper all the best in her first year at the U of A in Pharmacy and to Pat Hallemgaid in Grade 12 here in Tofield. Without their help, the Library must be closed at noon-hours, and one day a week for book-par checking and processing. Please come in and pick up a copy of our Winter Hours bookmark: Tues. 1-8; Wed. closed; Thurs. 1-8 and 6-9; Fri. 10-12 and 1-5; Sat. 10-12 and 1-4.

Another important change to note is that the children's films will be shown on Saturday mornings at 10:30. As the Library is open at this time, adult volunteers to run the projector would be most welcome.

Some of the new books added recently are: The Seeds of Exodus, a novel spanning five centuries of a family history from the origins of the diamond industry, through the Spanish Inquisition to the Holocaust; The Good Tomorrow, a novel about "a decent man driven to the breaking point by his role as a man of God in a world of men"; Second Opinion, a book describing numerous medical conditions, and a patient's options in treating them.

Films will be shown on Saturday mornings at 10:30. As the Library is open at this time, adult volunteers to run the projector would be most welcome.

Ice Cream

We all scream for ice cream ... how could you say no to this charming little face? ? ? Now I ask you, would you buy a used car from this little character? ? ? Such a snickering hint of mischievousness (if that's a word). —Lesley Primeau photo

It's Howdy doody de time. It's back to school time. Hail rhymes...you poor ole kid, the curse it is...ah school, it brings back such wonderful memories, high school in particular...let me recount these glorious days so long ago. Grab a cup of tea, this may be boring, I know I slept through a few classes...

I went to school at St. Joe's in the Big E and the first major problem I had to overcome was finding the school. That accomplished I found my home room class, which for some unexplained reason was never a class you used again throughout the day. I am certain that was necessary just to confuse the incoming freshmen, don't them all guys? so to speak.

You don't have to drop a ton of bricks on my head to make me realize that there was more to school than just getting there, after all there was a simple matter of survival. Some students used to be subjected to the torment of the grade 13 beasts and just getting from one end of the hall to the other necessitated a master plan. I mean, I'm not real keen on washing doors, floors and the gym with a toothbrush. If I am not mistaken slavery has been abolished...viva la grade ten liberation!

After successfully staying alive through the first week, it became apparent that school officials found it in their best interests (certainly not ours) to make certain we attended class and you had to be in the class within two minutes of the bell. Remember my home room I told you about?? It was on the third floor of the old section and my first class was in the sub-basement of the new section...well, I could have done the minute mile by the time I got out of grade ten!

We used to spend a great deal of time devising methods of avoiding classes. That takes a great deal of planning. And then there's the ever popular (now defunct) sock hops...we'd do almost anything to get out of classes, even that I think of it we hardly ever went to school, it's a small wonder we graduated...

Yup, there's a lot to be said about school. You sort of miss it when you're out of it, truly, one begins to think it is wasted on the wrong age group. All those in favor of letting those over 23 go back to school raise their left hands...Told you so.

Oh well, there is a bright spot looming on the horizon, Labour Day is fast approaching and you get the long weekend off...which just goes to show the oldies pick the weekends...if it was left up to the students, school would have started after this weekend. Right!!

And remember, when travelling to Italy this autumn, take Valium Expensive and don't leave Rome without it...and they said I'd never amount to anything...

the equipment to drill everywhere.

Therefore, according to Mr. Beyda, if the Village of Ryley expected to do any drilling it would have to be at their own expense and in the words of Mr. Beyda, 'Village Council would be wasting their time and our tax dollars'.

Mr. Beyda also stressed, along with Don Monaghan, that pressure should be put on the County Council because they must okay drilling within the county. County Council has already stated that they will no longer be interested in siting a plant and have no interest in the village matters.

Alan Caplan of the Tofield Concerned Citizens reiterated sentiments of Mr. Beyda and Mr. Monaghan and feels that Council, though not legally bound to uphold the plebiscite, must be morally bound to do so. He stated that in conversation with Allen Warner, councillor for division seven, he was assured by Mr Warner of his support for the Tofield group who opposed the plant.

Mr. Warner has stated that his comments were taken out of context and his interest in the plant is limited to county involvement and at this point the county has no involvement whatsoever.

The nine members of the newly formed coalition plan to meet later this week to plan a course of action to halt any further hazardous waste discussion, drilling or siting. Little audience participation was forthcoming when Mr. Monaghan called upon members of the gathering for ideas in their continued fight for a safe community.

The three men, Monaghan, Beyda and Caplan urged all those attending that their concerns should be made known to their village, town or county councillor through phone calls or visits. If necessary the group vows to go to the top; to Mr. Cookson, and if necessary Premier Lougheed.

Back to School wardrobes

The school year is here and it's time to start checking the status of your children's wardrobes. Even if their wardrobe consists of just jeans and T-shirts, it's a wise idea to look for quality garments. Watch for quality fabrics and workmanship.

Before buying, consider the following:

Most important — does the child like it and will he wear it?

Will it shrink much? Does fabric wear well? Can child put the clothes on herself?

When checking workmanship, look for the following:

Buttonholes that are firmly bound or stitched

Roomy armholes and crotch that allow movement without binding

Avoid elaborate details such as tucks or frills that will rip easily or require special handling

Consider ease of raising or lowering hemline

Are seams securely finished

As in any wardrobe, clothes are more flexible if they mix and match. Consider buying several pairs of the same socks. If one is lost it can still be worn with the others.

Weeds a real threat

Diffuse and spotted knapweed are posing a real threat to Alberta rangeland, according to Jack Hazelwood, district agriculturist at Three Hills.

He points out that the seriousness of this threat can be demonstrated by the history of knapweed in British Columbia where approximately 800 acres of rangeland were infested in 1962. By 1974 the area has grown to 75,000 acres, and fairly recent estimates put it at more than 100,000 acres with a further 2 million acres now being threatened. The problem in the northwestern United States is even more serious. For example, Montana alone has 2 million acres of infested rangeland, which is calculated to be responsible for a loss of some $20 million annually through a reduced carrying capacity.

Both diffuse and spotted knapweed are recent introductions to Alberta. Known infestations do not exceed 300 acres, and are largely confined to railway lines, highways and adjacent rangeland that extends from Coleman through Lethbridge and Medicine Hat to the Saskatchewan border. However, there are undoubtedly other infestations that have not yet been identified or reported north and south of this area.

Mr. Hazelwood believes that this relatively small acreage of infestation makes it both physically and economically possible to eradicate these species of knapweed before they spread further. There is another species, known as Russian knapweed, which has been present in southern Alberta for several decades. However, unlike diffuse and spotted knapweed, it does not reproduce by seed and has, therefore, remained confined to relatively small areas.

What can be done to prevent the spread of diffuse and spotted knapweed?

Mr. Hazelwood says the first step is to learn to identify the plant in both its early and mature stages of growth. He also says that identification aids are available from district agriculturists and agricultural fieldmen. When looking for knapweed, keep in mind that you will probably find it in grassland which has been disturbed by construction, vehicles of heavy livestock traffic. If you find any, mark the site, collect a specimen and take it to your district agriculturist or agricultural fieldman for definite identification. The recommended method of control will depend upon the location of the weed, its stage of growth and the size of the infestation.

Anyone who has found knapweed on his land should advise his neighbor so that he can keep a lookout for it on his property.

Dancers to register

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Dancing School is quickly entering its fifth season and early indications point to another good year.

Registration night will be held next Wednesday (Sept. 8) from 5-8 pm in the Tofield Community Centre.

Classes this year will include various age groups in jazz, tap and ballet at various levels of skill. If there is enough interest an adult class will also be held. Of special interest this year is the possibility of a baton class and anyone interested in this class is urged to show up at registration night.

Classes will again be held Monday evenings at the Tofield Community Hall and again this year the Tofield Dancing School will be affiliated with the Sherwood Park School of Dancing.

Again this year the School plans to engage in a number of fund raising projects including the Krazy Kwarter Karnival and the annual spring concert.

Over the past couple of years the school has served tea during the Fall Fashion Tea sponsored by the Hearthstone and Aspen Textiles.

Again this year the School will take care of the show concession on Thursday and Friday evenings. This helps offset the rent on the community hall which is expected to cost the School $1000 this season.

Although the School paid no rent on the hall last year, the Tofield Dancing Schol contributed $500 towards the Community Hall Board.

The School finds itself without a president this year although by registration night a president will hopefully be found.

Sitting on this year's executive so far are Yvonne Brown, Marion Regehr, Divana McKeen, Gail McAdam, BArb Webb and Elaine Warkentin.

The School is expecting approximately 55 students this year and anyone interested in more information can pick up a schedule of fees and information at the Tofield Library or, at Aspen Textiles.

Alberta Farm Fuel Distribution Allowance

As many people have already heard, the Alberta Farm Fuel Distribution Allowance has been increased to 7 cents per litre on purple gasoline, purple diesel and purple heating oil. This deduction from your actual fuel bill is done by your bulk petroleum dealer, as long as you have filled out the proper declaration. With the announcement of the new program, customers will now have to fill out a new declaration form to qualify for the 7 cents deduction. The new forms are available from your bulk dealer or the D.A.'s office.

From the results of a 4 pheromone traps placed in the County of Beaver, it appears as though bertha armyworms should not be a problem this year in this area. Other areas, however may not be quite as lucky, as described in the following article from the August 16 issue of Agri-News:

Bertha Armyworm Situation, 1982

The results of a Bertha armyworm survey conducted by Helen Liu and field staff of the Alberta Environmental Centre are now available.

Helen Liu, field crops entomologist with Alberta Agriculture, reports that this year, damage to canola by the Bertha armyworm is expected to occur in the Peace River region and north of Edmonton. High numbers of larvae are being found near Wanham, and all canola growers in the Peace River region are advised to examine their fields before mid-August. Numbers are also high near Barrhead and Edmonton. The central and northeastern regions of Alberta, are in general, free of the insects, although fields in the Stettler and Three Hills areas should be examined in mid-August for the presence of armyworms.

Although high populations of armyworms in southern Alberta are not as widespread as in 1981, canola in the counties of Willor Creek, Vulcan, Lethbridge and the Municipal District of Cardston, ought to be checked in mid-August. It is expected that late-seeded or re-seeded canola will be most susceptible to injury, whereas early-harvested crops will escape the major impact of armyworm feeding.

To determine whether or not chemical control of Bertha armyworm is needed, Ms. Liu advises a grower to examine at least 5 separate areas, 1 square metre each, in a field. This can be accomplished by beating the foliage in the 1 square metre area, which should be located 10 to 20 paces into the crop, and counting the larvae that drop off the plants.

A more effective, although more time consuming, method is to cut off the plants in the 1 square metre area at ground level, shake the plants over the remaining space, and count the armyworms that fall onto the ground. An average of 15 or more Bertha armyworms per squre metre will justify treatment.

For more information contact Helen J. Liu, Field Crops Entomologist, Alberta Environmental Centre, Vegreville, Alberta, T9B 4L0, Phone: 632-8638.

A New Norway girl has earned top honours in an essay contest sponsored by the Battle River Tourist Association.

Melinda Kuelboer was selected as the winner with her essay entitled "Tourism — It's Important To All Of Us".

Miss Kuelboer will receive a cash award and a plaque for her effort. Both will be presented at the annual BRTA meeting which is to be held in Camrose next month (October).

In addition, New Norway School will be presented with a trophy which is to be retained for a one-year period.

The victory by the New Norway School student marked the second occasion in the seven-year history of the competition that the winner has been a student of New Norway School.

The New Norway win ties that school with the all-time leader which is Charlie Killam School in Camrose.

Other schools having winning entries include Sifton, Rosalind and Stettler.

Second place in the competition went to Janet Yuha of Rosalind while third place was taken by Tammy Funkhonel of New Norway.

The second and third place winners will each receive cash awards.

Tofield School opens

Tofield School opened today (Thursday) with 30 teachers to greet over 580 students in grades 4-12.

There are four new teachers this year—Miss Cheryl Brown, who will be teaching the new Junior Adaption Class; Dan Ray, high school English; John Emerson for grade seven; and Andy Nimchuk, who will be co-ordinating the school's physical education program.

Other staff members include Al Pollock, who has returned to his duties as principal after a year's sabbatical leave which he spent at the University of Alberta; Mrs. Gayle Worden, who is continuing the duties in the English Department which she started last April when Mrs. Taylor commenced her maternity leave; Mrs. Taylor, in turn, has reassumed her counselling role on a part-time basis.

The big news at Tofield School this fall was the announcement from Alberta Education that plans are proceeding for the construction of an Industrial Arts-Home Economics wing.

The new facility will enable the school to increase its high school offerings and end the practice of busing junior high students to Ryley for Industrial Arts and Home Economic classes.

Football gets underway this year on September 28 when Viking will play in Tofield.

The 6th annual Award's Day will be held in early October.

HOW THE FAMILIES OF KEEPHILLS HAD A MOVING EXPERIENCE.

One of a series on Alberta's largest electric utility

At TransAlta Utilities, we've been doing a lot of things for a long time to make sure that Albertans have a sufficient and secure supply of electrical energy.

Understandably, this commitment doesn't always please everybody. Transmission lines sometimes have to cross an owner's land. Agricultural use sometimes has to give way to surface mining so that we can unlock Alberta's precious store of low-sulphur coal.

But wherever we can, we balance power supply with human considerations. In 1976, we started this with the four families of Keephills, near Wabamun Lake. Future projections of power needs had made it essential for the land owned at our Highvale Mine to be extended.

This, in turn, made it necessary for us to acquire land occupied by the ninety year old hamlet of Keephills.

But we were able to do it satisfactorily. Before the four families had even moved out from the old Keephills, a new model hamlet outside the mine area was ready to welcome its new owners. Each family was enabled to hire its own contractor, build their new home, and enjoy a fully-serviced community complete with modern school and community centre.

By February in 1982 the families were looking back on a truly moving experience.

TransAlta Utilities. Power for Albertans is our prime concern.

Some members of the first four families moving into the new Keephills include Gordon and Marie Raymond (foreground), Roy and Ellen Raymond with their daughter Tammy, Keith and Donna Smith with their daughter Lindsay and son Scott; and Bill Vanderwell at the driver's door.

A nice crowd turned out for the wedding of Marlene Campbell and Kelvin Rybie of Edmonton in Messiah Lutheran Church in Camrose on Saturday. Reception and dance was held in the evening in the Elks Hall.

Once again it is time for the students to go back to school, starting Sept. 2nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beachy of Iowa, U.S.A. were weekend visitors of Joe and Fern Roth. To honor them a dinner was held in the Mennonite Fellowship Hall on Sunday. Relatives of Mrs. Beachy are an uncle, Milo Stutzman and cousins, David and Nathan Stutzman, Erma Lauber, Verba Stauffer, Fern Roth and Elvera Rall. Others present were Glenn and Tracy Rall, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fosberg and Paula, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Helgeland, Charles, Lorraine and Darlene; Richard and Joyce Roth and two girls, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stutzman and two sons. The afternoon was spent by reminiscing about some of the earlier years in Nebraska followed by a short program and talks.

Elmer and Kathleen Anderson are now making their home in the Leona Golden Manor.

Mike Hunka of Emonton was a Sunday guest at the Stan and Ida home, south of Ryley.

Elvera Rall enjoyed her stay at her son, Dennis's farm at Newbrook.

Gardeners didn't appreciate seeing the frost on their vegetables, which didn't help cucumbers and tomato plants too much.

The Albert Petryshen family have moved into the house once owned by Ray Haviland.

Steve Schmitt of the Tofield area is interested in forming a Team Roping and Barrel Racing Club and is seeking other interested parties to join him. If enough people show interest there could be a lot of fun. Give Steve a call at 662-3868 if you can hold your own on a horse with rope in hand.

Weekend visitors with Emma Ferguson were Nick and Linda Laarhuis and family from Sherwood Park; Frank and Jeannie Ferguson and son, Daryl and friend, Bella from Lethbridge; Vi and Lorne Ferguson of Donalda, Alberta and Kay Ferguson of Perryvale; George Ferguson from Boyle; and Sherrie Wilkinson from Athabasca. Seeking relief from Huntington's Disease

Since it was founded nine years ago, the Huntington Society of Canada has awarded over $200,000 for medical research into brain disorders. The money has been spent on ways to lessen the misery of the thousands of Canadians who suffer from Huntington's Disease and other related brain disorders. This year, in addition to the continued financial support of the new Canadian Brain Tissue Bank, the Society has awarded $56,220 for research projects that could one day lead to a cure for HD.

Before effective treatment can be made available to patients with HD, it will be necessary to understand what causes premature death of brain cells, resulting in mental deterioration and abnormalities of movement. Dr D McLachlan of the University of Toronto has been awarded $10,500 to investigate the problem. Dr. J. Kiernan of the University of Western Ontario, has received $9,470 to determine whether or not the life of these brain cells can be extended in order to impede or stop the progress of the disease.

Dr. E.S. Garnett and Dr. G Bartolucci at McMaster University have received a grant of $9,250 to investigate the use of the PET Scan, a new and complicated device that would be used as a diagnostic tool with HD patients.

To encourage other young Canadians to train for careers in medical research, three predoctoral scholarships have also been awarded.

For further information of Huntington's disease, contact Roger Stewart (416)961-2196 (volunteer publicity co-ordinator for the Huntington Society).

All throughout the year, we receive many inquiries regarding "the going rate". These can include the going rate for selling hay, for renting pasture or cropland, or the going rate for machinery rental. What very often happens, however, is the information we use as a base to reply to such an inquiry can be very limited or can be very specific to one particular situation. A "going rate" may often have or not have various conditions associated with it. For example, in response to an inquiry regarding the current selling price of hay, a number of conditions may be attached. Is delivery of the hay included in the price? What is the average weight of the bales or stacks? What type of hay is it? What is the quality of the hay? These are some of the questions that will definitely influence the price. Just as in buying a car, the price varies directly with the number and kind of options available.

The same type of reasoning can apply to the cash leasing of pastureland, hayland or cropland. Some of the variables here are: what type of soil is it and what can it produce? Who is responsible for fencing? The list goes on and does affect the price or rental fee.

In the area of custom rates for machinery we have some help. Each spring the publication entitled "Farm Machinery Costs as a Guide to Custom Rates" comes into our office and serves as a guide to inquiries regarding the "going rate" for renting a particular implement. These figures are based on four areas: fixed costs, variable costs, labor and a profit margin. In determining a fair custom rate, one may also have certain conditions attached to it as well. If the custom work was done for a neighbor that has helped you in the past, the profit margin portion of the rate may be dropped. In determining a combining rate, another question that affects the custom charge is: who hauls the grain from the combine?

My purpose in writing this article is not to discourage these type of inquiries. However, some of our recommendations could be way out in left field unless we know of all the conditions associated with such an inquiry. Therefore if we seem hesitant or non-committal in these types of inquiries, there is good reason for it. Do not hesitate to call us for more information.

Harvesting stalls

Harvesting of the 1982 crop has been almost completely stalled by a lack of co-operation from the weatherman.

Rainfall prevailed throughout the area last week to varying degrees from one region to another with the end result being that very little activity took place in the fields.

For the most part, farmers require three or four days of dry weather before they will be able to return to work and in many of the lower areas, at least a week of dry weather is necessary before the excessively wet fields could bear the weight of harvesting machinery.

Cutting was originally supposed to have been general throughout the region last week with most regions expected to commence threshing operations this week.

It is now expected that cutting won't be general until near the end of this week and it will be another week, or more, before much threshing gets underway.

Only an estimated two percent of the entire crop has been cut to date, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Farmers in the New Norway area appear to have a slight edge as they have cut five percent of their crops to date with twenty percent of the rye cut and a start has been made in barley and rapeseed.

Little better than a start to cutting has been underway in Rosalind, Hay Lakes, Round Hill and Ryley with all other regions just getting a minor start underway before the rain started.

The first frost of the season struck on successive nights in the Holden, Round Hill and Tofield regions although the extent of damage that might prevail hadn't been certain.

With none of the crop having been removed from the fields by the past weekend, farmers are considerably behind the rate of harvesting of last year.

At this time last fall, one-half of all crops had already been threshed and all harvesting operations had been completed by the end of the first week in October.

This year's weather is bringing back bad memories of 1980 when farmers were hampered by wet weather throughout the entire harvest season and many fields couldn't be harvested until after the ground froze.

Even so, by this time in 1980, about ten percent of all crops had been threshed.

About 200 attend Hovland Reunion

On Aug. 29 the Rueben and Alice Hovland farm took on a festive look when the Canadian, U.S.A. & Norwegian flags were flying as the yard was filling up with campers, cars and motorhomes, when about two hundred Hovland descendents assembled to celebrate 100 years since Lars Hovland came from Norway to America. This, their first reunion was the sight to get acquainted and they met in the large quonset.

On Saturday, Raymond Hovland and Melvin Roth were in charge of the guest book and all received souvenir tumblers inscribed "Hovland Reunion 1882-1982". The afternoon was spent in horseshoe pitching when men and ladies competed for prizes and the children enjoyed dart games, reminiscing and fellowship with coffee at all times. At 5:30 a beef pit barbeque and hot supper was held. In charge of the barbeque were Rueben, Glenn and Helen Hovland. Planning committee was Rueben, Lawrence and Bert Hovland. Sub committee Alice, Lillie and Arnold Hovland.

Program

Arnold Hovland gave the history of his grandparents Lars and Bertha Hovland, who came from the island of Utsira not too far from Haugesunds Norway, and they were the first lighthouse keepers at Utsira. The main industry was fishing on the North Sea. Lars and Bertha and their five children, Louis, Ludvig, Johannes, Lena and Christina, together with many others, left in small sail boats to Haugesund, Norway, and then boarded a ship to Hull, England and on to New York, then by train to Columbus Nebraska arriving Aug. 7, 1882. They were loaded onto horse drawn buggies to travel the last long 35 miles to Newman Grove, where they were met by many recently arrived Norwegian immigrants. Lars arranged to rent a school quarter for $15. a year and in about four years he was able to buy it. When he arrived, he only had $25. in cash. With the help of Mons Johnson they were able to move into their sod house by Christmas and dug a well by hand. Three more sons were added to the family, George, Chris and Johnny. In the early 1900's all the children moved to Alberta but Christina, who married and settled in Bloomfield, Nebr.

There were two interesting skits, one by Ida Gunderson and Nellie Hovland "Mother's Apron", and another by Beverly Smith and Nancy Carle. Duet by the Hovland Crooners, and Lois Carle, pianist, another comical skit by a group of six, followed by a sing-song lead by Bert Hovland.

Sunday breakfast pancakes, sausages and eggs from 8 - 10 am.

At 11 am, Rev. Laverne Hovland of Valhalla Centre brought the message. Special vocal solo by John Hare and Mrs. Margaret Gibson. A trio by Connie Hovland, Ida Gunderson and Cleone Hovland. A hymn by the Hovland group.

Almanac was out

There are countless people who swear by the accuracy of weather predictions contained in the Old Farmer's Almanac.

Publishers of the annual booklet proudly boast that their predictions have an eighty percent accuracy rating.

In any area close to mountains, an eight percent rating predicting the weather from one day to the next would be regarded as excellent.

But, accomplishing this feat one full year in advance would have to be rated as "excellent".

Unfortunately for the booklet's publishers, they aren't doing all that well in 1982.

As a matter of fact, up to the end of August, they are just slightly below a seventy percent rating.

Precipitation during the month of August was supposed to be quite a bit below normal while temperatures were predicted to be slightly above the average for this time of year.

For the most part, there was a considerable amount of rain throughout the region during August and the temperature was on the cool side to the extent that a number of record lows came very close.

As a matter of fact, that Old Farmer's Almanac hinted strongly that drought conditions would prevail in many areas and this situation would not be corrected until rainfall took place in September.

According to the almanac, the month of September should be warm and dry although the west portion of the province could expect a fair amount of rain and, even some snow.

If the almanac's forecast for the month of September proves to be accurate, Albertans could enjoy the weather and the publishers would be back in the position of being able to resume their brag about an eighty percent correct rate of predicting.

With crops ready to be harvested, farmers are in dire need of the September prediction to be correct because the rest of the fall isn't that promising.

The almanac is saying that it will be much cooler and wetter during October with a cold wave and snowstorms forecast for the end of the month.

Student totals drop

by Lesley Primeau

Although the county wide enrolment figures indicate slightly more students in county schools over last year, the figures are somewhat less than those predicted.

As of September 2, there are 2813 students registered, including kindergarten, almost 48 fewer than anticipated.

C.W. Sears has an early enrolment of 264, 13 less than predicted; Tofield School has 555 students registered, 18 fewer than predicted; Holden has 383 registered students, 20 less than predicted; and Viking has a student enrolment of 369, seven less than expected.

Ryley is the only school in the county whose prediction fell short. Early registration indicates 297 students are enroled, 17 more than predicted. Enrolment figures are taken the first week and then re-tabulated at the end of September to give a clearer indication.

Board of Education for the County of Beaver met Tuesday to discuss various matters among them the changing enrolment figures.

Superintendent of Schools, Fred Reinholt, feels a number of out-of-county students have not returned this year, creating slightly lower [illegible] numbers.

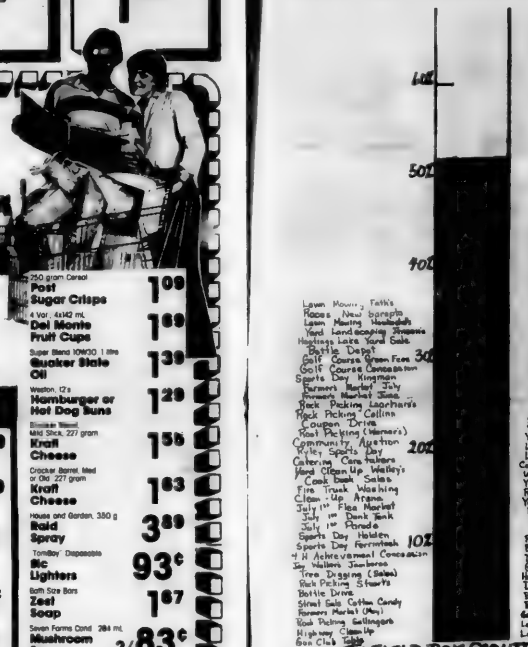
The Board was also informed that one teacherage, listed for sale within the county had been sold but, that four remaining teacherages were still on the market.

The teacherages have been advertised in the local papers and enquiries may be made at the county office.

New teachers added recently to county staff include Cheryl Brown, who will be the Special Education co-ordinator at the Tofield School, Gordon Elliott who will take on duties in grade three at the Holden School and Kathy Waller who will also be joining the Holden Staff teaching grade four.

The Board of Education feels the year has started well and hope to receive feedback from the various [illegible] regarding the quality of [illegible].

Due to parental response, the Christmas break this year will be two weeks, necessitating parent-teacher interviews be held during the evening.



TOFIELD BOY SCOUTS' GOAL

Barometer

With only about three months left, the Scouts have [illegible] the 50% mark in money earned to travel to Australia for the jamboree to be held this December. The Scouts are taking on any job, big or small, to aid their cause. This meter is located in the window of The Mercury for everyone to watch the Scouts' progress and a picture of it will be carried on the front page of the paper in following weeks

Sea Cadets begin season

As the summer draws to a close, the officers and ranks of RCSCC Hoshka are preparing for another year of activities.

The cadet program will include training in sailing, canoeing, outdoor camping, orienteering, cross-country skiing, and will promote fitness, and good citizenship.

This past summer, cadets from Hoshka attended camps in B.C., Alberta and Manitoba. Some went as instructors and workers while some attended their first basic camp, and others went on extended courses.

Ken Ladwig, for the third summer, was an instructor at Gimli, Manitoba where he was a member of the staff teaching sailing and canoeing.

Captain Dennis Cooper spent most of the summer at Gimli as a member of the Officer staff.

Kim Lowaichuk worked at CFB Edmonton, in the Movements Section as a member of the staff responsible for transportation of the hundreds of cadets and officers travelling to and from the various camps.

Ken Podoborony was an instructor at Camp Wright, near Athabasca, and was Chief of the Training Program.

Theresa Luckawieki was also a member of the staff at Camp Wright attached to a very important section, helping to feed the cadets and officers at the camp.

Marilyn Ludwig and Callen Podoborony spent six weeks at Vernon, B.C. attending the Junior Leadership course.

Laurie Kowalchuk and Penny Chomic attended camp at Gimli while Rhonda Campbell, Vincent Luckawiecki, Irwin Albrecht and Doug Mandiuk all attended their first basic camp at Camp Wright.

Now, another year of activities begins with sponsorship by the Royal Canadian Legion in Ryley, and assisted by the Ryley Lions Club who make their community bus available.

The village of Holden provides the hall.

The cadets will be meeting every Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Holden Community Hall, beginning September 9th. Boys and girls, aged 13 to 18, are welcome to join.

Fox Run set

by Lesley Primeau

The Marathon of Hope, in memory of Terry Fox, will be held Sunday, September 19 in the Tofield, Ryley and Holden area.

Organizers are making plans to make this year's run an even more memorable event than last year, when nearly $1,000 was collected through the line of approximately 75 runners.

The Marathon of Hope was initiated by Terry Fox who vowed to run from St. John's Newfoundland to Vancouver Island in an effort to raise funds needed for Cancer research. Fox got as far as Thunder Bay before the cancer which claimed one leg struck again and eventually claimed his young life.

Harry Dale of Lindbrook was the oldest participant of last year's Marathon while Renee Sparrowboom of Tofield was the youngest. Participants were encouraged to run, walk or jog the ten kilometers in recognition of Terry Fox's efforts.

Those wishing to participate in the Holden area are asked to contact C. Mathews at 688-3753, A. Michlich at 688-2275, D. MacKenzie at 688-3762 or J. Emerson at 688-2264 for further information.

In the Tofield Ryley area plans are being formulated to involve the schools in a competition similar to although smaller details are not known at this time pledge sheets are available at both the Tofield and Ryley Schools. In next week's Mercury more details about the route and marathon itself will be made public, although at this time participants are urged to pick up their pledge sheets.

Gardners

In and around the County of Beaver gardeners are reaping their rewards. Fresh produce is being plucked from vines aplenty and canning has become a prime pastime for many. It will all be worth while when the snow flies and you don't have to buy any garden goodies. —Lesley Primeau photo

What's fair?

Premier Lougheed and his party are under increasing, and very vocal, pressure to bring in some form of interest relief for home owners facing dramatic increases in their mortgage rates.

The example has already been shown by Premier Devine, in Saskatchewan, and it is being advocated in Manitoba, a much poorer province than either Saskatchewan or Alberta. After all, hasn't Alberta got the fabulously rich Heritage Savings Fund? With billions and billions of dollars? And wouldn't mortgage relief take only a part of the annual increase in the fund each year? Does it matter that Saskatchewan is now busy trying to figure out where the money is to come from?

It all sounds so simple.

Introduce subsidies which will bring mortgage interest rates for homeowners down to a reasonable level. Put more discretionary spending money in the hands of all these thousands of homeowners, and watch the economy take off again.

But the Premier and his cabinet have to ask themselves, as we all should, what's fair? What's really in the best interests of all the people?

If, indeed, there should be an attempt at interest reduction, should it apply to all homeowners? Should it apply to those who purchased last week or last month, in full knowledge of interest rates, or only to those who purchased three or more years ago, before rates started taking such shocking rises? Should it apply to every homeowner, including those who purchased homes priced at over $200,000, or only those in the range below, say, $75,000? Or $80,000? Should it take account of the level of income tax they pay? Or the size of family? What about those who have already paid their mortgage, often by sacrifice?

Should it only be for homeowners? How about the roughly half of Alberta's population who rent? Aren't they also part of Alberta's heritage? Are they only going to get their share through the economy "taking off?" What about owners of small business, whose entire life's equity may be at risk in a heavily mrotgaged operation, suffocating under high interest rates? What about the jobs these businesses provide? Should they go down the tube when interest strangles the business?

What about the people who might be tempted to convert home mortgage interest relief to pay off debts on motor homes, or lake cottages, or other luxuries?

What's really fair? To all Albertans? Including future Albertans . . .

One thing which hasn't been even mentioned, let alone emphasized, by proponents of mortgage relief is that once started, it must carry on and on and on, until finally rates at the national level drop to an acceptable level. In the first place, can the Heritage Fund stand it? Can it last that long? In the second place, what does this do to the concept of a Heritage Fund for those who come after us? And in the third place, where does this place the buyer of a mortgaged home next year? Is it only for those who qualify now?

Or are we to take a leaf from the Ottawa notebook? Do we write the rules as we go?

Hot weather needed

. . . for harvesting

Upwards of six weeks of warm weather is needed to get the 1982 crop off the fields.

According to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool, threshing has yet to start and cutting has been severly hampered by the wet weather that has prevailed throughout the region.

In a number of regions, low-lying land may not have its crops removed until after it freezes unless an extremely long period of warm weather prevails over an extended period of time.

In addition to the need for warmer and dryer weather, farmers have a major concern that a killing frost could strike the region before the crops are harvested.

The weather has been totally uncooperative to date. After a couple of days of reasonably dry weather and farmers are ready to return to the land, the rain once again falls.

At this time last fall, over sixty percent of all crops had been harvested.

1980 wasn't that great for harvesting with only about twelve percent of all crops having been threshed by this time of year.

Farmers are not looking for a repeat of '80 since many fields were not threshed until after the ground froze, due to the extreme wet conditions that prevailed throughout most of the province.

With little cutting having occurred to date, farmers are now pred.cting that it will be about the middle of the month before threshing operations could be general in this part of Alberta.

Despite the inclement weather that took place last week, some cutting operations did happen.

Over thirty percent of all crops in the New Norway region have been cut to date while farmers in the Holden region indicate they have cut about ten percent of their crops.

Bawlf farmers have cut about five percent of all crops and all other regions are below that percentage.

Overall, only about nine percent of all crops in Central Alberta had been cut by the end of last week.

With a lack of warmth during the critical development stage and an excess of moisture, much of the 1982 crop is not expected to get a high grade.

Until threshing operation commence, the grade and condition of the crop won't be known.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

When you stop to think about it, Jesus Christ never once demanded that the Romans be thrown out of Judea. He spent no time screaming for "equal rights" or "civil rights" - only man's God-given "human rights." He touted neither the Union nor Management, equalization, expansionism, or nationalism. In fact, He pointed only to the flaws in the human mind, be they in the rich or poor, high-born or low-born. He neither sought revolution nor condemned it but simply sought to teach mankind that he himself was the enemy - that greed, avarice, anger, suspicion, ambition and hunger for power and prestige were the roots of man's troubles - that love, justice, forgiveness and cooperation was the healing balm for human imperfections.

For this reason perhaps, I am more than a little peeved whenever I listen to so-called ministers and cultists preaching health, wealth, power and prestige for anyone prepared to join the club and pay the fees - with a donation or two thrown in so that the program may stay on the air in order to bring more people into the club.

From the days of Jesus, John the Baptist, Peter the Fisherman and a handful of others, "salvation" has grown to a multi-million dollar business: TV advertising, five hundred dollar suits, Cadillacs and crud that sells religion as an easy, instant pill for all the evils of life. It has been argued, of course, that if man had not been born with a free will, he would not be capable of creating the problems he does. To be sure, he could have been created like a bird that for millions of years could build a nest only as it had been programmed. But, as man was created with superior powers of reasoning, his reasoning has not somehow extended to the self cntrol of his own free will. Thus it was that the Man Jesus sought not to change boundaries, political parties, customs or stations but to change man so that he might make better laws, better justice and better existence for everyone. It is indeed sad to see so many people and so much time and money spent on changing environments, systems and principles while so little is really done to improve the mind of man.

STUDY CRIME, BUT DO NOTHING

Ontario
August 30, 1982

Dear Sir,

The federal cabinet announced with great fanfare just after the recent release of current national statistics on serious crime that it plans to overhaul our Criminal Code.

A closer look at Justice Minister Jean Chretien's policy paper, however, indicates that the commitment is only to a minimum of three years of study. Nowhere in 123 pages does the government take a position on any of the major issues beyond generally favouring "restraint" in criminal matters.

Canadians have seen eleven years of studies by Ottawa's Law Reform Commission, but exceedingly little federal legislation except the recently-passed Sexual Offences Bill and a genuine attempt to do something about pornography involving children. Serious crime, including organized crime, continues to increase.

Do we wait until our crime rate equals that of the United States before Ottawa acts in the many areas within its jurisdiction to make our streets and homes a little safer? As one of the myriad examles, the cabinet knows very well that its mandatory supervision pre-release program for convicted offenders is about equally unacceptable to the public, inmates and police, but does nothing to reform it.

In my experience as a Crown and Defence Attorney, the victims of violent crime are the really forgotten people in our criminal justice system. This Liberal cabinet and some like-thinking New Democratic M.P.s in my opinion are giving in to pressure from people who hold the view, "If it feels good, do it." They find it difficult therefore to recognize the principle that one's right to swing a baseball bat in a free society ends just before the next person's nose.

Yours truly,
David Kilgour, M.P., Edmonton Strathcona

PC Caucus Spokesman on Crime Prevention

Let's do something

It has been a relatively short time since the budget and national energy program were delivered to the Canadian people. In this time, residents of Canada have gone from the inquisitive to the unbelieving.

In the short span of 16 months, many businesses have gone under — the victims of high interest rates. Many farms and ranches have followed suit.

Today, people meeting on the street no longer follow the customary greeting with a smile. Now they ask each other how they are surviving.

We have watched helplessly as businesses closed their doors and silently disappeared. We have listened on the phone while well-respected business people tell us they just don't have the funds to pay an account. We have heard about the countless hardships a farmer has mastered throughout his life — until now.

We have watched while our country's once strong economic situation turned for the worse.

As we recently read: "The price of this human misery is unnecessary to our Canadian talent and potential. Clearly our nation is out of touch with reality."

We must do something to pull the federal government's cloak of uncertainty back from the economic window and instill the peace of mind that Canadians only a short while ago enjoyed.

Mrs. Mae Ferguson and daughter, Mrs. Loretta Weir and Mae's mother, Mrs. Roberts of the Tofield Lodge, motored to Edmonton and spent Sunday at the home of Mae's sister, Marguerite and Don Bailey. Mrs. Roberts had been a patient in the hospital again but, is now back at the Senior Citizens Lodge in Tofield.

Mrs. Gloria (Hoover) Kortzman of the Lindbrook area was a Thursday visitor with Mrs. Mae Ferguson, this past week.

Homer and Donalda Schmidt were Monday evening visitors at the home of Mavis and Carl Jacobsen.

Heather Radnicki of Edmonton spent the holiday weekend at the home of her parents, Rod and Isabel Radnicki.

Nelson and Ken-Al Ferguson and boys of Sherwood Park visit Nelson's mother, Mrs. Mae Ferguson quite regularly.

Ellen Eaton went to Edmonton on Aug. 28th and visited at the home of Jeannie and Tony Vaisey for two days.

While at Jeannie's their daughter, Susan came in for the day both Monday and Tuesday and on Tuesday, Ellen, Jeannie and Susan went out for dinner before Tony took her to the bus depot.

Mrs. Edna Jones received word of her father's, Carl Wilks death at Rosthern, Sask. on Aug. 21st. She left on Aug. 23 and stayed with her mother until after the funeral. Edna's husband, Arnold all of their family went to Rosthern on Aug. 28th to attend the funeral the next day. Arnold, Edna and all their family stayed over until the Friday before leaving for home.

Miss Marg Eaton and Mrs. Lynn Waddell of Edmonton stopped for a visit at the home of her grandmother, Ellen Eaton in Tofield on Saturday when they were enroute home from visiting Lynn's parents in Sask. Shortly after they left, Marg's parents and Ellen's son and his wife, Leroy and Shirley Eaton of Opal stopped in enroute home from a trip to Vegreville.

Patricia Jones of Edmonton spent Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Arnold and Edna Jones.

Rain once again fell on the district on the weekend stopping harvesting and haying operations again after only a couple of days that was suitable for baking. The rewashed grain will take sometime before combining can be started to get any dry grain. Fields in most places are too wet.

Ellen Eaton was among a bus load of senior citizens that spent an outing Monday at Fort Edmonton.

Church people busy

This past summer has been a very busy time for members of the Ryley Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Many were able to attend at least a portion of the annual camp meeting held near Bowden, during the first ten days of July.

During July and August, twelve children of the area attended one of the camps held at Foothills Camp, which offers a full program from kayaking to horsemanship.

The church also hosted a number of visitors from all parts of Canada and areas of the United States.

The first week of August found many busy children and adults involved in the yearly Vacation Bible School.

This program of stories, crafts and songs is being followed up by a Bible Club this fall.

The club will meet every Tuesday, starting September 14. Children, ages four and older, will be able to participate in Bible stories, crafts and some baking projects.

Earth trouncer

You wanna move something . . . in a big hurry?? Just call one of these creatures, that'll get the job done. About a half dozen similar-sized machines are currently pulverizing the Tofield Gold Course which will enable Highway 14 to be straightened out. —Lesley Primeau photo

primeau's play pen

Has it occured to you that the beautiful colours of autumn are upon us, or rather upon the trees. I never change colours, occassionally I mellow but further to that I would probably rot . . . so back to the trees. Now, I want to be the first to say, on a soap box or off, that I like the fall, no season best suits the changing colour scheme like fall, which I suppose is why God chose fall to be fall and not winter, which I hastened to add is approaching. Anyway the point of this is, we seem to have missed a season. By my very own calculations, which already gives you cause for concern, winter, that wonderful white on white time of year, heads off the list of seasons. Winter is generally a time to horde pennies and plot to rob a bank in an all out effot to leave this wilderness and go south. Now following winter we have what is commonly called spring . . . that's what beds do after a person has spent an entire winter staying warm buried beneath one or two hundred quilts. Now spring can be easily spotted by the sudden wash of green, green is everywhere, in the trees, in the grass (picture purple grass if you will), the green is seen everywhere, except perhaps in your wallet because with the coming of green also comes the tax man who takes those pennies you tried hording . . . shame on you . . .

And what follows that delightful season of spring . . . SUMMER and by my calculations we missed it!

Now I don't want to give you any cause for alarm but we have missed an entire season and unless we form a search party quickly I fear we shall never recover. And you're crazy if yu think we can collect doubly next year . . . whose gonna remember one year from now whether green was followed in close pursuit by yellow rays of golden sun, beating down on hot sidewalks, casting shadows on lawns, warming water to test your tender tootsies in . . . who, I ask you, is gonna check on that? ?

If we don't stand up and be counted right this very second and object to the callous way in which our seasons have been distorted we'll have no one to blame but ourselves . . . If you're thinking of blaming the 'Big Guy' I'd forget that . . . after all if you lost there, is there another higher court? If you get my drift . . . which is what we will be walking in soon. (Have I wasted enough paper yet?)

Not that for one minute I didn't enjoy the rain this year, I think it was fine for two, three maybe even four weeks, but after that . . . heck, anyone can see I'm not a duck! ! Can you tread water that long?

Give this some serious thought. It might be the beginning of something good . . . and then again it might just get us all in trouble. Perhaps we should simply find someone to take all the blame . . . can't be me, I've already had my quota of poop poop this week and it can't be all my fault. Let's blame the space programme and assorted green creatures, who wish summer to cease so they won't turn colours . . . after all in all the reading paraphenelia you hear about little green men, not yellow, or lilac or baby blue or magenta or even sunrise saffarin twist . . .

I have to scoot now, this has caused a major brain drain. And to think, I thought this all up by myself, don't you wish you were me? I know I do . . .

Blackbird Damage Survey

Are blackbirds harvesting your crop before you can get to it? Under certain situations, farmers have experienced losses due to blackbirds and it seems that what isn't eaten is dropped on the ground and wasted. Both Alberta Agriculture and the Alberta Hail and Crop Insurance Corporation are repeating a survey of the severity and extent of damage caused by blackbirds this year.

There is, at present, no compensation for losses due to blackbirds and there is no payment for losses through the crop insurance or wildlife damage programs.

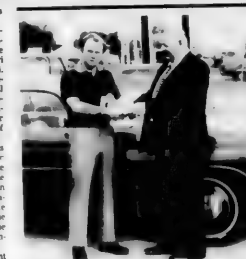
Farmers that have experienced damage in 1982 are asked to contact their local AHCIC office so that a limited but representative sampling of damage can be compiled. There is no charge for the investigation. Inspections should be made prior to swathing and farmers are asked to give at least two days notice before swathing so that the inspection can be carried out.

Taking Stock – Market Prospects for Cattle and Hogs

Alberta Agriculture's annual livestock outlook conference, Taking Stock, will be held at the Red Deer Capri Centre on October 13 and 14. For those in the livestock industry, this conference will give the participant an up-to-date analysis of present conditions and the outlook for livestock marketings. Some of the topics to be discussed are interest rates, exchange rates and the general economic outlook, implications of the state of the economy to the livestock sector, feedgrain and protein outlook, the Canadian cattle outlook, the American hog outlook, and the longer term prospects for the North American livestock industry.

There are three different registration plans starting at $15, $35 and $55. Conference registrations should be received by September 29 and hotel reservations at the Capri are the registrant's responsibility. Participants have until September 22 to qualify for conference room rates.

We have a number of brochures in the office and registration forms are included. By all means, stop in and pick one up.



BUYS SCOUTS' CAR

The Tofield Scouts are going to the Jamboree and to assist in their fund raising, Mr. Ken Kallal donated a car to them. The car was placed on the lot of Kallal Motors and was spotted by Mr. Bill Maciborski who purchased it for $1,600. Picture above is Jim Kallal left presenting the keys and accepting the cheque from Bill. The Scouts would like to thank Mr. Bill Maciborski for his generous donation.

There are many factors involved in making good pickles; your wter, method used and freshness of produce. Below are some common questions with explanations:

Pickles were soft — these may be eaten if you are sure they haven't spoiled.

WHY: — too little salt was used.

—Hard water was used (mechanically softened water is not suitable either)

—Produce was not soaked before pickling

—Blossom ends were not removed and enzymes were present.

Brine is cloudy — Pickles may be eaten as long as there are not other danger signs (broken seal, seepage, mold, bubbles, spurting, musky or slippery pickles, yeasty liquid, disagreeable smell). If any of these spoilage signs are present, destroy contents so they cannot be eaten by humans or animals.

Pickles Shrivelled

WHY: — too much salt was used.

—Vinegar or sugar solution was too strong —too much time elapsed between gathering and pickling (same day is best)

—Pickles were processed too long

—Water contains too much minerals

If you have had any other problems with your pickles, give me a call at 663-3666.

Hastings Lake

by Lois Fenna

The September meeting of the Ladies Club if weather permits, will be an outdoor event at Beverhill Lake on September 18th, and everyone should get together at the Hall at 1 p.m.

The Community Association will also meet on Sept. 16, at 8:00 p.m. in the Hall, and the work party is scheduled for Sept. 19. Due to budget restrictions by the County, grants are now very small for communities; and as many volunteers as can possibly attend are needed for that day.

The program for fall courses is now ready, and interested people should register at once for the early ones. Phone Jan Addison (922-2104) about the following two:

Beginners Cake decorating — Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. from Sept. 15 to Oct. 20.

Energy Conservation Part 1: Principles of Energy Conservation, Nov. 20th 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Lunch and notebooks should be brought to the one-day workshops.

Participants in the remaining courses should register with Strathcona Recreation (464-6700)

Aerobic Dance, Tuesday, 7:30 - 8:30 p.m. Sept. 21 to dec. 7.

Mixology (the art of mixing drinks) will be held on two Saturdays, dates to be announced.

Cable may be coming

by Lesley Primeau

"Cable is coming!" "Cable is coming!" The chant is heard virtually throughout the Town of Tofield where Delta CAble Company has put on feelers to determine whether the town's 1,500 plus residents would be interested in cable television.

Company spokesman Christopher Gay feels early indications are very positive and if at least 55% of the town's residents favour the company setting up a 'dish', Tofield could have seven channels by mid-November.

Currently the town receives three channels from Edmonton, CBC, CFRN and ITV, but with the advent of cable viewers would be able to enjoy Nickelodeon, which provides programming for children; ARTS, which provides the finer arts to patrons on Saturday and Sunday; WGN from Chicago, a station with superb movies and specials; WTBS which provides family directed programming from Atlanta; the movie channel which supplies 24 hours a day, non-stop, top notch movies; ESPN, a 24-hour sports station featuring all major sports worldwide; CBN which is the Christian Broadcasting Network but, should not be confused with solid self religion as the programming is geared to family directives; and HBO West which is a channel of movies, theatre and specials.

In addition to the seven channels for viewer enjoyment, Delta Cable also provides a community channel that can be programmed from within the community from a desk, complete with equipment, provided by the company. This network can be used to announce upcoming programmes on the various channels, up coming events in the community or any other news of note.

The channels are programmed to recycle every two to three days to enable viewers the choice of watching a movie in the afternoon or evening. Never again, according to Mr. Gay, will you have to miss a favourite movie or special.

The major difference between this cable and pay t.v. is regulations under the C.R.T.C. which governs only pay t.v. but has no jurisdiction over the cable network as it operates as a public utility. The dish will in all likelihood be mounted on top of the Tofield town office and the community studio will be housed within.

Delta Cable Company has mailed applications to Tofield residents and members of the Tofield Lions Club will be collecting the applications from interested patrons. The cost of the network is minimal; $60 for the initial hook-up and a monthly charge of $50.

According to Mr Gay they have received overwhelming response in many areas and anticipate the same in Tofield. If 58% of the homes subscribe to the cable network home installation would take one month approximately and by mid-November television viewers will be able to enjoy seven new channels.

Fox challenge on

by Lesley Primeau

Students at the Ryley School have formally challenged students at the Tofield School to see who can get the largest participation, percentage wise, in this Sunday's Terry Fox Run aimed at generating funds for cancer research.

The 10 kilometer route has been designated with the Amisk Creek campground the end or meeting place. The Tofield students will commence from Charlies Place and walk, run or jog to Shanta. While the Ryley students will leave from the school's main entrance and head toward Shanta.

The run is not merely for students and organizers hope to receive participation from many residents in the Town of Tofield as well as the Village of Ryley. Pledge sheets may be picked up at either school and those wishing to simply partake may just show up anytime between 9am and 3pm to commence.

Certificates will be issued to those having any involvement with the continuing Marathon of Hope started by Terry Fox in an effort to earn funds necessary to advance cancer research. Terry Fox's dedication eventually cost him his life but the fight continues with the annual, nationwide run.

The student challenge was conceived as a way to inspire student participation. A collection will be made of the teachers and with that money refreshments will be waiting the runner in Shanta. The teachers will also purchase a trophy for the winning team and any remaining funds will be given to the cancer fund.

Last year more than 70 residents participated in Tofield and raised more than $1000 for research. Organizers hope to surpass both totals this year and urge the community to become involved.

Scouts near 65%

by Yvonne Brown and Lesley Primeau

With perserverance and determination coupled with a great deal of hard work, the Tofield Boy Scouts are inching toward the 65% mark of their needed finances that will enable them to travel to Australia this December and partake of the Australian Jamboree.

The Scouts and many family members have been active over the past three months undertaking any kind of chore or project that would help their cause. The recent bottle drive brought in hundreds of bottles and the Scouts are still interested in collecting more. Anyone who has bottles or cans may contact any Scout to make arrangements for pickup.

Last Saturday, for the second time this summer the Scouts were part of Harvest Festival sponsored by the Old Strathcona Foundation in Edmonton. The Scouts and their farm vegetables, flowers, homemade candy, choke cherries and fire wood sold an abundance of fresh vegetables, candy, fire wood, berries and cookbooks. The Scouts will also be in attendance at the market held on Sept. 24.

Many Scouts are continuing their lawn care duties and are most anxious to help those gardeners ready to clean up the back yard for winter. The Scouts are also preparing wood for the winter and loads of fire wood can be arranged by calling 662-3126 or 662-3681.

At a recent auction sale the Scouts were manning the concession. Their concession duties have also included a horse show and many ball tournaments. The young fellows are still interested in operating concessions for any project in the future.

Plans to tackle include the fencing of an acreage, yard cleaning, barn cleaning, fence painting at the Senior Citizens apartments and general odd jobs. The boys are willing to tackle almost anything large or small.

The Scouts have been overwhelmed by the encouragement and support of the community. Although the Scouts have not asked for donations and hope to earn all the needed finances they have been the gracious recipients of many donations including one senior citizen's donation of the entire August pension check, one farm farmer who donated $100 because he didn't have any work for the boys and one resident who has pledged $5 monthly until the Scouts reach their goal.

Expecting to take the Australian trip are Brent, Armand and Lennie Eagleur, Pat and Jon Hallenquist, Warren and Grant Berg, Warren Filpula, Barry Zentil, Chris Jensen, Troy Schnurer and Douglas Brown. Travelling with the Scouts will be leaders Don Kendrat and Evan Jensen.

Rents increase

by Lesley Primeau

Commencing January 1, 1983 rental fees on the Tofield Community Hall will increase and will be levied according to local or non-local status. The Tofield Rec Board is also investigating the possibility of offering incentives to encourage prospective renters but has not elaborated on this matter.

For the basic rental of the hall during the week the fee will be set at $80 up from $50, however the non-local rate will be set at $120. The rental on the meeting room and kitchen will be set at $60 for local and $120 for non-local. Rental on the kitchen will be $40 and $70 for non-local while the meeting room itself will rent for $30 and $50 non-local.

Regular users such as the Tofield Lions Club and the Tofield Dancing School are expected to receive breaks but this detail has not been thoroughly worked out and the Rec Board reserves comment.

Weekend rentals are expected to jump to $300 while non-locals will pay $360. This will be for weddings and the like including dances. Non-locals who wish to rent the hall for fund raising purposes will be considered on a negotiated basis.

The Tofield Rec Board is currently reviewing the hall situation but in all likelihood the rates will be as listed. Until January 1, 1983 the rental schedule will remain as outlined previously.

Jugglers extraordinaire

Take two artists, a couple of tumblers and a ring or two and what do you have. A crowd stopper. Jugglers have a way of reminding you of a lost summers day when you were young and wished to join a circus. Most of us seem to let those memories fade and if it were not for men like this they would soon be forgotten.

Rain hurts harvesting

. . . bad frost hits

Harvesting operations continued to be hampered by poor weather last week and to add a further blow to the farming community, a killer frost struck over the weekend.

Earlier in the season, frost had been reported in a few low-lying regions but this past weekend's edition was general throughout the area.

It was not immediately known how much damage would result but, generally it was felt that the quality of this year's production would suffer.

Going into the past weekend, only four percent of the '82 crop had been harvested, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

At this point last fall, three-quarters of all crops had already been removed from the fields.

1981 was considered to be about the worst year for harvesting in about twenty years but, at this point in time two years ago, about fifteen percent of all crops had been threshed.

Generally speaking, if no more rain falls, most farmers expected to return to their fields this week to resume operations.

The situation in the Hay Lakes region appears more critical than in other areas because of excessively heavy rainfall to date. Farmers in that region have reached the point where, if it continues to be showery, they would have to wait until it freezes before harvesting could resume.

All of the rye crop around New Norway has been threshed. Camrose is the only other area to grow that crop this year and cutting operations have yet to start.

About five percent of rapeseed has been harvested to date along with three percent of barley with no threshing of any other crops having been started by the weekend.

In addition to having completed the rye harvest, farmers around New Norway have gotten a start with rapeseed and barley and cutting operations have reached the mid-way mark.

Ten percent of barley around Hay Lakes has been threshed along with about five percent of oats and rapeseed but only slightly more than ten percent of all crops have been cut.

Ten percent of rapeseed and barley around Rosalind has been harvested and again, poor weather has hampered operations with only one-quarter of all crops having been cut to date.

Ten percent of the rapeseed crop in the Ryley and Daysland regions have been threshed and about one-half of all crops have been cut.

In the Tofield area, five percent of rapeseed has been threshed and a start has been made with barley but, only about ten percent of all crops have been cut.

Farmers around Bawlf have threshed about five percent of rapeseed and in the Holden region, a start has been made with rapeseed and barley and in both areas, slightly more than thirty percent has been cut.

Farmers in the vicinity of Camrose have made a mild start with rapeseed and barley with only about twenty percent of all crops having been cut.

No threshing operations have commenced in the Round Hill area where slightly more than thirty percent of all crops have been cut to date.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

While most peoples lives are touched by inflation, high borrowing costs and aggravations of one kind or another, few people do anything about it other than talk about it — usually to one another like two fat men pointing out the hazards of fatness to one another! Then there are those who cloak their inability or inactivity in negativism. When I was thirteen and sold my first newspaper article, I confided to my sister that I would one day write a novel. Between howls of derision, a kindly old gentleman calmed me with: "Why not? Anyone can move a mountain — even if they have to begin with a spoon! And I wrote that book — and many more — even when my spoon meant notes scribbled on stolen sheets of toilet tissue while a messenger on London's Fleet Street! It meant hours of scribbling in a hard won studio made from a hastily converted chicken run in the back yard and hours spent in browsing through old books in the British Museum Library when I might have been out dancing, primping or pursuing the school dreamboat!

As any athlete, singer or dancer knows, it takes a great deal more than simply "liking" a chosen career. It means more than listening to a distant drum. It means seeking it out and closing out the sound of closer, sweeter Pans.

History has proven poverty or deprivation as being the spur that drove men and women on to achievements that comfort and affluence might otherwise have thwarted!

Then there is that old cop-out of complaining that the individual can do little or nothing. Hence the "organization," to share the misery and equalize the responsibility that is somehow comforting — even if not too pro-active. Over the years I have seen scores of organizations come and go. I have attended scores of lectures and seminars on everything from government waste to the abuses of the justice system and insane foreign aid. Along the way, a thousand well meaning souls have asked "Why doesn't someone do something?" The test of involvement is found when you ask: When did you last write a letter to your MP, MLA or City Alderman? When did you last complain to a manufacturer, retailer or bureaucrat? When did you last resist government intrusion of your privacy? One thing that can be said for individual action is that it can hardly be infiltrated and taken over as so many organizations are. In the final analysis, when I hire a plumber I expect him to do a job for me or I fire him. I don't merely pick up the telephone and complain to my neighbour!

Heavy handed

It isn't only workers for the federal government who are facing the heavy hand of centralized authority in the next couple of years, under the government's "six and five" policy.

The policy started off to promise salary increases of only six percent next year and five percent the year following to workers for federal government, then it extended to a number of offices and agencies established by federal authority. Next it was extended to a number of agencies licensed under government jurisdiction.

Last week, the move was extended still further to a large number of businesses operating in national parks, whose prices are controlled by the federal government. Services such as hotel and motel accommodation, motor vehicle rentals, ski lift tickets, guide services, rates for renting horses, bicycles, boats and several other facilities, all come under the tight new regulations.

Businesses in the parks whose rates are not set by the minister, such as restaurants, and most retail sales outlets, even though they aren't regulated, will be asked to comply with the policy on a voluntary basis. This is one of those cases where "voluntary" means "big brother's looking down your neck". This was put only slightly more delicately by western regional director of parks, William C. Turnbull in his statement "We don't have any authority to directly control their prices, but we shall be looking for their co-operation." (We can recall clearly occasions when parks residents were seeking co-operation from the parks administration, and wondered if they had suddenly developed a case of bone deafness).

Even increases coming into effect after June 28 which were set BEFORE that date will be rolled back, declared Mr. Turnbull.

Workers often feel that business gets all the breaks, while wage earners take all the licks in life, and at the same time, business people frequently think they bear the brunt, while workers get whatever breaks are in the cards. But let the despotism of government exert any influence, and they're both treated just the same . . . if you're not willing to knuckle under, you'd better get out.

District elevators pass million bushels

During the 1981-82 crop year, reports the Alberta Wheat Pool, members delivered over 25,000 tonnes of grain at each of 93 shipping points. This is in excess of one million bushels under the imperial system of management.

Among the 93 points were several in this district, including Bawlf, Camrose No. 1, Holden, New Norway, and Ryley.

It wasn't many years ago, comments the Pool, that a million bushel handling was unheard of, but as the years went by it soon became apparent that sooner or later the million bushel figure would be reached.

First elevator manager to reach the goal was Owen Hughson, in the 1964-5 year.

Since then a number of managers have reached the plateau, and some revisions may be necessary to this year's lists as final records from the Canadian Grain Commission become available.

Western promise

Alberta may once again be moving into the forefront of energy development, as a new service is marketed in Calgary. Long-time Westerner, and former Liberal cabinet minister, Judd Buchanan heads a firm which hopes to market Liquified Natural Gas for automobiles.

Tapping the huge resources of natural gas in the West, Buchanan and his supporters hope to capitalize by moving the market from limited supplies of propane, to the abundant supplies of natural gas, both of which would be carried under immense pressure by highway, or more likely, local delivery vehicles. Vehicles which would profit from the cleaner burning, the longer engine life, the reduction in repairs, associated with conversion from gasoline.

In this era, when the scripture of conservation beams in on the dogma of self-sufficiency, development of Alberta's seemingly limitless natural gas supplies seems destined to be in the best long-term interests not only of the province, but of the nation. Isn't it interesting that a former cabinet minister in the Liberal government should have been the instrument!

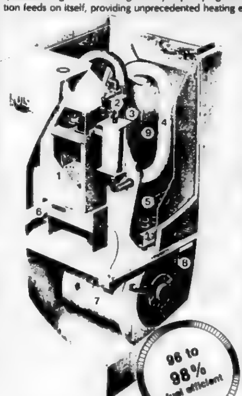
The amazing new

Lennox Pulse Furnace

SUPER SAVINGS GUARANTEED!

UNPRECEDENTED HEATING EFFICIENCY

The Lennox Pulse gas furnace is the most significant breakthrough in furnace design in over 40 years. It produces heat unlike any other furnace with greater efficiency than ever before possible. Operating on a principle of pulse combustion, small quantities of gas and air are ignited by a spark plug. After the initial spark, combustion feeds on itself, providing unprecedented heating efficiency.



MORE HEAT, LESS WASTE

If your present gas furnace is over five years old, it is probably in the 55 to 60% efficiency range. Compare this with the Pulse efficiency ratings of 96 to 98%!* This difference can mean a drastic reduction in your monthly heating bills - enough to justify replacing your current unit today, though it still operates. The Pulse furnace is that efficient. Even if your system is a newer "high efficiency" model, your savings are still huge with the Lennox Pulse furnace

*Efficiencies certified and approved by Canadian Gas Assoc.

1. Air intake, mixing valve & blower assembly 2. Gas valve 3. Combustion chamber 4. Tail pipe 5. Heat coil 6. Flue vent pipe 7. Blower 8. Filter 9. Exhaust decoupler

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

This amazing efficiency is the result of over five years of field testing and research. Lennox technology has made the Pulse furnace easy to install and service. (It can replace any Lennox up-flow furnace installed in the last 40 years with virtually no alterations in duct, cooling coil or accessories.) For LPG fired models, a conversion kit is required for changeover from natural gas.

* Lennox add-on air conditioning coil, electronic air cleaner and power humidifier can easily be added to the furnace for a year-round Total Comfort system.

* The Lennox Pulse furnace has a lot more going for it ... low cost installation, high quality components, easy serviceability and quiet trouble-free operation. This outstanding design is backed by the Lennox reputation for quality, unequalled in over 87 years as an industry leader and innovator.

* If converting from oil, installing a Pulse could be worth $800 in C.O.S.P. grants.

The most efficient gas furnace in the world!

Back to Bag Lunches

With the return of students to school, Mom is once again packing lunches. Following are a few ideas to start the ball off.

Choose a variety of breads for lunches, whether you're making sandwiches or filling a thermos with chili. Try onion or cheese buns, rye bread, crusty rolls, even hot dog buns are a change.

Instead of a sandwich, wrap luncheon meat around a cube of cheese and fasten with a toothpick. Or roll bologna around a lettuce leaf that has been spread with mayonnaise. Bran muffins with cheese slices, cherry tomatoes, and yogart would make a nutritious and fast bag lunch.

Other non-sandwich suggestions include a piece of cold chicken, chili in a thermos or deviled eggs.

Most sandwiches can be made and frozen ahead of time. Avoid fillings such as egg, luncheon meat, tomatoes and lettuce as they don't freeze well.

Different sandwich fillings take the monotony out of bag lunches. Try deviled ham, liver pate, whipped cream cheese with pimento, olives, pineapple, chives or raisins.

Surprise the children with treats - raisins, nuts, a favourite fruit or even a cookie.

Getting the kids involved in making their own lunch helps to ensure the final product is actually eaten. Even if their part is merely washing the fruit or vegetables - they feel they have helped.

STUDY CRIME, BUT DO NOTHING

Ontario
August 30, 1982

Dear Sir:

The federal cabinet announced with great fanfare just after the recent release of current national statistics on serious crime that it plans to overhaul our Criminal Code.

A closer look at Justice Minister Jean Chretien's policy paper, however, indicates that the commitment is only to a minimum of three years of study. Nowhere in 122 pages does the government take a position on any of the major issues beyond generally favouring "restraint" in criminal matters.

Canadians have seen eleven years of studies by Ottawa's Law Reform Commission, but exceedingly little federal legislation except the recently-passed Sexual Offences Bill and a genuine attempt to do something about pornography involving children. Serious crime, including organized crime, continues to increase.

Do we wait until our crime rate equals that of the United States before Ottawa acts in the many areas within its jurisdiction to make our streets and homes a little safer? As one of the myriad examples, the cabinet knows very well that its mandatory supervision pre-release program for convicted offenders is almost equally unacceptable to the public, lawmakers and police, but does nothing to reform it.

In my experience as a Crown and Defence Attorney, the victims of violent crime are the really forgotten people in our criminal justice system. This Liberal cabinet and some like-thinking New Democratic M.P.s in my opinion are giving in to pressure from people who hold the view, "If it feels good, do it." They find it difficult therefore to recognize the principle that one's right to swing a baseball bat in a free society ends just before the next person's nose.

Yours truly,

David Kilgour, M.P., Edmonton Strathcona

Movies on probation

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Theatre may be facing a possible two-month probationary term in an effort to see if community interest and support is enough to offset last year's slumping box office.

The Tofield Recreation Board and the Tofield Town Council concur with sentiments that something must be done to make the community theatre a more viable project. An effort has been made to bring in top notch films to help draw a larger audience and thus ensure a better box office.

Many Tofield residents have expressed concern to The Mercury that the reason attendance slumps is due largely to lack of supervision.

Without proper supervision the Tofield Community Hall becomes a baby-sitting service for the hours a feature is presented.

Throughout the show, young children and teens constantly walk in and out, shuffle chairs about, talk, holler and virtually disrupt the performance.

Consequently, those attending with the intent of watching a show leave with the idea that perhaps this might be their last trip to the community hall.

Many parents feel that children should be taken to the show rather than sent to the show. This would provide a certain amount of parental supervision and possibly make the show more enjoyable for others.

Exactly what will be done with the Tofield Theatre is not yet known. However, much could be decided within the next two months and much will depend entirely on theatre patrons.

Between the Covers

A new book in the Library this week is a recently-published biography of that controversial figure, Rasputin. This Russian monk was literally a legend in his own time, a peasant who rose to achieve great power in the court of Tsar Nicholas II. Illustrated with photographs, this book should provide an interesting look at imperialist Russia.

Also recently added to the Library collection are two more titles by Wilbur Smith, a writer of adventure fiction, usually set in South Africa: Men of Men and The Angels Weep.

Romance in Victorian England takes a sinister turn, in [illegible] The Judas Kiss.

Please come in and pick up a copy of the winter hours bookmark Tues 1-5; Thurs. 3-5 and 6-9; Friday 10-12 and 1-5; Sat. 10-12 and 1-5. If you wish to return books and the library is closed, you may use the book drop located to the west of the library door.

The children's film program is continuing at the new time of Saturday mornings at 10:30; admission is free, and open to all.

Ronaghan questions county

. . . about Ryley tests

by Lesley Primeau

At the last regular meeting of the County of Beaver Council, Don Ronaghan, president of the Bruce Viking Agricultural Protective Association, questioned Council as to their position regarding the possible testing of land directly north of the Village of Ryley for a hazardous waste treatment facility.

The Village is presently investigating the feasibility of siting such a plant and during a recent plebiscite received overwhelming support from the village residents to proceed with discussions with the Department of Environment.

Mr. Ronaghan wanted to know if indeed it was accurate to state that Council would have to approve the testing before the Village could proceed and informed Council to bear in mind the outcome of the county wide plebiscite that indicated more than 1300 residents within the county were opposed to such a plant.

The other question Mr. Ronaghan posed to the County Council involved any possible revenue coming from the Village to the County by way of property tax and to that extent does the County furnish any services to Ryley.

County Council informed Mr. Ronaghan and Ivan Sandal, who attended representing the citizens opposed to hazardous waste plant in the Tofield area, that presently there was no need for the Village or any other group to have Council's approval before land testing was initiated for any project.

It was pointed out that land testing is conducted in the county for various reasons and it simply would not be feasible to require approval for each project. However, Council was quick to add, any proposed development in the County would have to be approved.

Mr. Ronaghan was duly informed that the County of Beaver received no such revenue from the Village of Ryley as questioned, but did indeed make the school requisition as they do with other municipalities. The County at no time receives property tax money.

It was Council's intention that, for the record, they wished to have no further involvement with the discussions of possible location of the provincial hazardous waste treatment plant and further to that saw no need to become directly or indirectly involved with Ryley's action regarding the siting of the facility.

Another matter discussed at County Council involved the possible purchase of a beeper system for the Tofield Fire Department. The proposed system would replace the current fire phone system which, according to AGT officials is quickly becoming obsolete.

Tofield's request for the new communications system stems from inability to guarantee the fire phones be manned 24 hours a day. The new system would allow firemen to keep a portable radio on their belt providing maximum mobility. With an incoming call the fire alarm could be relayed to other fire personnel through their beepers. The system, with a suggested price tag of $16,000, would allow personnel confined to buildings or out of hearing range of the main alarm, a means of staying in touch.

Although Council agreed with the intent of the system, they were not sure that they could commit funds without further investigation. Council requested that in addition to information regarding this communications system for Tofield, they would be interested in knowing what could be done in the Viking area where problems have been encountered with the main alarm which occasionally cuts off before it has rung the prescribed time. County Fire Chief Laurie Weatherill has promised Council to look into the matter but felt the town of Viking would also have to have some input.

Council has given approval in principal to the new by-law affecting the control and regulation of all park areas within the county boundaries. The by-law provides for the protection of facilities in the park areas, the levying of user fees and the hiring of staff to supervise the development and management of said parks.

Hail project wraps up cloud seeding season

(Red Deer, September 9, 1982) The Alberta Hail Project completed its 1982 hail suppression experiments on August 31st. Since the start of its operation on June 29th, the four seeding aircraft flew a total of 450 hours on 255 missions on 47 days seeding hailstorms with 4,500 cloud seeding flares. Storms this year were seeded routinely only in the area from Red Deer south to Calgary.

For the entire project area from near Edmonton to Calgary, hail was reported on 57 days during June, July and August with the total number of reports of hail just slightly below the long term average (2,426 reports vs. 2,571 average). The season, however, was quite irregular [illegible]

South Area

	No. of Reports	% of Average
June	74	20%
July	381	42%
Aug.	407	173%

North Area

	No. of Reports	% of Average
June	212	64%
July	636	86%
Aug.	744	220%

Most reports for June and July were from two storms on June 28th and July 21st. These were followed by a number of major storms in August resulting in the high figures.

Cloud seeding with ground generators by the I. P. Krick Associates occured on 41 days from June 28th to August 30th from High River to Pincher Creek. The cloud physics research aircraft flew 22 missions in the region of the ground generators investigating the dispersal of the silver iodide particles from the ground generators.

Limited radar, weather observations and research aircraft operations will continue at the project headquarters until September 12th. These activities will allow scientists to continue investigations into possible atmospheric pollutant effects on precipitation.

Tofield scouts

The Tofield Boy Scouts were in Edmonton this past weekend at the Old Strathcona Harvest time. The Scouts did well and many stopped to wish them well on the adventure to Australia. To date the Scouts have surpassed the 81% mark and have almost 2½ months left to go. —Lesley Primeau Photo

Discussion took place re the annual Chicken Supper to be held in Round Hill on Nov. 7. Two new members were welcomed, Linda Wasik and Mrs. Victor Zaniuk. The next meeting will be held on Oct. 4 at the home of Martha Wincsura.

The Round Hill ladies ball team all gathered at the home of Bill and Judy Topolnickies for the end of the year windup party. Their score keeper, Gail Law, with a trophy, and Mr Pasychnyk, the ump, with an engraved lighter. The girls came in second place in the county league for the second year in a row with Camrose Steelers winning the cup. Play is important to a child's physical, social and intellectual development. For this reason, toys merit careful consideration. The following points are worth considering when you are buying toys:

Is the toy suitable for the child? The child's mental and physical capabilities are the prime considerations. A toy should challenge the child's skills, but if it is too advanced he will become frustrated and lose interest.

Will the toy continue to be fun? Toys that can be used in a variety of ways and allow for the child's imagination are most likely to keep his interest. Basic toys, such as building blocks, and crayons, can be used in different ways as the child develops. Often, the more "sophisticated" toys soon bore the child as they offer less flexibility in play.

Does the toy work well? Does it do what it is supposed to do? Are the instructions clear?

Will it last? A toy must withstand all the child's normal use and abuse. Are the material and workmanship of good quality? Is it washable? Is it easily broken?

Is it safe? Above all else, a toy must not harm the child. Here is a list of some hazards to avoid:

Sharp points and edges or brittle materials. Check for splinters on wood toys.

Cords, strings or tapes that are long enough to wrap around a child's neck.

Small objects which could be swallowed or inhaled.

Toys that could pinch or trap a small child's fingers.

Any toxic substance.

Electrical toys must be handled with respect.

Projectile type toys, such as darts, are hazardous and may require supervision.

The Federal Hazardous Products (Toys) Regulations prohibit the sale of toys with excessively dangerous features. If you buy a toy which you find to be unsafe, report it to Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Canada, at their Calgary or Edmonton office. If they judge the product to be unsafe under the regulations they may have it taken off the market.

A good source of information about toys is the Canadian Toy Testing Council. It is an independent voluntary organization founded by parents concerned about the quality and safety of toys. The Council evaluates hundreds of toys each year for play value, safety and durability. The results are published each November in a booklet entitled Good Toys. It can be purchased from: Canadian Toy Testing Council, P.O. Box 6014, Station J, Ottawa, K2A 1T1.

Don't forget that quantity is no substitute for quality in toys. A few well-chosen toys can be far more satisfying to the child then a large "hit-or-miss" collection.

New school terms start

by Grace Phillips

With Al Pollock resuming his duties as principal of the Tofield School after a year's educational leave of absence spent at the University of Alberta, and Dave Smith beginning his second year as principal of C.W. Sears Elementary School, 792 students began the 1982-83 school year in Tofield on September 2.

The teachers in both schools had spent the previous day in pre-session planning.

C.W. Sears Elementary has 272 students registered in kindergarten through grade three; Tofield School has 520 students in grades four through twelve. This year's combined registration shows an increase over last year's 779 students.

As each school operates independently with its own staff, support staff, and custodians, and deals only with its own concerns, the public is requested to contact the appropriate school when information is required.

The Tofield School may be reached at [illegible]; C.W. Sears at 662-3810.

Fred Reinholt, B.Ed., M.Ed., is, for the sixth year, Superintendent of Schools for the County of Beaver. He, his wife Edna, proprietor of the Elizabeth Shoppe in Tofield, and their sons make their home on an acreage near Tofield.

Donald Kendrat, B.Ed., Supervisor of Instruction for the County of Beaver, holds a degree in Educational Administration. Beginning his fifth year in his present position, Mr. Kendrat, his wife Myrna, and their son Scott live in the Belvedere subdivision of Tofield.

The Board of Education of the County of Beaver, under which all County schools operate, is chaired by Mrs. Hjordis Armitage of Kinsella.

John C. Warner represents Division Seven on the Board; Arnold Swift represents the Town of Tofield.

In the County of Beaver Central Office in Ryley, the personnel involved with education are: Garth Bancroft, secretary-treasurer; Ron Pepper, assistant secretary-treasurer; Karen Sorenson, purchasing agent; Sharon Neufeld, payroll clerk; Celi Reyes, instructional materials co-ordinator; Ellen Myren, secretary to the superintendent; Lee Gudmunsen, machines operator and Mrs. Diane Booth, receptionist.

The two schools in Tofield share in several services provided by the County.

A roving librarian, Jim McGaghey, visits each school on regular basis. The school nurse, Miss Shirley Schooler, R.N. conducts immunization programs.

Special education classes are provided in schools throughout the County.

Tofield students are bused to an opportunity room in Holden taught by Len Langner; a pre-vocational class in Ryley taught by John Blades; and vocational classes at W.P. Wagner School in Edmonton.

This year in the Tofield School, Miss Cheryl Brown, B.Ed. will be teaching a special education class in what will be called the General Integration Room. (G.I.R.) This class will assist students who can benefit from small-group instruction.

Mrs. Margaret Hallett spends part of her time as Special Services Co-ordinator for the County; she also assists teachers in the skills centres in the County schools.

Industrial arts and home economics classes are provided by the County in Holden. These classes taught by Victor Petruk and Mrs. Sharon Krepelnicki respectively are attended by Tofield students.

Randy Ness is the vocational guidance counsellor for the County, visiting each school each week. He is also responsible for the work experience programs.

As in previous years, students will be dismissed at 2:30 pm on the last operational Tuesday of each month to facilitate the holding of general staff meetings.

The first report cards will be issued early in November and the first parent-teacher interviews will follow soon.

The bus drivers and their routes are: Graham Allen, Hastings Lake, Lindbrook; Randy Benson and Charles Sears (jointly), Lindbrook; Frank Langkaas, Islet Lake and bus for students in industrial arts, home economics and special education; Collette Carlisle, Lakeshore; Gary Oslund, Kingman, Tofield; Rick Berezan, Kingman, Tofield; Jim Silver, Lindbrook and north; Victor Wiens, Kingman; Ben Thiessen, Grand Forks; Henry Thiessen, MacKenzie, Lakeshore; John Thiessen, Tofield, Anderson, Ingram and Ketchamoot.

Spare bus drivers are Charles Sears, Robert Koop, J.C. Lampitt, Bob Moss, Jim Ingram, Brian Aubrey, Glen Burkholder, Elaine Perisky and Pat Jones and bus supervisor is Mike Yaciuk.

News from Ministik

by Catherine Roddick

After two months' recess, the Ministik Ladies Club met at the Community Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The annual fall bazaar was discussed and planned for Nov. 5th with Jean Ferguson once again as convenor. This will be her 30th annual bazaar as convenor. There will be two store vouchers as raffle prizes.

There will also be a sewing table, a bake table, surprise and fish pond and articles for sale. 10 games of bingo will be played followed by lunch, served by the ladies.

There are a few tickets available for the western dance and chuckwagon supper on Saturday.

Barbara and Albert Horricks are hosts to an uncle and cousin of Barbara's from Sawyerville, Quebec. Her uncle is Cecil Gilbert and his daughter is Lois Garneau. They will be spending two weeks at the Horricks home here and the Don Gilbert home in Edmonton.

Glenn Ferguson and Richard Heitman of Tofield and Richard's sister, Margaret and husband Fred Hunley attended a car show in the Sportex last Sunday.

Members of the Community League met at the hall on Wednesday evening and were pleased with the new coat of paint the interior of the hall has received recently. Plans are going ahead for the Halloween dance on Oct. 23. A date may soon be set for a blood donor clinic.

Church services will resume at the United Church on Sept. 19th, after a summer recess.

I knew if I thought long enough, certainly I wouldn't waste my time thinking hard enough as long enough will have to suffice, I would quickly realize exactly what season this was and sure enough just seeing Ruth Ferguson was clue enough. I mean you don't have to drop a brick wall on my toe . . . right.

There she was, sitting in the Tofield Bakery (loitering some might say, the never I) discussing with her poor, but tall, daughter Cindy the merits of picking pumpkins . . . have you ever . . . most people with half a pea brain (incidently just how much bigger than a pea is your brain?) already know poor but tall daughters don't pick pumpkins, small but green midgets with pointed hats do.

This little green type wears a four foot pointed hat and pales the pumpkins on top thus eliminating the need for a stacker or a packer, which better not make any sense to you cause I'm already lost. Of course the green midget knows which pumpkin is just the right size and roundness . . . figure that out if you can.

Naturally the little green midgets with the pointed hats (remind you of anyone) leave the other pumpkins for the Great Pumpkin to swoop down on. Surely you didn't think the Great Pumpkin used conventional airports? I mean really the Great Pumpkin has a reputation to uphold, if he didn't land in the pumpkin patch how would the union react? And I say he not to be sexist, the G.P. could never be accused of being sexy, after all look at the body . . .

Anyone with the slightest of inclination and a more than charming personality can arrange for one of these midget pickers to appear in their patch. As for Ruth, it is entirely possible that since she has already subjected her garden to the poor but tall daughter Cindy, that she has blown her chances. Picture if you will, indulge me! You didn't pay to get in you know . . . picture a poor, pitiful, little green tyke poking about in the garden gathering his pumpkins as outlined in the great life master plan . . . when, as he approaches a particularly round, perfect orange specimen, a large set of hands, built four fingers and a large thumb reaches down for the same . . . the little green tyke looks up way up further and greets, eye to eye (if that is possible) a giant . . . now that would scare the pumpkins right outa me . . . who cares about you! Reverse the scenario if you will and picture yourself in a garden with Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain . . . get my drift . . . enough to snow you in?

It is certainly my educated guess (ha) that Ruth has forever lost her chance to have the pick of the pumpkin plenties plucked at perfection by the poor wee type greenies . . . with this imagination is it any small wonder I don't do what I thought I did, even if I would would anyone ever pay me for it . . . will Ruth ever get her pumpkins picked . . . will the poor but tall daughter Cindy ever be drafted by the Utah Jazz or the Nets . . . will Jed Clampitt ever find them thar hills . . . will the population explosion ever be diffused . . . will the cow bell or the bowling ball . . . will the Democrats ever win the Republican nomination . . . will Joe Who ever learn to swim . . . will Pierre what ever . . . ever what remains a mystery even to me . . . will Trigger overcome that stuffed feeling . . . be like and share with him at 11 stay tuned to stay tuned . . . and remember, if it happens in Tofield, it's news to me . . . it is like this all time and aren't you just sooo pleased . . . .

Crime Watch sits

The Beaverhill Rural Crime Watch program is gaining momentum and organizers are launching an all out campaign to involve the rural community and make them aware of the advantages of having such a program.

Their last meeting was held in late August at which time guest speaker Randy Fish, from Fish and Wildlife in Vegreville, spoke on the rules and regulations of the hunting season. The topic prompted a great deal of discussion from the more than thirty interested residents.

John Warner, Councillor for Division 7 of the County of Beaver, suggested that signs indicating the area was within the Crime Watch jurisdiction be posted at Entry points to the County of Beaver. Mr. Warner intimated the programmes was of benefit and concern to all county residents and the signs might be a way of denoting community awareness to outsiders.

County of Beaver Fieldman, Laurie Weatherill was also in attendance at the meeting to discuss the merits of Grain Guard, a method of grain protection. Confetti like pieces of paper are imprinted with a single number and that number is issued to one farmer who mixes it with a load of grain. The idea is to discourage possible grain thefts. Further details of the programme are available through the county office.

The date for the next meeting has been set for November 23 at the Shaw Hall, south of Ryley. Following discussions on these topics the meeting was formally adjourned and those in attendance broke off for coffee and informal discussion.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

The gasping air-hunger of a child with asthma evokes both concern and sympathy — concern for the child's safety and sympathy because of his or her distress.

The various forms of asthma are difficult to understand. Some children are constantly short of breath and have a perpetual wheeze. Others develop a spasm of the air passageways only if they get excited, exercise too much, or develop an infection. The role of allergy is also important.

While it is true that most children with asthma will not carry their affliction into adult life, the disease still requires treatment during the younger years. Even fairly young children are able to co-operate while lung-function tests are carried out, and these tests provide useful information. They will determine the seriousness of the condition, its probable response to treatment, and its progression or deterioration over time.

Treatment varies from intermittent treatment will suffice, particularly when the attack has been triggered by a cold or other infection. Usually long-term therapy is required with drug selection and dosages being juggled as the situation requires.

A severe asthmatic attack is a medical emergency in any age group. It is fortunate that the vast majority of cases can be promptly helped if facilities are available.

Treatment of asthma is multi-faceted. Avoidance of infections and allergic materials is important. The child's exercise must be tempered and emotional outburst should be avoided.

Medicines work in several ways. Some open up the air passages. One prevents the release of an irritating substance from cells in the respiratory tract. Cortisone, in various forms, is an important drug in asthma. Oxygen is required during an acute attack. Antibiotics are indicated if the patient has a bacterial infection.

Considerable consideration is required on the part of the patient and the family. The asthma must be treated with respect and treatment regimens followed but, at the same time, the child should be encouraged to live as normal a life as possible.

(Medically Speaking is published with the co-operation of the Alberta Medical Association and this newspaper.

Herbert and Agda Asp vacationed in Sweden during the month of July.

by Herb Asp

While there we visited with Agda's relatives at Torsetorp and Kinna, which are about 80 km east of Gothenburg; and also with Herbert's relatives farther north at Fellingsing and Torsby. We also spent a couple of days with David Olsen's relatives who live at and near Torsby. South of Torsby we visited Rottneros park, which is well known throughout all of Sweden. It became famous in the 1940's when Selma Lagerlof published the book "The story of Gosto Berling"; for which she received the Nobel Prize in 1909. The story is located in Rottneros, which means "roaring river gorge". Near the town of Saffle is a large estate called Krokstad Manor, which is now the property of the Scandinavian Bible Institute. Its director is Mervyn Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, formerly of Tofield. The manor is being used as a Bible School but still has the original beautiful fireplaces and chandeliers. The institute is in the process of erecting another building to be used as class-rooms, dormitory, and kitchen and dining hall. Here young people study the Bible.

Not far away in the town of Mellerud, through the help of a librarian, Agda was able to locate the house in which she and her brother were born.

Driving in the east side of Sweden we stopped to visit Folke and Maj Undin in the town of Gavle. Folke is a brother of the late George Undin of Kingman. They had visited relatives in the Kingman area a couple of years ago. Then it was on to Stockholm. Here we were able to see the main attractions by tour-bus and tour-boat. By walking we could tour the Palace and then walk through the narrow streets of Old Stockholm.

The attractions in Stockholm are too numerous to mention, but many slides and snaps were taken as remembrance. Most of Stockholm is Enkistuna, world famous for its steel products. Before leaving the city we purchased "Made in Enkistuna" hunting knives.

Agda's father, Carl Ekdall, came originally from Skane, a province in the south. A drive through part of this area revealed to us where Swedish oats most of its food. Although other areas grow grain, and probably have more dairies, Skane has grain as far as the eye can see. There are acres upon acres of wheat, oats, barley, rapeseed, and sugar beets, to name a few. Prices of food, both in stores and restaurants were much the same as ours, as were the cost of hotel and motel rooms.

Around the town

Guess who spent a couple of weeks roughing it at Quesnell, B.C.? And which Ryley family do you suppose did a little gold panning? Sheila and Jim Fitt, along with their two sons, Todd and Troy didn't strike the motherlode but had a great time trying.

If you have some spare time remember the Scouts, Guides, Brownies and Beavers could use some help and guidance this year. Ladies with spare time call 662-2863, gentlemen give this number a call 662-3126 and give your kids some extra time.

If you're looking for a calendar with that something extra, call a member of the Tofield Lions for their community birthday calendar or stop in at the Bakery or Co-op or the Macleods.

HERITAGE FUND INTEREST PROGRAMS
ALBERTA MORTGAGE INTEREST REDUCTION PROGRAM

To help relieve the financial strain on Albertans facing high mortgage interest rates, the Alberta Government is offering a mortgage interest reduction program.

You are eligible for this program if:

- you are a resident of Alberta
- you are already a homeowner or are purchasing a home
- the home is or will be your principal residence in Alberta
- you have an existing mortgage on your home

MORTGAGE AMOUNTS OF UP TO $60,000 PER HOME ARE ELIGIBLE

Something You Can Count On

The program will benefit homeowners with existing mortgages at interest rates above 12 ½ per cent, as well as homeowners who are renewing their mortgages and homeowners who are putting a mortgage on the home they are purchasing.

Mortgage interest rates for existing mortgages below 19 ½ per cent will be reduced from the actual rate to 12 ½ per cent based on the remaining amortization period. Interest rates above 19 ½ per cent will be treated as if they were 19 ½ per cent. For new mortgages and mortgages renewed on or after September 1, 1982, most interest rates will also be reduced from the actual rate to 12 ½ per cent.

You will actually receive a rebate from the Alberta Government for the difference in payments between the two mortgage interest rates. Monthly payments for eligible applicants will start in October, 1982 and conclude in September, 1984.

Retroactive Benefits

Your rebate can be retroactive provided you apply before August 31, 1984. There may be a rush in the first few days and you may wish to apply at a later date. You will still receive all the benefits to which you are entitled.

Starting September 27

September 27 is the date you can pick up application forms and brochures from financial institutions and lenders. Visit your financial institution on or after that date for full details of the program.

You may also write to the Mortgage Assistance Branch of Alberta Housing and Public Works, P.O. Box 4020, Edmonton, Alberta T6E 4S8. Or call:

Reunion is held

by Lena Bell

Approximately 130 students and teachers of the classes of '46 through '50 of Ryley School met on Sept. 4th to reminisce of days gone by.

Starting off the afternoon and evening was a tour through the familiar hallways of Ryley School.

Then, it was on to the Ryley Community Hall for an hour of socializing before supper.

Decorating the head table was a bouquet of flowers and immediately behind it on the wall was a reading by Helen Keller, "The Treasure of Friendship" and an appropriate slogan for the occasion entitled "Welcome Back".

Seated at the head table were former school teachers and their spouses which included Boris & Emily Stashko, Mr. & Mrs. Dave Penner, Mr. & Mrs. Cornelius Spronk, Margaret & Noah Wideman, Ethel & Jerry Pepper, Mr. & Mrs. Don Yoder, Mrs. Stearns, Mrs. Stuart and Mr. Parsons.

Immediately following the supper, at which Margaret Wideman said grace, Robert Anderson who acted as master of ceremonies, thanked the Skudesness Ladies Church group for the meal.

After a brief introduction of the head table, various members of the Students' Unions of each year represented, reminisced about past school experiences and teachers.

Teachers and students then made a brief introduction of their husbands or wives, where they are now residing and their occupation.

Groups were then formed and pictures were taken of classmates and teachers.

Former students came from such points as Edmonton, Warburg, Whitecourt, Devon, Sherwood Park, St. Albert, Camrose, Vegreville, Bruderheim, Edson, Airdrie, Tofield, and Ryley.

Farthest away places were Carrot River, Saskatchewan; Pepley, B.C.; and London, Ontario.

To conclude the evening, a dance was held.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Bill Kachman returned home Friday evening after being a patient in Viking Hospital for three days, having treatment and a cast put on a broken ankle bone.

The house being built for Mrs. Jean Lemko on 51st Avenue between the home of Mrs. Christian and Northview Manor is coming along well. The basement had been poured a couple of weeks ago and work on the frame and studding is now underway.

At a recent meeting, the C.W.L. ladies of St. Gregory's Parish of Holden decided to hold their annual fall supper on November 7th in the church parlors. They also plan to sponsor a cash bingo on November 19th.

Mr. & Mrs. G.H. Taylor were Sunday visitors at the home of their son and family, Robert and Merle Taylor in Viking, to help celebrate the 18th birthday of their granddaughter, Saylor.

Holden L.C.W. held their regular monthly meeting on Sept. 9th with Mrs. Kathleen Hurum in charge of the Bible Study held before the business meeting at which regular business, reports and correspondence were dealt with. During the business meeting, the ladies decided to hold their annual fall bazaar and tea on Nov. 27th. At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by Mrs. Annie Laube.

The Friendship Group meeting which was to have been held on Sept. 16 has been cancelled owing to unforseen circumstances and the first meeting will be held Oct. 21st.

Mrs. Edith Carlson and son, Eric left Monday for Calgary where they will visit for the week with her son and family, Bob and Carol Carlson and children.

A surprise visitor on Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Beth Campbell was a former longtime Holden resident, Mrs. Reta Stewart of Victoria, B.C. who was visiting with friends in Edmonton. Bringing her here was another former Holden resident, Mrs. Third, her two daughters and a friend of Edmonton. The Third resided in Holden when the Third brothers ran the Holden Drug Store in the late '20s.

A former Holden district resident, Mrs. Rose Agnes Gisoski of Viking passed away on Sept. 9th at the age of 70 years. She is survived by one son, Ted of Edmonton; two daughters, Mrs. Joe (Jean) Milimaka of Holden and Mrs. Len (Andrey) Bilawchuk of Edmonton; six grandchildren; five brothers, Pete and Mike of Camrose, Joe and John of Holden and Ed of Edmonton; and two sisters, Louise of Holden and Katie of Edmonton. She was predeceased by her husband, Peter in 1974 and her sister, Mary. Prayer service was held on Sunday and Liturgy was held on Monday in the Ukrainian Catholic Church of Ascension in Kopernick with Rev. E Yarema officiating and interment was in Kopernick Cemetery.

On Sept. 10th a brother of Donald MacGregor's, Kenneth MacGregor, passed away at the age of 83 years, in Edmonton. He is survived by his wife, Mary; two sons, Neale of Ottawa and Brian of Winnipeg; three daughters, Mrs. Earl (Ruth) Mulligan of Bon Accord, Mrs. Tom (Joyce) Wenger and Mrs. Gerry (Carol) Acorn, all of Edmonton; 15 grandchildren; five great grandchildren; one brother, Donald of Holden; and one sister, Mrs. Helen Lucas of Edmonton. He was predeceased by one son, Robert. Funeral services were held on Monday in the Hainstock and Son Funeral Chapel with Rev. Ray Leppard officiating and interment followed at the Moose Hill Cemetery in Thorhild. The MacGregors were formerly from Thorhild.

Melvin Fjellstrom and Mrs. Ethel Brekstad visited with Melvin's mother last Friday afternoon in Viking Nursing Home.

More Alberta Gas for More Canadians.

Joint Alberta/Canada funding creates new markets.

The Government of Canada has a program to create new markets for Alberta's natural gas. And it's funded jointly by the Government of Alberta, under the Canada/Alberta Energy Agreement.

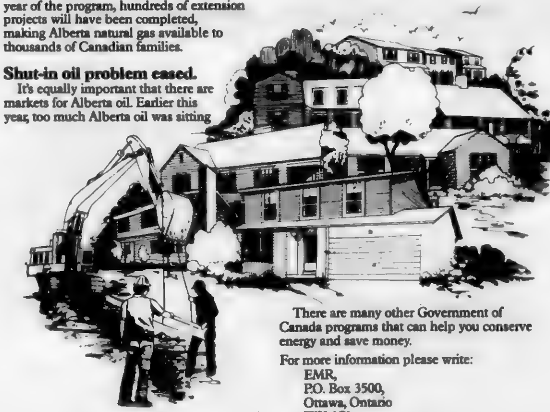
The Distribution System Expansion Program, DSEP, provides grants to gas utilities east of Alberta, enabling them to extend gas service to areas that previously they could not serve profitably. Many of the new customers created by the extended service will be eligible for grants under the successful Canada Oil Substitution Program.

DSEP has been enthusiastically received by the utilities. By the end of 1982, the first year of the program, hundreds of extension projects will have been completed, making Alberta natural gas available to thousands of Canadian families.

Shut-in oil problem eased.

It's equally important that there are markets for Alberta oil. Earlier this year, too much Alberta oil was sitting in the ground because there were insufficient markets for it. This oil wasn't earning money for the people who discovered it, and they need that money to find new oil and help move Canada to self-sufficiency.

In April, the Government of Canada announced measures to ease this problem, and followed it up recently in the National Energy Program Update by facilitating the purchase of Alberta oil by refiners in Atlantic Canada. The problem has eased considerably, but the Government will continue to watch the situation closely and take additional steps if necessary.



There are many other Government of Canada programs that can help you conserve energy and save money.

Hastings Lake news

by Lois Fenna

The Ladies' Club Expedition to Beaverhill Lake will leave from the hall at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday and all participants should have boots and binoculars, if possible. The Community Association monthly meeting will be held the same day, at the hall at 8:00 p.m.

Thursday is an eventful day at the hall, since it is also the venue for the Losers' League Diet Club, which meets there weekly at 7:30 p.m. for a weigh-in and a short program. This year the members will be taking turns to lead the program, and new people are invited to enroll. Encouragement is provided by the record of the club since it began eight months ago, the thirteen members having lost a total of 130 lb. since then, led by the most successful member with 15 lb. Phone Elaine Efford, 663-3804, for details.

The start of the cake decorating class has been postponed to September 22nd to allow more time for registrations, but names must be in to Jan Addison at 662-2104 by Sunday. The Energy Conservation course begins on November 8th. Registration now being taken by Jan at 662-2104.

Sheila Wilkerson, of Tofield, sang a few popular numbers for the folks at the Tofield Lodge last Tuesday when the ladies of the Eastern Star held their monthly birthday party. Many of the Lodge residents came out to enjoy this fine bit of entertainment. —Lesley Primeau Photo

Kids have answers

by Lesley Primeau

'And what do you like about school best?', was the question posed to approximately 100 grade one students in Holden, Ryley and Tofield last week with some expected and some unexpected answers.

The teachers, Lynne Hannah in Holden, Liz Petersen in Ryley and Dawn Twerdoff, Helen Tiedemann and Rebecca Andrews of Tofield's C.W. Sears Elementary were most gracious in their permission of the informal chat with the youngsters.

As expected most little ones disliked work with a certain passion but interestingly enough the grade one's of Holden as a class enjoyed colouring while the Ryley grade one's felt they could live without it. Lisa Pecke of Holden thought the best thing was all the learning but agreed with Mark Halbersen of Ryley and David Saite of Tofield that recess was a front runner for most favourite thing about school.

Although working in various books like Mr. Buttons and the Red Book were alright and learning new and exciting things like reading was passable, what most pleased Bobbie Kusin of Holden were the puzzles and Tricia Webber of Ryley thought Show and Tell surpassed almost everything.

Despite the broken arm she received roller skating, Rhonda Ozubko of Holden joined with Michelle Kochne and Steve Simard of Ryley and Michael Ouada and Brandy Jackson of Tofield in singing the praises of gym.

It was only fair to ask the youngsters what exactly they didn't like about school and one of the more surprising comments came from the Tofield area when a number of students including Bonnie Wiens, Jeffery Dueck and birthday girl Dawn Sutton announced they hated the bus most of all.

Second to that at Sears according to Stacey Dumais had to be the road, which will no doubt freeze soon with the approaching of winter. The road is part of the highway 834 improvement.

Wade Tymchak of Holden hated recess when it's over, Alice Zaniuk of Ryley was non too [illegible] girls at recess, Tara Leake of Tofield wasn't impressed with glueing and Sheri Weatherill of Tofield thought she could easily live without cutting.

'What nationality are you? Six' replied Jordan Magnishi of Tofield. Jordan was equally certain that he hated fighting at school and Philip Jeffery of Holden hated sitting at his desk for so long while Clinton Doering of Tofield thought school was too long period. Summing it up, Greg Chartier of Ryley said he'd rather be at home riding his bicycle, if anyone cared.

Now for the $64,000 question: 'What do you want to be when you finish school?' Naturally many girls wanted to be nurses and teachers while the boys seemed to favour eighteen wheelers and fire trucks. Oddly enough nobody seemed destined to take 'one small step for man' nor was there any indication that the space age had captured the heart of anyone.

Aspiring George [illegible] of Ryley thought he'd like to be a painter and a deep sea diver, although he did confess he didn't know how to swim, yet. Tricia Weber of the same class felt destined to ride horses and Michelle Wall of Tofield was going to become a vet. Josh Van Engelen of Tofield was going on to become a car fixer, Kim Rose a dentist, Curtis Ferguson a pipe maker and Robert Taylor ponder over a career as a lieutenant in the war.

Mike Johnson of Tofield was set on becoming an underwater welder but perhaps the most adventurous choice of careers came from Steven Schnelling of Tofield who thought he'd be content as a chipmunk.

Many farmers have probably already heard of the Alberta Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program. The following is an article from the August 23 issue of Agri-News.
Alberta Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program.

Preconditioned and preimmunized calves will be sold at 13 sales throughout Alberta in 1982.

These sales will be held at the following places:

Didsbury, October 30; Fort Macleod, Nov. 4 and Dec. 3; Pincher Creek, Nov. 4 and Dec. 4; Grande Prairie, Nov. 8 and Dec. 6; Olds, Nov. 8 and Dec. 6; Clyde, Nov. 15 and Dec. 13; Rocky Mountain House, Dec. 1.

These calves processed under the preconditioned program must have been owned 30 days by the operator who preconditions them, be at least four months of age before vaccinations, must be castrated, dehorned three weeks before sale, vaccinated with 8-way clostridial, IBR/PI3 (red nose), warble treated, and weaned a minimum of 30 days before sale. These calves will be identified with a green tag and properly completed certificate.

The preimmunized option includes all of the above requirements except the calves are not weaned and are identified by a white tag.

The program is developing a strong base in Alberta. In 1980 there was one sale with 1,200 head sold, in 1981 over 5,000 head were sold at five sales, and 1982 could see 10,000 head sold through the program.

Those wishing further information should contact their district agriculturist or veterinarian.

HOPE

It's all spelt out right here, the Marathon of Hope and the young man whose name has meant inspiration to millions. Terry Fox gallantly attempted to walk across Canada raising funds to further cancer research, but was felled with the disease before his dream could be realized. His dream lives on in the hundreds who walked last Sunday in the County of Beaver.

Architects complete design for hospital

by Lesley Primeau

The $10,000,000 Tofield Municipal Hospital is progressing to the point where final design is almost complete and by month's end working drawings will commence with a possible completion date of March or April of next year.

Following completion of the working drawings, tenders will be sought for construction of the 72,837 sq. foot facility that will house a forty bed acute care wing, a thirty bed nursing wing and a twenty bed auxiliary wing.

The equipment list will also commence following completion of the working drawings. Equipment such as furniture, operating equipment, lab and x-ray equipment is budgeted for approximately $1,000,000. This sum of money is for major equipment. All figures are designated 1982 dollars and make the hospital worth an estimated $1,481 per sq. meter; total space amounts to 6768 square meters.

The x-ray machine is expected to go to tender within the next four months so that it may be built right into the plan and design of the hospital. Completion date for the hospital complex is projected for 1985.

Roman Kojach Architects of Edmonton are designing the complex and have come up with a rather unique and interesting shape allowing for possible future expansion. Each room has been designed for the optimum of patient comfort and space, and features a toilet, sink, shower and staff sink in every acute care room.

The hospital will boast a fracture room which will be located off the lab and x-ray rooms as well as a main operating theatre, three treatment rooms, day surgery, birthing room for such cases as accidents, two critical care beds for [illegible] suffering shock, stroke or heart attacks and a labour delivery room aimed at providing the new mother with as much home environment as possible.

The feelings of family have also been taken into consideration with the implementation of quiet rooms for use by families of critically or terminally ill patients. Nurses' stations are located so that they may offer the utmost in patient response.

Each wing in the hospital will be equipped with a patient lounge complete with kitchenette where patients will be able to make coffee or have juice. The hospital will also have physiotherapy for those requiring it and a full time 'tack' [illegible] and a beauty parlour, in addition for patients who require a longer stay the hospital will be equipped with an activity room.

Currently the Tofield Municipal Hospital employs approximately 40 full time personnel but with the advent of the new hospital, 135 members will be needed.

The complex will also house a fifty seat [illegible] across a short distance from the nursing room to encourage patrons to

Marathon nears $4,000 for cancer

by Lesley Primeau

Terry Fox, the gallant young man from British Columbia who died in his pursuit of funds to further cancer research in Canada, has had his memory brightened with nearly $4000 raised in this district in last Sunday's continuation of the Marathon of Hope.

Holden, Ryley and Tofield were merely three communities across the nation who took part but the spirit garnered by the marathon touched all residents. In Holden an estimated 63 participants raised close to $1500 for research, while in the Tofield-Ryley joint marathon approximately 120 participants raised nearly $2000. In both cases final tabulation has not been completed.

Tofield had a very strong start with nearly 50 runners hitting the pavement at 9:30 a.m. while in Holden approximately 30 runners started at the beginning of the run. Participants were encouraged to run, walk, jog or crawl if they [illegible] to.

Some families, like the Faths of Tofield and Kemarniski's of Holden, pushed younger children in baggies the 10 kilometre distance. Many families went the distance together while others like little Theresa Williams of Tofield went it alone.

Although the event is not billed as a race, some with a competitive streak took the opportunity to race a friend or [illegible] Brad Hines in Holden went to run organizer Charlie Mathews who completed his first go-round in 46 minutes before attempting a second walk with his family. Dean Kokotyn also of Holden completed the country course in 48 minutes.

The top runner of both areas was young Bill MacNaughton of Tofield who completed his highway trek in 45 minutes followed by Brion Aubrey, Hans Sparreboom and Graham Foster in 48 minutes.

Oldest runners this year included Marg Lammerts and Eve Moore of Tofield who got [illegible] with Jim Nevin of Holden and completed the entire distance along highway 14 to the Amiah Creek Campground.

The Holden route was marked by hand painted signs constructed by Holden students in their health and phys-ed classes. The students were also given a history behind the significance of the run and the young hero who initiated it.

Pledges were a part of the marathon but many walk without reward of money. The largest donation has come from Al Burton of Ryley who sets aside one dollar per week for the cancer fund. Brion Aubrey of Tofield is thought to have collected over $140 in pledge money.

The school challenge between Ryley and Tofield was won by the Tofield Students who had approximately 20-25% of their students compete while Ryley's percentage was approximately 10%.

Hot dogs awaited course completers in Tofield while refreshments awaited Holden participants mid way. A great deal of planning was put into both marathons and organizers are confident they will be able to count on community support and involvement next year

Happy-go-lucky

Lisa MacKenzie and Lisa Mathews, participating in the Marathon of Hope in Holden showed the true essence of youth, not a care or worry in the world. The girls were trying to finish the route before the rest of their families. —Lesley Primeau Photo

The trouble is

The trouble is, it works!

It's hard not to wonder how naive the premier thinks Albertans really are, or how soon the election really is coming.

The late Premier Aberhart used to make the claim that the average voter has the mental capacity of a 12 year old (today's 12 year olds would probably sue) although he probably borrowed the statement from someone else, too.

Surely no one expects us seriously to think it's just pure chance that all these announcements of plums from the provincial plum-bag just happened . . . by sheer chance . . . to all come about at the same time.

The Camrose Senior Citizens don't yet have any money from the provincial government for their new drop-in centre, but they have everything but Mr. Trynchy's written guarantee.

Bethany has been building a case for more beds in its auxiliary hospital and nursing home for several months now, and St. Mary's has been looking to the fact that it takes from five to eight years to get a new hospital up and working, coupled with the fact that our 'new' wing is an astonishing seventeen years old already. But surely announcing rebuilding of both at the same time is more than a coincidence. And the suggestion that expansion of Rosehaven, plus another senior citizens residence, happen all at the same time, seems almost to stretch the imagination.

Nor does it stop with Camrose. At least twenty other centres in the province are on the list for small hospitals or nursing homes, there is an unprecedented number of other new buildings, liquor stores, office premises, and other projects, some big, some small, all hitting the announcement level about the same time, even though the relative needs have been being assessed over numbers of months.

We all tend to expect to give or to get a number of gifts at Christmas time. But during the rest of the year, birthday presents, anniversary presents, graduation presents, and so on, are spread out all through the months among the family members. It's the sort of thing we'd normally expect in government planning.

But when an election's around the corner, things change. Either it's a case of winning the electorate over, or throwing the opposition off stride. And using OUR money to do it.

The Tories are doing it now. The other parties are promising they would do it after they're elected. And the question arises how long will the money hold out?

But gee, doesn't it make you cynical to be bribed so obviously with your own money? And even more cynically, probably the only thing worse would be to be passed over in the bribing process.

Not funded

One of the biggest problems facing Canadians showed up in sharp relief last week when the federal government explained one of the severe pressure points in their need for cash (eleven billion dollars worth) was the sudden increase in Unemployment Insurance claims.

And the trouble stems from the fact these claims have to be paid out of the general revenues of the country, rather than from any fund built up over years from the huge amounts of money paid in by employees and employers.

Instead of building substantial reserves, as any other agent offering insurance is compelled b by law to do, the government has instead taken advantage of these huge inflows of money to help meet the daily bills.

In doing so, it has simply been building up an incredibly huge "Current Liabilities" account, and laughing off the day of reckoning.

Well, the day of reckoning is at hand. At least one of the days is, this being the huge liability under the Unemployment Insurance account. Still to be faced is the problem of the Canada Pension, accruing to more and more senior citizens every year, while there are fewer and fewer younger people to help support the scheme. And fewer and fewer employed people paying taxes to provide the funds.

And all the while the Hon. Monique Begin is dreaming up new ways of impoverishing the country, in a master plan to transfer wealth in such a fashion that no-one needs to work (or would want to) any more.

Financial experts in the country report that investors last year moved nineteen billion dollars out of the country, mostly to the U.S., in search of more hospitable investment climates. Add to that the fact the Trudeau government is spending at an all-time record high, taking a further nineteen billion dollars out of the economy, for a total just short of forty billion dollars.

Then when you look at Alberta's supposedly "huge" Heritage Fund of about seven billion dollars, when you reflect it took about eight years to build up this much, and compare it with the loss of forty billion in just a year, it's not a bit hard to realize why we have to face interest rates of twenty or so percent.

There's money aplenty in Canada to build all the pipelines, all the mega oil projects dreamed of, and still have lots left over to drop interest rates to tolerable, even to reasonable, levels. All that's necessary is for the government to offer investors a little more motivation to keep their money at home. And to simply drop their own insatiable demands.

Expand Highway 14

by Lesley Primeau

Travellers bound east or west on the main highway to Tofield, Ryley or Holden have noticed considerable road construction in the Tofield area over the past month.

Highway 14, the main thoroughfare of the County of Beaver is undergoing an expansion programme that will see the highway widened by approximately 10 feet on each side of the right of way commencing ¼ km east of the gas plant to approximately 10 km west of Tofield. The programme will also necessitate a curve revision just prior to the entrance for the town of Tofield. The revision is expected to make travel considerably safer.

Although competion for the highway 14 expansion is set for the end of the construction period in 1983, work crews have been making good use of the warm weather and therefore completion may be sooner.

An estimated fifteen men are employed on the project contracted to Leduc Construction Ltd. The $4,000,000 project began in 1976 with the original survey and a further survey was completed in 1981. The Department of Highways then embarked on a purchase program, buying land necessary to permit the expansion. The land purchases took nearly two years to complete and with that began the actual construction.

A number of trees have been removed as well as a good deal of the Tofield Golf Course but highways officials feel the expansion will be worth it. If the warm weather continues to hold, it is entirely possible the project will be ahead of schedule.

Hospital . . .

walk and benefit from some exercise daily. The patrons will also have access to outdoor walk areas, and facilities such as a p'ients' lounge is expected to again provide a heavier atmosphere.

A central court will join the nursing home, with the pediatrics play area possibly offering quiet stimulation. Not only have the patients' concerns been considered in the hospital planning, but concerns of the residents have also played a part.

The hospital will be situated on 4-4½ acres of land although 12 acres was purchased with future development in mind. The hospital's structure has been designed to blend into the community and much of the landscaping will stimulate a park when looked upon from a residential point of view.

Planning for the various wings of the hospital has been augmented by input from the present staff as architects for the complex feel those working in specific areas possibly have better first hand knowledge of assets and drawbacks.

Upon completion of the final design, The Tofield Mercury, with cooperation from the Hospital Board, will publish a print of the design; to allow residents of the hospital zone a better look at their new hospital.

Rites held for Rev. Leonard Sogge

Leonard Owen Sogge was born at Loreburn, Sask. on May 7, 1927.

He graduated from the Lutheran Collegiate Bible Institute in Outlook, Sask., and from the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Saskatoon, Sask. He was ordained into the Lutheran ministry in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1956. He took specialized Clinical Training in Counselling at Trinity Hospital in Minot, N.D., Prison and Correctional Institutes, at Fox Lake and Waupin, Wisconsin, and at the Pastoral Insitute at Calgary, Alberta.

Leonard was marred to Berniece Vikse of Donalda on January 2, 1953. To this marriage were born three sons and one daughter.

Areas of his ministry included: a three-point parish at Donalda; a mission congregation at Forest Heights, Edmonton; teaching at Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute, Camrose; Peace Lutheran-Montney, Fort St. John, B.C.; Trinity Lutheran, Calgary; Chaplaincy at Bethany Care Centre, Calgary; a three-point parish at Kingman, Tofield and Round Hill; and his last year at Bardo Lutheran in Tofield

He passed away in the Tofield Hospital on September 2, 1982 at the age of 55 years.

He is survived by his loving wife, Berniece; sons, Nathan of Crossfield, Steven and his wife, Faye of Red Deer; daughter, Kristine and son, Douglas; two brothers, Stan and Dennis of Elbow, Sask.; and sisters, Eunice (Mrs. Earl Tyndal) of Briercrest, Sask. and Carol (Mrs. Jim Tangjerd) of Red Deer

A memorial service was held at Messiah Lutheran Church in Camrose, on Sept. 6.

Fellow pastors from many parts of the province, as well as representatives from the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada offices in Saskatoon led a large congregation of family and friends in a service of scripture reading, music and prayer, thanking God for the life and ministry of Pastor Sogge, and claiming God's comfort and strength in sorrow. Interment was in the Camrose Cemetery.

Pastor Sogge will be greatly missed by all who knew him, but we rejoice in the promise of John 11 25 "I am the resurrection and the life; he who belives in Me, though he die, yet shall he live..."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to acknowledge the many friends who have shown us care and concern over the past months. We are grateful to Dr. Toliver and the nursing staff at the Tofield hospital for the gentle and good care given Leonard while he was hospitalized. Thanks to the many who faithfully supported us in prayer, and who have shown love through cards, letters, flowers, gifts of food and other expressions of sympathy.

Please accept this as our thank you for the gifts given in memory of our dear husband and father, Pastor Len Sogge. Special thanks to those who participated in the funeral service and to the Lutheran Church Women of Tofield, Kingman and Round Hill who prepared and served the lunch after the funeral.

Alcohol as an alternative to gasoline may eventually have some possibilities as a fuel. However, at the present, it is still very much in the experimental stage and is not widely used. Edwin Thornton, with the Engineering and Rural Services Division of Alberta Agriculture had a few comments to make on alcohol as a fuel source and the following article was published in the August 30 issue of Agri-News.

Do you want to drink it or drive it?

Alternative sources of fuel are receiving a great deal of attention these days. Alcohol is one suggested alternative to gasoline as a fuel. This article looks at some of the problems associated with putting alcohol in the tank and not behind the wheel.

There are two basic types of alcohol, methyl and ethyl. Methyl (wood alcohol) is used as a de-icing fluid, and if ingested, makes you go blind. Ethyl alcohol is the fire part of whiskey and gin. Both have about half the heating value of gasoline. If you filled your gas tank with whiskey at 100 proof and managed to get the engine running, it would have one-quarter the power it would have running on gasoline. The engine would not run for long either because the sugar in the whiskey would soon coat the pistons, but you would have quite a crowd sniffing the exhaust before it stopped.

To blend alcohol with gasoline (gasohol), the alcohol has to be very pure, 99 per cent, or the water separates out. This purity is beyond the capacity of most farm stills. Farm operations may be able to produce it at 90 to 95 per cent with a lot of effort and this can be used directly in gasoline engines with few modifications. Note, however, that the distillation process uses more energy than it produces.

At the moment, the most economical fuel for a gasoline engine is gasoline, or in some cases, propane. Therefore, alcohol should be used in the gin and not in the en-gin-e.

If you want to save money on fuel there are easier ways than feeding your vehicle booze. For example, keep your vehicle well tuned with clean plugs and air filters, and check the timing. Use radial tires and keep them inflated to maximum pressure. Use a light foot on the throttle. Drive as though you don't have any brakes, braking wastes energy. Plan your trips to make the best use of the vehicle.

Revenue Canada has strict regulations regarding home brewing. These include posting a bond and NO SAMPLING. A factsheet intitled "Research Summary-Alcohol Fuels" (Agdex FS780-3) elaborates on some of these points and is available from the Print Media Branch, Alberta Agriculture, 9718-107 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T5K 2C8 or from Alberta Agriculture's district offices.

Ryley news

Carol Jensen is attending N.A.I.T. this term. She is the daughter of Herman and Hilda Jensen.

Several from the area attended the annual Graduation exercises for students who attended Southern Alberta Institute of Technology in Calgary.

The farmers are really taking advantage of the lovely fall weather, getting their grain swathed, combining, bailing and what ever there is to do before winter

Friends gathered at Shaw Community Centre on Sunday evening to wish Gerald and Lucie Owen and Keith the best of everything when they move into their home in Camrose. There was a short program. Mrs. Francis Neil greeted everyone and called on Mrs. Martin to read a poem. Ellen Lauber entertained the group with a solo. Everyone sang "happy anniversary" for Lorne and Lillian Gudmundson. The ladies served a lunch to over 30 guests.

Anyone wanting to put in future dates, ads, new subscriptions to The Mercury, etc., call 663-3773.

The Ryley U.C.W. met on Monday afternoon after the [illegible].

The main items discussed were the date for the annual turkey supper; the sale of the 70th Anniversary cookbooks; and the saving of used postage stamps for the Leprosy Mission. Alice Munkedal was the lunch hostess.

Elmer Anderson enjoyed the visit of two former C.N.R. men, Sam Johnson and a friend.

Holden and district news

by Anna Shewchook

Registration for Brownies and Guides in Holden was attempted on Sept. 16. According to District Commissioner Dorothy Emerson, plans for this year are not finalized. Only three Brownies are interested and there aren't any leaders.

Four Guides are interested and they have one leader.

Mrs. Emerson states that if more girls and leaders show any interest in the very near future, please call her at 688-3884 after 5 pm.

Mrs. Emerson has been associated with Brownies and Guides for over seven years.

A rally at Killam is being planned for several communities in the near future.

Mrs. Emerson had hoped Holden girls would have placed their registration before the rally.

Plan auxiliary for hospital

by Lesley Primeau

A group of citizens from within the Tofield Hospital District feel it's high time the hospital had a functioning auxiliary and plan to hold a meeting Monday, September 27 at That Place in Tofield commencing at 8:00 pm to see what interest lies within the community.

If the proposed initial meeting is a success and enough interest is generated, then it is the hope of this group that auxiliary functions might commence immediately. Attending Monday evening's meeting will be Mabel Eschak of Mannville who will be representing the provincial auxiliary.

The Tofield Hospital Auxiliary will not be called a ladies auxiliary because it is generally felt that all residents of the area, regardless of sex, can be a positive force behind the success of the programme. Hopefully members will become involved as will residents within the hospital district which extends into the County of Strathcona, and the County of Camrose as well as part of the County of Beaver.

The essence of a Hospital Auxiliary programme is to offer the patient the utmost of comfort and allow a feeling of home to permeate throughout the hospital. Secondary to this goal will be fund raising, a way in which the auxiliary hopes to purchase needed materials or furniture that is not on the regular hospital buy list. Such items might include wheelchairs, children's toys, paintings or some hospital equipment.

Functions or services offered by such an auxiliary are never ending and would rely strictly on the support and enthusiasm of volunteers. Without the sacrifice of time by volunteers, programmes offered by the auxiliary would be kept at a bare minimum if functional at all.

Volunteers, according to Deborah Smiley, M.A. who addressed the N.E. Regional Hospital Conference, are "special people who give of their time and energy to assist an organization or institution to conduct certain kinds of programmes or specific services. They raise funds for special equipment or special patient favours, they bring a new outlook, a different perspective, added talents, a fresh approach and a stimulating concept. They also bring a different motivation."

Volunteering to become involved in the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary can only bring about a renewed community spirit. Organizers of the new auxiliary hope that community interest as shown in the past for many charitable causes will extend unto the patients at the hospital. As well, with the arrival of the new hospital, slated to open in 1985, the hospital auxiliary will have numerous functions and programmes. The auxiliary will then by responsible for the operation of the 'tuck' shop. For now, if all goes well Monday evening, patients at the hospital may be able to look forward to a treat wagon, magazines and such.

The Tofield Auxiliary will only get off the ground if there is good support for the commencement meeting, Monday, September 27 at That Place in Tofield.

Let the bells ring out and the banners fly...I am now the proud owner of a thirty dollar, $30..count em, speeding ticket and now I ask myself, should I plead my innocence on the grounds that it is a figment of their imagination, my insanity or should I possibly just throw myself on the mercy of the courts and offer a bribe?? Questions, Questions...And how you may be asking yourself...and probably not caring, did I get this ticket, this wonderful autographed copy of stupidity from a City of Edmonton constable...whom I might add is lucky to be alive...have you seen how those guys jump at you with their little stop signs.

Picture this if you will. A small brown eyed child with a three inch sign in his hand standing on a curb jumping in and out of the street. His frantic mother darts out of the house and says 'Junior, what ever are you doing?' and he replies, indignantly I might add, 'Practicing to be a radar c.o.p. (constable on pavement.)'

What happened was this. I was in the west end of the city and had to get to the U of A hospital and from there I had to get to the west end of the city and back to Whyte avenue by 1:00 so that I could pick up my sister at the very east end of the city and be back by 1:15. Any fool could see you'd have to hurry ..right??? And I was making great time if the uniformed midget with the sign hadn't jumped out in front of me...scared the living daylights out of me. I ought to sue for entrapment!! Sneaking around like that makes you wonder if they're trying for CIA membership.

I suppose I could have cried, I hear that works or maybe I should have offered a bribe...whatever, the fact remains I now have a thirty dollar speeding ticket and probably 3 demerits. My first quickie ticket and I don't like it at all.

Oh ya, what was I doing travelling so fast?? Trying to catch a movie at the Princess Theatre...and old Rosiland Russell film with Hayley Mills...you know...The Trouble With Angels...Sound just about par??? I thought so too. The movie was great...the ticket not so hot...oh well...aren't you glad you're not me...

Speedy recovery to Chris and Marie Briz of Ryley who were involved in a traffic mishap over the weekend. Luckily injuries, tho painful, will heal so God Speed.

Pastor and Mrs. Curtis Johnson of Brooks were visitors at the Ryley Seventh-day Adventist Church. A former pastor for the area, Pastor Johnson officiated at a child dedication and baptisimal service. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bliss of Oregon who are presently on holidays.

Which hospital administrator takes advantage of which hospital board chairman on the golf course and how often? Rumour has it that Don Roth seldom ever has to buy coffee...is that right Charlie Sears...you ole golf hound!!

Visiting from Portland Oregon recently was John Way who stopped in to visit with Art and Joyce Hardy, Zippy Gray and Jack and Inga Hardy. Mr. Way also popped into Edmonton for a visit with Gerald and Mary Hasler and aunt Blanch Hardy, currently a resident of the Brentwood Nursing Home in Sherwood Park.

Many thanks to all those who helped make the Marathon of Hope the success it was. Without the dedication of many volunteers in the Holden, Ryley and Tofield area the run would not have been as enjoyable.

Lakeshore-McKenzie news items

by Ellen Eaton

With the return of nice sunny warm weather this week, farmers are once again trying to get their crops off and some more haying done. Some of the forages still have too much water in them and only part of the hay can be cut at present. Some of the grain and hay already cut have had to be turned before combining or baled. The gardens are frozen and only the vegetables of underground remain to be harvested.

On Sept. 13th some forty senior citizens joined from different parts on a tour to Peace River with Cassul Tours. Ellen Eaton was one of ten going from Tofield. There were 2 from Edmonton, ten for Gibbons, seven from Redwater, and thirteen from Athabasca, besides the tour guide Elinor Meyers and driver Harvey Trickiel, leaving Tofield at 7 am. We went to Edmonton and from there to Gibbons, then Redwater and finally Athabasca for the last passengers. We had a coffee break there before starting on our tour. We went by way of Slave Lake where we had dinner at the Sawridge Motor Hotel before continuing on Highway 2 enroute to Peace River where we spent the night at the Crossroad Motel. We had supper and breakfast in the Peace and visited places of interest, the grave of Twelve Foot Davis, also his monument. We also crossed the longest swinging bridge across the mighty Peace River.

Enroute to Grande Prairie we stopped at Dunvegan where we had a late dinner then on to Grande Prairie where we spent that night at the Twin Pine Motor Inn.

While there we visited the Pioneer Museum and other places of interest before leaving for home on Tuesday, the 18th on Highway 34 to Valleyview, then Highway 43 via Fox Creek to Whitecourt for dinner then on to Edmonton, back to Gibbons, Redwater, and Athabasca, leaving off the passengers and lastly Tofield before returning to Edmonton.

On Thursday, the 16th Ellen Eaton was among some 14 senior citizens that went to Bonnie Doon on the recreation bus for an afternoon outing.

Ellen Eaton has been spending the afternoons at the farm while Ken Ross is haying and swathing grain, and has been digging some of her potatoes. Most of her garden is frozen.

Farm women are too busy at the present for visiting so no news this week.

On Sunday Mae Ferguson took her mother Mrs. Roberts also her daughter Mrs. Lord in Weir and left them at the home of her sister Marguerite and Don Bailey while she went to Sherwood Park to visit her son Nelson and Rena Ferguson to help her celebrate her granddaughter Kristalee's birthday dinner. She went back and picked up her daughter and mother before returning home.

Hastings Lake and district

by L. Fenna

The Ladies' Club meeting last week was held out of doors in beautiful weather at Beaverhill Lake, and the members were entertained by the activities of a young coyote hunting mice in the long grass after gazing longingly at the plump ducks floating off-shore.

Arrangements were discussed for the turkey supper to be held on Saturday, Oct. 2nd, costing $5 for adults and $2.50 for children ages 6 to 12. It will be served between 5:00 and 7:00 pm at the Hall.

The exterior of the hall received a much-needed face lift on Sunday when members of the Executive worked hard to scrape and repaint a great deal of it, and the fine weather helped the work to go more quickly.

On Tuesday a total of thirty preschool children were registed for the weekly Playschool, which is held from 10:00 am to 12:00 each Tuesday. This is a great increase over previous years, says Joyce Lindberg, Playschool leader, and some changes will be needed to accommodate all those wishing to attend. Outings are planned to take advantage of mild conditions before winter arrives.

The cake decorating class has already begun and will continue on Wednesday evenings. Phone Jan (662-3186) about this and the "energy conservation for your house," to be covered on two Saturdays, November 6th and 20th.

The aerobic dance class has had to be cancelled for lack of interest, but we now have dates for the Mixology workshops. These are on Saturdays November 13th and 27th, and last from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm. The first is to be followed by a Harvest Dance organized by the Community Association starting at 8:00 pm. The second will be followed by a 'Bring-Your-Own-Bottle' social, in which student bartenders from the class will be able to practise their skills.

The Pleasure Horse Association will have their next meeting on Monday, October 4th, at the Hall at 8:00 pm. Several members enjoyed a lovely weekend ride in the Crescent Falls area near Nordegg on the Labour Day weekend. A local ride is planned for the coming month.

The September Bingo was very successful, and the October one is planned, but will take place later than usual, owing to the Thanksgiving weekend.

Fall and Winter Fashions Previewed

This years fashions range from casuals, to modern and on to romantic shapes.

The layered look with short tops over long bottoms or long tops over short, slim bottoms create new proportions. Fashion fullness is often cinched in at or below the waist.

Suits are again important fashion items. The classic menswear look continues but with a softened effect. Jackets vary from the longer hip length to the shorter jacket style. The three piece suit is back and may include a vest or a cape.

Dresses are feminine and flattering. Many feature puffed full sleeves and lace trim. Coat dresses are surfacing and the tunic dress creates a layered look.

Blouses are extravagant in detail and fabric. Leg of mutton or Elizabethan sleeves, wide cuffs, tucks, pleats, ruffles, and high band and ruffled collars are in. Blouses worn with full skirts are often topped with vests to create a Victorian look.

Skirt shapes range from pencil thin to soft and full. Lengths vary from above the knee to between mid-calf and the ankle. Split skirts or culottes and classic walking shorts are fashionable.

Pants are returning to a slimmer, straighter leg. Some cuffs are appearing on sportswear. Knickers, cropped pants or walking shorts team up with the aviator or bomber jacket.

Textured fabrics such as tweeds, flannels, checks, corduroy, velvet, suede and leather are all fashion features.

Prints feature tapestry, paisley, wallpaper floral, hunting and game, Oriental and Art Noveau designs. Stripes of all kinds, denim, calico, patchwork, challis and plains remain popular.

Clothing accents include innovative use of trims such as braid, cording, lace and velvet and satin faced collars for an elegant touch.

This season look for rich colors, quality fabrics and lots of detail for your fashion wardrobe.

Autumn hues

Black and white just don't do justice to the season of autumn. The brilliance of colours is lost without colour film but the idea remains as vivid as the autumn day. Farmers are taking advantage of the beautiful weather to get their crops off.

Tofield included in new AGT plan

Neil Webber, Associate Minister of Telephones, today announced that AGT customers in ten more telephone exchanges [illegible] Alberta will be able to participate in AGT's optional calling plan effective October 15, 1982, in preparation for province-wide introduction of the plan in March, 1983.

The optional calling plan was first introduced on June 1, 1982, to six trial exchanges. It allows AGT customers to save money on long distance calls to adjacent communities by purchasing "blocks" of calling time for a set rate which is less than what regular long distance rates to the same points might be.

The AGT customers in the Tofield exchange are eligible for inclusion in the optional calling plan and will be able to call any exchange within a 50-mile radius and pay only $4.00 for 30 minutes calling and $2.30 for each additional 15 minutes.

"The customers in the six exchanges originally tested have shown the popularity of the optional calling plan so we are expanding the program to include 10 more exchanges before introducing the program across the province," Dr. Webber said.

The experimental exchanges were chosen because they represent a cross section of Alberta's geographic areas and exchanges where customer requirements may differ.

Dr. Webber noted the first exchanges eligible, once the plan is introduced province-wide in March, would include: Alberta Beach, Alix, Rashaw, Rear Canyon, Ronanza, Breton, Bruderheim, Chipman, Coutts, Cremona, Derwin, Fort MacLeod, Hussar, Hythe, Lamont, Longview, Mirror, Norley, Raisen, Raymond, Ryley, Seba Beach, Wabamun, Waskatenau and Winfield.

IN MEMORIAM

EATON— In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather Owen Richard Eaton, who passed away Sept 24 1958.
Twenty-four years have passed and gone.
Since you left us here alone.
The wound is deep and will not heal
Only those who have lost, know how we feel
When we are sad and lonely
And everything goes wrong,
We seem to hear you whisper
Cheer up and carry on His memory is a keepsake,
With which we will never part,
God has him in his keeping
While we have him in our heart
—Always remembered and sadly missed by his loving wife, Ellen his two sons and their families Walter & Evelyn Eaton & family Leroy & Shirley Eaton & family and his daughter Mrs Rita Powell and her two daughters Linda & Sherry Niemetz 4c-nc

Sunday blaze guts four businesses

Flames from a pot of burning oil rapidly engulfed the entire structure of the Tofield Bakery late Sunday afternoon, finally destroying the entire building. Despite persistent efforts of the volunteer fire brigade, flames eventually reached every corner of [illegible] building, destroying the premises of Kobzey's Barber Shop, the Tofield Bakery, Judy's Flower Shop, and The Tofield Mercury. Brilliant [illegible] shown above made the work [illegible] firefighting difficult while lower photos show some of the crew in action as they struggled to keep the flames from spreading to the Elizabeth Shop or to Everitt's Foodland, as well as to snuff the flame in the bakery building.

The rear of the Tofield Bakery was reduced to mere rubble in Sunday's blaze.

Gallant efforts to save any portion proved useless. Regular fire fighters were aided by many in the crowd who lent a hand hoping to save any part of four businesses.

Everitt's saved

The Tofield Fire Department worked diligently to assure that Everitt's Foodland did not meet the same fate as the Tofield Bakery Building. It was nothing short of miraculous that the popular grocery store was virtually unscathed.

Just add water . . .

If you thought the mess at the front of the bakery looked bad the back looked even worse. Firemen from Ponoka and Rycley battled the blaze for nearly four hours before they were fairly certain it was under control. The wood structure was completely gutted.

Fire destroys down town building

. . . four businesses razed

by Lesley Primeau

Smoke from a quarter million dollar fire that gutted the Tofield Bakery, Kolney's Beauty and Barber Shop, Judy's Flower and Gifts and The Tofield Mercury could be seen as far away as the Edmonton city limits on Sunday night.

Tofield fire fighters answered a call at approximately 5:50 pm on Sunday at the bakery and were able to determine that a blaze, originating from a deep fryer, was well in progress and summoned the aid of the Ryley Fire Department.

Approximately fifteen firemen battled the blaze for over four hours and miraculously saved Everist's Foodland and the Listan Building from becoming engulfed in flames.

Unfortunately the four businesses were burned to the ground and salvage efforts on Monday proved fruitless.

Damage to the businesses is estimated at the quarter million dollar mark including the building, equipment and stock.

Fire officials have said for years it was only a matter of time before the 36 year-old wood structure went up in flames. The building was quite wide open with little to retard a fire's progress. Fire investigators were on the scene Monday and determined the deep fryer to be the cause of the blaze.

Quick thinking crowd members aided shop owners in the removal of goods from Aspen Textiles, The Elizabeth Shoppe and Family Hair Design, all located in the Listan Bldg., in case the blaze could not be brought under control.

Officials on the scene felt crowd control was excellent and fire fighters were not impeded in their duty by the more than 200 spectators.

Rita Van Der Kley, Tofield baker for the past seven year, was gravely saddened by the destruction of not only his family business but, the loss of the three businesses in his building. His first reaction was "it's gone" but, he was relieved to learn no one was injured in the blaze. Later, one fire fighter suffered burns on his arm.

Mr. Van Der Kley and his family feel they have been wiped out and doubt whether they will be able to return to the baking business. According to Mr. Van Der Kley, it would cost in the neighbourhood of $100,000 for equipment alone.

"Everyone will get their money and all we'll have is an empty lot" said Mr. Van Der Kley when questioned about insurance. All he can do now is plan a new life without the bakery and is thinking he might venture into something less demanding. Efforts to salvage goods on Monday and Tuesday were to no avail.

Nick and Lil Kolney and their son, Clarence had just opened their spacious shop six months ago. Everything in the beauty shop was brand new and Kolney's had not yet had it insured. However, despite the setback they hope to open another shop as soon as possible.

The Kolney's were contacted at their home in Minidora when the blaze broke out and when they looked south could see the smoke. They hurried to Tofield thinking that possibly something could be save but, efforts to gain access to the shop were thwarted by dense smoke.

When they sifted through the debris on Monday, they were unable to find even a comb intact or a pair of scissors. According to the senior Kolney, business is just too good, their clientel too loyal to not try and open another shop.

Judy's Flower and Gifts was almost a total write-off.

Although it appeared doubtful that a blaze actually broke out in the flower shop, extensive damage to the roof caused a cave-in that destroyed the shop.

Still, Al and Judy Fleck were able to salvage some goods but, not enough to lessen the blow.

When Mrs. Fleck arrived on the scene she thought there still might be a chance to get inside but, fire personnel warned of possible smoke inhalation and she was forced to stand by helpless.

With true spirit and determination she plans to re-open possibly within the next week or two and will continue her classes as well. Her business has been good and she 'loved their little shop', too much so, to give it up.

The Mercury may have possibly suffered the least loss as presses and other such equipment are housed in Camrose.

Lost in The Mercury portion of the bakery building were desks, chairs, typewriters, the darkroom, negatives and assorted papers and job-related items.

Mercury Office Manager, Hilda Klassen, was unable to gain entrance to the building on her arrival to the fire and could only survey the onslaught of disaster.

The Mercury has set up temporary office at Century 21, Thur Agencies and will be carrying on business as usual.

As ad in this week's paper gives phone numbers where Mercury ads and news items can be called in.

Save energy and cost

The popular press is full of ideas on how to save energy. Most of them will work but, not all of them will save money.

Farmers are large users of energy but, they are in a business to make money and should be cautious of the economics of "energy-savers".

In some cases it is possible to save both energy and money, says Edwin Thorston of Alberta Agriculture's engineering branch, but beware.

Re-insulating a barn ceiling from R20 to R30, or installing a wind generator will save energy but, will not save money. The same is true of adding a solar collector to a house. It will save energy but, may not save money.

There are many unknown factors when calculating pay back periods for "energy-savers" and the biggest is the cost of fuel.

The provincial energy agreement gave us a rough rule of thumb of 10 per cent per year increase in the cost of fuel. Another variable is the capital cost of the equipment. Equipment which takes a large amount of energy to manufacture is going to increase at the same rate as fuel costs. Labor intensive components will increase at the same rate as wage hikes. Electronic equipment, however, seems to have decreased in cost which means that a computer will be cheaper next year.

Mr. Thornton gives some general rules regarding "energy savers".

Wind equipment may be economically viable in southern Alberta, especially for pumping water.

It was a tough go for fire fighters Sunday night. The 36 year old wood bulkery building went up like a wood pile. Efforts to contain the blaze to the one building were successful but, the building itself was totally demolished.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

A timely arrival in the Library this week is the book Movable Insulation, which discusses in detail a variety of methods to reduce heat loss through the windows of your home. Thermal blinds, thermal blankets, shutters, insulation values of different materials, and green house and skylight treatments are among the topics covered. Two more new novels are Jess, set in China at the end of the last century, and Promises by the popular author Catherine Gaskin.

In the childrens' section, a variety of new paperbacks may be found on the reading table. A new book by Judity Viorst is The Tenth Good Thing About Barney, the story of a little boy's acceptance of the death of his pet, sensitively told. For slightly older readers is a new book by Roald Dahl, The Magic Finger, and for Asterix fans, The Twelve Tasks of Asterix.

Remember, if this Library cannot answer your reference questions we will do our best to get the information you need from another Alberta Library. All you need to do is ask.

Children's films continue at the new time of Saturday morning at 10:30; admission is free and open to anyone.

Artifacts chosen

Mary J. LaMessurier, Minister of Culture has approved the selection of 65 artifacts from the Reynolds Museum in Wetaskiwin that will be included in the new Reynold's-Alberta Museum.

The committee, chaired by antique auto buff Michael Power of Edmonton included Vice-Chairman Keith Braddock of Edson, and members Ken Getty of Calgary, Bill Graham, Dr. Forster Metherdy and Jack Kyle of Edmonton, Oliver Neal of St. Lina and Lawrence Seave of Drayton Valley.

The committee is responsible for recommending a minimum of 300 major artifacts from the thousands that comprise the Reynolds Museum in Wetaskiwin.

The selection's advisory committee will continue to examine the collection in their search for the best examples of horse drawn artifacts, road construction equipment, harvesting implements and fire fighting apparatus.

The new museum will provide for the preservation, study and exposition of the history of agriculture, industry and transportation of Alberta.

Harness racing

Harness racing was held at the Camrose Agricultural Society's track on Sunday and it proved to be a big success with the public. The $37,478 pari-mutuel handle on eight races is a new record for Camrose and ranks high on the community racing circuit of the Canada West Turf Association, said Dick Burgis, manager of the Ag. Society. Mr. Burgis added that a large, heated big top tent will be provided to keep the fans warm during the next two Sundays of racing. Racing will continue on Oct. 3 and 10 at 2 p.m.

So, do you know any good hot dog jokes?? Marshmallow jokes?? About over developed negative jokes?? I'm thinking of starting a book...if you know what I [illegible] ing?? What was really special is the way residents banded together in true community spirit to aid the shop keepers in the Listan Bldg. That was nice...so was the way crowd members aided the fire department and the way people kept out of the way. Thankyou to the Legion for providing refreshments to the firemen, they deserved it.

Without all the support and encouragement I'm sure the outcome of Sunday's fire could have been even more tragic. Of course I'M not too thrilled with everything... after all I don't have much of a darkroom left or anything else [illegible] I figure our losses are small in comparison to our fellow [illegible]

You will be pleased to learn that my Donald Duck came through the holocaust untouched, but my negatives have seen better days. Our cookie jar is a little dark but we have a pen or two. I'm only giving you the highlites here, the rest leaves a lot to the imagination. I managed to find what was left of my clock radio...two little hands on a glob of plastic...oh well...We found my Smurf, my Kermie and my bell, but Hilda's hush puppies turned out not to be Dalmations...they died.

All in all considered we've had nicer events but you know the old saying...if you do let me know, I'm fresh out of old sayings. I'm also fresh out of cookies, vitamin C and tea...well there is one nice thing...now I won't have to wash those windows...

If I had known it would attract such a large gathering I might have made popcorn or even conned the Scouts into catering. I realize that is almost sacrel'gious but no sense crying over spilt milk. I was going to pass on some wonderful words of wisdom this week but my mind is a bit fryed...so it will have to wait. Don't forget the benefit brunch on Sunday at the Legion...hope to see you there, maybe we can help ease some of the losses...or at the very least have some great pancakes..

[illegible] and Winter Feeding

With the heavy frosts received this fall, many of the later crops froze considerably and as a result, farmers have taken many of these off as greenfeed. Or, if combined, the straw baled for feed purposes. However, high concentrations of nitrates are possible and can lead to serious problems.

High nitrate content in feed greatly lowers the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood and consequently gives the blood a bluish coloration. This problem does not only occur with feed from highly fertilized fields. Sudden severe stress or frost can cause this buildup in plants. Straw also does not have to be green to have a higher than normal nitrate content.

Last year, a number of straw samples were tested for nitrates and some had a fairly high concentration. This does not render the feed useless but it does mean that this feed cannot be used as a sole or major part of a ration. Dilution and substitution may be necessary.

Feed testing is the best way to avoid problems and a feed testing kit and probe can be picked up at the Ryley Office. A fee of $10 gives you a nutritional analysis and a nitrate check which is considerably cheaper than losing an animal or two.

Beaverhill plans

There will be some changes in the Beaverhill Hockey League this coming winter.

Two of last year's teams have been dropped and will be replaced by two teams from the Battle River Hockey League.

Returning teams from last winter will include Tofield Satellites, Andrew, Lamont, Mundare, Holden and Ryley.

The two last place teams from last winter won't be back. Willingdon and Waskatenau have dropped out. Both centers had a major disadvantage in that both were operating with natural ice rinks.

Newcomers to the league for the 1982/83 season will be Killam and Viking, both of whom have been competing in recent years in the Battle River Hockey League.

The league held its organization meeting in Mundare on Monday night with all teams represented.

It was agreed that the regular schedule would begin on Nov. 6 with a twenty-eight game schedule and games will be played on Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Four teams will advance to the playoffs which will be held on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Reg Dolson of Holden was elected to sit in the president's chair while Joe Komarnisky was named to the secretary's post.

Horses race

The first harness racing meet of recent years in Camrose was held at the Fairgrounds on Sunday afternoon.

Officials of the Camrose Agricultural Society, who sponsored the meet, described it as an outstanding success.

Horsemen participating in the afternoon racing card were delighted with the race track.

Two other meets have been scheduled.

The next race card will go this coming Sunday afternoon with post time set for two o'clock and gates will open at 1:00 p.m.

The third and final afternoon of harness racing in 1982 will go on the afternoon of Oct. 10th.

Held in conjunction with this past Sunday's meet was a giant flea market in the Drill Hall and a display of miniature working models on the museum grounds. Both events were also described as being highly successful.

Results from Sunday's meet were to have been forwarded to The Canadian but when the deadline for receipt of sports had arrived, the information hadn't been forthcoming.

Later in October, the Agricultural Society will be hosting the Lakeland Finals Rodeo at the new Fairgrounds site, starting on Oct. 22nd and running for three days.

FARMING for the FUTURE
Alberta
Agricultural Research Council of Alberta

Farming for the Future is a commitment of the Alberta Government through the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund to support agricultural research of benefit to Alberta.

Normally, financial assistance is available in two categories: formal research awards and the On-Farm Demonstration Program.

To be eligible for formal research awards projects must have the potential to increase agricultural productivity and improve net farm income as well as enhance the long-term viability of Alberta's agricultural industry. Researchers must demonstrate competence to carry out a formal agricultural research project.

The deadline for submission of all formal grant applications is December 1, 1982.

Separate funding is available for projects primarily oriented toward demonstrating (and/or testing) agricultural technology generated by Farming for the Future and other research programs. While a wide variety of subjects is acceptable, a team approach must be used to conduct projects under the On-Farm Demonstration Program. Proposals are reviewed on a year-round basis and should be directed to your local district agriculturist.

Winners

The past summer has been an exciting one for John Beida, owner of Jo-Al Acres in the Ryley area. His registered Shorthorn cow, Hilltop Kelly took top honours at the Pacific National Exhibition after earning similar awards in Vermilion, Vegreville and Camrose, has appearances scheduled in Lethbridge, Calgary and Edmonton and is a leading contender for "All Canadian" honours. Her calf is also taking a share of attention at the different agricultural shows.

Fall weed control

Although weed control in Alberta is traditionally thought of as a spring and summer activity, the fall is also a good time for controlling many annual, biennial and perennial weeds, according to Walter Yarish of Alberta Agriculture's weed control branch.

He says that stinkweed, flixweed and scentless chamomile in both stubble and summerfallow fields can be controlled in the fall as can narrow-leafed hawksbeard in newly seeded alfalfa fields. Other broad-leaved weeds and grasses in established alfalfa plantings can also be controlled in the fall.

Fall control of such perennial weeds as Canada thistle, perennial sow thistle and quackgrass in cultivated land, especially in areas that are difficult to get at during the growing season, is recommended by Mr. Yarish.

He recommends preparing fields for next spring's planting by incorporating herbicides or herbicide-fertilizer combinations into the soil now to control grassy and/or broad-leaved weeds.

He points out that the procedures used for fall weed control vary from one district to another because cropping patterns and climatic and soil conditions vary from district to district.

Information on fall weed control techniques recommended for specific regions of Alberta can be obtained from your district agriculturist.

Girls attend rally

Ryley Guides and Brownies attended a rally at the Killam Recreation Ground this past Saturday and were involved in various programs throughout the day.

The Brownies and Guides met at Camp Cal Me Cac, just [illegible].

After the initial refreshments of juice and cookies the Brownies formed small groups and took part in craft sessions, games and other assorted activities.

The girls were taught to make lapel pins using things they found in the great outdoors such as flowers, twigs, leaves etc. Following lunch the Brownies resumed their afternoon activities before heading back for campfire.

The Guides' activities were a little more involved, especially the knot tying session. After mastering various knots the girls were taught the fine art of raising the flag. Following a treasure hunt the Guides were taught how to make a wash stand, using sticks.

It was not merely an afternoon of work as the girls played many games and participated in craft sessions, tree identification, whistle signalling and compass reading. The Guides joined the Brownies for a campfire later.

In all, approximately 230 Brownies, Guides, Leaders and some mothers took in the excursion in Killam from such areas as Alliance, Beaumont, Forestburg, Holden, Killam, New Sarepta, Ryley, Tofield, Strome and Wetaskiwin.

Although Brownies and Guides has commenced in Ryley, girls may still become part of the Guiding movement by contacting Audrey Steinwand at 663-2319 or Marily Wade at 663-2126.

Both groups meet at the Ryley Kindergarten after school on Tuesdays.

Hospital auxiliary forms

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Hospital has been augmented by the formation of a hospital auxiliary on Monday night with an initial membership likely to hit thirty strong.

Monday evening's meeting was chaired by Dolores Roth who was elected president of the newly formed organization that will see to it that patients in the hospital receive more than care; they receive support and encouragement through various programs offered by the auxiliary.

Other executive members elected were Ruby Sears as vice-president, Beverly Cargill as secretary and Lucy [illegible].

A constitution will be drafted for the charter night to be held October 18 in the staff lounge of the Tofield Hospital. Those attending voted the auxiliary meetings be held on the third Monday of every month.

Membership fees for the auxiliary will be set at $5 per person per year and the Tofield Auxiliary will be affiliated with both the provincial and regional bodies. This affliation will allow for greater resource and the Tofield Auxiliary will be able to tap their experience as well as attend annual functions.

Group leaders were also named for various functions such as scrapbook-history which will be headed by Yvonne Brown; Ruth Krause will head the candy strippers; Rose Charters, Irene Warner and Ann Gates will form the phoning committee; Penny Fowler and Louise Berube will head fund-raising; Pat Litwin will be responsible for crafts and special events; and each committee head will be looking for others to help with various projects.

Funds raised by the auxiliary will be used to make purchases that are not met through normal budgeting of hospital funds and will include such items as toys, books, equipment such as wheelchairs or other needed equipment and [illegible] that will make a patients care that much more pleasant.

The Tofield Auxiliary plans to start involvement as soon as possible and will be well into matters by the opening of the new hospital slated for 1985.

Anyone interested in joining the new group may contact any executive member for more information or may attend the charter night on October 18.

EQUALITY

Sept. 25, 1982

Dear Sir:

The Scouts of Tofield have a very ambitious project going this year, namely to get to the Jamboree in Australia.

This means raising a great deal of money in a short time, and [illegible] left, there is still a wide gap to close.

It has been said that if the goal is not reached, then those boys whose families can supply the individual difference will be able to attend, to the [illegible]. Now this strikes at the very essence of the Scouting movement, in which all, rich or poor, are equal members, and it is also grossly unfair to those who did their share in fundraising for the Troop.

I should like to make it very plain that Tofield should not allow this to happen, but should raise its Community voice to insist that all Scouts stand together and form a united front.

The Australian expedition can already take place with the sum now raised, and all Tofield Scouts can join in the world gathering and the fellowship it should engender, with clear consciences and no regrets.

Expenses can and should be cut by omission of frills, sidetrips and extended sightseeing, and Scouting should enhance its image in this town.

Drying Gourds

For those of you who planted ornamental gourds, out of curiosity, here's how to dry them for display.

Pick the gourds when stems are brown and dry, leaving about one inch of stem. Wash in lukewarm water, rinse in cool water and dry. Dip them in [illegible] to discourage surface mold. Pierce both ends with a darning needle to promote drying.

Place gourds on a rack in a dark, cool, well ventilated area. Good air circulation helps prevent rot. Check the gourds every week and remove any mold with a disinfectant solution. They are completely dry when the seeds rattle.

Paste wax, applied with a soft cloth, and then buffed gives the gourd a soft shine. Achieve a high gloss shine by applying shellac.

Use your colorful gourds as a table center or part of a dried flower arrangement.

Although there is seldom anything mildly humourous about a fire, when it happens in a bakery you can always assume your buns to be a little over done. Many will miss the great cinnamon buns, the wonderful creme puffs, the parker house rolls and hot coffee.

Test soil in fall

Are you planning to take soil samples in your fields this fall?

Forage fields that will be seeded next spring should be sampled after October 1.

Phil Dixon, district agriculturist at Rocky Mountain House, believes that soil testing is time and money well spent. He says there are three important steps involved in determining soil fertilizer requirements. One involves identifying nutrients that are in short supply and the level at which they are present in the soil. The second involves estimating the responses of various crops to all the given levels of fertilizer [illegible] that are possible, and the third involves determining the economic return from the various levels.

It is certainly not profitable to add an excess of fertilizer to the soil, and the addition of too little fertilizer will result in the loss of yield potential and money. However, there comes a point where the cost of adding another 10 pounds of fertilizer will not provide enough of a yield increase to pay for the fertilizer.

Mr. Dixon says fertilizer should be added until its cost equals the benefit cost of producing another unit of crop. A lower application is money lost, while a higher application is money wasted, he says.

The soil testing laboratory in Edmonton can tell you what level of yield increase you can expect from applying various rates of nitrogen and you can decide at what level it is no longer economical for you to apply it. The cost of the service is $10 per field.

In addition to determining the nutrient status of your soil, a soil test will provide such information as the kind and amount of soluble salts in the soil, the existence of acid or alkaline conditions, the texture of the soil, the presence of free lime and an estimate of the organic matter level.

Sampling Procedure

Size up each field. You may have to sample separately, areas which show variations in texture, color, slope, degree of erosion, drainage, crop growth or yield as well as those that have had different past treatment (i.e. fertilizing, manuring or [illegible]).

Either avoid or collect separate samples from small areas such as dead or back furrows; old straw, hay or manure pile bottoms; waterways, saline spots; eroded knolls; fence rows; fertilizer bands; areas where piles of brush were burned and other unusual places.

Select 15 - 20 sampling sites in each field.

Sample the soil to a depth of six inches at each of the sampling sites, and take separate samples at depths of 0-6 inches, 6-12 inches and 12-24 inches if a problem exists.

Place the sample in clean pails or bags and keep samples taken at different depths separately.

Mix the samples taken at each depth together and crush any lumps that may be present.

Dry soil samples by spreading a thin layer of soil on a clean paper in a clean place at room temperature. Do not dry them with artificial heat.

You can get a soil sampling kit and an information sheet, which must be filled out and sent to the soil testing laboratory, from your district agriculturist.

Marketplace

Everyone is a consumer. [illegible] things. However, when we buy these items, we also buy packaging, advertising, transportation, the energy to use the things, the services to maintain them and the services to collect and destroy them when they're discarded.

You want to be a good consumer and get your money's worth, but there's more...you must also consider the environment. The cost of an item is not just in its dollar cost but also in its energy use and pollution potential.

Nobody should tell you what to buy or not to buy. It's a personal responsibility to double-check your purchases.

Ask Yourself

Do I need it or just want it?
Is it an impulse purchase?
Will I use it sufficiently to justify the cost?
Have I comparison [illegible] to determine that this is the best product at the best price?
Can I afford it? How will I pay?

Also Consider

Does providing it use up scarce natural resources?
Does making, using or disposing of it cause pollution?
Does using it consume a lot of energy?

If you have considered the implications of your answers to all of these questions and still want the product, begin to gather information to help you determine which brand or model would be most suitable for the intended use. Stop and think whether a second-hand item would suffice or perhaps you can make the item if you have the skill and time. Don't forget to consider that renting may be an alternative solution.

REMEMBER

Being a good consumer involves a consideration of more than dollar costs. The decisions aren't easy, sometimes the choices can even be confusing. But if you begin to think about the world around you in addition to your personal needs you'll become a careful, conservation-conscious consumer.

For further information, please contact: Robert L. Pittman, Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Box 5082, Red Deer.

Enumeration ends

The 1982 Alberta Provincial Enumeration is complete.

More than one million, three hundred thousand names will appear on the voters list throughout the province for use in the next provincial election.

Chief Electoral Officer of Alberta, Ken Wark, has announced that applications for additions, corrections or deletions to the Lists of Electors will be received by Returning Officers in the 79 Alberta electoral divisions on Oct. 14, Oct. 15 and Oct. 16 from 11:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

The locations and phone numbers of the Returning Officers who will conduct the amendments will be publicized in local newspapers during the week ending Oct. 9th.

If you were not enumerated during the enumeration period which ended Sept. 30th, and if you are a Canadian citizen, 18 years of age or older, a resident in the province for the past six months, you may have your name added to the List of Electors during the October sitting for amendments.

Save energy and cost

Growing your own fuel is not always practical. The ideal fuel for a gasoline engine is gasoline. Alcohol will work, but not as well and [illegible] as economically as gasoline. Propane is better than gasoline if the vehicle does a lot of miles and is heavy on fuel. For a stationery engine, natural gas, if available, is even better then propane.

The best fuel for a diesel engine is diesel. Sunflower oil will work in summer but is best used in the kitchen.

Up to 75 per cent of the heat lost in a barn goes out in the exhaust air Adding insulation to barns will always save energy but may not be cost effective. In most cases, checking and tuning the ventilation system will be more effect at far less expense. An air-to-air heat exchanger will save energy but may not pay for itself in terms of energy saved. However, if the barn conditions are improved, the animals may get to market sooner thus giving a saving in feed costs.

Fertilizer is an input requiring a great deal of energy in its manufacture. Whether it is cost effective to add more will depend on the soil chemistry an the moisture conditions in the soil. Soil requirements can be determined by a soil test; however, moisture conditions are always uncertain.

Farmers should take into account the above recommendations before they invest in capital spending to save energy.

For more information on whether or not an investment in a piece of equipment will be economical, contact the engineering [illegible] Agriculture.

Somewhat self-indulgent, I will do almost anything to get a picture for the paper, including coercing my very own borrowed kid to stand upside down on a set of monkey bars. The trick is none too difficult, he's always up side down.

Tofield helps Scouts

by Lesley Primeau

A number of Tofield Boy Scouts and Scout Master Dan Kenrat attended the last regular meeting of Tofield Town Council to request that the town donate a number of town pins to the Scouts for their trip to Australia.

The Scouts also requested a donation that would be used for the purchase of Tofield t-shirts to be worn on the trip down under. The proposed excursion is set for December and the Scouts are expecting to travel to Australia for the jamboree. The trip will highlite stops at other countries and a trip to Disneyland.

To date the scouts have raised more than 60% of their needed funding, the delegation informed town council, and the pins would allow the Scouts to trade with Scouts from other countries.

After a discussion between Council members it was decided that the town would donate 200 Town of Tofield pins towards the Scout's planned trip. Council also decided to donate $100 toward the purchase of t-shirts for the Scouts.

Tofield Council received correspondence from the Village of Holden regarding further funds needed to keep the Beaver Regional Arts Centre open for the coming year.

After reviewing their contribution over the past couple of years and their stand last fall that Tofield would no longer provide assistance to the centre, Council decided that in keeping with the economic climate they could no longer put more funds into the centre.

The Beaver Regional Arts Centre has needed funding over the last year to keep the doors open. A group of interested patrons made a proposal to the County Council earlier urging them to consider further funding. Council has reviewed the matter and will be making a decision at their next meeting.

Councillor Regehr moved first reading of a by-law that will authorize the Town to execute an agreement with the Tofield Golden club of the lease on the old fire hall. The Golden Club has submitted tentative drawings of renovations they propose to make the fire hall into a senior's centre.

The plans, though not finalized, gave Council indication as to the needs of the proposed centre. Council will later make decision regarding the finalization of any accepted plan and enter in the lease agreement. Currently two school buses are housed in the old fire hall.

The Tofield Recreation Board has been given authorization to spend unallocated MCR funds on the community hall repairs or improvements. Approximately $10,000 in MCR monies remains and the Rec Board is certain it can be put to good use within the hall.

The next meeting of the Tofield Town Council will be on Tuesday, as Monday is Thanksgiving Day.

Fire Prevention Week planned for communities

by Lesley Primeau

This week is Fire Prevention Week throughout the County of Beaver and fire officials in all communities are urging residents to take this time to re-evaluate safety within their homes and on their property.

It if important to note, that fire can and does happen to anyone and is not bound by race, colour or creed and may strike at any time. It has been determined that 30% of fatal accidents occur in the home and of these fires, burns and scalds account for the second largest cause. In Canada 83% of all fire deaths occur in the home and approximately one quarter of these deaths happen to children.

County Fire Chief, Laurie Weatherill feels that many families could benefit from planned evacuation procedures and that these should be pretised from time to time. Knowing what to do in case of fire and being able to execute this plan without panic will save lives and possibly total destruction of a home.

Planned evacuations should not be limited to homes but apply for schools, hospitals, theatres or anywhere large crowds might gather. Chief Weatherill feels that simply too many people feel they are immune to the disaster of fire and consequently don't plan for the emergency.

Fire departments in Holden, Ryley and Tofield are equipped with both town trucks and county trucks and answer all calls made within their jurisdiction. Firemen attend regular weekly practice sessions to keep abreast of training procedures and are drilled in various areas. Many departments practice mock fires where they can plan how they would attack a certain type of blaze to best keep it under control with minimal life or property loss.

Although each community relies on the turnout of volunteers and has yet to be left without help, it has become necessary in the last little while to remind residents that fire prevention can not take care of itself and therefore volunteers are always needed.

Many departments experience lulls in practice turnouts leading to some concern with officials. Belonging to the fire department requires a minimal of time and the Holden, Ryley and Tofield halls are constantly looking for interested recruits.

In the Village of Holden, Charlie Mathews is Fire Chief and information regarding practices, training and membership can be obtained from him.

Ken Reid in the Village of Ryley is fire chief and invites inquiries regarding the Ryley Fire Department.

Wayne Lysons of Tofield heads up the Tofield Fire Departmnet which meets every Thursday evening for practice of films.

Each department endeavours to provide each man with the best training available and many firemen are able to attend fire school to further their training. In the Town of Tofield, the Fire Department plant to hold an open house on Thursday and welcomes the opportunity to show the residents the workings of the department.

This is expected to allow concerned citizens a chance to ask pertinent questions regarding safety in their homes.

Firemen in other communities would also welcome queries by residents regarding fire safety and need to know that it is a community concern.

Fire fund started

by Lesley Primeau

A consolidated effort on behalf of the Tofield Lions and the Tofield Legion made Sunday afternoon's brunch, in support of those who lost their business in the bakery fire, an unqualified success.

Afternoon numbers indicated that well over 600 were served pancake brunch complete with sausages and coffee.

Rough estimates put the total number of sausages at 90 pounds while well over 25 packages of pancake mix was used.

Bob Young of the Tofield Lions was very pleased with the turnout and felt the numbers were a good indication of how the residents feel towards the four businesses gutted by fire. Despite a quick decision to hold the brunch a rather large crowd turned out to enjoy brunch and make a donation toward the growing fund.

The bakery blaze claimed the Tofield Bakery, owned and operated by the Van Der Kley Family for over seven years; Kobzey's Barber and Beauty operated by Nick, Lil and Clarence for nearly a year; the new and flourishing Judy's Flower and Gift owned by Judy Fleck; and The Tofield Mercury.

At least 30 Legion members and Lions flipped pancakes, waited tables, poured coffee and did dishes Sunday afternoon. Many attending the brunch came from neighbouring centres to join with their Tofield counterparts in showing their support.

The fund has been receiving donations from many residents and will continue to do so for those who may wish to contribute.

An executive meeting to be held this week will determine the allocation of funds.

Reduced to rubble

After a quarter million dollar blaze destroyed the Tofield Bakery, Judy's Flower and Gifts, Kobzey's Beauty and Barber Shop and the Tofield Mercury all that remained was a large pile of rubble and debris. By week's end all that was left of the four businesses was an empty lot

Off and running

So we're into another election!

And a month from now, Premier Lougheed will be forming another government. Which of the old faces will be in it? Who will the new faces be? Who will be elevated to the inner circle? How many will sit across the aisle of the Legislature in the Opposition seats, and who will they be?

These and many other questions will occupy the minds of the voters for the next four weeks, as candidate after candidate seeks their vote, as party after party defends its position.

For weeks we have felt an election this fall would be far too early, given the size of the Lougheed majority in the Legislature, but gradually the justification for an election, and the expense, and the interruption, became more and more sustainable. It has become time to clear the air. The electorate has become increasingly critical, partly, we suspect, because of the economics of the times. They've even reached the level where they are so anxious to find fault that they forget what platform they stood on last week, and contradict their own policy from week to week.

Of course, Lougheed will win. The biggest problem . . . for Alberta, for democracy . . . is that there's no one else to vote for. No one else at present who shows even a glimmer of being of the same stature. Lougheed may not agree this is a tragedy, because he has given his very best, he has played as hard as he knows how to win at the business, not the game, of serving his fellow Albertans, his fellow Canadians, in the best way he knows how, to the utmost of his ability. We may not all agree with his methods, we may not all agree with his objectives, but we can hardly doubt his sincerity.

Whether it's the economic times, or the lack of any other voices in the legislature, any significant opposition, or just the disenchantment which attaches to any party in power over a period, the fact remains there is a surging growth of opposition to the Lougheed government among the voters. Unhappily for democracy, there seems little of solid substance for it to latch onto.

If this opposition is evenly spread across the province, the Tories will come romping home to victory . . . it's even conceivable they might win every seat. On the other hand, if such 'other views' are to polarize in certain pockets, there could be a sizeable opposition this time.

The most interesting aspect will turn out to be, what will we give Lougheed to build his cabinet with? As we look at the list of candidates for all parties, it comes hauntingly back to us, we demand a great deal from our governments, but we're often reluctant to give them much to work with.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

While I have all due admiration for the achievers of the world — including those who get there by way of massive publicity campaigns, I have even more admiration for the hundreds and thousands of unsung "tryers" of the world — those who are all too often merely discussed as "losers" as if winning was the be-all of human existance. One of the crimes of our day is the manner in which we refuse to let our children merely play, but belly and browbeat them to "win".

Many years ago, when I worked as a volunteer at a rehabilitation centre for alcoholic women we were asked to submit a "progress" report to church authorities. The trouble was that in five years, we had no real progress to report. The women still drank, fought, swore and headed for Skid Road as soon as they could. It took a thoughtful spiritual director to remind us that the only grave was in the effort — not the result.

In this success-oriented society of ours, we tend to forget the grace and worth of doing. A mother may raise a family of six children and despite her best efforts, suffer a few bad apples. This by no means diminishes the worth of her effort. For not every child who takes ballet lessons is going to set foot on a stage. Not every child is going to win the race, adorn the movie screen or write a best seller — any more than every seed is going to come up a prize winning bloom!

Ask any Little Leaguer why he is playing and he will tell you that it is to win. To have fun? Well, it's fun to win! Little wonder so many youngsters try to escape the rat race via pills, booze and stunts that at least give them the status of winners in the race to destruction. TV, radio, and magazines all somehow worship at the grail of the winners' circle. Schools, institutes and businessmen all place their offerings at the feet of the winner. Unfortunately the fleeting fame of the winners' circle all too often becomes a source of despair — particularly when a new hero comes along. In short, God does not extend any special grace to the winners of the world — only to the strivers — those who do their best with what they have.

OTHER WORLDS

(IDRC) - In an effort to protect health and cut costs, the government of Bangladesh has banned almost 1,700 drugs previously sold in the country.

Bangladesh wants pharmaceutical companies to concentrate on the manufacture of a list of 150 essential drugs drawn up by the World Health Organization. The list is made up of the generic or "no-name" drugs believed to be sufficient to meet the basic health needs of the majority of people in developing countries.

Among the outlawed drugs are vitamin tonics, cough mixtures, syrups, and other concoctions of questionable effectiveness falsely believed to be cureralls by unsophisticated consumers. Others are drugs already banned or withdrawn from the market in developed countries because of potentially dangerous side effects.

About three-quarters of the pharmaceutical industry in Bangladesh is controlled by only eight foreign-owned companies. Health planners hope the new ruling will allow local firms to begin making low-cost essential drugs.

Dear Sir:

I am looking for the old fashioned favorite recipe for the delicious moist chocolate sauerkraut cake, so very popular in the late 1940's and early 1950's.

I know that some of the excellent cooks of the Ryley and Tofield area may have the recipe tucked away in one of their special recipe boxes that has probably not been used for some time.

I would be ever so grateful if I could share it with you.

Always,
My Hometown

IN SEARCH OF RIEL

Dear Sir:

We would like to inform your readers that we will soon be marking the 100th anniversary of Canada's last rebellion, and we need their help. In 1885, Louis Riel and his Metis and Indian supporters arose on the Saskatchewan prairies protesting their treatment at the hands of the government. Militia units from eastern Canada and the west were called up to quell the rebellion.

To mark this centennial, the Glenbow Museum in Calgary is organizing a major exhibition on the Metis which we plan to circulate across Canada. However, we need the help of anyone whose relatives were involved in the militia at that time who might have souvenirs, photographs, letters, or anything relating to the rebellion. We are also seeking Metis material, whether old or new, for the show.

We are prepared to buy or accept donations of such items for our exhibition. If your readers have anything or can put us in touch with anyone who does, we would certainly like them to write or phone us collect (403-264-8300).

The year 1885 was important in Canadian history. Perhaps you can help us to commemorate it.

Lalonde fast off the mark

By W. Roger Worth

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau finally took pity on poor Allan MacEachen in the recent cabinet shuffle, moving the beleaguered Finance Minister to External Affairs. It's about time.

It was MacEachen who managed to incense both business and labour with measures introduced in an infamous budget last November.

In fact, the error-filled document was so devastating that Trudeau had problems keeping the Liberal Cabinet and caucus at bay. At best, support for MacEachen and his program was lukewarm, even among his colleagues.

MacEachen rapidly became a born loser, walking around with a cloud over his head (or his head in the clouds).

Now the nation has a new Finance Minister. The controversial Marc Lalonde is in charge, and the economics game has suddenly changed.

Unlike MacEachen, who shunned meetings with the country's business and labour leaders, Lalonde was fast off the mark, holding discussions with representatives of one sector after another in his first weeks in office.

Also unlike MacEachen, Lalonde really appeared to be seeking advice, understanding only too well that Ottawa needs support from business and labour if the economy is to be turned around. And with 1.5 million Canadians unemployed, the task is massive.

Yet all is not sweetness and light. Lalonde's detractors are quick to point out that this is the individual who introduced the controversial National Energy Program, and has been in the forefront of developing the expensive social policies that are partially responsible for a massive federal deficit that now surpasses $20 billion per year.

Nevertheless, there are those who believe Lalonde is pragmatic enough to dramatically change course as he is forced to preach (and practice) restraint. But a clear indication of a real shift in government policy is badly needed.

To underscore his intention of creating confidence and certainty for entrepreneurs and business people, Lalonde could simply reverse many of the horrendous tax changes introduced by his predecessor, thus giving business a reason to cheer, and perhaps create a few jobs.

It's really tough to congratulate the man responsible for the ubiquitous National Energy Program, but so far he's been making the right moves, apparently seeking co-operation rather than confrontation.

For the sake of the nation, let's all hope the leopard is able to change his spots.

Discount is there

If you are a bona fide farmer in Alberta, you should have received a declaration form in the mail which, when filed with your bulk fuel dealer, entitles you to buy purple gas and diesel fuel at a considerable discount under the Alberta Farm Fuel Distribution Allowance (AFFDA) Program.

If you have not already filed this form with your dealer, which states that you are actively farming in Alberta and that the purple gas and diesel fuel that you buy is used only for farming purposes, you are asked to do so immediately. And if for some reason you did not receive a form, you should pick one up from your bulk fuel dealer or from your district agriculturist.

All Alberta farmers are entitled to receive a 31.8c a gallon or 7c a litre discount under the AFFDA Program on purple gas and diesel fuel that they use on their farms. On average they save $1,500 a year, and the Alberta government spends a total of $75 million a year on this program.

Good weather needed

. . . for harvesting

One week of good weather! That's about what the farming community in this part of Alberta needs to get most of the crops off the fields.

Harvesting of the 1982 crop reached the mid-way mark last week in this part of the province, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Harvesting operations vary greatly from one area to another as some farmers have completed harvesting while still others are really just getting out of the starting gate.

Rain and snow fell on most regions on the past weekend bringing operations to a standstill. However, if good weather prevails, farmers were expected back in the fields by the middle of this week.

While fifty percent of all crops have been taken off the fields, cutting has been completed only in the Bawlf, New Norway, Camrose and Daysland areas.

Farmers around Camrose and Daysland are leading the way with about eighty percent of all crops having been harvested.

At the other end of the lander are farmers from the Hay Lakes region where only about one-third of threshing has been completed and ten percent of all crops are still to be cut.

All rye crops have been harvested overall and more than three-quarters of rapeseed has been threshed to date.

Sixty-six percent of barley has been threshed along with fifty-five percent of oats and forty-two percent of wheat and a start to threshing of flax is yet to take place.

Farmers around Camrose have ten percent of rapeseed and barley still to go along with twenty percent of oats and forty percent of wheat.

In the Daysland area, only five percent of rapeseed is still to be picked up along with ten percent of barley. Eighty percent of oats has been threshed and wheat has reached the mid-way mark.

Fifteen percent of rapeseed in the Holden area is still to be threshed. Barley and oats are about three-quarters done and thrashing of wheat is about halfway completed.

Ryley area farmers have threshed ninety percent of rapeseed along with 70 percent of barley, sixty percent of wheat and about one-half of the oats crops.

In the Bawlf area, ten percent of rapeseed is still to be done. Barley is sixty percent completed and oats and barley have reached the mid-way mark.

In the Round Hill region, about twenty percent of rapeseed is still to be threshed along with 30 percent of barley. Sixty percent of oats have been harvested along with 35 percent of the wheat crop.

Ten percent of rapeseed is still to be done in the Rosalind area. Seventy percent of oats is done along with about sixty percent of wheat and barley.

The only rye crop was produced in the New Norway area and threshing has been completed. Just over forty percent of wheat, barley and rapeseed has been threshed along with about thirty percent of oats.

Eight-five pecent of rapeseed in the Tofield region has been removed from the fields. Slightly more than forty percent of barley is done with only 30 percent of oats and ten percent of wheat threshed to date.

In the area around Hay Lakes, the mid-way mark with barley has been reached. Rapeseed and oats stand at thirty-five percent and slightly more than a start has been made with wheat.

At this time last year, harvesting operations had been completed. Two years ago with a bad fall (weather-wise) in progress, eighty percent of all threshing had been done.

Kern—Walls vows exchanged

by Grace Phillips

In a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Dan Nowell on September 11 in the Tofield United Church, Vicki Wall and Roly Kern were united in marriage.

Preceding the bride up the aisle of the church to music played by organist Mrs. Jan Addison, were Mrs. Anne Osland, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Miss Susan Graham, friend of the bride, as bridesmaid.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, John Wall of Tofield, the bride wore the traditional white wedding gown. Her bouquet was of carnal Sonja roses and white stephanotis.

The groom was attended by his two brothers, Manfred and Wilfred. The ushers were Reg Ragehr and Erhard Adam, cousins of the bride and groom respectively.

Two solos were sung by her mother, Melita Wall.

Following the ceremony, a reception for nearly two hundred guests was held in the Tofield [illegible] Centre.

Many former Tofielders and other out-of-town guests were present for the banquet served by the ladies of the Tofield Mennonite Church.

The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Sylvia Kern.

The bride's table featured the coral, green, and white of the bridal party with bouquets of Gerbs daisies and Sonja roses. The wedding cake, flanked by candles, was displayed on a separate table.

Master of Ceremonies, Ed Ragehr, uncle of the bride, welcomed the guests and asked Rev. Nowell to say grace. The bridal party was introduced and special mention was made of Mrs. Epp, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Stinson. The first two are the grandmothers of the bride and groom, respectively, and Mrs. Stinson has honorary status as grandmother to the bride.

Sylvia and Monica Kern, wives of the groom's brothers were introduced by Mr. Ragher, as were Robert Wall, brother of the birde, his wife Sharon and son Sean.

Called on for the traditional toast to the bride, Robert Wall reminisced about the childhood years of Vicki, Anne and himself before wishing Vicki and Roly much happiness in their future together.

John Wall, father of the bride, welcomed Roly as the newest member of the family which now consists of Vicki and Roly in addition to Robert and Sharon and their children Nicole, Kristen and Sean of Kamploops, B.C. and Anne and Neil Osland of Beaumont.

Ben Kern, the groom's father, welcomed Vicki as a third daughter for his wife Herta and himself. He also gave a bit of personal history saying that at eighteen he was all alone in his native Germany but now, he has a wife, three sons and three daughters in his sons' wives.

After the banquet, the gift opening took place followed by the wedding dance.

After their camping honeymon at Touchwood Lake, the Kerns returned to Edmonton where they will be making their home.

Reflections

Time to do a little spring cleaning in the fall and the ladies of That Place are getting right to it. Even the photographer managed to get into this shot . . . and . . . talk about amateurs. Maybe the Windex can wipe away the reflection.

County league set

The Camrose County Senior Hockey League has finalized planning for the coming season.

During a meeting held on Thursday evening in the Aquatic Centre, league officials agreed to operate with six teams.

The six are all returnees from last winter and include Bawlf, Bashaw, New Norway, Round Hill, Kingman and Tofield.

Not returning this winter is the entry from Rosalind.

Earlier the league had indicated that it would consider applications from other centres within the County of Camrose. However, when Thursday's meeting was held, no applications had been received.

It was agreed that the regular schedule would open on Oct. 29th with a 24-game season for each team.

Dana Andreassen was named to draft the 1982/83 schedule and it is expected that it will be released some time next week.

Although there was some discussion on a possible format change, team representatives decided to keep the present All Star Game formula intact.

As a result, the 1982/83 championship team from Bawlf will meet an all star team made up of players from the other five teams. This contest is likely to be played in January.

There will be a playoff change.

Members agreed that the existing semi-final series was two short and decided to lengthen this series and it will become a best of five affair.

In accordance with that move, if time permits, the championship finals will become a best of seven series. If time doesn't permit, it will remain as a best of five affair.

Playoff opponents will be decided on the basis with first going against fourth while second and third place teams will meet.

During the regular schedule, games will be played in Camrose, Bashaw and Tofield.

Games could be played in any or all three of these areas in the semi-finals but, all games in the finals will be played in Camrose.

Although the next meeting of the league executive will be held on Oct.31st, all other meetings (regular) will be held on the third Thursday of each month.

Harvey Fass of Round Hill was returned to serve a second successive term of office as president.

Named as vice-president was Colin Christenson of Kingman while Brian Kaon of Tofield was elected to the post of secretary-treasurer and the executive agreed that Ed Clinton of New Norway should return as league statistician.

Also, the top six juniors will be competing in the boys steer riding and the girls barrel races.

Do you know what to do in case of 1 If a fire breaks out in your house, get out fast — with your family. You can spend faster than you can run.

2 If you find smoke in an open stairway or open hall, use another passageway to get out. Teach your children how to use the phone to report a fire.

3 Make sure children can open doors, windows and screens to escape rooms.

4 Make sure your family knows the quickest and safest ways to escape from every room in the house.

5 DON'T fight a fire yourself.

6 If you are trapped in a smoke filled room, stay near the floor, where the air is better.

7 DON'T panic. Many people have escaped safely after waiting and realizing reason was just a few minutes away.

Hastings Lake

by L. Fenna

The turkey supper at the Hall last Saturday was a very sociable event, with about 150 people attending to meet their neighbours and enjoy the meal prepared by the Ladies' Club. Proceeds from events such as these are devoted to several local causes including the Tofield Hospital, the Sears School in Tofield, the award of a music scholarship to a Tofield School student, and our own Community Association.

On Sunday a Hastings Lake member turned out to skate with the Tofield Women's Hockey Team, which is looking for more players. Women who enjoy occasional vigorous exercise for an hour on a Sunday can obtain more information from 662-3388.

The Hastings Lake Pleasure Horse Association held a discussion meeting on Monday evening, and planned a work party to finish the arena and proceed with the hall painting on Sunday afternoon, at 1:00pm. An outing will also take place on Sunday Oct. 17th, more details of which will appear later. If people would be interested in a workshop or workshops on the art of the wheelwright, the harness maker and mender and the maker of horse blankets and related crafts, they should phone Muriel Raby at 662-3634.

The next Bingo evening will be held on Monday, Oct. 11th at 8:00pm at the Hall.

Thankyou

We wish to thank the Tofield Fire Department and all those who assisted during Sunday's fire. We also wish to thank our customers for their patronage over the past years.

And they said the week couldn't possibly get worse. Hah! After last week's fire inside potatoes mush out of my bathroom I figured there couldn't possibly be anything to top that. Well there is...insurance claims...

I am beginning to think that in order to be an insurance adjuster you must have to go to a auto people school and learn to ignore all sense of smell, sight, hearing and the over popular common. My insurance agent is a wonderful guy but adjusters must really scrape the bottom. Although this well probably jeopardize my claim it occurs to me that six year olds could handle the job better.

First of all they seem to doubt that the loss you report is possible, despite the fact that there is no building standing where once was your office. Not only can they not see, they have an uncanny way of not being able to smell the aftermath, which as we all know the Village of Ryley could smell. Then of course there is the small matter of proving that what was in the office remained in the office during the inferno...just because Steve McQueen and Paul Newman brave that tower is no reason to assume the rest of us are that dedicated.

Then of course there is the small matter of price. What you paid for something, what it's worth now, how much it depreciated (everything obviously) and what was the life span of the article. Not to mention that you must now ask everyone who ever gave you anything what they paid for it...if you are lucky to receive gifts.

Of course after you have all that figured out there's an small thing called replaceable value which is what I have everything I own insured for...why would you do it any other way??? Now the problem is in order to get replaceable value you must first go out, buy the object and then try and collect from the insurance company. That means if you lost $10,000 worth of stuff (which thankfully I did not) you would have to have $10,000 sitting idly in the bank in which to go out and repurchase everything and then try and collect from the insurance company. Some how this all seems immoral to me. But that's insurance for you. I am beginning to think it's high time we all stood up and yelled foul. It occurs to me that there is something fishy going on here.

Of course if you don't happen to have the money to go out and buy everything new so that you can collect replaceable value from your insurance company, they would be thrilled to give you a cash settlement at a depreciated amount...whatever that turns out to be...

All in all considered I think the week rates a low star merit with a bullet. I can't believe that I honestly thought the paper business would be simple and straight forward. Oh well, there is one small, ever so small, consolation. With the bakery non-existant, I am not tempted nearly so much as I used to be. It was always too simple to trot next door for a fresh cinnamon bun...you don't suppose that's God's Way of saying...chubbs...stay away...

Somehow this seems a trifle unfair, nobody can make me believe there is more to life than cinnamon buns...oh well here's a pleasant thought...it's slightly less than three months until Christmas, snow will be heaped upon us any minute, the heater in my bus hasn't worked in years and now we can go to the polls and elect our next government. Frankly I've decided to vote rhinoceros, especially if they promise ten months of sunny 30 degree weather, no taxes, a three day work week and a paid vacation to Martinique...nobody else keeps campaign promises, but at least this would give us hope...

Cooking demonstration held

by Lesley Primeau

The menus of Dot West is associated with products found in such stores as Super Vale, Loblaws, Tom Boy and the Lucky Dollar. Dot West is the nom de plume of Ruth Hinchliffe, a home economist who works mainly for Westfair Foods Ltd as their director of consumer affairs.

In her capacity, Dot West is responsible for a great deal of public relations and the cooking demonstration held at the Holden Community Hall Monday night was just that. An estimated 98 cooks took in the demonstration which featured such dishes as Thurgan Apple Cake, Chicken Livers with vegetables and noodles, cod fish with green and red peppers and Pumpkin Parmegiana.

Foods were prepared then given away to some lucky cook attending the demonstration, complete with the dishes they were prepared in. Other door prizes were given out and during Tuesday's question and answer session held at the Lucky Dollar in Holden, lucky consumers were treated to metric conversion kits, pens, measuring spoons, pens, spice charts and other novelty items used in the kitchen. As well Dot West informed those interested that cookbooks are available, free of charge, from Westfair Foods simply by writing in and requesting one.

In addition to home cooking demonstrations, Dot West passed along a number of nutritional tips and hints tips. Her job also entails that she write blurps for flyers distributed by the parent company, columns for newspapers and answer a great deal of write in mail.

During her 18 year tenure with Westfair Foods, Ruth Hinchliffe has written two cookbooks which are available free of charge. She is also qualified to deal with consumer complaints and concern regarding products carried in stores supplied through the parent company.

During her travelling season which runs from February and then again from Sept-Nov, Dot West logs approximately 380,000 miles with her cooking demonstrations, cooking schools and in store promotions.

All recipes are tried in the test kitchen before they are subjected to public scrutiny or before they are entered in a cookbook. The Holden appearance was initiated by Ken and Rose Shapiro who own and operate the Lucky Dollar grocery store. During the Dot West in store promotion Tuesday morning the store was literally packed with cooks and consumers who had various questions to ask the economist.

The basic aim of the Dot West program, which originated in New York in 1946, is to provide consumers with a resource person and aid consumers with their concerns.

Hay Lakes district news

Mrs. A. Anstee

At the regular meeting of the Hay Lakes and District recreation Association held on Sept. 28 further discussion on the future of County recreation took place. Regional recreation will cease to exist at the end of 1982 and a decision regarding the future of recreation in the County of Camrose will have to be made.

The Hay Lakes Rec Association sent in a reply to the County questionaire last month, however they would like to receive more input from residents throughout the district. The questionnaire has been posted in several public locations and residents are invited to voice their opinions and offer suggestions regarding the future of recreation.

The Hay Lakes History Book Committee met with their publisher representative last Monday evening and were reassured that the local history book, "Each Step Left Its Mark", will be received in time for distribution at activities planned for Oct. 24. Over two years of dedicated research has gone into compiling this book and it is hoped that the volume will be enjoyed and treasured by present and future generations. This book, containing approximately 1,000 printed pages and over 1,400 pictures, will sell for $40 until Oct. 24. Following this date, there will be an increase sin price, due to higher publisher costs than anticipated. Books may be preordered by sending a deposit of $20 (or entire $40) to Mrs. Martha Nordin, Box 174, Hay Lakes T0B 1W0. Mailing charges not included.

Fifteen-year-old Daniel Brown-Dias of Tuxtla, Mexico arrived Sept. 13 on a student exchange and is residing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schultz. Living on a dairy farm is all very new and exciting and Daniel enjoys helping with the farm chores. Daniel wrote the following paragraph regarding his life here, quote: "I am very happy here. I think Canada is one of the best countries in the world. Almost all the things are different than Mexico, the people, the customs, the food, etc. The school is different, too. I think the school system is better here. All the teachers and kids are very nice people and help me patiently. The Schultz family is very nice and help me too and explain to me the things I do not understand. I like Canada."

Daniel states that Tuxtla has a population of 97,000 and is located on the southern tip of Mexico. It is a distributing point for coffee and tobacco. Daniel will remain here until the end of the school term in June, 1983.

First Hay Lakes Cubs and Scouts will be holding a bottle and battery drive on Oct. 16 commencing at 9 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Radowitz of Westbank, B.C. and their daughters, Kelly Radowitz and Rena Johnston and two children of regina, Sask., spent several days as guests at the home of Wilmer and Shirley Radowitz. They were here for the marriage of Mike's brother. Alex Radowitz, to Wilma Siepert. The wedding took place on Oct. 2 at New Sarepta with reception and dance held at Hay Lakes Rec Center.

Swinging canine

Poor Heidi is not quite certain about this swinging business. After all rumour had it that a dogs life meant all fours on the ground. She is, however in the capable hands of her master, Jeff Deck who seems to have everything under control.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH VARIABLE RATES?

If your branch line is expensive to the railways, shouldn't it be abandoned?

Why shouldn't Canadian grain producers set an example and forego subsidies?

Shouldn't producers accept an acreage payment rather than having government continue to pay the railways a transportation subsidy on export grain?

Why shouldn't producers take the risks and release government and railways from future increases?

Why shouldn't beef and pork feeders have the major say in shaping Canada's export grain industry?

These are the prospects if a pay the producer system emerges. If you would rather see your grain system evolve according to grain producers' needs and circumstances, tell Ottawa.

Tofield Lodge Notes

by Helen Wiklun

Lodge correspondent, Mrs. Helen Wiklun, is a patient in the Tofield Hospital.

Mrs. Lerbekmo has returned after being in hospital for a few days.

Visiting with Mrs. Agnes Anderson during the past week were her sisters, Mrs. Eileen Forsberg from Sussex, England, accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Margaret M'Glinn from Birchington, England. This being their first visit to Canada. They were impressed and delighted with Alberta, and enjoyed meeting so many friendly people here in Tofield, and thought our Lodge was "out of this world" compared to what they have back home.

They left Thursday evening to finish their visit with Mrs. Anderson's family in Edmonton. Then, intend taking a night seeing tour of British Columbia and California before returning home.

HERITAGE FUND INTEREST PROGRAMS
ALBERTA SMALL BUSINESS AND FARM INTEREST SHIELDING PROGRAM

To provide short-term assistance to small businesses and farm operators during a period of unstable interest rates, the Alberta Government is offering an interest shielding grant. The program will cover the period from March 1, 1982 to March 1, 1984. Small business owners and farmers whose total revenue over the past fiscal year did not exceed $5 million will be eligible.

If you're the owner of a small business or farm, and you meet the program qualifications, you will likely be eligible for shielding of business loans up to $150,000. To find out if you qualify, check for details in brochures which will be available October 12th.

Something You Can Count On

The program will effectively reduce your business loan interest rate to a maximum of 14 ½ per cent, with interest rebates equalling a maximum of 6 per cent. In other words, if you are now paying an average of 20 ½ per cent on your loan(s), the program will shield you by 6 per cent to 14 ½ per cent.

The interest grants will be paid directly to you at your place of business or farm every six months and should commence December 1982.

Here's How You Apply

Application forms and brochures giving details on the program will be available October 12th from all financial institutions. You may also obtain them from any office of Alberta Tourism and Small Business or your local office of Alberta Agriculture.

Lionesses hold a 'flea market'

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Lioness Club held their annual community flea market at the Community Hall Saturday afternoon. Despite chilly October weather a good crowd paraded through the afternoon to take advantage of the many good buys.

Bargain seekers were able to find books, clothing for all family members, toys, assorted plants, baked goods, preserves, odds and ends as well as varied household goods. The Tofield Boy Scouts were also on hand selling souvenirs, cookbooks and paraphernalia to aid their proposed trip to Australia. The Scouts were also shipping up their now well known cotton candy.

Friends from the afternoon are expected to go towards the Fire victims fund and other community projects as set out by the club. The Fire Victims Fund was recently started to aid the victims in the recent bakery fire.

Organizing for the community flea market was done by members of the Lioness Club including Nola Taylor, this year's president, Carol Flynn, vice-president, Bev Westland secretary, Alita Prelick, treasurer and Helen Fehr, programmes director. Also chipping in with a helping hand were Joan Morris, Kathy Warner, Vicky and Cindy Van Der Kley, Linda Weisbeck, Edith White, Karen Nelson and many family members and friends.

The Tofield Lioness Club is currently in the second year of operation in the Town of Tofield and operate similar to the Tofield Lions in their aims and objectives. Community projects are prime on their list of activities and the flea market and tea allowed them some good public exposure.

The Lioness Club is holding its next meeting on Thursday, October 14 at 8:00 p.m. and any women who wishes to become active in one of Tofield's newest organizations may contact any Lioness for further information.

Between the Covers

"Sarah Cynthia Sylvia Stout
Would not take the garbage out!
And so it piled up to the ceiling:
Coffee grounds, potato peelings,
Brown bananas, rotten peas,
Chunks of sour cottage cheese..."

And on it goes, one of the more appealing, if revolting, poems included in Where the Sidewalk Ends, a book your children will love to hear read aloud: Chester come to school and said, "Dern, I growed another head." Teacher said, "It's time you knowed, the word is 'grew' instead of 'growed'."

Amongst the new adult fiction may be found The Stranger from the Sea, the eighth novel in the Poldark series, by Winston Graham. This family saga takes up again in 1816, with a new generation of the families involved. Also, a new mystery by Ngaio Marsh, Light Thickens, and a new thriller by Alistair Maclean, Partisans may be found on the New Book rack.

A book that many parents may find helpful is called Why? Childrens' Questions: what they mean & how to answer them. Although I have not read the whole book, the approach seems to be honest and caring, covering such subjects as adoption, religion, death, divorce, etc, for different age groups.

Childrens' films continue on Saturdays at 10:30am; admission is free.

Remember, the Library is open to all residents of the area, to come in and browse or study, to use any of the materials and facilities available. You need a membership only to borrow books to take out of the Library. Come in and read to your child, or enjoy some quiet time to yourself.

Holden newlyweds feted

On Sept. 18th, Mr. and Mrs. Reinold Grinde held an open house and reception in the Holden Community Hall in honor of their eldest daughter, Debbie and Jamie Pettit who were married on August 13th in Edmonton.

Upon entering the hall, cousins of the bride, Mrs. Marilyn Campbell and Mrs. Diane Booth, pinned corsages on the honored couple and their attendants.

Albin Lukewicke was the Master of Ceremonies for the afternoon program.

Seated at the head table with Jamie and Debbie were their attendants, Mrs. Dawaita Stewart and Wayne McMann, both friends of Jamie and Debbie.

The program opened with a solo by Debbie's cousin, Mrs. Wanda Lehman who was accompanied by Patty Banack on the guitar.

Mrs. Sharon Kropielnicki was commentator telling a little history of Jamie and Debbie's life, while in the background Wayne McMann and Mrs. Norma Sears acted as the newlyweds.

Reinold and Jean Grinde welcomed their new son-in-law Jamie into the family and presented them with a washer and dryer.

Gertie Mixers, on behalf of the Grinde aunts and uncles and Albert and Lydia Grinde, presented Jamie and Debbie with a chrome table and chair suite.

Linda Grinde gave a short reading and Mrs. Wanda Lehman once again rendered a solo accompanied by Patty Banack.

Orland Lehman, cousin of the bride, gave a toast to the bride and groom.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated by Mrs. Kathleen Kawaliak.

The two-piece tweed suit Debbie wore was her mother's wedding suit of over 25 years ago.

Jamie and Debbie expressed their gratitude and thanked everyone for coming and a buffet supper was then served to the guests.

Jamie and Debbie are residing in Beaumont. Debbie is attending Grant McEwan College taking her 2nd year in Early Childhood Education while Jamie is a musician, teaching guitar lessons in Edmonton.

He previously played with a band that will appear on Spotlight (CFRN) on Oct. 16 at 8pm.

Australian visits Scouts

by Yvonne Brown
Leduc Bureau

Tofield Scouts and Cubs were treated to a visit from Australian Scouting Commissioner Ken Stevens on Monday, October 24.

Mr. Stevens is in Canada to attend the World Scout Conference in Alberta. He is visiting Scouting groups in Canada and Australia gaining information and exchanging ideas with Scouting groups in both countries.

Mr. Stevens visited with the Tofield group during the regular meeting time and was also invited to attend Scouts and Cubs at their regular gathering times.

Scout Master Dennis Thomas explained to Mr. Stevens that Tofield Scouts were in the process of organizing before gathering information for the evening's meeting.

Mr. Stevens was impressed with the Tofield group's enthusiasm and was able to capitalize on the many skills of the boys and leaders.

The Tofield Scouts have had reading projects over the past couple of months aiming at earning their Reading Proficiency Badge. Each boy was required to read a certain number of books, a number of which were required to be Canadian books. Mr. Stevens was presented with a book by each boy, which he will be able to read on the plane ride home.

Scout Master Thomas explained to Mr. Stevens that Tofield Scouts have been busy fundraising projects over the past year. The Tofield Scouts have been selling Avon products, held a paper drive, and a Christmas tree auction. Tofield Scouts have also been busy selling garbage bags and chocolate bars.

The Scouts are confronted with their food preparation skills when they go on camping trips. Mr. Stevens was impressed with the knowledge the boys had in preparing their own meals.

Mr. Stevens was presented with a Tofield Scouting scarf and a Tofield Scouting T-shirt.

Mr. Stevens was also invited to be a Scout ball.

Sad day

It will be a sad day for education, said a spokesman for the Alberta Teachers Association recently, if school boards are saddled with not more than five percent increases in their budgets for next year, referring to the six and five formula of Prime Minister Trudeau.

Yet only last week we witnessed one of the most successful insurance companies in the country announcing nothing over six percent would be available for its office staff, and absolutely nothing extra for management except bonuses for improved profit levels.

The difference between the market place and the ivory halls in accepting the harsh realities of the business world today could hardly be made clearer. Yet it came out even a little more starkly in the wage package accepted by Chrysler of Canada workers, who bowed grimly if unwillingly to the economic stringencies their company is facing.

The ATA notwithstanding, the teachers can't ignore today's economics any more than the powerful auto workers union could. Or the insurance company mentioned earlier. Wouldn't it be interesting if teachers received higher pay only if their students could be taught to spell? Or to do simple arithmetic? Or to speak and write more grammatically? It came as something of a shock recently to hear how many think so highly of their 'professionalism' they're not willing even to listen to an expert in their own field who might upgrade their performance by pointing out some deficiencies.

The ATA may consider five percent a 'sad day'. But taxpayers who are down on their luck, who have lost their job entirely, who have settled for less than last year, or who are working part time, and there are a surprising number of them, would look on five percent more as a silver lining.

Support for Seniors

Nick Taylor recently advanced an idea worth a good deal of study in the more or less continuing effort to make things a little easier for our Senior Citizens.

Pointing out that over half the senior citizens in Alberta with an old age pension also receive the Guaranteed Income Supplement, the Alberta Liberal Leader says this means that many are living at or near the poverty level

In the most wealthy province in Canada, says Mr. Taylor, steps should be taken to shield those who own their own homes from the effects of rising property taxes, by permitting the tax to accumulate as a charge against the individual's estate, if they come under the guaranteed income supplement. Municipalities would get the money from the province, so they could carry on their programs, and the province would be reimbursed when the estate is disbursed.

It's another wrinkle on the reverse mortgage concept, and it's well worth study. One aspect of the reverse mortgage that doesn't appeal to us is that the house which takes a couple up to 30 years to acquire can be sold out in from seven to ten years, but it does at least have the effect of leaving ownership with them until the house is sold, rather than forcing a rental situation from the time the house is sold.

But the tax accumulation would be much slower, and may be just the thing to help out a number of pensioners who are on the GIS program. At least it's worth reviewing.

New highway painting will have improvements

Alberta Transportation has adopted new highway painting standards for use on the province's highways system, Transportation Minister Harry Kroeger has announced.

The revised Highway Painting standards, recently developed by the roads and transportation association of Canada, will permit more efficient use of Alberta Transportation's regional painting, Mr. Kroeger said. "It will allow the equipment to be used with greater flexibility and generally improve the overall quality of highway markings.

The new standards will provide painted markings that divide the paved portion of each road into travel lanes of equal an uniform width.

Thirty-centimetre wide shoulder lines will be installed at interchanges and important intersections to assist the public in locating the exit and entrance points at these locations.

In addition, wide-dashed lines will also be installed on all acceleration and deceleration ramps at these locations to advise motorists that they are entering or leaving the Highway System.

The Minister said that this will be a transition period for implementing the change in highway painting standards. Resurfacing in all highways to be painted according to the new standards and applied over the existing markings.

The duplication of markings is expected to remain for only a short period of time until the old ones are worn away.

During this transition period, there will be no reduction in the safety aspects of the provincial highway system, he added.

Said Mr. Kroeger: "By adopting these new standards, our highway painting procedures will keep them efficient and with the increased emphasis on improved interchange and transition lane markings, it will also keep Alberta Transportation's road marking program abreast of the other provinces."

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

I always have to smile when I listen to this or that self winger sounding off about "our resources"—as if I were entitled to go down to the oil well and dip in for a pail of free oil! I am equally puzzled by their mumbling off about "Indian rights"—extra rights due by reason of their ancestors having been in Canada first. My premise is that the land belongs to mankind—and whatever it gives, actually had to be taken by hard working pioneers who built the cities and roads, plowed the land, planted the seed and paved the way for thousands of others who were to follow. Little wonder that I am amused by the "born Canadians" who somehow take this effect for granted—claiming a special status for the accident of being born into an environment made beautiful, productive and free by men and women who preceded them.

An examination of the names of any area of any land is a mosaique of many races, colour and creed. In British Columbia alone, we find names which reflect not only the native Indian influence, but the American, English, Spanish, Portuguese and even Russian. From the Spanish explorers we have our Tuxedo, Gabriel and Galiano. British explorers have confederation gave us Lake Island, Burrard Inlet Pender and Port Moody. The early Hudson Bay factors gave us Douglas, Todd and Yale. Businessmen, statesmen and soldiers gave us Island—named in such names as Ladysmith and Natal.

Would you believe that Captain William Bligh of Mutiny on the Bounty fame is immortalized in the naming of Bligh Island, marking the event of his visit to the West Coast with Captain Cook in 1778. Even Napoleon Bonaparte contributed his name to Bonaparte River.

It was once said: "The world belongs to those who love it best." One might even say that Canada belongs to those who love it best." Not those who want it most or who desire to change it for political reasons—but to those who love it with an appreciation of what Canada is; what it will give to those willing to work. For in the final analysis, the land itself owns us nothing. Its fruitfulness does not put the coin of ponchos on the supermarket shelf any more than it builds the house or collects the garbage once a week.

For only when man recognizes the "give and take" of existence on this planet, instead of seeing himself as a Nero who needs only to take, will he find himself in accord with nature—and perhaps even his fellowman!

Mainstream Canada

For many, 6 and 5 adds up to a lot

By W. Roger Worth

For the 1.5 million unemployed Canadians, and a great many others, Six and Five is something of a bad joke.

Six and Five, of course, is the slogan created by the promotion and advertising people in the nation's capital to exemplify Ottawa's efforts to limit salary increases for federal civil servants to six percent and five percent during the next two years.

Several provinces have followed Ottawa's lead, legislating similar restraints.

While the efforts to wind down inflation (now running in the double-digit range) are certainly laudable, they do tend to emphasize the basic difference between employees working in the public and private sectors of the economy.

Civil servants with secure jobs get raises, while many of those in the private sector are thankful to have a job at all.

Individuals operating small and medium-sized enterprises, for example, would be overjoyed if they achieved a six percent increase in earnings, or were able to pay their employees that much more money. Instead, they feel lucky if they break even, or only lose six percent from the previous year's earnings.

Nevertheless, they're not among the 25,000 or more businesses that will file for bankruptcy, receivership, or simply wind up an enterprise this year.

For these people, there is no job security, no severance pay or even unemployment insurance.

Then there are the thousands of employees who have been forced to accept salary cuts of six percent, or more, as their bosses battle for survival. These individuals are happy to have a job.

Last, but certainly not least, are the 1.5 million unemployed who would give their eye teeth for even the chance to land a job.

For these individuals, the idea of a salary, let alone a six percent increase, would be a mouth-watering event.

The fact is, the country's civil servants are unbelievably pampered. Few of them are losing their jobs, and some are grossly overpaid.

There's little wonder then, that average Canadians ask why the recession seems to affect everyone, except those employed in the public sector.

Perhaps it's time the government establishments took a long look at this seemingly unfair situation. As it stands, some of the nation's most productive workers are on the sidelines, while civil servants moan about their six percent raises.

Feed Freight Assistance Program

As many farmers may have already heard, the Feed Freight Assistance Program for 1982-83 has just been recently announced by Agriculture Minister, Dallas Schmidt. Farmers in the County of Beaver No. 9 are once again eligible for assistance with freight costs. Dates that the program will be in effect are June 16, 1982 to May 30, 1983

Basically, the program is very similar to last years, except for the following major changes:

1. Maximum assistance to an individual, corporation, partnership, proprietorship or organization is limited to a) $6,000 or b) the maximum allowable forage calculated on the basis of herd inventory. This year, a new item in the program is that there is a maximum allowable limit per animal.

2. No payment will be given on the first 25 miles as was the case last year. In addition, a variable rate of payment is calculated based on mileage over 25 miles. Hay or straw qualifies for 30 cents per ton per mile for the first 100 eligible miles and 10 cents per ton per mile for anything over 100 eligible miles. Pellets or cubes are 9 cents and 4½ cents and silage is 13 cents and 6½ cents. These rates are for one-way hauled mileage.

3. Wherever possible, actual weight of the forage on a scale ticket is preferred. If this is not possible, estimates will be accepted. However, the Administration reserves the right to impose maximum weights per bale where estimates are used.

4. The information needed to fill out the application is slightly different from last year. Necessary information includes:

a) receipted freight bill
b) type or quantity of feed purchased
c) receipted invoice of the hay purchase or certified true copy
d) date of purchase and delivery
e) full name, address and phone numbers of vendor and purchaser

5. Farmers who haul their own feed are still eligible.

6. A new feature of the program this year is that, in special cases, where breeding stock has been hauled to the feed, rather than vice versa, farmers may also be eligible to claim assistance as if the feed were hauled to the animals.

Brochures on the new program should be available at the same time this article reaches the newspaper. Application forms should be in our offices in late October or early November.

If you have any questions regarding the program please feel free to give us a call.

On February 17, 1933 Elmer was married to Alice Simonson of the Bardo district. For most of their married lives they resided in the Tofield-Camrose area where Elmer continued to farm until his passing. He will always be remembered for his sense of humour and his keen interest in agriculture.

Threshing nears an end

With good weather prevailing over the past week, especially the weekend, farmers made good progress in getting the 1982 crop off the fields.

If the good weather can last for the balance of this week, a majority of farmers are expected to finish threshing operations.

In some regions, farmers completed the harvest nearly two weeks ago while in other places, farmers have just gotten a good start after excessive rain had held up operations.

According to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool, over sixty percent of all threshing operations have been completed.

AWP reports are issued late each week and in this instance, do not take into account progress made over the past weekend, which saw farmers throughout the region work long hours each day in an effort to bring the 1982 harvest season to an end.

Heading into the past week, farmers in the Camrose, Daysland, Ryley, Bawlf, Rosalind and Tofield areas had not made any progress over the previous weekly reports.

At this time last year, harvesting had been completed a week ago while the poor fall of two years ago saw eighty percent of all harvesting operations having been completed by this time.

Eighty percent of it rapeseed has been taken from the fields along with seventy percent of barley, sixty percent of oats, one-half of the rye crop and about forty-five percent of the wheat and threshing of flax is still to be started.

Eighty percent of all crops around Camrose and Daysland have now been threshed and cutting in both regions has been completed.

Only five percent of the rapeseed crop in the Round Hill region is still on the fields along with ten percent of barley. Three-quarters of oats has been threshed and forty percent of wheat has been harvested.

Farmers in the area around Holden have threshed eighty-five percent of rapeseed and barley along with seventy percent of oats and sixty percent of wheat.

All cutting operations have been completed around Round hill with about five percent of wheat, oats and barley still to be cut in the Holden area.

In the Ryley region, farmers report that ninety percent of all rye has been threshed along with one-half of rapeseed and barley. Forty-five percent of the wheat crop is off the fields along with forty percent of oats and cutting operations have been completed.

Operations around Rosalind came to a standstill last week where ninety percent of rapeseed has been threshed. Seventy percent of oats, and sixty percent of wheat and barley has been threshed and only some flax is still to be cut.

Fifty-five percent of the oats and barley have now been threshed in the Hay Lakes area along with forty percent of rapeseed while ninety percent of the wheat crop is still to be threshed. All cutting has been completed.

No progress was reported from the Tofield region where eighty-five percent of rapeseed has been removed from the fields along with forty percent of barley, twenty percent of oats, ten percent of wheat and about five percent of the cutting operations are yet to be done.

Which do you want? Drink it or drive it?

by Edwin Thornton
Engineering and Rural Services Division, Alberta Agriculture

Alternative sources of fuel are receiving a great deal of attention these days. Alcohol is one suggested alternative to gasoline as a fuel. This article looks at some of the problems associated with putting alcohol in the tank and not behind the wheel.

There are two basic types of alcohol, methyl and ethyl. Methyl (wood alcohol) is used as a de-icing fluid and, if ingested, makes you go blind. Ethyl Alcohol is the fire part of whisky and gin. Both have about half the heating value of gasoline. If you filled your gas tank with whiskey at 160 proof and managed to get the engine running, it would have one-quarter the power it would have running on gasoline. The engine would not run for long either because the sugar in the whiskey would soon coat the pistons, but you would have quite a crowd cutting the cabbage before it stopped.

To blend alcohol with gasoline (gasohol), the alcohol has to be very pure, 99 per cent, or the water separated out. This purity is beyond the capacity of most farm stills. Farm operations may be able to produce it at 95 to 98 per cent with a lot of effort and this can be used directly in injection engines with few modifications. Note, however, that the distillation process uses more energy than it produces.

At the moment, the most economical fuel for a gasoline engine is gasoline, or in some cases, propane. Therefore, alcohol should be used in the gin and not in the car.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

New books you will find in the library this week include Pauline Gedge's new novel Stargate. It is a departure from her usual style of well-researched historical fiction, being more Science Fiction in nature, but as equally well-written as her first two novels, both of which are also in the Library. For the many readers who have enjoyed James Herriot's writing, James Herriot's Yorkshire will be a real treat; beautiful photographs of the Countryside he so loves, are accompanied by descriptive text in this newly released paperback. For the crime buff, Trail of Blood is a collection of true accounts of Canadian murders, both solved and unsolved. There are many people involved locally in hockey, and others who enjoy the NHL, but all should find Jay Greenberg's book very interesting reading: NHL: the World of Professional Ice Hockey. Also lavishly illustrated, this book covers such areas as NHL strategy, arenas, profiles of famous players and coaches, and much more. For the women interested in co-ordinating her wardrobe, and dressing well on a budget (and who isn't), Working Wardrobe; Affordable Clothes that Work for You! should hold many good ideas. These and many other new books may be read in the Library, or borrowed by members. Ask about your membership next time you are in.

Have you ever stopped to read the notices on the Library's walk-around bulletin board? They include not only local events but also happenings at the Provincial Museum, courses available through the Extension Department, news items about other libraries and so on. You can pick up a brochure on the Dewey Decimal System, the Tofield Recreation News, or information on Talking Books, available to the visually impaired. Stop a minute next time you are in your library, and read the news!

Are you dropping your hard-earned bucks all along the highway?

Let's face it. With the cost of gasoline out of sight and at times hard to find as well, it makes better cents, and dollars too, to shop locally.

Driving all over the countryside just to save a few cents just doesn't make sense.

The small amount of money you might save may be more than eaten up by the cost of gas. Shop locally, and save time, your energy, fuel and money.

No need to roam... the best shopping's here at home!

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to Dr. Siwak, Dr. Weir, Dr. Peterson and St. Mary's Hospital staff for the care given to our mother in the past. Many thanks to Bethany Home, Rev. Severson, Dr. Peterson and the nursing staff for their loving care given to our mother and grandmother and to all those who visited her with flowers, gifts and cards. Greatly appreciated.

Please accept our sincere and heartfelt thanks for the floral tributes, cards, and memorials given in memory of our dear mother and grandmother Alfhild Ekdahl. Thanks to those who participated in the memorial service and to the Kingman community ladies who served a lovely lunch. All your help and presence was greatly appreciated.

A special thank you to her brother Levin, sister Judith, sister-in-law Anna, families and relatives in Sweden for the lovely bouquet of flowers given in memory of mother.

Your thoughtfulness will always by remembered.

May God bless you one and all.

This week I am not going to bore you with the gory details about how my bus ended up in the garage and needed a new starter, among other things, or how the beetle the garage lent me died enroute to Edmonton and had to be push started cause it needed a generator or how I still don't have a heater in the bus and winter is only minutes away...instead this week I am going to focus in on good positive things like Yvonne Brown's birthday...and how old you might ask, is the mother of four and anyone else who walks into the house and needs a mother, wife of manner than..etc..etc..

Well be it far from me to divulge any great secret like how many 19th birthdays have past or how old the oldest fellow by the name of Daniel is...be it far from me to suggest that old age security is a mere skip around the block or that a rocking chair with her name is now being carved in the great beyond...no..suffice to say that I, at the tender age that I am, will not be the first to cast snide glances or wayward looks...for one never knows what I say may be said back...HAPPY BIRTHDAY YVONNE on this your 29th...

Having no dark room means having to have your negatives done in the Big E which means that pictures taken on Tuesday don't make the paper until next week..but halleluja..we are about to move into a wonderful house between AGT and Thor Agencies right on main street in the heart of the action...now all we need is someone who can wallpaper and we are set. We shall be in there for sure Tuesday but with any luck it could be as early as this Friday ..perhaps Hilda will let me have a house opening or whatever...remember the phone number is back to 662-4046..drop in...

I feel very confident in saying that I speak for the Van Der Kleys, the Kobsey's, Judy and the Merc, when I extend to the Tofield Lions, the Tofield Legion and residents of this vast and friendly community, heaping mounds of great gobbelity thankyous and bouquets of gratitude to the many who showed their support at the benefit brunch. Next week watch for a marvellous picture of the four businesses. We can't thank the community enough for their support and encouragement during these past couple of weeks.

And imagine if you will, poor Frits, lying around the university hospital, with all those nurses and nothing to do. Frits, ole boy, not that we want you to think that we miss you and wish you a speedy recovery, but when you get up and at em again, do you think you might consider baking cinnamon knots in your house???

And did you hear about poor Dolores Roth..the lady who thinks a hospital auxiliary is a good idea. Seems that she wants to try out this plan personally. She has either sprained, strained, drained, broke, dislocated or lost her shoulder..Now everyone who plans on joining the auxiliary should cheer her up, right??

And now because I appear to have what is commonly called run of the mouth disease, that everyone knows is cured by cookies..I shall leave this humble machine for better things..what remains to be seen ..Don't forget on Monday we vote republican and eat apple pie but on Wednesday we get to be decadent and vote democratic. .wrong country you say...pshaw...and countdown to great pumpkin day is 16 days...

Weed wiper works

A simple weed-wiping device, developed by the United States Department of Agriculture research workers, can be used to spot-treat scattered weed stands.

According to information received by Arnold Stearman of Alberta Agriculture's weed control branch, the device is gravity-feed and consists of a hockey stick fitted with a self feeding herbicide reservoir that is carried in a backpack.

The blade of the hockey stick is enclosed in sponge and covered with a protective cloth, and a trigger from a handsprayer controls the flow of the herbicide.

The weed-wiping device has been used in the United States to control perennial weeds in orchards and to control weeds under blueberry bushes, etc. Apparently it can also be used to control weeds under ornamental plants if a shield is put over the top of the blade.

Mr. Stearman says he can see the weed-wiping device being used on patches of weeds and brush in pastures and on thistles growing along fence lines. In fact, he believes it could be used in almost any situation where backpack sprayer could be used.

The excellent weather of the Thanksgiving Weekend enabled more progress to be made on painting the hall, and the gates to be hung on the riding arena.

Next week will be a busy one at the hall, starting with Bingo on Monday at 8 pm. The last cake decorating classes will be held on Wednesday and the following Wednesday, and the Ladies' club meets at 1 pm on Thursday, Oct. 21. A speaker from the Legal Resource Centre will be featured, on that occasion, to talk on 'Women and the Law' and all interested people are invited to attend.

Later on Thursday the Losers' League will have its regular 7:30 pm meeting. There are now sixteen members, and more are welcome. The club has a target to lose a total of 118 pounds by Dec. 2nd and during the first week of the campaign it was very successful, losing 10¼ pounds. Interested dieters may phone Elaine ([illegible]) for more details.

Lastly the community association monthly meeting will take place on Thursday at 8:00 pm. It will be organizing a Harvest Dance for Nov. 13th, tickets $5 each from Muriel [illegible] or Elaine [illegible].

People who wish to take part in the trail ride on Sunday Oct. 17th, should phone members of the Hastings Lake Pleasure Horse Association for details (Muriel, [illegible] or Bruce, [illegible]).

Fighting for breath

(IDRC) - From colds to pneumonia, acute respiratory infections are major causes of death and poor health among young children in developing countries.

These infections are particularly serious in poor countries because they are often complicated by malnutrition and other illnesses. The large numbers of cases, and the lack of simple and effective measures for their treatment are overloading health services. Treatment need not require expensive hospital care, or the costly and often inappropriate antibiotics now commonly used.

With help from Canada's International Development [illegible] from the University of the West Indies will try to get a fix on respiratory illnesses in Trinidad and Tobago and Barbados, and work out more practical ways of diagnosing, treating -- and preventing -- them. Research will characterize respiratory illness: the common types, their cause, severity, and so on, to provide the information needed to set up disease control programs and manage limited resources in the best possible way.

Identical twins 'made' to order
... cattle

Micro-manipulation of embryos in cattle breeding is being investigated at the Institute of Animal Physiology, Cambridge, England, one of the world's leading animal reproduction research stations.

The new technique, which follows the successful development of embryo transfers, involves dividing embryos to produce more than one identical animal from a single egg; alternatively, it can be used to combine cells from two eggs to produce one animal of mixed genotype.

Although there are at present few practical uses for mixed genotypes, the production of identical twins, triplets or quadruplets from a single egg could be valuable to researchers, breeders and commercial embryo transfer companies. Scientists would, for example, be able to compare more accurately feeding methods, milking techniques and types of housing. By subjecting animals of the same genotype to differing conditions, experimental results should be more reliable, and it is claimed that fewer animals would be required.

Scientists have already produced identical twin, triplet and quadruplet lambs and identical triplet Hereford cattle by dividing very young embryos at the two and four cell stages in [illegible] so far there has been little success in dividing eight cell embryos to produce identical octuplets. Embryo survival from the [illegible] of eight cell eggs is less than 10 per cent at the [illegible].

Province plans winter programs

Premier Peter Lougheed and Transportation Minister, Henry Kroeger have announced a major fall and winter program of activity for truckers and small heavy equipment operators that will involve a labour force of almost 4,000.

The proposed $65 million program will involve a special warrant for highway right-of-way clearing, grading, gravel crushing and stockpiling.

"Although Alberta is recovering from the economic downturn and oil and gas activity is starting to significantly surge ahead the lag, particulary in work for truckers and small heavy equipment operators previously involved in peak oil and gas activity, is such to warrant these special measures this fall and winter," said Premier Lougheed. "These measures form a further element of the Alberta Economic Resurgence Plan."

Mr. Kroeger said, "An additional $22 million has been added to transportation's current expanded contruction program to provide further employment this fall for Alberta's construction industry." Mr. Kroeger added, "Due to excellent weather and construction progress this summer the extra funds were made available to enable construction to continue until freeze-up."

"Allowance in the $22 million program had been made to provide a measure of employment for engineering consultant firms impacted by the general economic downturn," said Mr. Kroeger. Transportation projects involving preliminary engineering and design work have been selected under this program funding and will be announced shortly.

The Winter Works Program amounts to 45 million and will assist truckers and small heavy equipment owners in projects involving clearing, grading, gravel crushing and stockpiling. "The intent of the program will be to provide maximum emloyment for gravel trucks, crawler cat and dozer-type equipment," he said. The program is expected to provide work for 2,000 trucks, 600 crawler-type tractors, 25 gravel crushers and a labour force totalling almost 4,000.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS
KEEP OUT!
It's Your Government Not Theirs
Behind Closed Doors
The Conservatives think that Government business is none of your business. Under Tory rule, Government has become arrogant, callous and secretive. After eleven years of power, Government is now locked behind closed doors. Government has become Tory business and none of your business.
A Select Few
The result is a Government which benefits only a select few through patronage and selective government contracts. That hurts Albertans. While Albertans suffer the effects of a collapsing health care system, economic mismanagement, small business failure and rising unemployment, the Tories act as if nothing has changed. This must be stopped. With your help, it will. Tell the Tories, it's your Government, not theirs.

Last rites are held for Olive Foshaug

Olive Helen (Haugen) Foshaug was born on June 16, 1916 in Tofield.

She attended school at Ingram, Bardo and Camrose Lutheran College. In 1937, she was united in marriage to Ivan Foshaug of the Bardo district where she resided until her passing.

Olive was active in community life and through the years served her Lord in the Church. She loved music and poetry.

She passed away in the Tofield Hospital on September 23, at the age of 66 years. She is survived by her loving husband, Ivan; two sons, Richard and wife, Beatrice of Red Deer and Ronald and wife, Loretta of Kingman; four daughters, Maureen and husband, Ed Wesner of Ardrossan; Diane and husband Mervin Krogen of Sherwood Park, Caroline of Edmonton and Phyllis and husband, Michael Horner of Toronto; ten grandchildren, Lori, Susan and Mark Wesner, Chris and Michael Krogen, Dawn, Penni and Crystal Foshaug, Sean and Stephanie Horner; two brothers, Art and Olaf Haugen of Tofield; four sisters, Alice (Mrs. O. Stokkan) and Lily (Mrs. H. Schultz) of Tofield, Clara (Mrs. D. George) and Marie (Mrs. N. Runka) of Edmonton and numerous relatives and friends.

She was predeceased by her parents, one sister and one grandson.

We thank and praise God for her life among us.

The memorial service was held in Bardo Lutheran Church in Tofield on September 27 with Rev. O. Henry Haugen and Rev. Einar W. Olsen officiating.

Interment follwed in the Bardo Cemetery with Tofield Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Phillip Anderson, LeRoy Fimreth, Charles Rude, Bjarne Erickson, Harry Mosby and Leonard Stauffer.

A poem composed by Olive Foshaug, 1977

Thanks for this lovely autumn day
And the myriad of colors along the way.
It's hard for humans to understand
The magic, the power in God's almighty hand.
How often I fail to do your will
But you are patient and forgiving still.
Let me be constant in reading your Word
And telling others who have never heard
Of the profit of living in God's grace
And the reward when we meet Him face to face.

Card of Thanks

We express our deep appreciation to neighbors, friends and relatives for their prayers and support during the past year and also for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy in the loss of our dearly loved wife, mother and grandmother. A special thanks to the doctors and staff at the Tofield Hospital for their diligent care.

God bless you all.

Ivan and family

IN MEMORIAM

HOPF— Ralph Frank, in loving memory of our dear husband, father, and grandfather, who passed away suddenly on October 16, 1979

Three long and lonely years have passed,
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that day
No one can ever tell
And today brings close the memory
Of that sad and bitter blow,
That was cast upon our family
Three long years ago
It broke our hearts to lose you, Dad,
No one will ever know
It's lonely here without you
We miss you more each day,
For life is not the same for us,
Since you have gone away
We think of you in silence
And often speak your name,
But all that's left to answer
Is your picture in a frame
Parting was so sudden,
We often wonder why
If we had the world to give
We'd give it all and more
Just to see your precious face
Come smiling through the door
But we can't bring those back,
Your hand we cannot touch
But we still have the memories
Of the one we loved so much
—Lovingly remembered and so very sadly missed by your family 7p-4227

HOPF— In loving memory of Ralph who passed away Oct 16 1979
A heart of gold stopped beating
Hard working hands at rest
God broke our hearts to prove to us,
He only takes the best
—Always remembered by Earl & Ruby Hopf & family 7c-4229

Hippies

Someone obviously mistakes the punk look of the 80's for the good ole hippie look of the 60's. Junior high students of Ryley were required to wear appropriate attire to school last Friday as part of their initiation ceremony. —Lesley Primeau Photo

Shihinski is returned

by Lesley Primeau

Nick Shihinski has been elected Mayor of Holden for a second term following the Village's organizational meeting last week.

Following the official swearing in, Mayor Shihinski called for nominations for the post of deputy-mayor.

Dennis Daniak was subsequently sworn in as deputy mayor for the ensuing year.

It was decided that village council meetings would be held the second Wednesday of the month at 7:30 pm in the Village Office as has been the practice in past years.

Remuneration and metrage has been tabled until January of next year.

Councillor Anna Shavchook moved that all department and committee appointments remain as set last year.

Council concurred with this suggestion, therefore for the 1982-83 fiscal year Dennis Daniak will be responsible for Emergency Services and the Beaver Foundation including; police, fire, Beaver Ambulance Board, Village Garage, Emergency Planning, Beaver Foundation and the Holden Lodge.

Dennis Cooper, Utilities and Environment Officer will be responsible for water, sewer, sanitation and drainage. Peter Ogonoski, responsible for Public Works and Promotion will be involved with streets and lights, sidewalks, weeds and Rural Development Project #4.

As councillor responsible for Recreation and Facilities, Anson Shavchook will take care of matters pertaining to the Local Rec Board, Regional Arts Centre, Vialta Lodge Management and the Community Hall.

As Chief Officer of the Municipality, Mayor Shihinski is responsible for finance, civic ceremonies, supervision of employees, the Tofield Hospital Board and the Battle River Tourist Association.

Alternates will sit as they did last year with Ogonoski for the Battle River Tourist Association, Shavchook for Rural Development Project #4, Cooper for the Beaver Foundation, Vialta Lodge Management Board and the Local Recreation Board.

Hospital name needed

by Lesley Primeau

The planned multi-million dollar hospital facility slated to take shape in Tofield by 1985 is in need of a name.

Therefore, the Board of Directors of the Tofield General and Auxiliary Hospital and Nursing Home District #47 is holding a "Name the Hospital" contest to enable the community to have a say in the naming of the new facility.

Whichever name the Board ultimately decides on will result in the suggestor winning $25 for their effort.

If more than one suggestion for the name name is received then the Board plans to put all the names in a hat and choose one winner.

If however, the Board deems no name to be good enough to name the hospital they reserve the right to refuse any and all names.

Suggestions for "Name the Hospital" may be sent to hospital administrator, Don Roth at the Tofield General Hospital, Box 300, Tofield.

No date has been set aside for announcing the name of the complex which has been progressing along at good speed.

The hospital is quickly progressing into final detailed drawings and upon completion of that, The Mercury hopes to publish the final renderings to show residents the basic ground plan and layout of the hospital.

12 candidates seek office

... in 3 constituencies

Four candidates will be seeking the seat in the Clover Bar Constituency in the provincial election scheduled for Nov 2nd.

Incumbent Dr. Walt Buck will be seeking re-election and he is being opposed by three newcomers to the political scene.

Buck has been the sitting member for Clover Bar for the past fourteen years but, there will be difference in his campaign this time around.

"A previous election, Buck had been a Social Credit candidate. This time, he is running as an independent.

The Fort Saskatchewan [illegible] was an easy victor in the 1979 election when he collected 53.8% of all votes cast.

Stan Berg of Ardrossan will be the Progressive Conservative candidate while Sig Jorstad of Ardrossan will be the New Western Canada Concept banner carrier in the constituency and David Morris of Fort Saskatchewan will be the NDP representative.

Social Credit and the Liberals will not be represented in next month's election, in Clover Bar.

Agents for the four candidates have been named.

Berg's agent is Terry Van Oorle of Ardrossan; Buck is represented by N.W. Parry of Fort Saskatchewan; Jorstad's agent is Allan Schindeler of Ardrossan; and Morris is represented by Graham C.D. Griffiths of Sherwood Park.

Revisions to the list of electors are now being accepted by Returning Officer, Garnet Ottewell.

Mr. Ottewell's office is located at 58332 Rge Rd 234 in Ardrossan and the telephone number at that location is 922-3888.

The returning office is open daily from nine o'clock in the morning until four o'clock each afternoon.

An advance poll will be held in the Fort Saskatchewan United Church on Oct. 28, 29 and 30.

The poll will open each morning at nine o'clock and remain open each evening until eight o'clock.

There will be an opportunity for persons who will be away on polling day or during the advance poll, to cast their ballots.

Absentee voting may be arranged by contacting Mr. Ottewell at his office.

Vegreville

Five candidates, all from Vegreville, will seek the seat in the Vegreville Constituency.

Tory incumbent John Batiuk is being opposed by Barry Bernard (independent); R.E. Robert (Social Credit); Bob Sarafinchan (NDP) and Loren Yasinski (WCC).

Batiuk's opponents are all new to the political arena.

Although they contested the 1979 election, the Liberals are not fielding a candidate in next month's election.

William Nawrot is the returning officer with an office located at 5106-48 Avenue in Vegreville and telephone numbers are 632-6746, 632-4741 and 632-6747.

Revisions to the list of electors may be made this week only at his office.

Advance polls will be located in the Holden Community Hall, Masonic Hall in Vegreville and the Senior Citizens Centre in Two Hills.

Three candidates are contesting the seat in the Camrose Constituency.

Incumbent Tory Gordon Stromberg is being opposed by newcomers Gerry Oberg of Forestburg (NDP) and Keith Schmidt of Camrose (WCC).

Social Credit and Liberals did not field candidates.

The returning officer is Ralph DeWolf whose office is located in the Masonic Hall, 5021-48 Street in Camrose with the telephone number being 672-9134.

Revisions to the list of electors is taking place this week at Mr. DeWolf's office.

Vegreville

An advance poll will be held in the Camrose United Church.

Andrukow is new mayor

by Lesley Primeau

Larry Andrukow, a six-year veteran of civic affairs in the Village of Ryley, has succeeded Jack McKoen as Mayor following the organizational meeting Monday night in council chambers.

Witnessed by Commissioner of Oaths, Ronald Pepper, Larry Andrukow was sworn in as Mayor and by acclamation, former mayor, Jack McKoen was sworn in as Deputy Mayor for the year.

During his tenure as Mayor, Jack McKoen has fielded some rather unique situations, the most vocal surrounding the hazardous waste treatment facility.

Ryley is currently vying for the multi-million dollar waste treatment complex that the Alberta Government feels they will site shortly.

Factions for and against such a facility have been fairly vocal in the village over the past few months.

However, a village plebiscite indicated the village residents stood behind their mayor and council by a 78% vote.

Following swearing in [illegible] appointed to various committees and boards.

On committees will be Brown, Andrukow and Verbicky for finance; Verbicky will sit alone on fire, light and police; McKoen and Andrukow will be responsible for utilities and public works. Albrecht and McKown will serve for by-laws, land use development and Verbicky, Brown and Albrecht will be responsible for community services and recreation.

Board appointments include Linda Verbicky on the Ryley Land Recreation Board and the Battle River Tourist Association; Ernest Brown on the Ryley Municipal Library and Land Use and Development, Ed Albrecht on the Beaver Foundation; Larry Andrukow on the Tofield Municipal Hospital Board and Jack McKoen on Rural Development Project #4.

It was agreed that, unlike scheduled meetings in the past, this term, Council would hold only one meeting per month and that meeting would be on the second Monday at 7:30 pm in council chambers.

4-H club to start

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield 4H Beef Club will hold it's organizational meeting October 27 at the Arts and Crafts room of the Tofield arena at 8:00 pm. At this time new members are encouraged to attend and take part in this year's activities.

New executive members will be sought to replace outgoing members who include Daniel Brown as president, Joe Brown as vice-president, Dianne Henderson as treasurer and Cathy Brown who served as secretary last year.

Young man and young women aged 10 to 21 are invited to join the active club which sets its sights every year on teaching new members the intricacies of raising a calf.

The only stipulation to joining the Tofield 4H Beef Club, as membership is very nominal, is each member must have access to working space for a calf.

Throughout the year the member will be required to keep a 4-H book on the calf's growth and progress and this book is entered, along with the calf, at the annual show in June.

At that time the young member may reap some monetary reward when the calf is auctioned, usually for a price higher than the normal marketing value.

Throughout the year the members of the 4H Club engage in various recreational activities including hay rides, bowling and swimming.

For those interested in joining this popular youth group an open invitation is extended for October 27 at the Arts and Crafts room.

Not negative

For our money, Premier Lougheed made the undemocratic decision in refusing to meet Grant Notley and other leaders in an open debate on the provincial election, though he obviously made the right political decision.

Mr. Lougheed told Notley and Kesler that debate should not take place in front of the voters, but on the floor of the Legislature, but he knows full well that never happens. He knows the issue has already been decided in caucus. He is cynical in suggesting that debate takes place on the floor of the Legislature, that legislation is ever changed by this process, and as such, he is cynical in refusing the public a chance to hear and see the process of debate.

On a second theme, we cannot accept the Premier's rejection of the word opposition as being utterly negative. Especially when it applies to the Official Opposition, far from being negative, this is an entity enshrined by hundreds of years of the old British tradition. Moreover it is heavily charged with obligations and responsibilities to be a constructive force in the legislation and the lawmaking of the country.

Mr. Lougheed is an old-time football player, but he'd no more think of taking the field without another team to play against than a boxer would go through his entire training without a sparring partner. It's the contest the other side can put up that brings out the best, whether it's quarterback or boxer, scrimmage or boxing ring. And we think a scrub team, or a sparring partner, in opposition would bring out a finer sort of playing, with more attention to detail, than Albertans have seen in many years of very one-sided government, whatever the name of the party in power.

Heroin

Many of Canada's doctors have been mounting an increasingly intensified campaign for the legalization of heroin to relieve the suffering of patients in the advanced stages of cancer. Such use has been banned in this country since 1955.

It's not hard to comprehend the abhorrence many people feel to the legalization of heroin, with their recognition of the possible abuses which could develop.

Granted, no system is foolproof. Even now, it's not possible to stop the importation of heroin for street use, invariably with disastrous results. Most people are hooked after simply one useage of the drug . . . no one has been known to resist it after three experiences.

But surely we're talking about different concepts. Surely medical practitioners, under strict surveillance, can be counted on to restrict its prescription to cases of pressing need. And anyone familiar with the intensity of suffering which cancer can cause would agree with the pressing need.

This is the same government which for years has been studying the propriety of legalizing the sale and possession of marijuana. Does it seem rasonable in any sense of the word to legalize one mind-destroying drug which is taken only for the amusement of users, while denying another drug whose use would be only to preserve the sanity of its user?

There has got to be an easier way to go through life than what has been placed before me this month. Hectic doesn't even begin to broach the subject. Not only is the Merc involved in a move, but for some obscene reason I decided to move last weekend..ha ha ha you say..weep weep weep I did. Really moving is not all that complicated until you have to deal with bureaucratic idiocy like trying to get your phone hooked up...this is where you really need an extra dose of patience, which, unfortunately I don't possess.

I called Edmonton Tel and told them I would be moving down the hall, in the same building, mind you. They told me it would take half a week to hook up the phone so I told them I wanted one just like the one I was leaving..sound simple?? Well the young lady informed me that the computer was down and she had no way to verify whether there was a 'unit' at the new apartment or whether there were any jacks. Silly girl, I thought, I'll just tell you..."of course there is no phone and no, there are no jacks." "Well I can't verify that," she said.."Well I can," said I. "Well I can't" said she...sound stupid to you so far?? Anyway after impressing upon me the need to verify with the computer, she told me the phone would be hooked up Wednesday and I reminded her again I wanted one just like the old one.

Well, Monday morning, after my head had cleared I thought I would call and reconfirm Friday's action. Dumb move..the new girl informed me that all I was getting for my $30 was a hook up and indeed, no one was coming out to put in a phone. "You should have a phone in the new apartment," she said. "I don't," said I. "Too bad," said she, "that will cost you $75."

"What!! Like I mean, why should it cost me because previous tenants took the phone. "Well," said this nice person(??), "you should call 611 and report a damaged phone. After all they come out for free. So I did just that. "611," I said, "I have a broken phone." "What seems to be the matter with it," she said. I said, "It's non-existant."

"Oh," said she, "well, I don't now what we can do." At which point I yelled enough..I surrender, I give up..and raced up stairs to my good old home and disconnected the phone, ran downstairs and reconnected the phone (which incidently works like a charm) and now I hope the people who move into my upstairs apartment have as much fun...if E.T. had needed to go through Edmonton Tel, he'd still be here...

E.T. phone home...by way of a telegram!!!

Survey reveals gloomy outlook

By W. Roger Worth

Like virtually every sector of the economy, the nation's small business community is hurting badly.

Business failures are at near record levels, layoffs have become every day occurrences as small and medium-sized enterprises fight for survival and expansion plans that could have created new jobs have been shelved.

"The prospects for the small and medium-sized business economy and its employees are dismal," says Richard Wietfeldt, Director of Research for the 64,000-member Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

In an April survey of members, the Federation found a depressing 29 percent of responding firms expected to lay off employees in 1982, and only 5 percent expected to add workers.

More significantly, a massive 80 percent of those participating in the survey expected economic conditions to remain poor or get worse for the remainder of the year.

While high interest rates (most of the businesses are paying 19 to 20 percent or more for necessary funds) are a major cause of the doom and gloom psychology, other factors are involved.

Ottawa's November budget, for example, clobbered small business by effectively raising taxes for the sector. What's worse, through its action the federal government demonstrated it had little understanding of how the real world of entrepreneurship and risk taking operates.

In fact, the mandarins who produced the budget appear jealous of the small business people who quite reasonably expect to be rewarded for the enormous risks they take.

By dramatically cutting incentives for the sector, many believe, rightly or wrongly, that the bureaucrats are out to kill the small business goose that has been producing much more than half the nation's new jobs.

More galling, perhaps, is that the civil servants who produce such impractical policies seldom suffer layoffs or firing no matter what their blunders.

Nevertheless, in the face of the difficulties, Wietfeldt points out that the great majority of smaller firms are showing great perseverence, alert management and innovativeness as they attempt to survive. They could use a little support, even if it's only moral.

Fire bylaw revised

by Lesley Primeau

At the most recent meeting of the council for the Town of Tofield, councillors decided that it was time to re-vamp the existing fire by-law to being it current with existing times.

Council is expected to discuss various aspects of the current by-law over the next couple of meetings before determining the wording of a new by-law.

Council was also given a progress report of the Highway 834 project which includes the paving commencing from the C.W. Sears School south to 58th Avenue. The paving, which started over a week ago is expected to be completed before snow flies.

Council also concurred with the motion authorizing the spending of unallocated capital reserve funds for the Highway 834 project until debenture funds are received.

Council also engaged in a lengthy discussion regarding barricades at the east end of 56 and 57 avenues and the subsequent alleys. The accesses have been closed due to highway 834 construction.

It was noted that over the past few weeks vehicles have been driving over the un-cured curbs. Therefore it was Council's decision that posts with reflective paint or tape be placed strategically to prevent traffic from driving over the curbs.

Drivers in the town of Tofield are to be warned that a four-way stop will be placed at the intersection of 48 street and 55 avenue in front of the new Tofield Fire Department.

It was felt that this intersection warrants the installation of a four way stop and traffic projections indicate a heavy flow for this area in the future.

Market is set

by Yvonne Brown
& Lesley Primeau

October, the traditional harvest month, promises to be an extra special occasion at this week's Farmers Market.

Normally, the market runs twice monthly only during the summer, but because harvest has been good, produce will be at its best and stall holders feel they have a lot to offer their regular customers.

Available will be pounds of round pumpkins, ready to be made into jack-o-lanterns for Halloween. Pumpkin pie will also be plentiful for those who like the taste of home baking but can't seem to find the time.

The Tofield Garden Club will also be selling their lily bulbs recently obtained from Fred Fellner of Vermillion. The bulbs range to many colours and variation and sell for a good price. The bulbs are ready for fall planting and are going at a good pace.

Believing that it is never too early to pick up some Christmas gifts, many stall renters will have various gift ideas including dried flower arrangements, petite point, jewellery, crocheted and knitted goods and hand made products.

The Tofield Boy Scouts will also have a table set up at which their cook books can be purchased.

Naturally the market promises to provide more of the homemade sausage, farm cream, eggs, baked goods and a wide variety of novelities.

The market also provides excellent atmosphere for neighbours to get together for coffee, tea and cake. Door prizes are given out by the score.

Anyone wishing to book a table may call 662-2208

Bargain seekers

Kellet Motors in Tofield held a rather unique auction over the weekend of their used or rather . . . pre-owned vehicles. There were plenty of good deals to be had for those coming to take part in the auction. By late afternoon most of the vehicles had left the lot, destined for new homes.

Hastings Lake news

by L. Fenna

The Playschool is now divided into two groups, half the children attending on Tuesday mornings and half on Thursday mornings. Inger Paulsen having agreed to act as a second play leader.

Barb Inger and Joyce act on a volunteer basis, all the fees being devoted to the benefit of the children. Last Tuesday the groups visited the Fenna farm and became acquainted with the chickens, rabbits, cows and horses.

On Sunday the sudden arrival of winter caused the cancellation of the horseback riding meet.

Bingo on Monday, however, was very successful, and so far this season over $150 has been raised for hall expenses. Donations from the Ladies Club, the Loser's league and the Pleasure Horse Association have also come to the rescue.

The registration deadline for the course on the Art of Mixing Drinks is very close; hopeful hosts/hostesses should get their names and their money ($25) into the Strathcona County Recreation Office or Jan Addison (403-3184) by October 30th for those workshops. Dates are November 13 and 27, and materials are provided.

Registrations are invited for the workshops on Energy Conservation in the Home, the first of these being planned for November 8th, and the cost being a modest $7. Please Jan (403-3184) about this, and also about any ideas you may have for winter courses. One suggestion is for a Ladies' Self Defence series, but proposals must be submitted to the county by November 12th.

Next Bingo November 8.

The monthly Community Association meeting will be at the hall on Thursday evening, following the afternoon Ladies' Club meeting on "Music and the Law".

Trail ride held

Ketchemat Creek Family Horse Club had a few hardy members brave the bad weather on Sunday to attend their last trail ride for this year.

There were 18 riders starting out from Beaverhill Hall and ending up at the Hall where a few non-riders had prepared a hot meal for all.

The riders had ridden through a lot of bush and had not suffered too badly from the snow and wind except for chilled hands and feet.

Everyone enjoyed the outing and were glad they had taken the precaution of dressing warm for their last ride this year.

Norma Smith, vice-president, led the ride and Scott Parsons and Phil Lovell cooked the hamburgers.

Firemen have ball

by Lesley Primeau

The annual Tofield Firemen's Ball was in fact a ball.

An estimated 175 persons attended the elaborate feast set for dinner. The dinner was catered by the Legion Ladies Auxiliary and as per usual second helpings were common.

Well over two hundred tripped the light fantastic late into the night. Music for the evening's dance was provided by the group 'Tourist' and by all reports the band was most enjoyed.

Master of ceremonies for the evening's gala event was Laurie Weatherill who at one point introduced Fire Chief, Wayne Lysons who in turn presented two ten year awards to Ken Brown and Laurie Weatherill.

As an added treat the wives or mothers, as the case might be, of Tofield Firemen, were presented with corsages as a small token of the department's gratitude for their support and help over the year. Many is the time when the 'other half' is required to answer the fire phone or help with added chores.

As in the past door prizes and spot prizes were given out throughout the evening. Visiting fire department members came as far away as South Cooking Lake, Ryley and Edmonton.

According to a federal Consumer and Corporate Affairs spokesman, standards for baby strollers will become more stringent this fall. In anticipation of the new regulations, some manufacturers and retailers may try to dispose of old stock. Consumers are advised to be wary of cheaper imported models that fold into an umbrella shape, as they have a tendency to tip or fold while in use. Under the new regulations, strollers will have to pass tests for stability. Shoppers buying folding strollers are advised to check for a locking mechanism to keep the stroller open, a lap belt to prevent the child from standing and a seat with good support.

Dance school opens for its 5th season

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Dancing School, entering its fifth season, is aspiring to have an even better season than their last which culminated in the very successful spring concert. As well a number of students participated, successfully, in the Alberta Dance Festival.

To date, 63 students from the age three and up have registered for classes to be held each Monday evening at the Tofield Community hall. Registrations are still being accepted and interested students are asked to call Elaine at 662-2336 for more information.

Eleven classes are offered at the pre-school, beginners, juniors and senior level in tap, ballet, and jazz. The sizes of each class vary with the number enrolled, though executive members feel they can offer good individual attention to all students.

At the first general meeting of the year the executive was formed consisting of Elaine Warkentin as president, Gail McAdam and Divanna McKeen as vice-presidents, Marion Regehr as secretary, Yvonne Brown as treasurer, past-president, Liz Hubbard and board members, Barb Webb and Joan Smith.

Again this year, for the fourth year the Tofield Dancing School will be affiliated with the Sherwood Park School of Dancing which is owned and operated by Eileen Dodds. Returning for a second year of teaching will be Alison Soustar and new this year will be Debbie Steele.

The Tofield Dancing School is also responsible for a number of community projects over their year and this year plans are already being made for the Fall Fashion Show which will be held November 17. Trish Hardy is busy making plans for the annual fashion show and tea sponsored and coordinated by the Hearthstone and Aspen Textiles.

An organizational meeting will be held Oct. 21 in preparation of the 1983 Krazy Kwarter Karnival to be held March 19. The Karnival will make its third appearance and organizers hope to have a great deal of help making it an even bigger success than last year.

May 15 has been set aside for the annual Spring Concert. Last year the School used Disneyland as a theme and the concert was a sold out success. No theme has been designated for this year's event although many thoughts are being mulled.

Some dancers will be competing in the Novice Dance Festival at Victoria Composite High School in Edmonton during April. Extra classes for those dancers wishing to compete will be provided at the Sherwood Park School.

Swimming Program

This program is geared towards students 7 to 15 years of age.

Any additional suggestions or comments on this program would be greatly appreciated.

Arena

Take note that the following courses are scheduled for Tofield Arena in November:

November 14—Planned power skating coaching clinic.

November 20 & 21—A.A.H.A. Referees' clinic (tentative).

Local contacts for these clinics are Carol Doupol, 662-3510, or Larry Gillrie, 662-3799.

Curl Canada

Tofield Curling Club will be hosting a Curl Canada clinic on November 13 and 14. A novice and an intermediate clinic is offered. Both groups receive basic instruction with the advanced group receiving extra instruction in strategy and improving techniques. For the Tofield Clinic registrations are being taken at the Recreation Office (662-3399) or by contacting Don Swift.

Mixed Volleyball

Remember Friday, October 29th is the last night for individuals or teams to get involved in a Tofield Mixed Volleyball League by contacting the Recreation Office.

Learn to Rollerskate Program

Children ages 7 to 15 years will be bused from Tofield Arena to Sherwood Park for beginners' instruction, roller coaching and supervised rollerskating. This program runs for five consecutive Saturday mornings, starting November 6. The bus will leave from the Recreation Centre at 9:15 am and return at 12:30 pm. Children will have 1½ hours of skating time.

A maximum of 40 children will be accepted each time based on first-come, first-serve basis.

Toros win exhibition

Tofield Toros got on the winning track Friday night.

Toros hosted Sherwood in an exhibition game in Tofield and blasted the visitors by a 10-4 count.

Lodnack paced the winners with a hat-trick, Hendrickson and Olson each had a pair and singles were netted by Knox, Garner and Herricks.

Friday's win followed an earlier deadlock with Kingman.

Toros will play their third exhibition game of the season on Friday night when they will host Holden.

Toros are entered in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League and the regular schedule will open on Oct. 29th.

Custom Work

With the poor harvest weather we have been getting this fall, many people are considering the possibility of hiring someone to help with the completion of harvest. As such, we have received many requests for the names and phone numbers of people willing to do custom combining, drying and baling. If there are any such people out there, we would appreciate a call from them. This will enable us to pass on a few names to these people interested in having custom work done.

Likewise, if anyone has hay, straw or greenfeed for sale, we keep a list in the office for people wanting to buy feed.

Therefore, if you are interested in buying or selling feed, doing some custom work or having it done for you, give us a call at 663-3555. We may be able to help.

Alberta Dairy Seminar

If you are looking forward to doing something different for Easter holidays next year, this event may strike your fancy. The University of Alberta, Alberta Agriculture, the Alberta Milk Producers Association and the Alberta Dairymen's Association are all co-operating in setting up the Alberta Dairy Seminar on April 5-8, 1983 at Banff, Alberta. "Managing the Cow for Maximum Profit" is the theme of the seminar and is the first of its kind in Alberta. Recognized speakers from England, United States and Canada will be discussing many topics that affect the performance of today's dairy operation. Reproductive efficiency, feeding for production and reproduction, labor relations and financial management are among these topics. There will also be ample opportunity for informal discussions with speakers who will be in attendence throughout the seminar.

It sounds like a great way to take a holiday and update yourself at the same time. Also, being during Easter holidays, you may wish to take the entire family!

If you would like to know more about this seminar give us a call at 663-3555.

The Tofield LIONS' CLUB

would like to express thanks to the community of Tofield and the Tofield Legion for making the pancake brunch so successful for the fire victims.

Len and Agnes Brady of Ryley are the parents of a son, Christopher Leonard, born on Saturday in the Tofield Hospital. Proud grandparents are George and Audrey Knudslien of Ryley and Dorothy and Les Brady of Half Moon Lake and great grand-parents, Haakon and Vera Larsen of Wainwright.

Rodney Knudslien phoned home Sunday from Sweden where he is visiting friends. He is going on to Holland.

There was a nice turn out for the Ryley Auxiliary Ladies rummage sale held on Saturday in Ryley Legion Hall.

Around the town

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wiggins of Calgary and Mrs. Rhodena Nesbitt of Seattle have been enjoying the friendly hospitality of John and Eve Moore over the past weekend. Cousins of John, they have been refreshing company.

Wonderful pictures of the bakery fire are available from John Prast at 662-3717. Although it is not a happy memory for some, these pictures are truly remarkable and should be seen. It really is a miracle that we can still shop at Bert's.

If you have any tidbits for around the town, don't hesitate to pop into our new house and share your news.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

The librarian will be away for three days at a workshop in Edmonton this week, but the Library hours will remain as usual. Members of the Library Board will be covering the desk, so please give them your support in my absence. This does not mean there are no new books this week!

In fiction, we have Stephen King's new novel, Cujo, no doubt as gripping and horrific as his eairier works. Also, Open Secret by James Leasor, successful author of over thirty books, three of which have been made into films. This is reviewed as "a compelling story of ambition and corruption". The novel Wings of the Morning chronicles the lives of the members of two families who are both involved in the world of flying, from 1903 to 1981, from the days of the Wright Brothers to the days of the Concorde.

This week's non-fiction selections include Peter Newman's The Canadian Establishment, Volume Two: The Acquisitors. Continuing his classic study of Canada's power-wielders, this book is a group profile of the new millionaires, who they are, what they do, and how they get away with it; all the details of their high-flying life styles. Also biographical in nature, but very different in content, is One Man's Medicine, by Dr. Morris Gibson, formerly a doctor in the Okotoks, Alberta, area. He writes about the beginnings of his medical career, in Glasgow and Yorkshire, with a foreword by James Herriot: "a warm, funny, touching book". Finally Saskatoon, A Century in Pictures, is a welcome addition to the Western Canadian history section.

Please note that the last day of children's films is Saturday, October 30.

Ministik

by Catherine Roddick

Several from Ministik spent brief vacations recently.

Carol and Woody Dekinder, Crystal and Darren were Thanksgiving visitors in Calgary with the Doug Dekinder family.

Eva, Joe and Doris Davenport were visitors to Vernon, B.C. and points along the way.

Edna and Glenn Ferguson and Dolly Roddick were visitors to Victoria, B.C. where they visited relatives and friends, also to Wenatchie, Washington, where they visited their friend, Georgia Steinbach. They were gone ten days.

The Ladies Club met at the hall on Wednesday afternoon for their October meeting. Final plans were made for the annual fall bazaar to be held on November 5th. They also decided on a date for the Christmas concert. Any one interested in taking part in the program are asked to get in touch with Rita Loch. The date is Dec 17th.

The ladies own Christmas party will be on the Dec. 8th meeting date.

After the meeting, a lunch was served by hostesses, Gladys Swabey and Lil Leach.

The October Community League meeting was held at the hall on Wednesday evening. Grant Wilson announced that he would be convening a dance at the hall on November 27th.

Carol Dekinder has the plans well underway for the Hallowe'en Dance on October 23rd. There are only a few tickets left.

The blood donor clinic mentioned in earlier news will not take place in this area. Donors are asked to donate at a Tofield clinic when they next have one.

The hall looks lovely after it's interior coat of paint. Weather stripping has been put around the doors and is a big improvement and will certainly conserve heat.

The Mercury

VOL. 65—No. 9 THURSDAY, OCT. 28th, 1982 PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT TOFIELD, ALBERTA SINGLE COPY 25c

Voting goes Tuesday

A majority of Alberta voters will be going to the polls on Tuesday. Many who would be unable to vote on Tuesday will take advantage of advance polls which will be open on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The hours of operation for the advance polls and voting on Tuesday will be the same, with polls opening at nine o'clock each morning and they will remain open until eight o'clock each evening.

Results are expected to start coming in shortly after the polls closely on Tuesday and in most instances, unofficial results should be known about two hours later.

Official results in each constituency will be announced by returning officers at two o'clock on Nov. 8th.

Four candidates are seeking the seat for the Clover Bar Constituency.

Carrying the Tory banner will be Ben Berg of Ardrossan; Dr. Walt Buck of Fort Saskatchewan is running as an Independent; Big Journal of Advocacy is the WCC representative; and David Morris of Fort Saskatchewan is the NDP candidate.

Buck is the incumbent member, having held the seat for the past fourteen years although, in previous campaigns, he had been a Social Credit member.

The other three candidates are making their political debuts.

The advance poll for this constituency will be held in the Fort Saskatchewan United Church.

Vegreville

This constituency has five candidates in the running, all of whom call Vegreville home.

John Reidel is the P.C. candidate; Barry Barnard is an independent; R.E. Reiber represents Social Credit; Bob Sarafinchan carries the NDP banner; and Leron Yaskiski is the WOC candidate.

Reidel is the incumbent member with the other candidates making their initial venture into provincial politics.

Advance polls for this constituency will be held in Holden Community Hall, Masonic Hall in Vegreville and the Senior Citizens Centre in Two Hills.

Camrose

Three candidates will vie for the seat in this constituency.

Gerry Cleary of Forestburg is the NDP candidate; Keith Schmidt of Camrose has the WCC banner; and Gordon Stromberg of New Norway is the Tory representative.

Stromberg is the incumbent with the other two candidates entering the political area for the first time.

The advance poll for this constituency will be located in the Camrose United Church.

Auctioneer

Harold Schultz did his level best to bring in good prices at the Lodge's annual quilt auction. The number of quilts, large and small went for various prices, though each was a good deal. Handmade quilts are not easy to come by at such good sayings.

Sale goes on Friday

by Lesley Primeau

For over seven years the Tofield Mennonite Central Committee has sponsored a self-help craft sale to help people of the Third World find a market for their goods.

The craft sale, to be held this Friday at the Tofield Community Hall and Nov. 9 at the Ryley Good News Church sells only those crafts made by producers in the third world.

Albertans have approximately ten outlets from where they receive crafts including Bangladesh, Haiti, India, Kenya, Philippines, Taiwan, Thailand and the West Bank of Israel. From these areas came numerous items in brass, fabric and wood.

Mary Schmidt has been the Tofield coordinator for years and is responsible for the self-help sales in Tofield, Ryley, Viking, Holden, Leduc, Sherwood Park, Camrose, Vegreville and Lamont. The Mennonite Central Committee merely acts as a liason for the producers and receives no monetary reward from the project.

The programme is varied and diverse. In Bangladesh a jute works programme was particularly useful not only for people and now boasts 25,000 craftsmen. These crafts people have divided themselves into socalled corps of 20 workers. From this area comes plant hangers, bags, baskets, table mats and assorted gift ideas.

The Bangladesh straw program was originally started to give employment to girls from the ages 14 to 21. This opportunity for employment provided many young girls with an alternative to an early marriage.

Haiti, one of the poorest countries in the Western Hemisphere instigated a crafts program in 1980 as an employment opportunity and now crafts people from that region send fine items carved in mahogany and oak. Most of the work is done with the help of small primitively crude tools.

The self-help programme provides some much needed monetary aid to many families in the various countries. The items are sold in our community at very reasonable prices that assure the producer a fair price but not an exhorbitant cost.

The programme also guarantees the producer a fair wage for the work they contribute to the international markets. Also available to the workers are educational materials they would possibly not have access to. One of the finer points of the programme is found when one realizes that many crafts people are practicing some very old and traditional craft development and thus the programme promotes ancient work and traditions.

Although the crafts sale is only held annually, goods may be obtained from Mary Schmidt in Tofield during the remainder of the year. The MCC has their storage headquarters in Calgary allowing for year round access to many individual crafts.

Lammerts honoured

by Lesley Primeau

On the 1st of the present that something was amiss at the detachment quarters Sunday evening, subordinate members of the local detachment of the RCMP managed to lure Sgt. Ed Lammerts down to the office, where all [illegible] and Inspector A.D.F. Buechill, Officer Commanding Vegreville Subdivision, lay in wait.

The ruse was necessary to avert Sgt. Lammerts' early detection of a party being held in his honour or his possible avoidance of the ceremony to celebrate his 20-year tenure with the RCMP. The modest Sgt. was presented with a certificate and medal, by Inspector Burchill, to commemorate the event.

Originally from Vancouver, Sgt. Lammerts joined the force in August of 1962 and from there has gained the reputation as a Mountie who gets the job done. His first posting took him to Fort Chipewyan and before commuting the posting in Tofield, Sgt. Lammerts and his family were stationed in eleven communities within the province.

In October of 1973 he received his promotion to corporal and in August of 1976 he was transferred to the Tofield detachment where he was subsequently promoted to sergeant in April of 1981.

Although a good deal of his day is spent tending to Administrative duties, Sgt. Lammerts takes an active interest in most files that cross his desk. The detachment is expected to handle 2000 files this year, an estimated 15% increase over last year.

The work load has warranted the arrival of a new recruit and a possible second recruit may be transferred to the Tofield Detachment next spring. The average workload of a constable in the province is considered to be approximately 160 files; however the workload in the Tofield Detachment [illegible] per man.

Tofield is in the unique situation of being not only a training detachment but a detachment whose proximity to the city greatly affects the workload. These are matters that must be handled by Sgt. Lammerts on a daily basis.

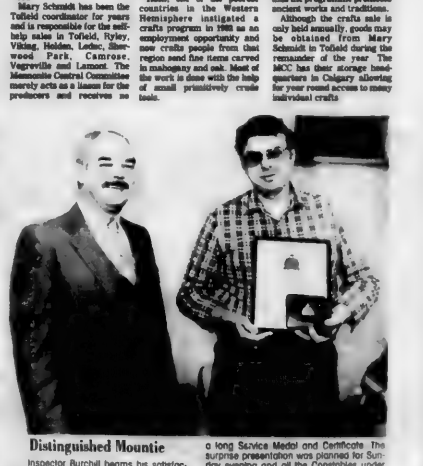
Still he sets aside time each month to review his most puzzling case, that of the so called Segoe Sam, a man who was apparently killed and his body was stuffed in a septic tank in the Tofield area. The bizarre circumstances of the death suggest many possible motives and although the case is getting older it remains open.

When asked if the job is sometimes thankless, Sgt. Lammerts responds quickly and directly, "if it becomes thankless, you're doing something wrong". He hasn't made any long term decisions yet as to how long he will remain with the force but does suggest that when he does retire he will miss the challenge and variety of the career he has chosen.

While accepting his medal for long service, Sgt. Lammerts was quick to point out that his successes can only be attributed to diligent work on behalf of the men he commands. On hand to watch her husband receive his long service award was Marg Lammerts, who along with her husband has seen great changes in the national police force.

There have been many improvements and some setbacks during the past 20 years. The pay is better, the working conditions improved, but perhaps as a reflection on the world today, with its measure of apathy and contempt, the RCMP are perhaps not as highly regarded as they once were. Still, according to Sgt. Lammerts, the rewards are tremendous and on the whole the force does a reputable job.

Sgt. Lammerts, an active Lions member and supporter of Minor League Hockey, resides comfortably in Tofield with his wife Marg and their three sons, Darren, Jason and Travis.



Distinguished Mountie

Inspector Burchill beams his satisfaction as Sgt Ed Lammerts of the Tofield Detachment of the RCMP is presented with a long Service Medal and Certificate. The surprise presentation was planned for Sunday evening and all the Constables under Sgt Lammerts were present for the ceremony.

How Does Your Diet Rate?

The 1982 version of Canada's Food Guide has been released and provides us with recommendations that could have broad implications for improving the health of Canadians. The recommendations include:

—a reduction in calories from fat to 35% of total calories. Include a source of polyunsaturated fatty acid in the diet.

—the consumption of a diet which emphasizes whole grain products, fruits and vegetables and minimizes alcohol, salt and refined sugars.

To rate your diet against Canada's Food Guide, first write down everything you ate yesterday, being as specific as possible. Then categorize each food into one of the four food groups - milk and milk products, fruits and vegetables, meat and alternates or bread and cereals. Examples of one serving are: milk-1 cup; 3 oz. meat or 4 Tbsp. of peanut butter; 1 slice of bread; ½ cup of cooked vegetables. Next, add up the number of servings from each food group. Canada's Food Guide recommends (for adults), 2 servings from the milk group, 3-5 servings of breads and cereals, 2 servings of meat and 4-5 servings of fruits and vegetables.

Foods such as coffee, alcohol, butter and candy do not fit into the food groups and are considered extras. These foods should be kept to a minimum.

Pick a day and try fitting you diet against this formula. If you want more information about diet analysis or Canada's Food Guide, give me a call.

P.S. Don't forget about the Sewing for Kids and Christmas Ideas workshops to be held in the various communities.

Candidates attend forum

by Lesley Primeau

Candidates representing the Clover Bar Constituency gathered in the Fort Saskatchewan Elementary School last Friday evening to present their platform to the voting public. Well over two hundred potential votes packed the gymnasium for the extremely well run forum chaired by [illegible].

Each candidate was allowed ten minutes to present his party's policies and following that, a three minute rebuttal. Questions from the floor were fielded after that and answered by each candidate.

Representing the Progressive Conservatives was Stan Berg; the NDP, David Morris; and the WCC, Sig Jorstad and the incumbent, Dr. Walter Buck, is running as an independant in this election.

Sig Jorstad outlined that the major issues involved the intrusion of central government over the past few years into every facet of our lives. He contends the Torie government is taking the right to self sufficiency. The basic lack of an opposition allows the government to walk over the common people. The Tories sold the province short with the oil bargaining and they will do it again with the agricultural industry.

Jorstad reiterated that the WCC is the only party to have the guts to demand that the government become accountable. The Heritage Trust Fund was to be used as for rainy days, but Jorstad questions why it only started to rain the day before the election was called.

WCC believes in a return to the free enterprise system and insists that government must revamp its policy making skills. Clover Bar needs a new face and Sig Jorstad told the gathering he wants that face 'to be mine'.

Stan Berg running on the Tory platform stressed his desire to develop an effective communication network in the constituency and the need to have confidence in the Tory government because they provide the only rational alternative and practical solution to the problems faced by the province today.

Berg outlined what he believes to be the major concerns of the Clover Bar constituents and the solutions the Tories will initiate. Working within the system is the only way to guarantee results. Berg concluded stating he felt confident that he could make a worthwhile contribution to the province's future.

Walter Buck, running as an independant, commenced his ten minute platform by paying tribute to Floyd Baker, former MLA, from whom Buck feels he has learned a great deal. Baker taught him that if you do the job you will be re-elected, if you don't do the job the polls will let you know.

Buck insists that it is far too easy to blame the Ottawa government for everything. He maintains that the Tories must be held accountable for the blunders of the past and must take their punishment and find solutions. He feels the Government only re-discovers the people every four years when it needs or wants to be re-elected.

Why he questions is the government not addressing the problems of the people, why do they seem to take care of their own before they take care of the people who elect them. Buck is emphatic that the government has trodden upon the trust of the people and disregards their basic rights.

Dr. Buck feels that although the Tories can out spend him, they can't out work him and he promises, if re-elected, to continue in his unerring determination to bring responsibility back into the house.

David Morris, riding on the NDP ticket questions again the integrity of the Lougheed Government and their ability to squander money and ignore the problems of the people.

Too many people are out of work and the number increased daily. Speculation that we must elect a Tory goverment because others will squander the Heritage Trust Fund meets with a scoff from Morris who says that statement is an insult to his inteligence.

Morris proceeded to outline NDP policy regarding the spending of money as prescribed by the wishes of the people. The economy of the country can only be turned around if people have jobs. NDP promises lean, clean and no frills government with serious restrictions on patronage appointments.

The basic NDP platform is based on the needs of the common worker. Morris emphasized the need for better education in the province and contends it should remain a right not a privilege. Morris states, that if elected he will endeavour to meet with the people in his constituency to bring their problems to the house and solve them together.

Candidates rebuttal time was used to reiterate the platforms each man represents. Questions from the floor centered around the Heritage Trust Fund. Asked whether it should be dispersed the candidates stood on their previous ground and detailed their proposed spending.

Candidates addressed questions on the Social Service department, Sunday openings, taxation, education, cruise missiles and government morality. The forum lasted until just shortly after ten. The candidates showed their sense of humour when Dr. Buck said, 'Lougheed's giving away 2 billion dollars; the NDP are giving away ten..I am only giving one Buck' to which Jorstad of the WCC responded, 'we all know what a buck is worth'..Laughing the hardest was Walter Buck himself.

Voters go to the polls November 2 to chose a party to lead the province over the next four years.

Awards were given out to senior high students in Tofield who excelled at a particular sport. Although many seniors are no longer at the school last year's football star, David Cargill, turned up to receive his award.

Well, it's certainly not gold. The highway 14 construction makes it look like the road to Tofield is paved with road machines. The planned project has been moving along steadily, although never a day goes by when the road remains the same. The highway is set for widening and the job will be completed next year.

Clover Bar Candidate profiles

by Lesley Primeau

Four candidates are running in the Clover Bar Constituency in Tuesday's provincial election.

Following are profiles on three candidates, Stan Berg, Walter Buck and Sig Jorstad.

Despite repeated attempts to arrange an interview with NDP candidate, Dave Morris, the Mercury was unsuccessful in arranging a meeting because of Mr. Morris' heavy schedule.

Stan Berg

Twenty-two years of agricultural organization has given Stan Berg, Conservative hopeful in the Clover Bar constituency, a taste and a feel for the political arena. Mr. Berg believes the Conservative party is the only answer to any economic woes the province might be facing.

Berg feels the Lougheed Team can take Alberta out of the depths of despair and make her a prime contender in the progression of tomorrow. With the confidence of the Lougheed Team backed by their experience, Berg feels the Tories are the only solution.

Believing the Clover Bar constituency needs direct representation, Berg is adamant that although opposition can react it cannot build, therefore for better results you must be a member of the ruling power.

One of the key issues of this election has been the dispersal of the Heritage Trust Fund and while others contend it was merely being used currently as a re-election fund for the Lougheed government, Berg contends that he is happy with the way the Tories are using the fund for rainy days, but insists it can not be squandered away recklessly.

Berg believes that the Tories were duty bound to wait until the economic situation was at curical stages before doling out the Trust Fund Money. Policy, as laid out by the government must be followed and ideas that all Albertans should benefit from the fund can be dismissed because indirectly many residents who have already paid their homes off have already benefitted.

The basic thrust of Berg's campaign is communication. He feels that with effective and direct communication between the politicians and the resident constituents. He believes that a leader can not be expected to know what is going on everywhere and must rely on those MLA's who stay in touch with home base.

This communication network will make the constituency stronger and more progressive. Mr. Berg feels there are many problem areas in Clover Bar and vows to fight for continued development of the petro-chemical industry, utilization of agricultural resources, environmental control, waste management, transportation, urban development, communications and social services.

The Conservative hopeful feels the area is a vast area of potential and if elected he feels certain he can improve efficiency and effectiveness of government, technology in food production, development of better land use policies, pollution controls, phone communications and commuter roads.

None of these challenges will easily be surmounted but with the background of the Tories and the determination of Berg, himself, he feels confident he will make a dent in the problem.

Although he points out that he doesn't have an answer to all questions yet, Berg feels confident that with the proper communiation he can get the answers. Commuter roads he feels are necessary to ensure future development and he feels it can only be done working from within the party.

Berg believes that everything works within a progress and if a member of the opposition is representing a specific area he cannot possible be as effective as a man working within the process.

The Conservatives have led a hard and arduous campaign and Berg feels confident he can be part of the move to make Alberta a strong and progressive province. The Lougheed Team is, according to Berg, the only party with the determination and power to make the necessary changes within the province and Berg feels it is high time a Tory represented Clover Bar.

Walter Buck

'Vote for the man' proclaims hundreds of posters in the Clover Bar constituency as Dr. Walter Buck seeks re-election not as a Socred, but as an Independent. As Dr. Buck puts it, 'an independent man for an independent voice' concerned for 'my constituency and having someone to sit on the other side of the government and tell the other side of the story and scrutinize what they are doing'.

Dr. Walter Buck feels that insinuations implying that you must belong to a party, especially the governing party, to get results in your constituency with regards to various programmes and projects is out and out lunacy and to substantiate his claim he had merely to refer to his past record as a MLA.

With regards to past endeavours, campaign literature points out that during his tenure as an MLA, Dr. Buck has been instrumental in realizing a number of senior citizen lodges and self contained units, the construction of Treasury Branches, paving of miles of highway, construction of recreational facilities in various communities as well as a number of other projects. The MLA for Clover Bar feels his record speaks for itself and as an active member of the House he can and does get things done.

Dr. Buck expressed fear that the governing Tories will take 75 out of 79 seats and basically because there is not a good free enterprise alternative in this election. Citing problems of a one-sided government, Dr. Buck outlines how a party as powerful as the Tories has simply taken a road hoed by the defeated Socreds of yesteryear; the Conservatives of Alberta have, as the Socreds did, forgotten the 'little people' they so eagerly wooed in their first election to power.

Dr Buck feels the recent spending of the Heritage Trust Fund is merely for buying votes and suggests strongly that the Tories could easily have implemented these recent programmes last January when residents of Alberta were really suffering. By announcing these 'election ploys' Lougheed has merely re-affirmed that the Trust Fund is in essence a re-elect Lougheed fund.

The Heritage Trust Fund should be allocated to allow every Albertan to benefit from it and not just the chosen few. The Fund should be fair and equitable and everyone should be given their fair share.

Provinding loans for Churches and charitable projects from the Trust Fund is a goal Dr. Buck will seek if re-elected. The fund could be used by Albertans for various worthwhile projects including the Northern Alberta Children's Fund. It becomes simply a matter of placing Albertans high on the list of priorities.

The Tories involvement in private sector, such as Suncor projects means the government can not properly regard itself as a watchdog of environmental issues. Dr. Buck feels the Government can not expect to be 'umpire and player' at the samt time. People in the province must be reassured that the government is acting on their behalf and the tories have begun to neglect their fundamental duties.

The Government has got to take care of their own departments and the people of the province are duty bound to question the handling of their affairs. Dr. Buck outlines how the members of the opposition must shadow various cabinet ministers to be fully accountable to their constituents. A job, he feels, is monumental for such a small opposition. However he is quick to point out that the filibuster over the Heritage Trust Fund illustrated just how loud the voice of the opposition is.

"I will not take no for an answer to a reasonable request" is one way Dr. Buck explains why he has been able to achieve a number of goals within his riding. He dismisses allegations that you must be in the ruling party to attain.

"People power will win out over money power" stated Dr. Buck, who feels that tackling the Big Blue Machine is worth the struggle. According to the MLA, they have the money, but he has the people.

Dr. Buck feels the Government is too dependent on the oil and gas industry and it is high time they realized the growing problems of the farmer and small businessman. The government must be more responsive to the needs and wishes of the people.

The governing Tories lack long range goals or planning and consequently have not continued programmes originally outlined and initiated by the past Socreds. Dr. Buck is emphatic that the voice he carries to the legislature is the voice of the people and that voice can be instrumental in putting this province back on the right track.

Dr. Buck feels the people of the province are fed up with having little voice in the house and hastens to assure voters his voice is their voice and he acts on conscience, not governed by party politics.

His vow to the people, 'win or lose, I never want my constituents to say I didn't try to communicate with them so he constantly visits with his constituents; he never campaigns.

Sig Jorstad

"Creeping socialism and ineffective opposition must be replaced" contends the Western Canada Concept whose candidate Sig Jorstad is seeking election in the Clover Bar constituency, traditionally a stronghold for Dr. Walt Buck.

Jorstad contends that only the WCC can effectively provide a strong voice to guarantee Albertans a fair and equitable deal when engaging in bargaining with Ottawa. Jorstad maintains that the provinces ability to become self sufficient is being threatened by the east and our present reigning Tories make a lot of noise but don't take the necessary stand when it comes to the crunch.

Suggestions that the WCC is radical is met with an emphatic yes; yes in the sense that it allows others to be jarred from complacency. Jorstad rejects insinuations that the party's radical view means there is no thought. With regards to the outspokeness of party leader Gordon Kesler, Jorstad simply says Kesler overcame a great deal of adversity and his growing system has been extensive.

The party maintains that they don't advocate separatism as an end in itself but as a final resort. As in any policy making of great impact, they promise, if they held the balance of power, Albertans would have a chance to vote on the separation issue. It would not be decided behind closed doors as is much in government now.

Other issues they stand behind but would give credence to only if agreed to by the public are; the rejection of public funds used for abortion on demand, use of the English language as the official language, return to capital punishment, reinstatement of imperial measurements and institute new legislature to properly protect the Alberta people.

The WCC policy paper, a five page document, details how the party would effectively handle matters of home ownership, taxation, economic growth and development, energy resources, agriculture, health and welfare, education, the judicial system, government services and communications.

Jorstad, a resident of the Twin Island Air Park and director of many companies, feels that his involvement in the business sector and his experience on various cultural boards, committees and the community at large, enable him to directly relate and empathize with the problems of the average citizen. He feels big government has lost touch and therefore can not relate to the sufferings of the basic Albertan.

The government needs to allow more room for free votes and Jorstad contends the province must renegotiate the economic position within confederation. He insists the province must return to a productive system and the WCC party is the only voice strong enough to carry these sentiments.

One of the greatest problems affecting the Tories surrounds their continued involvement in private business. To eradicate that problem Jorstad feels crown corporations should be abolished, eliminate some departments and revert them back to the private sector where they can be contracted out, advocate competitive bidding on various jobs and programmes that would effectively reduce government intervention and open job markets for the private sector.

Jorstad also feels that politics needs more morality and politicians need a stronger code of ethics. Politicians should never benefit from their position and politicians have a tendency to lose touch when their jobs are too secure. The WCC maintains that politicians should only be allowed to hold office for ten years.

Feeling that people should have the right to have a say in their destiny and be able to contribute to the growth and strength of the country, Jorstad feels they should also have the right to recall their elected official if they feel an adequate job is not being performed.

Jorstad also believes that Western Canada should be allowed and encouraged to create their own markets for the selling of goods. He believes that most things rely on the ability to bargain and that if the province bargained properly we would not be in the quandry now faced.

Many issues face the elector in this election and Jorstad maintains that the WCC, despite their growing pains, are the only party with enough voice to make a noise in deciding the fate of the province of Alberta.

David Morris

David Morris is the NDP candidate and as mentioned earlier, was not available for an interview.

Toros' opener set

The regular hockey season for the Tofield Toros will get underway on Friday night.

Toros will host New Norway in the Tofield Arena for the opening game in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Two other league games are scheduled for Friday and an additional two games will be played on Sunday.

The Tofield team warmed up for their league opener by playing three exhibition games.

Their first outing resulted in a tie with Kingman, followed by a victory over a team from Sherwood Park.

On Friday night, Toros hosted Holden and racked up a relatively easy 11-1 triumph.

Enroute to the victory, Toros notched three short-handed goals and added two others on the powerplay.

Misku and Hendricksen each had a hat-trick for Tofield while Knox added a pair and singles were notched by Garner, Gordon and Loeback. Fenton had the lone [illegible] tally.

Toros have agreed to co-ordinate the holding of the league's annual awards night and banquet which will be held in Camrose in April. Details will be announced at planning proceeds.

The annual Christmas dinner-dance has been scheduled for Dec. 4 in the Community Hall with Howard Sawers chairing the committee.

At the dinner-dance, the Holden Citizen of Year Award will be presented.

This year, the Chamber voted to name the award after the late Harry Christian, who served as secretary-treasurer of the Chamber.

The Harry Christian Memorial Award will be awarded to a person from the area who has given their time and effort to various projects, events, or developments in the community. The public will be invited to nominate persons for this award.

The Chamber will be working with other groups in planning a very special surprise Christmas party for the children of the Holden District.

The Future of the Holden School was discussed with the County Councillors.

Many questions were asked by those in attendance and information was given by the Councillors. The Chamber decided to set up an ad hoc committee on behalf of the persons in the Holden area whose children attend the Holden School. This committee will be requesting seven other person to sit on the com-[illegible]

Members were reminded that "Small Business Week" in Alberta will be held October 25-31, and posters, buttons, brochures will be available from Sharon Gill.

Although the Chamber did not meet through the summer months, it did participate in some projects.

The Holden History Book Society received a donation of $500 to aid in printing the history of Holden. In addition, the Chamber has agreed to work with the Hisotry Book Society and the Village of Holden to plan a major homecoming for August of 1984, in honor of Holden's 75th [illegible].

The newly formed Minor Ball Association received a grant of $150 to aid the group in organizing and purchasing equipment.

The Holden & District Chamber of Commerce meets the first Tuesday of each month at the Community Hall. Meetings are alternated, one month a dinner meeting the next month a business meeting.

The Executive officers are: President, Matt Helfrich, 1st Vice-President — Howard Sawers; 2nd Vice-President — Ron Mulick, Secretary-Treasurer — Sharon Gill.

Persons interested in the community from a business, financial, education, or social point of view are encouraged to become members of the Chamber. Further information may be obtained by contacting any of the executive officers.

Crafts galore

Crafts were in great abundance at the recent farmers market, especially crafts with a harvest or thanksgiving flavour. With Hallowe'en just a few days away, pumpkins were a great seller and with Christmas just down the road, gift ideas were plentiful.

Some sulfur research work, done at the Lethbridge Research Station by Dr. J.B. Bole, Plant Nutritionist, poses some very interesting questions for us in Central and Northeast Alberta. The fact that the majority of the soil samples taken in this area are still at the 0-6 inch level and the fact that sulfate is quite common in this County, would lead a person to believe that sulfur does not necessarily need to be considered in our area. It does, however, emphasize the need for sampling at deeper depths, which the Soil & Feed Testing Lab at Edmonton has been advocating for quite some time. The following article is the article I am referring to.

SULFUR FERTILIZERS NOT REQUIRED IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA
by Dr. J.B. Bole,
Plant Nutritionist

Every year thousands of tons of sulfur fertilizer are applied to southern Alberta farm land. However, results of studies by soil scientists at the Lethbridge Research Station indicate that farmers receive little or no return from such an investment.

Some soils in southern Alberta do have low levels of available sulfur in the surface layer but these soils are usually underlain by subsoils containing sulfate. This form of sulfur is available to plants. When barley and rapeseed plants were grown in large containers of a surface soil low in sulfur they did exhibit sulfur-deficiency symptoms and responded to sulfur fertilizers. When grown on the complete soil, sulfate salts more than 50 centimeters below the surface completely eliminated the deficiency. By "labelling" the sulfate with a radioisotope, we could show that the sulfates were readily taken up by the crops.

These laboratory results confirm findings from a series of field trials on dryland soild that were low in surface sulfate but had adequate subsoil levels. We obtained no yield responses from added elemental sulfur or sulfates on these soils.

Our studies also show that irrigation water supplies sulfur at 8 to 50 kilograms per hectare with each 10 centimeters of irrigation water applied. Therefore, irrigation water will supply sufficient sulfur to meet the 10 to 30 kilograms per hectare requirement of irrigated crops. Further, the sulfur in irrigation water exists in an available form and is supplied during periods of active plant growth.

Furthermore, acid rain has been shown to supply sulfur at 10 to 50 kilograms per hectare annually in Alberta. This source of sulfur meets the needs of most crops, even in the absence of other free sources. Fortunately, our calcareous soils neutralize the acidity so the acid rain is not a concern to crop production.

Sulfur deficiencies do exist in some Grey and Black soils where sulfates have been leached from the root zone. Soil tests will determine if sulfur fertilizer is needed for agriculture in these areas. However, unless the soil has been sampled to at least the 60-centimeter depth, a sulfate analysis could lead to an incorrect fertilizer recommendation.

PROPOSAL TO RE-OPEN ABANDONED TOFIELD MINE

Forestburg Collieries Limited currently operates the Diplomat Mine, located approximately 200 km southeast of Edmonton, Alberta, near the village of Forestburg. The mine has been operating for more than 30 years, supplying coal to domestic markets since 1949 and to Alberta Power Limited's Battle River Generating Station since 1956. As mineable coal supplies at the Diplomat Mine are now nearly exhausted, the Company has developed a new mine near Halkirk to ensure a long term supply of fuel to the generating station. However, this mine's entire production is dedicated to the utility and there is no provision to provide coal for light industrial or domestic markets. Since supplies of domestic coal cannot be assured from the Diplomat Mine beyond 1984 - 1985, the Company is seeking a replacement property in order to continue supplying coal to its present customers.

Therefore, Forestburg Collieries Limited is investigating the feasibility of re-opening the abandoned Tofield Mine to supply domestic coal to markets located principally in Alberta and Western Canada. The project area is comprised of 3 and ¼ sections of land, located immediately south of the Town of Tofield as indicated on the map below. The project envisions the establishment of a small scale surface mine, employing about 20 people to produce 100,000 to 200,000 tonnes of coal annually. In order to achieve the projected tonnages, it is estimated that approximately 10 hectares (24 acres) a year would have to be mined.

The project is currently in the early planning stages and must proceed through field investigations, detailed mine and approval process by Provincial and local authorities. An exploration program to fully define the quantity and quality of the coal reserves is currently underway within the project area.

As part of the public information program on the project, Forestburg Collieries Limited will be holding an

Watson completes Tofield courthouse

by Lesley Primeau

Aside from a number of minor finishing details, the million dollar court facility located across from the Tofield Municipal Hospital is completed.

The project, which commenced last fall, has been constructed by Watson Tofield, whose tender of approximately $844,000 was accepted by Alberta Housing and Public Works.

The price of the courthouse does not include land costs, landscaping or furnishings which will bring the tendered cost to over a million dollars.

The courthouse is expected to provide the same visual style of justice as is evident in the major centres throughout the province. A number of other courthouses have also been built.

In the facility will be adequate prisoner holding facilities, an interview room, judges chambers, general offices, waiting areas and the main court room which will boast special acoustic panelling from California.

Suggestions that the facility might be more than Tofield needs were countered by projected future needs of the area.

The facility will not necessarily be limited to court use which presently amounts to two sittings monthly.

The facility will also be used for driver testing and other areas within the building can be used for certain functions if cleared with the Attorney General's Department.

There are at present, no plans to extend court sessions to more than twice monthly.

RUMOR UPSETS

Ryley, Alberta
October 22, 1982

Dear Editor:

Well, here it is again, election time, and 'promise paradise'.

I don't begrudge a politician trying to get elected but, I am upset with an ugly rumor that has spread in Ryley that the N.D.P. candidate said he likes his pigs better than he likes the citizens in Ryley.

I was under the impression that, in order to get votes, a politician had to like everyone.

Perhaps our esteemed candidate could reassure the voters of this fine village that we are not lower than his pig wallow, especially if he wants my vote on election day.

Seniors hold 5th sale

by Lesley Primeau

The 5th annual Tofield Lodge quilt auction and tea was a standing room only event last Thursday when an estimated 150 people packed the small dining area to take in the festivities.

Aside from nine gorgeous quilts, that ranged in different sizes to various quilt patterns, that were auctioned off at terrific prices ranging from $10 to $77, various novelty items were available for sale. Included in this category were the many aprons, stuffed animals, pillows, chair covers, towels, mittens, pot holders, afghans and other items too numerous to mention.

Available in this category were many gift items that many shoppers found suitable for early Christmas shopping. Mrs. Stinson manned the cookbook-key fob sales both of which provide good perennial sales.

Rosie Knudsilen sold mountains of popcorn and the popular fish pond was manned by Mrs. A. Anderson and Mrs. Edith Bailey. The pond contained a wide variety of "fish" such as books, combs, candles and sundry items.

Serving as auctioneer again this year was Harold Schultz, who along with his wife Lil keep the bidding going in fine form. The quilts were carried around the room by Marg Lammerts, who every year helps coordinate the show, and Yvonne Brown. Two of the prizes quilters at the lodge, Helen Wilkin and Maggie Peterson had their work appreciated by the fine prices fetched.

The incredibly scrumptious desserts, bunwiches and coffee was made by the Lodge kitchen maids who also served throughout the afternoon Barb Tessier and her staff again excelled in their culinary expertise to the delight of many.

The annual quilt auction and tea is a money raising project and traditionally the funds collected are used for craft programmes and supplies or other projects deemed viable by the Lodge. This year the funds will be used to offset the cost of pay television installation for every room in the lodge.

Property recovered

by Lesley Primeau

Tofield RCMP were successful in recovering nearly $20,000 worth of stolen property last week according to Sgt. Ed Lammerts who added that his detachment has worked on the case for approximately two weeks.

The stolen property, consisting primarily of tools and machinery, are reported to belong to a Lindbrook resident, Fasco Rentals in Edmonton, Air Drilling Ltd. in Nisku, Blue Sky Estates in Edmonton and Mr. Propane also of Edmonton.

A Lindbrook resident has been charged with possession of stolen property and is expected to appear in court in Tofield.

RCMP have elected to withhold the name of the suspect pending court appearance but, do say they will be watching the proceedings with interest.

Growing Together

New Frontiers

The NDP is committed to Alberta farmers. That's a commitment we take seriously because agriculture is vital to Alberta's future. As part of that commitment the NDP will institute a New Frontiers Program to open up five million acres of new agricultural land throughout the province. We will work with farmers to develop a workable Farm Income Stabilization Plan.

Mainstreet Alberta

The Alberta NDP will work together with local governments and business people to revitalize and renovate Alberta's smaller cities and rural towns. Mainstreet Alberta will make your town an even better place to live, shop, do business and raise a family.

A New North

The NDP will work with Northerners to develop the North the Conservatives have forgotten. We will complete northern rail links from the Peace Block to the West Coast. Working together, we can build a new North and make Alberta work for you.

Humungous culvert

Nothing like the Black Hole of Calcutta, but it seems almost feasible that you could lose Calcutta in this culvert that is going under our proposed highway 14. These guys dig the weirdest holes, the strongest coffees and make the biggest mess I've ever seen. Wonder if Tide can make the difference with their clothes

Around the town

Quick reminder that there will be a volleyball tournament at the Tofield School Saturday morning. It behoves me to understand how these kids get out there and play their hearts out without a crowd. So get down there, even for one game and do a little hootin' and hollerin'!

Hallowe'en pops by this weekend. Dress those kiddies brightly and check the goodies. Watch for the Great Pumpkin...if you catch him you'll get a surprise

The Rebekahs are having their tea in Ryley...better not miss it, they have the tastiest snacks and such friendly people. Do attend if you can.

Crafts and Laffs gets underway Thursday night. If you're interested you should check this out.

Remember...sorry to say...The Mercury will no longer accept any ads unless they are received by 3 on Tuesdays. Daniel Barr, our ad man, says we have too many coming in late and it throws everything out of whack...thankyou kindly Where, exactly, does one go to surrender?? In a million years you would not believe the trauma that has befallen me this month and Lord forbid, I have another week ...ondure. This much bad luck is a little hard to comprehend and as a person with a certain degree of intelligence, after all, do you see me down at the track squandering my hard earned???money??

What you may ask and even if you don't, I'll tell you, is the matter now. Well I could just about swallow the fire that literally destroyed three, four, maybe more good years of negatives...after all, with all the support and encouragement this community has dished out I may have been able to take on the plague (tho I dare say I don't wish to push my luck) and I could nearly handle the loss of my giant Donald Duck...and I could just about take it in stride some nerd telling me the bus was a write off so he could buy it cheap...after all, how was I supposed to know that girl types were acknowledged easy marks...good thing my average intellect shone thru..huh??...and I could take spending a dollar or two to get the bus working despite the fact that a piece or two seem to be busy tho nobody seems to know where..ha! even I'm not that dumb..anyway aside from that...I could handle the move here into our little house and I could almost handle the move in the city despite the hassles with the phone company and my cable but what really has broken the camel's back is the break and entry that occurred Monday morning...that's right in the light of day some fiendish perpetrator of evil deeds broke into my house, rifled thru my stuff and then took some of it...I mean we are talking major nerd with a capital N...have you any idea what it is like to have your entire house turned upside down from the inside out?? What a mess. Not only can you not touch anything til the city's finest show up which only takes an hour cause no one was foolish enough to get killed over it, but you have to wait five hours for the finger printers to get there...for what still escapes me...and during that whole time you don't get to pick anything up...and we are still refering to a major mess.

You will be pleased to know that in the meantime I had the lock company come in and install a dead bolt and I personally screwed in all the windows...not that I wish to suggest the nerd used forceable entry...appears to have had a key this fellow or lady as the gendarmes felt it might be. Ah, the joys of city apartment dwelling...

I have had more dealing with the long and short arms of the law and about all the insurance entangles that I can swallow for the rest of my life.

I mean, enough is enough...and where, you might ask was I while the perpetrator of evil deeds was absconding with stereo equipment, jewellery, sports equipment and assorted paraphenalia?? Why I was in Fort Saskatchewan. Why you might ask...because while I was covering the candidates forum on Friday night, Mackenzie who we all know and love absconded with a patrol belt and when I discovered this on Sat. I told him we would march right back there Monday morning and return it. After all, I informed him, stealing is not nice...so while he was sweating buckets and crying more and apologizing for stealing this 30 cent belt, some nerd was ripping off my apartment...where's the justice...where oh where...and now Lord, have I gained entrance into heaven??? Have I learned all the tests??? One thing's for sure, next time anyone steals 30 cents worth of anything, I'm staying home...

Henriksen joins club

TransAlta 25 Year Club inducts Ray Henriksen owes his career with TransAlta to the suggestion of an unknown goose hunter.

Ray had been out of school for a couple of years and was not going anywhere particularly fast. "I was talking to this man who came down to hunt geese and he was boarding with my parents for a while. He started talking about TransAlta and what a good company they were to work for. I thought about what he said and decided to give them a try and I ended up staying for over 25 years" said Ray Henriksen with a smile.

Ray was born in Hanna but, was raised and educated in Spondin, which is a small town located approximately 35 miles northeast of Hanna.

After graduating from high school he got a summer job with Ducks Unlimited, building dams. After the summer he drove a school bus for one year before starting with TransAlta.

He started with TransAlta on a large construction crew that worked out of Olds. During the week the crew would work anywhere from Olds to Leduc to Drayton Valley to Macklin, Saskatchewan.

After two years of spending the week on the road and enjoying the weekends at home, Ray transferred to a smaller three-man [illegible] crew out of Camrose. In June of 1959, Ray decided it was time to settle down so he returned to Spondin and married Maxine [illegible], [illegible] he had dated since high school. After a few years in Camrose Ray and Maxine pulledup stakes and settled in Hughendon where he became assistant district manager.

Two years later he accepted a similiar position in Tofield. Five years ago, Ray was once again promoted, to District Manager in Tofield.

Ray and Maxine are the proud parents of two sons and one daughter. With both of their two boys playing organized hockey Ray and Maxine spend alot of time at the local arena, where Ray figures they took in around 150 hockey games last year. During the summer months Ray and Maxine spend as much time as possible out at the lakes where they camp and enjoy their favorite past time, fishing.

On Saturday, Ray and Maxine Henriksen were in Calgary where Ray received a gold watch and was formally inducted into TransAlta's 25 Year Club.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

A new program will begin soon at the Library, a pre-school Story Session. This is an introduction to books for children who have had their third birthday, and is designed for three and four-year olds. The proposed time is Wednesday mornings at 10:30 for a period of six weeks beginning November 3 and continuing until December 8. The sessions will consist of read-aloud stories, finger and action plays, and some music, and will last approximately 30-45 minutes. Please pre-register your child, at the Library during regular library hours; maximum registration will be 15 for this first session. There will be a small fee to cover supplies.

The new books this week are all children's selections. Scary Stories to Tell in the Dark is particulary timely, a collection of folklore illustrated with eerie drawings. Two topics of continuing interest are covered in The Sea World Book of Whales and Trucks and Supertrucks, which are both well-illustrated with photographs. For older readers, Janet Lunn's new award-winning book The Root Cellar has just arrived, as well as The Night Swimmers by Betsy Byars. The first book is about a twelve-year old orphan who is sent to live with relatives in Ontario, where she finds that entering the old root cellar transports her back in time to the days of the American Civil War. The second book is about a girl left in charge of her two younger brothers, nights, while their father is working, and the events that befall them while trespassing in a neighbour's swimming pool. Both of these books are well-reviewed and are recommended. The popular author Gordon Korman's book Our Man Weston is a hilarious new spy adventure starring Tom and Sidney Weston.

This week is the last for children's films: Saturday Oct. 30 at 10:30.

DISGUSTED
Ryley, Alberta
Oct. 23, 1982

Dear Sir:

And I really mean disgusted!

Why do they cut off the teenagers from the Hallowe'en dance?

Do they have to serve the juice that is the main problem in town?

Let the ones who like to drink, drink at home and not just have the parties, etc. always for grown-ups.

I can see why there are problems. I'm sure almost everyone say, old fashioned, I am not! Just concerned for the young folks. Wake up and include them too. Or, is Hallowe'en just for the older people now and young folks have no part in that either?

How sad!

Tories sweep to an easy victory

... Buck holds Clover Bar

Tuesday's provincial election saw the Progressive Conservatives return to power with a sweeping victory, taking 75 of the 79 seats.

Of the four non-Tories elected, two were independents and two were NDP banner carriers.

One of the independents was Clover Bar's Dr. Walt Buck who has been the sitting member for the past fourteen years, although during that time frame, he was a member of the Social Credit Party.

The other two ridings in The Mercury's coverage area were won by Tories with John Batiuk picking up an easy win in Vegreville while Gordon Stromberg dominated the scene in Camrose.

Both Batiuk and Stromberg were incumbents.

Clover Bar

Although Buck will return to the Provincial Legislature, it will not be with the sweeping majority that he enjoyed in the past as he had to fight off a strong bid by Tory candidate Stan Berg.

In the '79 election, Buck enjoyed fifty-four percent of the popular vote and this majority dropped to forty-one percent on Tuesday.

Buck had 6,173 votes cast in his favour while Berg picked up 5,425 ballots and 38.1% of the popular vote.

Buck won in thirty-eight of the polls with a clean sweep in Fort Saskatchewan and Tofield while Berg won the remaining twenty-five polls.

The other two candidates will both forfeit their deposits for failing to get one-half of the vote total of the winner.

WCC candidate Sig Jorstad finished in third place with 1,774 votes while David Morris of the NDP collected 1,570 votes.

Vegreville

John Batiuk, the incumbent Tory member wasn't seriously challenged in Tuesday's election.

Batiuk collected 54.4% of the popular vote and won all but three polls in the constituency.

NDP candidate Bill Senefie was the runner-up with 29.1% of the total vote and he won three polls, two in Two Hills and one in Vegreville.

The other three candidates were completely out of the running and all lost their deposits.

WCC candidate Loren Yasinski finished in third place with 706 votes while Social Crediter R.E. Robert had 480 votes and independent Betty Bernard collected only 190 ballots in his favour.

Camrose

P.C. incumbent Gordon Stromberg was an easy winner in Camrose as he topped every poll.

Stromberg collected 10,547 votes in his favour which worked out to be 63.8% of the total ballots cast.

Stromberg's sweeping victory resulted in both of his opponents losing their deposits.

NDP candidate Gerry Oberg was second with 3,071 votes and WCC representative Keith Schmidt collected 2,901 votes.

Counting

Poll-by-poll results for all three constituencies are printed in this edition of The Mercury.

Results listed are unofficial.

The official results will be announced at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon by the returning officers.

Garnet Ottewell is the returning officer for Clover Bar while William Nawrot handles similiar duties in Vegreville and Ralph DeWolfe is the returning officer for Camrose.

Poll by poll tabulations appear on page 6.

Knudslien re-elected

by Lesley Primeau

George Knudslien has again been elected to serve as Reeve of the County of Beaver. Mr. Knudslien has served a number of years on County Council and many of them as Reeve. This year he will have as his deputy Eugen Ewasiuk who takes over from Gordon Hoines.

At the organizational meeting held by County Council it was unanimously decided that Council would keep their per diem rate of pay the same as last year. Council can expect to make $100 per meeting with a meeting described as a day when session starts in the morning and continues in the afternoon. A meeting may also commence in the afternoon and run through the evening.

Council also felt that mileage rates should be held as tightly as possible and in that spirit mileage has increased only .02 per K over last year's figure of $.25 per K. Despite Council's attempt at harnessing the purse strings it was decided that attendance allowance for out of town meetings would increase to $130 from last year's rate of $105.00. This sum applies primarily to conventions. Council will continue with their policy of sending perhaps two or three councillors to a convention rather than the entire council and thus count down on expense.

All councilors will again sit on the Board of Education and again this year Hjordis Armitage will serve as Chairman of the Board. Her alternate this year will be Gordie Maxwell. John Warner, Victor Romaniuk, Gordie Maxwell and Eugene Ewasiuk will sit on the School Bus Committee while Gordon Hoines, Victor Romaniuk, Gordie Maxwell, John Warner, Leo Kelly and Arnold Swift will represent the Board's position on the Salary Committee.

Gordon Hoines will serve as the County's representative at F.I.R.S.A.A. meetings while Armitage will be joined by Victor Semotiuk and Harriett Ruddy on the Education Advisory Board. Ewasiuk, Swift and Kelly will join local representatives on the building committee.

Mail heisted

by Lesley Primeau

In a daring armed robbery, two unknown men made off with eleven bags of first class registered mail from the Ryley Post Office after tying up the driver of the mail truck and his wife, leaving them in the utility room of the post office.

The incident, under intense investigation by members of the Tofield RCMP, occurred at approximately 2:30 am on Friday.

RCMP responded when the driver, Wayne Gagne managed to break loose his bonds and obtain a phone at the Ryley Hotel. RCMP subsequently called Ryley Post Master John Wall to the scene.

Gagne has been driving the Edmonton to Chauvin run for the past four months and prior to that, drove from Lloydminster to Saskatoon for nine months. In his opinion, the two felons must have known his movements in order to accost him at the rear of the post office.

Gagne claims the two men demanded money but, took the registered mail when no money was available. The men then took the truck and abandoned it two blocks from the post office.

RCMP are currently investigating all aspects of the armed robbery and will not release further details pending a completed investigation. RCMP have also not revealed what, if anything of value, was in the registered mail.

Something new

At the time of writing, it would certainly appear Ottawa will have to move in once again to settle the dispute of longshoremen at Vancouver and the employing shippers. Whether bargaining last week after suggestions of an imposed settlement were serious, or merely a sham, probably only the players in the performance really know.

Regardless, the fact is that a handful of workers, unhappy with no updating of their contract in almost a year but still earning top wages by prairie standards, have been holding almost the entire four western provinces to ransom, as they went on such an obvious work slowdown that employers locked them out to stop their own losses.

If only the employers or the longshoremen were hurt in this annual tango, it might not matter so much. But the stoppages cut deeply into the prairie economy as grain piles up, coal piles up and other products suffer the same fate. There are already stockpiles and backlogs at the Coast which can't be cleared away for weeks even when work does finally start up.

Surely Ottawa must be able to find some way to avert this repetitive ritual dance. No agreement has been reached for years without Ottawa coming in at the end of a long and nationally expensive strike. Surely the right to unionize, the presumed right to strike, doesn't carry with it the right to inflict irreparable losses on thousands of others, innocents simply caught up in the wash.

The strike costs the longshoremen nothing . . . they make up in overtime what they're losing in straight pay. But what about the miners laid off? What about the farmers who can't deliver grain? What about the merchants depending on sales to these people to keep their businesses going? None of these people can regain ground lost due to the strike.

Maybe if there ceased to be any taxes during this period, Ottawa would find a longer lasting solution in a hurry. And why shouldn't taxes dry up? Certainly a lot of incomes have dried up.

Somehow a way must be found, when either employer or employee is given a virtual monopoly situation, to see that the interest of the majority of the public is also protected.

Failing this, the end result must almost inevitably be anarchy or nihilism.

Bungle

It probably cost Canadian taxpayers less than a quarter of a million dollars, but a recent operation of the federal environment minister, John Roberts and Ontario's minister of Agriculture and Foods, Dennis Timbrell, shows how little reason can be applied in some of the federal government's decisions. Late in September, 1980, 140 raccoon dogs were imported into Canada from Finland as breeding stock for a fur farm established first near Cookston, then at Madoc, Ontario.

To bring in 140 animals, dominion government veterinary services and quarantine procedures must have been involved.

Why permission was ever granted is hard to fathom. The raccoon dog is not native to Canada, and is considered a pest in agricultural areas in Europe, from whence it was imported. Indeed, there is significant risk that if any escape from the fur farm (which over several years would almost be certain) they could cause irreparable harm to Canada's indigenous wildlife, perhaps even supplanting existing species of fox and raccoon.

As if we didn't have enough troubles already maintaining many species of wildlife.

Anyway, thirteen months later, the federal government passed a regulation prohibiting further importation of raccoon dogs. All provinces and the U.S. have the same ban against entry.

But what to do about the ones already here?

Well, the taxpayers have agreed, through Environment Canada, to pay $115,000 to the fur farm owners to cover the cost of alterations to convert the facility to a fox farm. All raccoon dogs will be killed and pelted by December of this year.

The question that arises, though, is how any thinking government agency could approve, in the first place, importation of animals looked on as pests in their native lands, animals which could threaten our own species. And how could we put ourselves in the position of having to buy up the stock and replace them with approved native animals.

Less than a quarter of a million dollars, it's not much money. But how often have the taxpayers had to pick up similar tabs?

WE ERRED!

The Mercury made a serious mistake last week.

It is the paper's policy to print letters to the editor if they are signed and if there is a chance for rebuttal if one seems to be called for by the letter.

It was in regards to the letter that the paper goofed.

A rumour about statements alledged to have been made by the NDP candidate in the Vegreville Constituency in regards to residents of Ryley were of concern to a Ryley resident.

To clear the air and allow the NDP candidate a chance to state his views, The Mercury printed the Ryley resident's letter.

For some reason, it wasn't realized that with an election on Tuesday, the NDP candidate couldn't possibly reply to the charges prior to the voters going to the polls since The Mercury is not printed until Wednesday.

This was totally unfair to the NDP candidate.

With voters going to the polls on Tuesday and the paper being printed on Wednesday, the letter should NOT have been printed.

While humans will also be guilty of errors, this one should not have been allowed to occur.

The Mercury extends its sincere apologies to the NDP candidate and the party's supporters for this occurrence.

Postal service is third class

By W. Roger Worth

As every intelligent Canadian knows, the nation's postal service is a mess. Yet Michael Warren, the government whiz kid turned head pontiff (at $150,000 per year) has approved a $200,000 advertising campaign advising us that Post Office surveys show almost 90 percent of the mail is getting through on time.

That's hogwash. Even before the advertising campaign, the country's Auditor General had pointed out at least five major weaknesses in the Post Office's system of surveys, and now members of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business have backed the view that service is bad.

In 9,995 personal interviews among the organization's 64,000 members, 66 percent of the businesses reported that mail service has not improved, another 25 percent said the service was worse, 8 percent believed service had improved slightly, while fewer than 1 percent claimed it was considerably improved.

To add to the small business frustration, the Post Office now wants to extend its monopoly by getting government approval to force companies, other government agencies, and even individuals, to use the mails for items that were previously hand delivered at much less cost.

That's not all. The Post Office is only now talking about layoffs, even though the volume of mail has dropped dramatically, partly as a result of the recession, but mainly due to the staggering rate increases that have been put in place.

While employees in virtually every sector of the economy are hurting badly, the much-coddled posters are complaining about attempted cutbacks in the $93 million worth of overtime they claimed last year, on top of annual salaries that surpass $23,000.

The fact is, our Post Office will lose at least $400 million this year (that's $40 for every working Canadian). Mail service is still poor, Saturday delivery has been discontinued in rural areas and now they're talking about another rate increase.

Something's amiss. The British Post Office earned $300 million last year. And the U.S. Postal Service had a $436 million surplus in the first six months of this year. Meanwhile, the first-class letter rate in that country is 20 cents, compared to our 30 cent charge.

If nothing else, Canada's Post Office could save $200,000 by cutting advertising that is misleading and useless.

The second part will include a producer panel on farm financial management and the farm business approach.

The registration fee is $40 (includes luncheon) for farmers and an additional $20 to bring a guest.

We have a number of brochures in the office, if you would like more information or a registration form.

Mazankowski reports on federal deficit

The new Finance Minister, Marc Lalonde, presented a financial statement to the House of Commons as it resumed sitting on October 27th. In his statement Mr Lalonde admitted that the deficit, projected to be $10.5 billion last November and $16.6 billion in June, is now expected to be $23.6 billion. This staggering amount is twice the U.S. deficit in relative terms and reflects the severe weakness of our economy.

In general Mr. Lalonde's statement presented a bleak picture of the current situation. Despite a moderation in inflation, unemployment is expected to remain at a record high, averaging over 12% for [illegible].

To try to ease this crisis Mr. Lalonde announced $1.1 billion in job-creation projects. $580 million will be committed to a New Employment Expansion and Development Program (NEED), the details of which are to be announced shortly by the Minister of Employment. The Government expects these funds to create 60,000 jobs over 18 months. However only $50 million will be spent when it is needed most this winter and analysts are predicting a lower job-[illegible] total.

A further $156 million is to be provided for two existing housing programs, the Canada Home Renovation Plan, which grants up to $2,000 for home repairs, and the Canadian Homeownership Stimulation Plan, which provides $3,000 grants for first-time buyers and buyers of new homes. After January 1, 1983, this plan will apply to new homes only. Details of both schemes are available from any constituency offices and I invite you to call.

Finally Mr. Lalonde indicated a further $400 million would be provided for western rail capacity expansion. This amount will be spent only if the railroads commit funds and is unlikely to have an immediate effect on unemployment. At the same time the Finance Minister pledged to move ahead with revisions to the Crows Nest Pass rate.

The money for all these projects is to be drawn from existing Energy, Defence and Foreign Aid programs. This will cause some job loss so that the net result of the Government's plan will not result in major job creation.

The minister also raised unemployment insurance premiums for both employees and employers by close to 50%. This is, in effect, a $3.3 billion tax hike that is predicted to have a negative impact on employment. Thus for the short term the outlook is bleak and it is now predicted that the unemployment rate will hit 13% this winter. On the basis of present projections it is estimated that payouts under the unemployment insurance benefits for the first quarter of 1983 will equal $10 billion on an annual basis.

The Government still looks a major economic recovery plan. Mr Lalonde has promised a spring budget and we will be calling on the Government to include detailed development proposals in that document.

Toros win opener

Tofield Toros have gotten off to a good start in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros opened the regular schedule at home on Friday night and were easy winners over New Norway.

Toros will swing right back into action this coming weekend when two games are scheduled.

On Friday night, Tofield will be at home to Round Hill and on Sunday, will travel to Camrose for a game with the defending league champions from Ewell.

Friday's contest with New Norway could best be described as an offensive contest in that the Toros came out on top in a free-wheeling, high scoring contest by a 14-8 margin.

Details of Friday's contest were not readily available.

'82 crops were good

Despite the fact that 1982 wasn't really an ideal year for growing crops, farmers in this part of the province were generally well satisfied with the final results.

Growth in some regions got off to a late start, other areas were hampered by excessive rainfall and there was damage from frost and hail.

On the average, 490 millimetres of moisture fell on the area since May 1st up until the end of harvesting.

Bawlf was hit the hardest with 622 millimetres of rainfall while Hay Lakes suffered the least with only 400 millimetres.

Farmers in the Ryley area experienced the best production to the acre during the '82 growing season.

The Ryley area yielded 1,300 kilograms of wheat per acre, 1,300 kilograms of oats and 1,350 kilograms of barley to lead the way in those three crops.

Farmers around Holden produced an average of 620 kilograms of rapeseed to lead production in that crop.

Overall, throughout the entire area, wheat averaged out at 980 kilograms to the acre while oats produced 1,900 kilograms, barley was in at 1,175 kilograms and rapeseed production stood at 525 kilograms.

The lowest area of production were Bawlf in wheat (760) and barley (800); Round Hill in oats (675) and Hay Lakes in rapeseed (300).

Bawlf farmers received the best grade for wheat while Hay Lakes and Tofield led the way in barley and Round Hill, Bawlf and Camrose were tops in rapeseed.

Conditon-wise, New Norway and Bawlf were the best with wheat while Bawlf was tops in barley and Rosalind, Daysland, Holden and Bawlf had perfectly dry rapeseed.

Forty-eight percent of the wheat crop received a 3CWRS rating. Twenty-six percent was 2CWRS, twenty-one percent was feed and the rest was number one utility.

Three-quarters of all barley production was rated as number one feed with only two percent getting a three rating and the balance was graded number two.

Eighty percent of the rapeseed crop obtained the highest rating while sixteen percent was rated number two and the balance received a number three standard.

Ninety-six percent of all rapeseed delivered to the elevators were dry with the balance being tough.

Eighty-eight percent of barley was dry with twelve percent being tough.

Sixty percent of the wheat crop was delivered in a #1 condition. Thirty-seven percent was rated tough and the balance was damp.

Reports on the 1982 crop year were received weekly from Alberta Wheat Pool elevator managers in Bawlf, Camrose, Daysland, Hay Lakes, Holden, New Norway, Rosalind, Round Hill, Ryley and Tofield.

Ryley youths are Hollywood extras

by Lesley Primeau

A group of ten young fellows from the Village of Ryley had a very memorable experience last week when they were able to participate in the eight million dollar production of Running Brave, a film depicting the life of Olympic runner Billy Mills.

The ten, Todd Fitt, Robert Steinwand, Paul Wilde, Walter Martin, Ray Lehman, Reg Kenway, Ross Good, Cameron Good, Robert McKeen and Philip Wiens spent two days in the city of Edmonton as extras for the movie starring Robbie Benson and were paid $70 each for their involvement.

The young men were required to have short haircuts and make-up and were treated as if they were extras in the land of film; Hollywood. The boys were able to experience what it might be like to actually be a major part of a major film. Extras are a very integral part of movies and the boys estimate two hundred extras were on set the days they were.

They were required to do some action that made the picture more believeable. The Ryley youths were featured in the train scene as well as the high school race sequence. The film is expected to be released next spring or early summer.

The Englender Production, directed by Don Shebib was funded by the Hobbema Indian Treasury.

The boys found it fascinating that it would take ten hours of shooting to get five minutes of film. This wonderful experience has left the young fellows with a taste of Hollywood that won't be as easily washed off as the make-up was.

Surface rights group plans annual meeting

The Battleford Trail Surface Rights Association has scheduled its annual meeting.

The session will be held in the Round Hill Elks Hall on Tuesday night, starting at eight o'clock.

The association was organized about one year ago and presently has approximately fifty members.

Since its inception, the association has been extremely active in providing information and assisting farmers with more equipable settlements on surface rights leases.

To assist in this regard, the association has obtained the services of a licensed independent land man.

Late in the summer, the association's directors had a meeting with the Farmers' Advocate, Helmut Entrop.

This meeting was filmed by a CBC television crew and will be aired on the program, Prairie West.

The tentative airing date for this Points West segment has been scheduled for Jan. 1st, at 4.30 pm.

All interested persons are invited to attend Tuesday's meeting.

Smith is BRTA prexy

Lindsay Smith of Stettler is the new president of the Battle River Tourist Association.

Smith was installed to his new office when the Brta held its annual meeting in Camrose last Wednesday in the Crystal Springs Motor Hotel.

Joyce Harrison of Hardisty was inducted as 1st vice-president while Rolf Jacobsen of Sedgewick was installed as 2nd vice-president.

After being installed as president, Smith announced who the other members of the executive would be and they include Len D'Albertanson of Wainwright; Bob Rutten of Provost; Len Dutton of Killam; Arlen Adams of Bashaw; Blaine Alexander of Camrose; and Robert Brown of Leduc.

In a written report, those in attendance at Wednesday's meeting were informed that visitors to BRTA information centers dropped by seven per cent during the past year.

71,927 people registered at BRTA booths during the past season, a decline from the 77,317 who registered during the previous year.

Only five of the thirteen centers operated in the zone showed an increase in registrations and they included Camrose, Castor, Consort, Wainwright and Wetaskiwin.

The association's financial report indicated that budgeting for the 1991/92 term was almost right on the mark.

The expenditure budget allotted had amounted to $227,371 while actual spending totalled $137,895.85.

The 1992/93 budget was approved and it predicts an increase in spending of about $5,000 with total expenditures amounting to $132,912.42 which could result in an operational deficit of approximately $10,000 as revenues are budgetted for $122,500.

The president's (Carol Land) and manager's (Sylvia Clemens) reports were covered on six pages in the annual report and despite that, both were read in full, utilizing slightly more than one-half hour.

Two hundred and fifty people attended the annual meeting, the largest-ever attendance at an annual meeting since the organization came into existence in 1958.

The banquet and meeting lasted about four hours with the result that people began leaving about ten o'clock and only about one hundred persons were still in attendance when the meeting adjourned.

Board needs members

After nearly ten years of dedicated service on the Tofield Library Board, Dr. Freebury, Mayor of Tofield has resigned his position to allow another interested resident of Tofield an opportunity to sit on the Board. Consequently the Board has decided to advertise the position in hopes that a library user might wish to accept the challenge.

The Board has also decided to expand their board number to eight making their search a double effort. Board members thus far include Chairman, Ron Taylor; Treasurer, Peggy Nahirniak; Secretary, Dorothy Clark and board members Judy Hastings, Linda Morris and Dan Newell.

The successful applicant need only be a resident and have a keen interest in the progression of the library services. The Board is responsible for setting policy, approving budgets and applying for grants. The position is by appointment and the term generally three years.

Current Board members would welcome someone with fresh and stimulating ideas, someone who possesses a certain degree of management savvy and a zest for libraries. The position also requires a minimum of time for meetings every third Wednesday, occasional functions library oriented and perhaps a few days spent helping out in the library.

Members of the library board must be able to give some input into the operation of a library and must be able to represent the feelings of the reading public. Anyone who feels they might be interested in the position can contact any board member or the librarian, Liz Hubbard.

Auxiliary is formed

Twenty seven residents in and around the community of Tofield have become charter members of the newly organized Tofield Hospital Auxiliary. Charter night was held at That Place, October 18th with invited guests and executive members joining charter members for dinner and conversation.

Charlie Sears, Chairman of the Tofield Hospital Board introduced special guests, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. John Warner, Mr. Jack Gargill and Mr. Don Roth, Tofield Hospital Administrator. The members of the executive were then introduced including President, Dolores Roth; vice-president, Ruby Sears; Secretary, Bev Gargill and Treasurer, Lucy Anderson.

Following Mr. Sears installation ceremony for the executive, Don Roth commented on the need for such an organization saying that hospital staff simply have not the time for those extra minutes needed to enhance special patient care. Feeling the Auxiliary will play a major part in the opening of the new hospital complex, Mr. Roth felt he might be able to contribute some ideas for fund raising.

Dolores Roth then introduced Provincial President Vi Kully of Mundare who reiterated sentiments regarding the need for an auxiliary in Tofield. Mrs. Kully pledged future help and advice when required and applauded the Auxiliary's efforts to provide such specialized care for patients.

Special committee members were formally introduced to the group including Yvonne Brown who will be responsible for the official scrapebook; Irene Warner and Rose Charters will man the phones; Louise Berube, Penny Fowler and Ruby Sears will be responsible for fund raising and Pat Litwin and Evelyn Stauffer will tackle special projects and craft ideas.

On October 22 members of the Tofield Auxiliary manned a booth at the Flea Market and sold homemade baking and a number of crafts. Hopefully in spring the Auxiliary will hold a giant garage sale and thought is being given to make perogys by order only. The Auxiliary plans to attend the December 10th Farmers Market with more craft and Christmas ideas as well as some Christmas baking.

Pat Litwin reported that after consultation with Hospital Administrator, Don Roth, it was decided to offer tray favours monthly as a way of brightening up the day. She then suggested that members save and perhaps ask neighbours for such items as baby food jars with lids, bottle caps, match boxes, toothpaste caps, pill bottles, spice bottles and the like from which to make the favours.

The Auxiliary is still looking for committee members and people interested in participating in various patient programmes. Charter members include Yvonne Brown, Cory Sutton, Marie Laarhuis, Vivienne Wilde, Rose Charters, Sarah Disalais, Jeanie Sears, Louise Berube, Anne Gates, Irene Warner, Yvonne McAllister, Bev Gargill, Dolores Roth, Dorothy Shewchuk, Margaret Dixon, Ruby Sears, Lucy Anderson, Opal McGinity, Grace Lehman, Evelyn Stauffer, Penny Fowler, Carol Dopel, Gladys Severson, Pat Litwin, Melita Wall, Iris Fran[illegible]. All charter members were presented with certificates to commemorate the occasion.

The Auxiliary plans to hold their next meeting Nov. 15 in Room 7 of the Tofield School. The meeting will commence at 8.00 pm and everyone is more than welcome to attend. Provincial President Vi Kully made a suggestion that the members keep track of their hours and at some future date perhaps pins could be awarded for service.

Auxiliary members concurred that help from all communities would play a large part in the success of the new Tofield Auxiliary.

PROPOSAL TO RE-OPEN ABANDONED TOFIELD MINE

Forestburg Collieries Limited currently operates the Diplomat Mine, located approximately 200 km southeast of Edmonton, Alberta, near the village of Forestburg. The mine has been operating for more than 30 years, supplying coal to domestic markets since 1949 and to Alberta Power Limited's Battle River Generating Station since 1956. As mineable coal supplies at the Diplomat Mine are now nearly exhausted, the Company has developed a new mine near Halkirk to ensure a long term supply of fuel to the generating station. However, this mine's entire production is dedicated to the utility and there is no provision to provide coal for light industrial or domestic markets. Since supplies of domestic coal cannot be assured from the Diplomat Mine beyond 1984 - 1985, the Company is seeking a replacement property in order to continue supplying coal to its present customers.

Therefore, Forestburg Collieries Limited is investigating the feasibility of re-opening the abandoned Tofield Mine to supply domestic coal to markets located principally in Alberta and Western Canada. The project area is comprised of 3 and ¾ sections of land, located immediately south of the Town of Tofield as indicated on the map below. The project envisions the establishment of a small scale surface mine, employing about 20 people to produce 100,000 to 200,000 tonnes of coal annually. In order to achieve the projected tonnages, it is estimated that approximately 10 hectares (24 acres) a year would have to be mined.

The project is currently in the early planning stages and must proceed through field investigations, detailed mine and environmental planning, and a comprehensive review and approval process by Provincial and local authorities. An exploration program to fully define the quantity and quality of the coal reserves is currently underway within the project area.

As part of the public information program on the project, Forestburg Collieries Limited will be holding an

4-H'ers re-organize

by Lori Brown

On Oct. 27th the Tofield 4-H Beef Club held their first meeting for the 1982-83 club year.

Last year's president Daniel Brown and secretary Cathy Brown presided over the meeting.

Weigh-in of calves will be held at the Lawrence Kallal farm on Sat., Nov 6th from 1 pm to 3 pm; maximum weight of steers will be 600 lbs. Members are to pay one dollar membership on the day of weigh-in. They are also to bring their carcass calves and heifers to weigh-in as well as their 4-H steers.

It was decided to send the $200 made on high-way cleanup to the Battle Lake 4-H Foundation as the club has a healthy bank balance this year.

The club will hold meetings the second Wednesday of each month at the Arts and Crafts room at the arena.

Mrs. Grace Schacker will be asked to come to the next meeting and tell us how to fill out our record books.

The club is planning a turkey bingo for Dec 1st.

Mr. Wood, our club leader, welcomed all the new members and wished us a good year. Seventeen members were present. Anyone interested in joining our club can call Mr. Don Wood at 662-3911.

The executive for the coming year was elected with the following results. President, Joe Brown; Vice-President, Paul Laarhuis; Secretary-treasurer, Daniel Brown; Treasurer, Cathy Brown; Reporter, Lori Brown; Librarian-Historian, Trudy Rude. Adult Committee, Mr Laarhuis, Mr Rude, Mrs. Ray, Mrs. C. Elsmak, Mrs. Y. Brown. Representative to county council will be Paul Laarhuis and Joe Elsmak.

Our next meeting will be held on Nov 10th.

Ah yes, is there anything my friends, anything at all, that can possibly compare with the thrill and excitement of attending a three year old's birthday party? Can anything match that intensity? That verve and vigore? That mess on the floor??? I thought not.

Yes indeed, there I was the only sane person in a room full of wacky mothers and six midget types content only to hurl cake and slop pop. Is there no end to this madness??? Ryan had a few friends over, Daniel Robert and David and Geoffrey Fath those three little imports from another world. and Lisa and Kristen Campbell from down the lane but not across the water .Now this would have been fine..little midget types are not that bad but they had the nerve to bring their mothers..well I never???!

Granted the hot dogs just about made up for the minor mishap with the orange pop which necessitated my taking, forever I might add, a pair of socks from Karen because orange socks and I part company rather quickly...who wants to talk to me then??

And I must confess that the devil's food cake was almost apropo with the occasion..and those cheese balls were quite nifty...But nothing will ever make me forget that I didn't have two helpings of ice cream and I didn't get to blow out the candles like everyone else...the humility.

See if I go to another party...so there. Actually, I might hasten to add that if your child is having a party of sorts and I happen to be in town...and you happen to have chocolate cake and ice cream I just might be persuaded to drop in...on the other hand I'd like it a whole lot better if you left the cake at the office and took the kids to the golden arches...

It was an experience tho...of course so is having your tooth pulled...

By the way..just as a parting shot..did you catch the Great Pumpkin...I thought not..I'll have you know that I have it on good authority that the Great Pumpkin didn't fly this way...know why?? Me neither..that's why I didn't get anything this year again...drat...and I almost froze my you know what waiting in the patch...see you later..and wish us luck..Hilda and I are probably not going to be alive after tomorrow..we're going to try and wallpaper the office...do members serve rum...

Scouts reach 85%

by Yvonne Brown
& Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Boy Scouts have reached 85% of their needed funding that will enable them to travel to Australia this December for the Scout Jamboree to be held down under. Throughout the past months the Scouts have tackled every task mentionable be it large or small in an effort to raise the necessary funds.

Last month alone the Scouts cut, piled and delivered eight loads of fire wood to the city of Edmonton. The Scouts have been rather successful with their wood sales and continue to hope the winter months ahead will allow for a few more dollars.

In addition to the wood sales a number of Scouts were busy this past weekend fencing in an acreage. The Tofield Lions, in their usual gesture of community involvement, have been sponsoring a beef raffle for the Scouts. Four hundred pounds of good beef will be won by some lucky ticket holder at intermission in the Lions regular meeting.

Seven and one half tons of paper was collected by the Scouts from many residents who pitched in for the cause. The Scouts will continue to pick up paper from anyone who has a stack to donate to the cause. A paper drive is planned for this Saturday so anyone with papers should be prepared for the Scouts. If residents find they will not be home after 1:00 pm they can set the papers outside for easy pick-up.

For those residents in the rural area a simple phone call can assure paper pick-up. Give the Peter Brown family a call at 662-3951 and the Scouts would be more than grateful for the assistance.

The Scouts are embarking on yet another new idea, collecting egg cartons and if during the paper drive a home owner has a carton or two they wish to donate they may readily chip in. On December 4th the Scouts will hold their second paper drive. This drive will naturally be just prior to their expected departure.

Bottle and cans have been saved by many for the Scouts who again are only too pleased to pick them up. On November 13 the Scouts plan to hold a rummage sale and items donated would be greatly appreciated. The rummage sale would be held at the regular Farmers Market.

The Scouts feel this experience has been of great learning value and they have kept a very neat and regular book of their activities and the amounts collected for anyone to see their progress. The Scouts have had to work hard for this project but they feel the rewards far out weigh any minor aches and pains.

The Scouts plan to hold their next meeting on Nov. 10 at the Sears School at 7:30. Anyone who would like further information regarding their fund raising or their planned trip is welcome to come and chat. The Scouts fully realize that they would be unable to take this venture down under if it had not been for the help and support of the community.

Hastings Lake

by L. Penna

Lasers' League is a success story this week; there are now 14 members, coming from as far away as North Cooking Lake, and they lost a total of almost 16 pounds in seven days. This brings them halfway to the goal they set themselves to reach by December 2nd.

The next Bingo night is Monday, November 8th, starting at 8:00 pm at the Hall.

The Harvest Dance is set for Saturday, November 13th and will be enlivened by spot prizes, a door prize, the crowning of a Harvest King and Queen, and a home-cooked Ukrainian Supper. Tickets are $6 each from Elaine (662-3886).

The Pleasure Horse Association is hoping for one more trail ride and buggy outing before winter, and interested people should phone Sharon for details.

Flocks of winter birds have returned to the district, and many members of this community are buying sunflower seeds for their feeders straight from the growers, Mr. and Mrs. P. McCarthy of the Camrose area.

Recycling For Children's Clothing

It's exciting and economical to make something out of an old or discarded garment. Because clothing seldom wears out entirely, recycling these clothes for children can be worthwhile.

We all like to dress similar to our peers - children are no different. Be sure the fabric doesn't look too drab and dark for a child. If you are combining two fabrics, two used fabrics are best. A new piece may contrast with the old, making the old fabric look shabby.

Here are a few tips to consider before getting started:

1. Choose a pattern with a simple design. Patterns with a number of small pieces such as yokes, pockets, etc. may be easier to fit on the fabric.

2. Consider reusing some seams and features such as pockets or buttonholes from the original garment. The flat felled side seams in jeans are easy to use as side seams or a front seam on a skirt or jumper.

3. Pattern pieces must follow the grain of the fabric. To determine the grain line, locate a lengthwise thread or row of knit stitches. Mark with chalk on the wrong side and use this line as a guide.

Purchasing a bit of lace trim, ribbon or a decorative applique will individualize and perk up any garment. Don't forget to ask the child how they would like the garment finished. They often have good ideas.

Energy Conservation Lessons

Two one-day seminars are planned for November 6 and November 19 at Hastings Lake Community Hall on energy conservation. The first day will cover principles of energy conservation. Specifically, how does energy move?; where are heat loses in the home?; and cost effectiveness of alternate energy sources.

The second seminar is on retrofitting your home to reduce heating costs. It will concentrate on how the home handiman can cut heat loss from around doors, windows, attics and walls.

For more details about these seminars phone 663-2104.

Hayride

On Sunday, the Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club and Beaverhill Hall Committee sponsored a hay ride.

It began at the Hall with two tractors and wagons.

There were about 40 people to make the ride enjoyable with a few surprise stops along the way to "Trick or Treat" the little ones.

The ride ended at Beaverhill Hall where there were more people waiting. Coffee and pop were enjoyed by all and treats were handed out to all, big and small.

This was the second year that these two clubs have combined for a Community Hallowe'en Party and they hope to continue as everyone seems to enjoy them.

Tim Quiring and Walter Krystal supplied their tractors and wagons for the ride.

Hospital Auxiliary

Members of the newly formed Tofield Hospital Auxiliary were on hand to sell all types of goodies at the recent farmers market. The Auxiliary is hoping to get their programme in full swing and new members are urged to become involved.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Are you confused when you try to find a book in the Library? Help is on the way! Comic-strip style pamphlets on the Dewey Decimal System are available now, which explain and illustrate in a humourous way, the system used in most libraries to classify books. The various divisions of human knowledge are outlined, and examples are given, as well as some of the exceptions, such as general fiction. Pick one up next time you visit your library.

Among the new books this week may be found an account of the Falkland Islands Conflict. This paperback is illustrated, and covers much of the background as well as chronicling the actual events.

The Life and Crimes of Agatha Christie is both a biography and an account of the dozens of books by this famous mystery writer, her life, and the situations in which she did her work. Victoria Holt's newest title, The Demon Lover joins others of the Gothic romance type, and should please her many readers.

A Canadian publication, Christmas in the West is a collection of first-person accounts of over a century of western Christmases. Spend time with the Red River Settlers, early homesteaders, Riel's prisoners, or at a fur-trade fort. Many period illustrations also contribute to the charm of this new book. Another look at our Canadian heritage may be found in William Kurelek's The Polish Canadians, a collection of his paintings on this subject, accompanied by short anecdotes describing the inspiration for each painting. Together the stories and paintings provide an excellent look at the contribution of the Polish people to our land.

If your car's out of shape you get rid of it, right? What if your body's out of shape?

Wow!!!

How would you feel if you had a thousand dollar bill in your hand?? Probably the same way this group of Scouts did when the Tofield Dart Club belowed the purplish bill on them —Lesley Primeau Photo

Scouts get $1,000 bill

by Lesley Primeau

Tofield Scouts, who have reached the 85% mark of their needed funds to get to the Australian Jamboree, were invited to the Tofield Dart Club last Tuesday night where they were presented with a $1000 bill.

The bill took two weeks to arrive and had to be specially requested. Presenting the bill to the Scouts was Dorothy Warner on behalf of the Club's president Gordon Wilkinson and the club's approximately forty members.

Accepting on behalf of the Scouts was Armand, Lenny and Brent Eglauer, Douglas Brown, Grant and Warren Berg and Pat and Jen Hallonquist. Also on hand for the presentation was Scout Master Don Kondrat who has helped the fellows with their fund raising schemes over the past four or five months.

Milk drinkers win

Drinking milk is not a new experience for the Voltner Family of Tofield but winning a 1957 Chevy convertible is. The Voltners were vacationing at their summer cottage in St. Paul when the pizza urge hit and off they went to their favourite joint.

Little did they know that when they ordered milk and were subsequently given entry forms in the contest that less than three months later they would be driving this completely restored vehicle.

Although Leona is the official winner her luck was due entirely to her daughter, who filled out the form; a couple of forms in fact, with different family names. On October 18 Leona was informed of her good luck and the excitement since has been almost mind boggling.

First was the official presentation, then an appearance on the Good, Good Morning show with Larry Mossbridge and then last weekend riding in the Santa Claus Parade in Edmonton. With all that aside now, the car can rest quietly for the winter under the watchful eye of son Lyle, who like every normal boy who's about to get a license, can appreciate the rare quality of a 57 Chevy.

The Alberta Dairyman's Association who sponsored the promotion gave away ... vehicles of equal value. The cars were part of their summer promotion to stay and drink milk. Along with the cars, young ladies in poodle skirts and letter sweaters toured the province encouraging the use of milk as a refreshing beverage.

The Voltner Family headed by father Stan, consists of daughters Lorna, Lisa and Brenda and sons, Lyle and Kevin. With five children and two driving adults the car is almost assured of continuous use.

Indiscriminate shooter hits dog

by Lesley Primeau

Every year during the hunting season a number of other animals are mistaken for deer, moose or other wild game. This past Halloween weekend, Donna McShane reports that one shooter shot and wounded a prized Newfoundland dog not more than a half mile from her home.

McShanes, who live four miles north and two miles east, report that their dog had gone running in the yard behind the house and failed to return home at the normal time. By all accounts the dog seldom wandered far from the house and never for lengthy periods.

The dog was found Monday morning in a dugout not a quarter mile from the house. A trail of blood indicated the dog had been shot a half a mile from the house in pasture land owned by the McShanes. Judging by where the bullet lodged McShanes were able to determine the dog was shot from behind by someone on a hill shooting down. They feel there was no way to mistake the dog for anything but a dog.

Although their area is prime deer breeding land, they have posted numerous No Shooting signs around their property and now express concern for more than their dogs. According to Donna McShane, Sunday is a day when the family rides in the pasture, when children play in the field and if this kind of shooter exists perhaps he will not know the difference between a child and a deer.

"It's not responsible hunters, it's the fellows who don't give a 'damn'" said McShane who contacted Tofield RCMP and alerted the Range Patrol of the Rural Crime Watch. RCMP feel the best way to combat this problem is to constantly be on the guard for strange vehicles and note the plate number. If shots are heard, RCMP suggest again jotting down the licence number and calling the Mounties.

Members of the Range Patrol will be stepping up neighbourhood patrols and again will be marking down plate numbers for reference. McShane feels that with more awareness perhaps the problem can be controlled before a more serious accident occurs.

Suspect arson in farm fires

by Lesley Primeau

Tofield Fire Officials suspect arson in a Halloween blaze that gutted three farm buildings three miles north of the town limits. Firemen answered the call just after midnight and following preliminary investigation feel that arsonists are responsible. Fire officials will be investigating the matter further before taking any other steps.

Firemen were called last Monday, however the call was cancelled by the time firemen arrived at the firehall. The Department noted that fire calls have been reduced in the last month and hope this is some indication that people are being more cautious with outdoor burning. All county calls are subjected to a $200 fire call regardless of the cause.

Last Wednesday firemen were called to the scene of an overturned truck. Apparently the driver of the vehicle had been watching the progress of a bush fire when his truck overturned with cattle on board.

The bush fire turned out to be a controlled fire not necessitating the aid of the fire department.

Tuesday morning firemen responded to a call in the Lindbrook area when a resident reported that the in-house smoke detector had sounded and the house had filled with smoke. Responding immediately, fire fighters were unable to detect the origin of the smoke but concurred that the detector would certainly have aided their quick response.

Hockey starts

With the commencement of Beaverhill hockey action comes the promise of yet another season of action packed, fast skating hockey. November 6th marked the opening of the season's play when Tofield journed east to Viking and came away with a 5-3 victory.

Scoring for Tofield were Doug Nachtigal with two goals and John Kliensehroth, Andy Chamberlain and Lionel Williams with singles. Ed Donnon completed the evening with 3 assists, John Klienscroth, Andy Chamberlain, Ernie Machtigal and Randy Kerlinld each had one assist.

Monday night Lamont journeys to Tofield and on November 13 Andrew faces Tofield.

Hurrah for milk

There's lots to be said for drinking milk ... especially if you've just won a 57 Chevy convertible like the Voltner family of Tofield. Pictured here with the restored automobile is Leona Voltner and her two youngest daughters, Lisa and Brenda —Lesley Primeau Photo

Extra billing

Federal Health Minister Monique Begin indicated over the weekend at the Liberal convention she was planning to introduce a bill in the spring which would ban extra billing among doctors in this country.

Mme. Begin has long had this bee in her bonnet, and seems possibly to have found a new way to attack the problem. "Medicare must be 'free and accessible' to everyone," she declared, as she warned that users fees and extra billing would eventually destroy medicare.

She also warned that her new act would make it extremely difficult for doctors to opt out of the system.

Does she, then, plan next to put the doctors in uniform? And march them about under federal government orders? Would she establish by statute fixed lengths of time for removing tonsils, or appendices, delivering babies, setting broken bones, and so on? In effect, we suppose, she already has, for that is the basic premise of the fixed fee schedule which would forbid extra billing.

Would she also refuse passports to doctors who object to her program so they couldn't move to the United States, or somewhere else?

After all, the doctors didn't want the program in the first place, and many still object to being, for all practical purposes, conscripted into a social welfare scheme devised by the politicians.

Many of those same politicians are lawyers, some are architects, or engineers, and so on.

Does anybody believe for a minute there aren't specialists among lawyers, who charge fees much higher than ordinary levels? Or that there are not engineers and accountants whose expertise allows them to charge much higher fees than the run of the mill in their profession?

Why should doctors be different? How does Mme. Begin propose to ensure a continued queue for enrollment? How does she propose to reward those who take extra care, extra time, extra concentration in developing extra expertise?

Or does she visualize service degenerating to the level of the over-regulated Post Office?

"The decency committee has seen the film and finds that the $4 admission price is clearly obscene!"

Remembrance?

This country and our southern neighbor are being assailed these days with parades in many centres, speeches, demonstrations and plebiscites all protesting the concept of expanding the world's store of nuclear arms, many of them with specific reference to the planned testing of the Cruise missile in the Cold Lake region of Alberta.

It seems particularly fitting to note the enthusiasm and the devotion to their cause of these people who will take the time and make the effort to stand up and be counted in their efforts to ensure a continuation of peace. Remembrance Day, it seems, should emphasize the point they are trying to make.

Yet we wonder how many people of this persuasion will be involved tomorrow in remembering past wars, or the sacrifice of those who served, who fought, and who fell. Of those who remained at home, yet nevertheless gave their lives in the cause.

And somehow — if they're not actively involved in Remembrance Day activities as well, as we suspect many will not be — somehow it seems to us they tend to lose a certain amount of credibility. To ignore, to neglect, to be oblivious of Remembrance seems to us to negate all "they" strove for, to imply their effort was misguided, their sacrifice without meaning.

It also suggests we are developing a whole new segment of society which is convinced, against all reason, that we can thaw the icy long-range determination of Communism to be masters of the world, or who feel it is better to surrender freedom in this generation, with the hope that another generation will survive to strive, to struggle, to fight once more to regain that freedom, that independence, that democracy we now enjoy.

Garbage professionals

(IDRC) - The zabaleen, a small impoverished Christian community in Cairo, Egypt, are masters of garbage collection.

About 40,000 strong, they descend on the city at dawn each day in donkey carts to collect wastes from affluent households, hotels, grocery stores, and businesses. They gather enough organic waste to raise livestock, and sort and recycle anything else that can be used as a raw material. Zabaleen pickings return to the city's markets: places as carpets, colored glassware, toys and a variety of consumer goods.

The World Bank estimates that zabaleen collect almost twice as much garbage as the official municipal service. They charge a monthly fee for services, which works out to about $1.50 per ton of refuse. Only subscribers pay. Municipal collection costs, which are shared by all Cairo taxpayers, work out to about $14.00 per ton.

The World Bank has funded a project to improve living conditions of the zabaleen, and put their very efficient garbage disposal system on a more secure footing.

Pastimes

by Murray Shack

November 4, 1988—Defence Minister Claxton announced that Canada would send one battalion and support troops to serve in the United Nations force in Korea. Three days later, these troops arrived at Pusan, Korea.

November 5, 1873— Prime Minister John A. Macdonald resigned from office amidst the controversy of the 'Pacific Scandal'. Earlier in the year, Macdonald and the Conservative party had won a convincing election victory. This victory was tainted by the disclosure of the Pacific Scandal. The Government had promised to build a railway to the Pacific coast. Two groups were eagerly vying for the right to build this railway. Macdonald agreed to support the group headed by Montreal tycoon Hugh Allan in exchange for massive financial contributions by Allan to the Conservative campaign. When the extent of these financial contributions were fully realized, public opinion called for Macdonald's resignation. Alexander Mackenzie, leader of the Liberal party, became Canada's second Prime Minister.

November 6, 1867—The first Canadian Federal Parliament assembled in Ottawa under the British North America Act. The BNA Act provided that "there shall be one Parliament, consisting of the Queen, the upper house styled the Senate, and the House of Commons." Members of Parliament were paid $8.00 per day while attending Parliament.

November 7, 1885—Donald Smith, honoured with the title of Lord Strathcona, drove the last spike into the Canadian Pacific Railway at Craigellachie, British Columbia. Smith, who drove a plain iron spike to complete the track, was watched by a crowd which included two other prominent Canadians: William Van Horne and Sanford Fleming. After the ceremony, the CPR officials boarded a train, crossed the historical joint of track, and continued to the Pacific coast, becoming the first men to travel from Montreal to the Pacific Ocean by rail.

November 10, 1988—Grant Notley defeated two other candidates on the first ballot to become the leader of the Alberta New Democratic Party at a convention in Calgary. Notley replaced Neil Reimer, who had resigned as the party leader.

Postal service is third class

By W. Roger Worth

As every intelligent Canadian knows, the nation's postal service is a mess. Yet Michael Warren, the government whiz kid turned head poster (at $150,000 per year) has approved a $200,000 advertising campaign advising us that Post Office surveys show almost 90 percent of the mail is getting through on time.

That's hogwash. Even before the advertising campaign, the country's Auditor General had pointed out at least five major weaknesses in the Post Office's system of surveys, and now members of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business have backed the view that service is bad.

In 9,995 personal interviews among the organization's 64,000 members, 66 percent of the businesses reported that mail service has not improved, another 25 percent said the service was worse, 8 percent believed service had improved slightly, while fewer than 1 percent claimed it was considerably improved.

To add to the small business frustration, the Post Office now wants to extend its monopoly by getting government approval to force companies, other government agencies, and even individuals, to use the mails for items that were previously hand delivered at much less cost.

That's not all. The Post Office is only now talking about layoffs, even though the volume of mail has dropped dramatically, partly as a result of the recession, but mainly due to the staggering rate increases that have been put in place.

While employees in virtually every sector of the economy are hurting badly, the much-coddled posties are complaining about attempted cutbacks in the $93 million worth of overtime they claimed last year, on top of annual salaries that surpass $23,000.

The fact is, our Post Office will lose at least $400 million this year (that's $40 for every working Canadian). Mail service is still poor, Saturday delivery has been discontinued in rural areas and now they're talking about another rate increase.

Something's amiss. The British Post Office earned $300 million last year. And the U.S. Postal Service had a $436 million surplus in the first six months of this year. Meanwhile, the first-class letter rate in that country is 20 cents, compared to our 30 cent [illegible].

If nothing else, Canada's Post Office could save $300,000 by cutting advertising that is misleading and [illegible].

primeau's play pen

I know, we can't believe it either, but the fact remains, Hilda and I are still alive and miraculously still talking to one another...and this after we wallpapered one room..that's right we have survived the ultimate test of time, we wallpapered one room..count em..one!!

We might very well have papered the two we intended on doing but the gods were obviously giggling too hard and forgot to smile on us. If a picture is worth a thousand words, my only wish is that we had had the presence of mind to bring in movie cameras. I can hear the coins jingling now...and to all those folks who said we could never do it...the ultimate bronx cheer...at which I am here to tell you I am very good at giving..

There were many who doubted that we could get the wallpaper on the ceiling, truth is the wallpaper doubted it would get on the ceiling and tried its level best to stay on the floor. There is a certain knack, mind you, to getting the paper up there in the first place and then to run quickly over two chairs, one desk and a stool to the other end of the room, still holding the paper at the first end, all the while smoothing it over ever so gently with the one hand while scrapping the old paper off with the remaining foot. It was a cinch..a real cinch, let me tell you. After that didn't work we went to alternative B, which proved only to be slightly better than plan A. I am positive that somewhere in the instructions it says turn house upside down...but do ya think I could find them?? No way jose..or hose..of forks...

Want a word of advice?? When you pop into the office for a friendly chat or a non-friendly chat?? Don't look at the ceiling, it will probably save you from getting a broken nose.

On to the walls...if we had laughed any harder we would have had to been committed.

There we were, two grown people..one young and one younger, so I heard, scrapping walls, applying this flour, water, sugar mix with the zest and zeal of Picasso and then running up and down the walls like banchies..if that's the word. I hesitate to use the real word less I end up in court..catch the drift???

We think with a few minor touches here and there the front office will look as good as new, if we could just figure out what new looked like. We still have some painting to do but we think our friendship can only stand this kind of upset sparingly so we have postponed that joy...as for the other room..we plan to attack that as soon as the calvary comes or at the very least the foot patrol..soon to be followed by athletes foot and the lone wringer which unlike the dead wringer has no present or distant kin to the washing machine.

Hilda and I are still debating over whom or who as the case presents itself, should have the dubious honour of mowing the lawn and, heaven forbid...shovelling the walk..we were going to decide in accordance to the rolls of Queensberrry, but since we had no earthly idea who that was or what he knew about the Merc or snow for that matter, we have decided that the 161st person to walk through our front door, not to be confused with the back door or trap door, will have the honours. Sounds fair, don't you think...aren't you just so pleased that you get to play with us?? Aren't we having just oodles of fun?? I know I am...

Well that just about does it for another week..and I never thought I'd live to tell about it..which just goes to show you, being short isn't everything..it has nothing to do with everything and oh so little to do with this!!! And as a parting note from this fountain of misery...less than six weeks til HO HO time..so whatchya goin get me???HMMMMM???...

Alberta Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program

Almost everyone has, at one time or another, heard and felt the effects of stress - its ability to change our dispositions, performance, ambitions and our health. The weaning and immediate transport to feedlots produces a similar result in calves. A strange comparison, but one with some merit. Therefore, it would seem reasonable that anything the cow-calf operator can do to reduce this stress should benefit all parties, including the calves.

Preconditioning involves preparing calves and feeder cattle to withstand the stresses they must undergo when they leave the farm or ranch. Its goal is to improve performance and minimize sickness and death losses which often result when young cattle are sold and go into feedlots.

The Alberta Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program is designed to recognize cattlemen who seriously try to improve the health status and performance of their calves and feeder cattle through preconditioning.

Those calves processed under the preconditioned option must have been owned 45 days by the operator who preconditions them, be at least four months of age before vaccinations, must be castrated, dehorned three weeks before sale, vaccinated with 8-way clostridial, IBR, PI3, warbled treated, and weaned a minimum of 30 days before sale. These calves will be identified with a green tag and a certificate. The preimmunized option includes all of the above requirements except the calves are not weaned and identified by a white tag. Tags can only be obtained through a veterinarian or district agriculturist.

Interested?

Though it's too late to make one of this years' sales, a number of farmers have been inquiring about the program, and as such, I am attempting to set up a meeting to further introduce this program to interested farmers sometime in late November. If sufficient numbers express interest, a trip to one of the sales is also a possibility. Therefore, even if you are the slightest bit curious about the program, give me a call at the office before November 15.

News from Ministik

by Catherine Roddick

A capacity crowd attended the annual Halloween dance held in the community hall the evening of Oct. 29. The hall was appropriately decorated with witches, goblins, skeletons, black cats and other items pertaining to Halloween.

Supper was enjoyed by all.

Prizes were awarded to those with prize winning costumes with the judges finding it a most difficult task to choose those they thought best, in several categories.

Carol Lekinder was convenor of the affair and was assisted by Annette Murray, husband Woody, Grant Wilson and several of the younger set, in the kitchen.

Another dance was announced to take place at the hall on Dec. 4.

Margaret Paterson stayed with her grandchildren, John and Jill Miles of Sherwood Park, while their parents Ann and Murray were in Las Vegas, Nevada enjoying their 18th anniversary for four days.

Ladies of the Thursday group got back to swing on Oct. 21. They will continue to meet each Thursday from now until spring. Anyone who would like to join them each week is welcome.

Visitors with Jean and George Kleinschroth last week were Mrs. Violet Hart and Sarah Matheson and son Bill, all of Hanna, Alta.

Last Sunday evening family members and some friends came to the Kleinschroth home to view slides of their recent trip to Scotland and England.

At the Ministik Poll of the Clover Bar constituency, results of the election were Walter Buck, 76; Stan Berg, 44; Sig Jorstad, 22; and David Morris, 39.

There was a very good turnout at the poll with 186 out of 189 voting.

The annual games afternoon of the Crafts Centre will be on Dec. 11. There will be more news on this at a later date. A whist drive will be on Nov. 19.

Lorraine Davenport, youngest daughter of Joe and Eva has employment in the Misericordia Hospital in Edmonton after completing her course at N.A.I.T.

Your correspondent, Olivine and Verden Sears and Claudette Legault returned on Sunday evening from an 11-day Nagel coach tour to Reno, Nevada. The highlight of our tour was the stage show at the MGM Grand in Reno. Also the entertainment at the Davenport Hotel in Spokane, Wash. We saw thousands of Canada geese at several spots in Idaho and Montana.

Over the years we've been growing throughout Alberta and we've been growing with Alberta. And that means you'll not only find a Treasury Branch agency close to you, but you'll find the kind of friendly, personal attention and the wide range of financial services that keeps you growing.
And when you think about it, that's a pretty good reason to come in and talk to us. We're Treasury Branches. We're close to you.

Fifteen good reasons to feel confident about Alberta's future

The fifteen young people you see above share a very strong, common bond. Through their individual initiative and sense of responsibility, they have each been accorded the honour of...Junior Citizen of the Year.

It's an award of which to be proud. And one that inspires confidence in the future of our province, our country.

Through their unselfish contributions, each of these young people has made a vital contribution to his/her community. A contribution that has been recognized and appropriately rewarded.

The Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Awards are co-sponsored by TransAlta Utilities, which is proud to have had the opportunity to salute the courage and determination of our young people for twenty-one years.

9 scholarships total $11,000

by Lesley Primeau

Nine Tofield students have been awarded scholarships from the Alexander Rutherford Scholarships for High School Achievement fund which was set up in 1980 with $100 million dollars from the Heritage Trust Fund.

The scholarships, totalling $11,100 were presented to these students who maintained an 80% average in grades ten, eleven and twelve, however students may apply for one year only, if they wish. Students who qualify for all three years are entitled to $1500 while those who qualify for grade ten only receive $300, grade eleven receives $500 and grade twelve receives $700.

Students receiving money include David Brace who has gone into Engineerings at UBC, Dianne Henderson who has entered Nursing, Byron Roth in the faculty of Engineering, U of A, Myron Roth who has gone into Dentistry, Dianne Tiedemann who is studying Pharmacy, Katherine Undin who is studying at Grant McEwan for Travel Consultation and Elizabeth Haugen who has entered Pharmacy at the U of A. Each of these students has been awarded $1500 to help with their education.

Jillane Stacey has been awarded $300 and is currently in a science programme at the U of A while Theresa Zilkie has also received $300 to further her studies at the U of A in Education. Any student who has maintained the 80% average qualifies as soon as they enter a post secondary institution.

The programme, administered by the Students Finance Board, was incorporated to aid students in whatever post-secondary schooling they chose. According to the brochure explaining the scholarship fund, the programme will reward and encourage those people who have attained exceptionally high standards in the arts, sciences and humanities, in their careers, recreational and athletic activities as well as the high school, undergraduate and graduate levels.

Al Pollack, principal of the Tofield School feels there may be more Tofield students qualifying for the scholarship and upon their announcement, the names will be made public.

Series of accidents as winter crashes in

by Lesley Primeau

The first winter blizzard of the season hit the Tofield area with a crash as many fender benders and at least six major accidents were reported. Tofield RCMP answered numerous calls thoughout late Saturday and early Sunday. Of the six major incidents three were injury accidents.

One accident occured eight miles west of Tofield and involved a car, trailer and two other vehicles. The east bound vehicle lost control and skidded broadside down the highway and collided with the second vehicle which hit the third. One car landed in the ditch and had to be pulled out. Two of the vehicles involved were complete write offs. Although the passengers in the vehicles suffered injuries one woman, not a resident of Tofield suffered severe injuries and was transported to the U of A Hospital.

In the other three-vehicle incident, three miles west of Tofield, minor injuries were reported. All mishaps were caused in part by poor weather conditons which left driving on highway 14 treacherous.

Polled Herefords average $1067

Although last year's crowd was slightly larger, the 15th annual Polled Hereford Production Sale held at the Howard Brown Farm last Wednesday was well attended

The day long event earned the interest of many buyers who came from areas throughout the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, from as far away as Nova Scotia and Idaho in the United States.

Many buyers of the now reknowned cattle line were local, including TY Polled Herefords (R Comey and Sons), George Schroeder, John Moore, Top Bar Ranch (Muriel Rabby), Carol Swansen and the Triple F Herefords owned by F. Fleming and Sons

With the nation wide economic situation still in a slump, beef prices were down somewhat although on the average the 75 lots sold for $1067 00 It was estimated that over 100 people attended the hot beef dinner annualy offered buyers and guests.

The Polled Hereford Sale is one of the best regarded sales of herefords in the area and for years has attracted international buyers.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

The Pre-School Story session began most successfully this week, under the able direction of Mrs Elizabeth McLachlan and Mrs Carol Wideman and with the assistance of Mrs Katy McMath. Three- and four-year olds were treated to good stories, music and fingerplays and a special quiet time in the library all to themselves. The program runs six Tuesday mornings at 10:30 for approximately 30-45 minutes and there is still room for more children. If you are interested or know someone who is, please call 662-3838 to register.

We would also like to welcome two new volunteers in the library ... the above-mentioned ladies ... Mrs. Florence ... and Mrs. D... ... helping out with various programs and functions of the library. Mrs Carol Livingstone, a local writer and Mrs Joan Bell are both newcomers to Tofield. Their help should free some time for the Librarian to accomplish some of the behind-the-scenes work which results in new programs or in new books appearing on the shelves.

One of those new books is Canadian Songbirds and Their Ways. Although the bird-watching season is now over as far as most songbirds are concerned, this book will provide many hours of interesting reading through the winter months. Its chapters on migration, courtship, nest-building and bird behaviour reveal many fascinating details, and the colour plates are well worth a look.

Helen Steiner Rice's book, Poems of Faith, provides verses and prayers for almost any conceivable occasion. Her writings have inspired many, and this is the first collection published since her death.

For younger readers, Precisely Pig describes the humourous adventures of a gentlemanly pig who moves to the farm. And for the pre-schooler there is How to Travel With Grownups. Each page illustrating a travel tip ("take a knapsack of little things to do") is followed by one showing what NOT to do. But don't spoil it. The detailed illustrations provide a lot of amusement as well as sound advice.

Pool tourney so good Legions suggests annual

by Lesley Primeau

Despite increasingly poor weather this past weekend in the Tofield area, the success of the first pool tournament sponsored by the Tofield Legion has prompted the members to hold it annually in conjunction with the Central Alberta Travel League.

The first annual double pool tournament was attended by 22 teams from Calgary, Red Deer, Leduc, Camrose, Jasper Place, St. Albert, Drayton Valley and Tofield. To enter the tournament players had to be card carrying members of their respective Legions. The teams were competing for $1000 in prize money as well as individual trophies.

Rules for the tournament were drawn up by a committee of the Central Alberta Travel League and each match was a best out of three competition and the final games was determined best of five.

Prize money was divided into the three categories, A,B, and C with the winner of the A side taking home $500 and loser, $300. The B winner received $[illegible] the loser, $200 while in C competition the winner took home $200 while the loser [illegible] $100.

In the A side of the tournament Danny Lenehan and Gerald Turpe walked away with top money. Lenehan is a two time British Legion Snooker Champion of Great Britain and currently resides in Camrose.

Taking home top dollar on the B side were the brothers Russ and Dave Kelly while on the C side B. Thompson and V. Herbert won the $200 prize money. Two time Central Alberta Snooker Open Champion, Larry Bischke was also in the tournament but finished out of the money.

Trophies were also given to the winners and a special trophy was presented to Ray Vincent and Dick Thomas of Tofield who, as team members from the host community, placed furthest up the competitive ladder. The trophy, presented by the Tofield Legion was to commemorate the effort of the Tofield team in their first tournament.

The League holds an average of nine or ten tournaments a year worth an estimated $15,000 in cash prizes. Ken Olesen of Red Deer has further information for any Legion member who wished to partake in any further league tournaments.

The Sunday Smorgasborg was catered by the Ladies Auxiliary who also provided snacks throughout the tournament. Tofield organizers, headed by Vic Fairbrother were very pleased with the success of the first tournament and even more pleased that Tofield was able to put in eleven teams.

Around the town

Guess who's back from down under?? Margaret Dickson, that's who. Margaret was visiting family in Australia and spent a marvellous three weeks in the land of the kangaroo. We sincerely hope that her luggage came back the same time she did and that her trip was a superb experience.

Mrs. Mierau celebrated her 90th birthday with an open house at church. Naturally all the friends and neighbours were on had to offer their warmest wishes and congratulations on this occasion.

A group of Senior Citizens travelled to Londonderry Mall on Monday. The bus was full, but the ride comfortable and the journeying folks were able to do a bit of shopping.

Gladys Gill would like all the friends of Evelyn Richardson to know that she is doing very well, we had a good visit with her at Lacombe Hospital. Her memory is very good. She asked about her friends at Tofield. She is in a wheelchair but walks very well with the aid of a walker. She is looking wonderful. She is 92 years old. Her son Ralph is not too well.

Mrs. Beryl Garford has been visiting here from Kent, England. She came to visit her son Raymond in Vancouver and will be at home there until February, 1983. She has been visiting a couple of weeks in Tofield. Florence Ingram met her at the plane on Oct. 28 and brought her back. She has stayed with Florence and Gladys Gill and will spend this Sunday with her husband's brother and wife, the Gordon Garford's where there is to be a family get together. Monday evening she will be spending the night with the Sandy Scotts. Her sister-in-law, Myra Tomich will be picking her up on Tuesday and taking her back to Leduc where she takes the plane Wednesday back to Vancouver. Beryle (Mrs. Frank Garford) and her late husband were former owners of Lindbrook Store. It was lovely having her back as one of us again.

Students shine in Reach for the Top

In exciting and fast paced competition, the Tofield Reach for the Top team climbed the ladder and made it to the flight finals in this year's CBC production of Reach for the Top, the programme that pits students of various schools against each other in a test of knowledge.

The Tofield students, Jason Moses, Ted Wood, Kathy Wood, Robert Stutzman and Anke Jessen won their first victory in a squeaker, defeating Vegreville in the last four seconds by a score of [illegible].

In a come-from-behind victory, they entered the flight finals by defeating Leduc. Of the 32 teams to enter the Reach for the Top series, only eight teams advance to the flight finals and with their knowledge and quick button response Tofield became one of the eight flight finalists.

Barrhead, past national champions, defeated Tofield in their flight finals. However, Willard Handola, coach of the Tofield team, felt his team played their best and put forth more than one hundred per [illegible].

In choosing the students to play on the team, all interested students were asked to take a small quiz and from that Reach for the Top type quizzes were given to determine [illegible].

McShane, Earl to speak

As had been previously announced in The Tofield Mercury, a re-organizational meeting was held in the Hall on November 15, 1982, with the aim of resurrecting an inactive community spirit. A [illegible] group attended and a new executive was elected. John McShane and Brent Earl, president and vice-president respectively, will be assisted by Vera Tiedemann, secretary, and Ruth Ferguson, Treasurer. The majority of those attending volunteered to assist on suggested committees, such as Membership, Planning, Co-ordinating, Social, Historical, Youth and [illegible]. An executive [illegible] will be held in the coming week to draft ideas and plan for the coming year. Further announcements will be forthcoming following this meeting.

Much community support and assistance will be required to help the new group attain their goal of growing into a responsible and FUNctional organization. Anyone willing to assist is requested to contact John McShane at 662-2671, evening and [illegible].

Cold winds no curb for Remembrance Day parade

by Lesley Primeau

Frosted breath and nippy chills greeted residents in the County of Beaver who braved the elements to take part in Remembrance Day celebrations. The weather, perhaps indicative of that November 11th so long ago, did little to curb the spirit of County residents.

IN HOLDEN

In Holden, ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Zachariasevych in the Holden Community Centre. The Holden Sea Cadets led the procession down main street to the cenotaph where a number of wreaths were laid.

Wreaths were laid by the Holden Legion, The Legion Ladies Auxiliary, The Holden Sea Cadets, the Provincial Government, the Holden Elks, the Royal Purple, the Holden School's Senior High Student's Union and the Junior High Students' Union.

Wreaths were also laid at the Holden School by students in grades one through six.

RYLEY

The thirty-four cadets of Nootka marched in the Ryley parade as well as in the Holden procession. The Cadets who annually march in Remembrance Day ceremonies were attired in full uniform and carried the flags throughout the streets.

Acting Chief for the corp's ceremonial march was Ken Podoborozny while PO1 Kim Kowalchuk led the honour guard. Podoborozny was also PO in charge of the colour guard while PO1 Ken Ludwig was responsible for the first division. Also on parade were Officer Cadet Doug Brower, Second Lieutenant Marlene Podoborozny and [illegible] Officer Captain [illegible] Cooper.

Pastor Sid Haugen led the address in Ryley followed by the two minutes silence in remembrance of those fallen [illegible] who gave their lives for the freedom enjoyed in this nation.

Wreaths were laid on behalf of those veterans of World Wars I and II, the Provincial Government, Andrukow Farm Sales, Alberta Wheat Pool, District Agriculture, Monchak Insurance, Floral and Fancy, Ryley Foods, Ryley Hotel, Ryalta Industries, Ryley Motors, Ryley Sausage, Ryley School, Silver Seas Cafe, Sunshine Club, Treasury Branch, Wickstrom Plumbing, the Ryley Brownies and Nootka Sea Cadets.

Many other ladies in the community brought along a dish or two for the pot luck lunch.

TOFIELD

Grant Taylor provided the trumpet solo for the Last Post and [illegible].

County opens ambitious Hire-A-Student program

The County of Beaver Schools [illegible] on a pilot project that will see four county students engaged as resource persons for other students who may be contemplating employment in the community or further education.

The students, Amanda Collins from Tofield, Chris Clarke from Ryley, Leann Krause of Holden and Rhonda Shippy of Viking will act as liaison persons between the community, Hire a Student in Edmonton and the students in the various schools.

Also involved in the programme are Stefanie Bladen of the Tofield School, Audrey Pratt of Holden, Neil Nordquist of Viking, Jim Clarke of Ryley and Randy Ness who will be overlooking the programme's entire operation.

The programme will allow all students the opportunity of receiving first hand information and guidance that they were not otherwise receiving in centres that were deemed too small to support Hire a Student offices.

Students will also have the opportunity to prepare for employment and although the programme's chief aim is not to find employment for students, the resource person, by keeping posted on the needs of the community, may be able to suggest employment opportunities for some.

Placement may be found for students who wish to volunteer their time to gain valuable knowledge of a certain profession. The programme will also allow the resource person in each community up to date [illegible] summer months that might well suit the needs of students.

If requested, students in the programme may be asked to give certain lectures on a specific area of schooling or employment. As a resource person, each student will be expected to learn a great deal about handling the public, operating under much the same premise as a placement office and each student will be expected to pass on their knowledge to their fellow classmates.

The programme promises to be both stimulating and challenging and the students were part of an orientation day in Edmonton last weekend that will possibly enable them to tackle their new position with a certain degree of surety.

Comprehensives

Education Minister King has achieved at least one remarkable feat during the latter days of his tenure in the job, that being the uniting of both the Alberta School Trustees Association and the Alberta Teachers Association, two groups which often, though by no means always, find their objectives at cross purposes.

But they're united in fighting the minister's proposal for a voluntary, extended, comprehensive examination program for students in Grade 12.

As nearly as we can gather, the minister seems to have introduced such a program in answer to the number of lay citizens generally who would like to see examinations again on a provincial basis so they could see how the students are stacking up. But the exam would be taken by Grade 12's on a purely voluntary basis, with no meaning, no entrance, no scholarship awards, nothing being predicated on their achievement. In other words, only students personally interested in measuring their own absorption would even consider taking the test, which would cause at least the content they had almost had from Grades 10 to 13, not just the final year. And either they would have to lose up to four previous days of the next semester, while writing the exam in school time, or other students would have to miss four days instruction.

Unless the exam is universal, or unless it has some specific purpose, (such as university admission), we can't see where it adds particularly to the education picture, and we can see where it would complicate it a great deal. Maybe Mr. King is just flying a kite, or sending up a trial balloon, to see which way the wind is blowing. But at the moment, we don't think his kite is sufficiently well designed to fly. Nor, at the moment, do we think it should.

Beans & buttermilk Why me Lord?

by Elsie Lockerbi

Why me Lord? We hear that plaintive refrain often. Yet we should hear it much more often, in wonder and thankfulness.

I push a wobble-wheeled grocery cart up and down the aisles of a supermarket. The variety of merchandise and food available boggles the mind. (So do the prices these days). There are piles of fresh fruits and vegetables, some we are just becoming familiar with that were unheard of years ago. The cheeses, the amounts of frozen and canned foods, desserts, fish and vegetables. It really is incredible. These days the choices of items that go into our basket are dictated more by calorie consciousness than by economic necessity.

I recall pictures of children with emaciated bodies, undernourished, starving grasping for a cup of milk, a piece of dry bread. I think of countries where the line-ups are for food that might be available and not as with us, at the check-out counter.

Why me Lord? All this bounty while others starve?

Each morning I rise to glory. Sunrise over the lake, the ripples and gleams of the waves; the vivid green foliage. I see the everchanging hues and blues of sky and water; the riot of color among the flowers, the miracle of each flower. I can SEE the beauty of sunset, moonlight over land and water. I can watch with hilarity the antics of kittens on our deck, our neighbors skittering about the yard, white ducks on the pond. I can rejoice in the smiles of the babies, the achievements of the grandchildren.

Why me Lord? All this feast for the eyes.

And many are blind.

For me each day there is a joy of sound. The trills and warbling of birds; the crackling of each hen as she announces that she has produced the wonder of a fresh egg, and then the crowing of the roosters as THEY take the credit. There is the croaking of frogs in the spring, the clear-ring of crickets in the summer and the clicking of insect's wings in summer and fall. There is the gentle lapping of the waves down on the lake shore, the cries of the water birds, the cry of the loons. There is the chuckle and coo of babies, the laughter and conversation when family or friends get together. There is beautiful music as reward and tape that can soothe and quiet the spirit or set the feet a-tapping.

Why me I ask, this blessing of hearing when there are many who cannot hear.

There are men, women, children confined to wheelchairs and to beds of pain. There are many denied the ability to walk. The disease of multiple sclerosis that has crippled so many young people had spared me that. I CAN walk, albeit with a few dollars in these times. Would it be possible for you to address/graph the address on the header of the paper (copy enclosed) and this would eliminate the use of the brown bagging. Enclosing a copy of my Scandinavian News for your information, hope this can save you some time.

Again,
Yours truly,
[illegible] Maisonneuve

P.S. What is the length of the Kallal airstrip just out of Tofield? Will it accomodate a Twin Comanche?

Postal rules

Rules under which the new postal corporation will operate are still being argued and still being modified, even though they were carved in stone, for all practical purposes, when the corporation was set up a year ago.

It's almost hard to conceive with what a broad brush Parliament paid out the rights and powers of the corporation . . . which has no regulatory body to override it. At least in the case of Air Canada, it still must make sense to the government's ministry regulating transport in the country. At least it can't force all other carriers to charge higher rates than it does, although it can definitely argue the case for a restriction on the number of flights which can compete with it.

But the postal corporation is even given the right to make rulings as to what constitutes a letter, and what does not. Like Alice in Wonderland's White Queen: "When I choose to use a word, it means exactly what I want it to mean."

Business, with high security inter-office communications, legal documents, financial documents, deadline documents and so on, has increasingly found it must resort to private courier. Ten years ago such couriers, with their ultra high expense base, couldn't have broken into the commercial world. Today they're an essential element of that world.

The Post Office had the business. They had it all, because there was no alternative. But they forfeited it over poor performance. Late delivery. No delivery. Loss of mail. Even wanton destruction.

They could win it back again. They should win it again. But they shouldn't be permitted to make the rules, to decide what is acceptable, to set the prices, to limit the competition, and to carve up the field, all on their own.

Muggeridge

As close as this is to Remembrance Day, and with so much debate over the propriety of testing new nuclear weapons anywhere, and especially in Alberta, it is intersting to go back to a statement made in 1936 . . . well before the Second World War . . . by Britain's noted and oft-quoted author, Malcolm Muggeridge.

"If I believe," wrote Mr. Muggeridge, "that the soldier who killed in defense of his and my country, or the sailor patrolling the coast within which I live, was performing a shameful act, I should first dispense with their protection — that is renounce my nationality; then renounce the possessions they enable me to keep. Only then should I be in a position to preach the abomination of all warfare, and to pledge myself never to take up arms.

"It is hypocrisy for me to disassociate myself from armaments which enforce domestic order and prevent invasion, and so enable me, within limits, to live my life in my own way.

"In peace, my citizenship brings me benefits; in war, responsibilities. I cannot have one without the other."

Pastimes

by Harvey Sheet

November 11, 1918 - World War One ended at 11:00 a.m. Canada's contribution to the Allied victory was immense. Out of a total population of ten million, 422,000 men and women went overseas. Canada suffered losses of 60,000 killed and 150,000 wounded. Because of Canada's massive war effort Prime Minister Borden insisted that Canada be given the right to sign the Versailles Peace Treaty as an individual nation, rather than as a member of the British Commonwealth.

November 12, 1971 - Captain Vernon Ekman ended a hijacking of an Air Canada DC-8 by subduing a hijacker over southern Alberta. Shortly after leaving Calgary, a man armed with a shotgun and explosives, who claimed to be a member of the IRA, demanded 1.5 million dollars and safe passage to Ireland. The plane zigzagged over Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Montana skies. All passengers were released at Big Falls, Montana in exchange for 150,000. The plane was enroute to Calgary to be re-fueled for the flight to Ireland when Ekman knocked the hijacker unconscious with the blunt end of a fire axe, and then successfully landed the plane.

November 15, 1887 - Canada was a haven for American slaves seeking safety and freedom. On this date, the son of an escaped Virginia slave won the Victoria Cross, the highest military honour in the British Commonwealth. Able Seaman William Hall of Avonport, Nova Scotia served on the HMS Rodney during the Indian Mutiny and distinguished himself as a member of a gun crew at the Seige of Lucknow. Under heavy fire, and despite casualties to other members of the gun crew, Hall managed to keep a key gun in action. William Hall became the first Canadian sailor, the first Nova Scotian, and the first negro to win the Victoria Cross.

November 17, 1775 - Parts of the Maritimes were strongly sympathetic to the American cause at the outbreak of the American Revolution. However, acts of piracy by American sailors soon made the Maritimes hostile to the rebellious Americans. One incident occurred on this date when two American schooners arrived at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (then named the Isle of Saint Jean). Despite a friendly welcome, many leading citizens were taken prisoner aboard the ships, then stores and houses were looted. General Washington was enraged by this action and he made sure the prisoners were returned home safely; but he could not return the looted property.

Musings

The strain of modern business is blamed for many physical and mental ills. An early writer said it led to dreams.

Lucky lady

Sometimes you can count your lucky stars if you win once in your life . . . Dorothea Kirklund of Ryley was a double winner and in the space of two minutes. At the Sunshine Club's annual tea she was the proud winner of the quilt and the candlesticks. —Lesley Primeau photo

Holden school's future in doubt?

A "Future of Holden School" Committee, was formed at the October, 1988 meeting of the Holden and District Chamber of Commerce to act as a spearheaded group for community participation in decisions on the future of the Holden School.

The purpose of the committee is to make parents, students and the public aware of information regarding the Holden School, to obtain the feelings of the parents, students and public and to work towards maintaining a satisfying level of education for Holden Students.

A survey has been distributed to all parents of school children, all Senior and Junior High School students and the general public, to assist the committee in determining the wishes of community.

Members of the "Future of Holden School" Committee are: Don Reibblein, Holden; Hank Kallar, Holden; Walter Lotz, Bruce; Ron Malick, Holden; Mrs. Grace Sawers, Holden; Ken Sharpe, Holden; and Chairman, Mrs. Bobbie Schreitmer, Holden.

A very important public informational meeting has been scheduled by the County on Monday, November 21, 7:30 p.m. at the Holden School Gymnasium. It is important that all persons interested in the future of Holden School attend this meeting.

Ryley Scouts still need $$$

by [illegible]

Although the Tofield Scouts have almost reached their financial goal that will enable them to go to Australia for the Jamboree, the Ryley Scouts have not had the same good fortune as the Tofield boys.

Only two Scouts will be travelling from Ryley, Barry Kozdrowski and Robert McKoen, therefore only these two boys and their families have been fund raising throughout the past few months. The Scouts have been collecting bottles from every conceivable area and function, they have catered to soft ball tournaments, cleaned the Village dump and have been the recipients of some very generous donations from individuals and organizations.

However, despite this super effort, the two Ryley Scouts find themselves short approximately $2500 and with less than a month until they leave, they fear they have exhausted all avenues of potential fund raising.

The Ryley Scouts are grateful for this chance to get to the Jamboree and the condition under which they travel with Tofield is they must provide all their own funds. The Scouts find that with limited manpower they have accomplished a great deal but they still have that last mountain to climb.

The parents of the boys feel if worse comes to worse they will have to put in the money themselves if they have the funds and will subsequently be picking up bottles next year to pay off the loan. The Scouts however are determined to raise the remaining funds and implore the supporting community to offer any ideas they can. The boys are willing to do almost anything to raise the [illegible]

The Scouts are planning to leave the eleventh of December and are expected to be gone until January 16. During that time the Scouts will be touring New Zealand, Australia and ports in other countries. The Scouts, on their return, will also be taking a side trip to Disneyland.

Anyone who might conceivably have a fund raising idea is asked to call 663-3873 or [illegible].

4-H On The Move

4-H volunteer leaders are an essential part of the 4-H program. They work directly with the 4-H members and it is their enthusiasm and hard work that keep many local 4-H clubs going.

Being a 4-H leader is not an easy task and often can be very frustrating. Many people help with 4-H clubs for one or two years and then drop out. Every year there is a 30% turnover in 4-H leaders. The reasons vary, but a lack of knowledge about the 4-H program and poor leadership skills are two very common ones.

In an effort to help 4-H adult volunteers feel more satisfied and rewarded with their roles as 4-H leaders several district 4-H councils are sponsoring a 4-H Parent's Awareness night. This will be an evening where ALL adults involved in a 4-H club can attend. I'll be the resource person and the following areas will be covered:

1) 4-H Structure and Lines of Communication.
2) "First Things First" for 4-H adults - a slide bit which covers everything a 4-H leader needs to know to be successful.
3) Importance of Program Planning - how making a program plan at the start of the year can keep your members interested and active.
4) Meeting Skills - the film "Meetings, Bloody Meetings" points out in a humorous way how to run a successful meeting.
5) Calendar of 4-H Events - a trip that the 4-H year identifying all the programs for adults and youth.

So far the following workshops have been scheduled. They will be held from 7-10 in the evening.

- Nov. 18, Recreation Centre, Chipman.
- Nov. 23, Blackfalds Centre, Lloydminster.
- Nov. 24, Alberta Vocational Center, Lac La Biche.
- Nov. 29, Neglemel High School, St. Paul.
- Nov. 30, Bellis School, Bellis.
- Jan. 10, 1983, Old Timers Hall, Wainwright.

"Take these easy steps NOW and help trim your home heating costs this winter!"
Check the outside of your home for openings which can cause interior drafts — and caulk them. Weather strip all door jambs if required.
Check the air filter of your gas furnace. If it's dirty, replace or vacuum it depending on the type.
Be sure your hot water temperature setting isn't too high. Normally 49°C (120°F) is about right. If you have a dishwasher 60° (140°F) is required.
If you have a woodburning fireplace be sure the damper is closed tightly when it's not in use.
Use the lowest comfortable thermostat setting for your heating system. Lower it at night and during long absences.

There comes a time in every young man's life..ha ha..when he has to admit that he has a birthday. Now some fellows prefer a quiet time to celebrate while others, so determined not to be noticed, leave town. One such person is Peter Brown...surely you remember him...meaner than...ah, I thought that would give you a clue.

Well it seems that good ole Peter, notice now I lightly tapped over old...is celebrating a birthday, which will be yesterday by the time you read this. And how does he celebrate this wonder of wonders...with his charming family...no...with Yvonne...no...how you might ask?? He's in some foreign town giving tests to cows...exactly why escapes me but it does leave me with the distinct impression that Peter is no spring chicken. He is obviously going to great lengths to forget his impending milestone therefore I can assume he must be close to 12 or 13 or possible 16...stretching it a bit maybe...which makes one think about the exact origin of number one son Daniel...thou I remember a stork story that involves a cabbage patch and a walk in the wilderness...isn't that what all farmers tell their kids...

Oh well, despite impending security...pun..pun....Peter still gets my vote for the meanest son-in-law of the meanest-mom-in-law of the meanest theme-in-all in the whole county. Happy Birthday Farmer Brown...many more.

Now usually we don't have that many birthday greetings and seldom more than one in a single column...but...this is special...one of those foreign types that came across the water from some place called Wales is celebrating a birthday too. Probably more than two...Janet Roberts our very own Welsh immigrant is movin on up...she must be nearly three by now...

In keeping with the festive mood of this birthday we should do something special for Janet...wear green...well maybe not, I think that's a different country...how about donning a kilt...no, that goes with the bag pipes...well I have it...we can all join the Save a Wale campaign and either give Janet three cents each or tape record the crying of the new Prince of Wales...and now folks on to the good stuff...

Well that just about wraps it up for another week...I will spare you the gory details in the continuing saga of wallpapering, insurance settling and bus repairs...after all, didn't we get led out of the promise land once...

And until next week, when the sun shines, taxes are discontinued, PET retires and I win a million dollars...good luck...good buy...and save a chicken...

P.S. thank you karen for tea...and ryan for 'water'...

The Toy Report

Every year the Canadian Toy Testing council releases a detailed list of toy evaluations. Throughout the year toys are tested in homes for safety, play value and durability. The book is an excellent guide for Christmas shopping. As well as listing recommended toys, they have included a list of not recommended toys.

Copies of The Toy Report are available from the Edmonton Branch of Consumers Association of Canada. It is located on the Cromdale Campus of Grant McEwan College at 8020 - 118 Avenue. Their phone number is 474-3889 and it's best to phone in the morning. By forwarding $3.50 to the Association they will send out a copy, or if you're making a trip to Edmonton, you can stop in and pick up a copy. (Phone first if you will not be there before 1:00 p.m.)

Another report worth reading is the latest issue of Consumers Report. They have completed a test on home video games and rate the machines as well as the various games played on each machine. Anyone considering buying a video game should read the report before investing.

I have copies of both The Toy Report and Consumer Reports in my office and you are welcome to phone and inquire about specific toys.

Lakeshore-McKenzie

by Ellen Eaton

Belated news meant for last week.

Mrs. Carl Wilkie of Rosetown, Sask., spent about 10 days at the home of her daughter Edna and Arnold Jones before she and Edna left on Oct. 31 for a visit with her daughter and Edna's sister Agnes and Al Poplen at Dawson Creek. Mrs. Wilkie stayed there for a visit, Edna returned home on Nov. 4.

On Nov. 3 the Lakeshore U.C.W. served at the Brown, Hutchinson Hereford Show and Sale held at the Howard Brown Barns. The food was supplied by the Browns and Hutchinson. The U.C.W. helped get the buns, loaves and squares ready for serving and then kept the trays filled with the food while the crowd helped themselves buffet style. A large crowd was there to be served, not only at the beef dinner but during the afternoon while the sale was on and right after. Although prices were not all as high as last year, it was a successful sale and show.

The family of Mrs. Lena Yjelter is receiving the sympathy of her many friends and nieghbours on the passing of their loved one on Nov. 14 following surgery in an Edmonton hospital.

Ellen Eaton was among a bus load of senior citizens that went to Londonderry Shopping Centre on Nov. 9 for a days outing.

Some snow fell on Nov. 7 with colder air hitting the region, making roads treachorous. A little warmer temperatures melted part of the snow but even in town it is still covered on the parts where there is no traffic.

Farmers market

Goodies galore greeted the monthly market shopper in Tofield. There were probably twice the tables with twice the goods for twice the number of people. The day was a huge success and next month promises to be more of the same.

Crafts and Laughs opens new season

A multi-purpose 4-H Club, the Tofield Crafts and Laughs is open to all young men and women who are interested in undertaking a variety of projects. One of the projects that interested young people can study would be photography, another might be sewing or another might be outdoor education.

The sewing class will commence this Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Tofield arena crafts room. All interested seamstresses are most welcome to attend for a course that could prove valuable at any time.

A leader is needed for the outdoor portion of the programme. Participants between the ages of ten and twenty engage in a variety of outdoor activities like hiking or whatever and to date this year, a leader has not been found. Anyone interested in volunteering some time to this project is asked to attend on any Thursday.

Any group of four or more people can determine whatever kind of project they would like to undertake. Project leaders will hopefully be found for the programme enabling any young person the opportunity to experience a wide array of activities.

Valuable experience is gained by belonging to a programme such as Crafts and Laughs. These members who like, can learn valuable lessons in public speaking and presentations, meet with other 4-H Club members for social functions and perhaps travel.

Almost any project can be undertaken provided there is the interest and leader available. The organizational meeting of the 1982 Crafts and Laughs programme will be held this Thursday at 7:30 and everyone between 10-21 is most welcome to attend. Leaders are encouraged.

Lions to raffle Duchess

by Lesley Primeau

Who hasn't harboured the dream of driving a beautiful antique roadster around town on a hot summer day with the top down? The chance to make that dream a reality can be purchased with five dollars; that's the price of a ticket on the Tofield Lions win a Duchess Raffle

The Duchess, a replica of a 1952 MGTD, was handmade by Harvey Norman and his wife Linda who put the car together from a package. The Lions Club seized the opportunity to acquire this splendid piece of machinery and raffle it in a fund raising project.

Although the Lions have yet to determine what project will benefit directly from this raffle it will certainly be a Tofield Community project. The draw for the car will be made next year with approximately 25,000 tickets sold.

The ivory coloured dream car is made of fiberglass, has a beautiful tan interior, an eight hundred dollar stereo, sits on Michelin tires, has a Chevette engine, a GM power train, more power than you need and all the class you can handle.

The Duchess took four months to build and handles like the true spirit it is. The car must definitely be seen to be appreciated. The Lions hope to have it located on some malls in the city so people will have a chance to see what five dollars could win them.

Committee members Jim Ross, Tom Cunningham and Harvey Norman have tickets all over town from any Lions member and a number of Tofield businesses. The Duchess, valued at $30,000 would be a steal at $5.00 and the Tofiled Lions hope someone from the Tofield area becomes the lucky owner of this classy lady.

Education meet draws 300

by Lesley Primeau

More than three hundred concerned parents, students, civic officials and ratepayers attended the County of Beaver's Board of Education's meeting at the Holden School Monday evening to discuss the future of the Holden School.

Hjordis Armitage, chairman of the Board introduced School Superintendent, Fred Reinholt who went through a handout pamphlet that reviewed the legal structure, operating revenues, operating expenditures, personnel, enrollments, programme changes, costs of staff, results of the Alberta Educational Survey and possible course structure alternatives.

Basically the Board has assumed the position that the public must be allowed to participate in the decision making process when it involves the possible future of the Holden School. The Board feels that with escalating costs and declining enrollments alternatives must be sought in an effort to provide the best education for the youth of the county.

Many questions were asked by the capacity crowd, who were eager to learn whether any decision has been made as to the closure of the school in any part. Questions centered around the possible raising of taxes to cover the rising costs, or of cutting back on other commodities to ensure the quality of education.

It was pointed out that approximately 39% of the tax dollar is allocated to education while the municipal side picks up 44%. Some audience members questioned that division of the tax dollar and wondered if the county had its priorities in line.

Mrs. Armitage felt that no one on the Board could deny that the children of the County were the most important resource the county could ever have. She insisted that education for county children must take a number one priority slot and for that reason the Board wanted the input of the community at large.

One gentleman suggested that perhaps the Provincial Government could be made to bear a larger percent of the cost and that perhaps the county should investigate the feasibility of presenting just such a case to the Department of Education and in particular Dave King.

Another gentleman wanted to know whether monies had been set aside for the construction of a new school in Holden and if it had, why was it taking so long to materialize? Mr Reinholt responded that the Provincial Government has only approved demolition of the old section and that to date there has been little discussion regarding future building.

The Board has deemed it necessary to hold off on any repairs to the Holden School until programme changes have been made. The Board is investigating a number of alternatives and see themselves on a fact finding mission at present.

Bobbie Schweitzer of the future of Holden School, Committee made an oral presentation to the Board stating that in a survey done by the group to which they received an overwhelming 61% return, it was of note to mention that while most parents were satisfied with the course offered in grades one through six, they also expressed severe concern over the lack of courses in junior and senior high classes.

Students who responded felt basically they were not being given enough option courses but at the same time 51% felt it prepared them for the future. Only 30% of the senior high students at the Holden School were satisfied with the courses offered.

As a means of presenting facts to indicate that the school is a viable community

Teachers submit brief

by Lesley Primeau

The teaching staff of the Holden School prepared and submitted a brief to the County of Beaver Board of Education at their last regular meeting outlining reasons they feel the Holden School must be kept operational in its entirety.

Although the brief will not be made public until the educational meetings set for November 22 and 24 in Holden and Ryley, it is felt that the staff of the school have outlined a number of problems they feel inherent in a move to divide the schools, partially close the schools or remove students from their home area.

The brief is expected to be discussed in great detail by the Board of Education which is currently reviewing the dropping enrollments at the two schools and investigating alternatives that would prove feasible to both communities.

Last year the board requested that the Department of Education do a study outlining the problems with the two schools with particular reference to the junior and senior high areas. The department subsequently presented a brief outlining the concerns and possible solutions. The Board is determined, through the use of general meetings, to find out how the communities feel with regards to their schools continued future but remain adamant that they have not decided to close any school.

In keeping with the same subject, Fred Reinholt informed the Board of the material he will present to the community with regards to the informational meetings. The material will deal with enrollment figures, costs and capital costs.

Mr. Reinholt also informed the Board that buses would hence forth be travelling down the Highway 834 project but, could expect some difficulties in the spring when construction will be completed on the new highway. The Town of Tofield, meanwhile, is presently in the process of completing the fencing south of the school and around the turnabout.

Alberta Education has approved the sketch plans for the proposed Tofield Home Ec and Industrial Arts addition. A meeting will now be scheduled with the architect to further the progress of the addition.

Ron Pepper, assistant secretary treasurer reported to the Board that to date two offers on teacherages in Tofield have been accepted although finalization of the sale has not yet been completed. One half of the Ryley teacherage still remains saleable as does one in Holden.

The County of Beaver Bus Drivers Association has notified the Board that they are prepared to commence collective bargaining for the 1983 contract.

Ryley wins title

by Lonnie Lauber

The Ryley Senior High School Rebels (boys) captured their first-ever provincial berth, when they won the Central East Zone Crown on Saturday in Forestburg.

The team got off to an explosive start blasting Provost St. Thomas Aquinas High School in two sets.

However, in their next match against Alliance, they lost a squeaker by a score of 16-14, and went on to lose the second game 15-9. These two losses, and an Alliance's victory over Provost, saw the Rebels finish second in their pool, behind Alliance.

They then earned a berth in the finals by defeating Thorsby in semi-final play, while Alliance also advanced to the finals by defeating Chauvin.

The Rebels came on strong in game one of the finals, easily defeating Alliance 15-4 However, they fell in game two to their opponents by a score of 15-9, setting the stage for an exciting finish.

In the final game, the Rebels jumped ahead quickly by a score of 8-3, and appeared to be stuck at 8 points. However, some very intense and skillful play payed off as they went on to defeat Alliance 15-8, earning their first-ever trip to the provincial championships, which will be held in Calgary, on Saturday.

The Rebels are coached by J. Bleday and members of the team are Ken Manderson, Chris Clarke, Doug Wilde, Brad Johnson, Dwayne Gara, Lennie Lauber, Daneil Fyzik, and Dennis Clarke.

A new decade

Alberta moved into a new decade last Friday, as cabinet ministers were sworn in, but without the well known and high profile Merv Leitch.

Mr. Leitch spent the last decade in dedicated public service to Albertans, ending his term with one of the toughest fights any provincial cabinet minister in Canada has ever had to contest with Ottawa. Now he has opted to move back to Calgary to practise law.

Almost half his three and a half year term in Energy was spent in an embittered confrontation over Ottawa's proposals for a National Energy Program, one he feels is highly unlikely to be repeated. Mr. Leitch suggests it won't be repeated because there is a better understanding of provincial rights. He is too modest to claim that he had very much to do with it, that it won't be repeated because he was able repeatedly to back Ottawa into a corner where it showed clearly the entire intent of its program was to rape the resources of Alberta, to keep it subservient to the Central Provinces, and to bolster their weakening position in the energy field.

Mr. Leitch faced a bewildering and unnerving succession of ministers from Ottawa. Unnerving because each had a slightly different approach, each with the same certainty that Ottawa had made a mistake when natural resources were given to Alberta and Saskatchewan, and that, naturally, the main reason for these colonial provinces was to keep the nation at the center supplied with raw materials. And with money.

"I don't think a succeeding federal government will want to put the country through the kind of trauma it went through with the National Energy Policy," said Mr. Leitch shortly before turning over his ministry to newer and more youthful hands.

Without saying it, he probably is thinking that another such attempt would build a solid foundation under the western separatist movement, a movement many people feel is already extinct. And without Leitch, the final settlement of the National Energy Program as between Ottawa and Alberta might well have been vastly different.

Ever since Alberta was formed, Albertans have wanted to be good Canadians. They've wanted to be allowed to play in the national game. As equals. But in the last decade, they've seen the normal picture of a have-not province turned completely around to being one of the most promising of the 'have' provinces . . . only to have the props completely knocked out from under them. Unnecessarily. And without advantage to anyone. Albertans, and most other Canadians, wouldn't easily suffer the same attack again.

In the meantime, we should be erecting some sort of memorial to Merv Leitch for the huge contribution he made, especially during the eighteen month war with Ottawa. Not just some block of stone, possibly, but some sort of living memorial to the work he achieved. A scholarship, maybe? In law, because he is a lawyer. In energy, because that was where he fought Ottawa. Best of all, probably, in political science, because he wrote new chapters in the book on how to fight autocratic federalism.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

For all the scraps of news which leak out of the U.S.S.R., there are sometimes a few scholarly types who study the workings of the communist system, not from a political viewpoint but from the aspect of economics. From the writings of British Major General J.F.C. Fuller we learn that of a population of some 193,000,000 in the U.S.S.R. only some five percent of the population are dedicated communists, while the remaining ninety-five percent are simply State serfs, struggling to exist, suspecting that the world is better off, yet fearing to complain.

Economically speaking, and on far back as 1939, Finland and the Baltic States combined, had a population of under ten million. Yet with its population of 170 million, the U.S.S.R. did 74 million dollars less in foreign trade! The Berlin Wall was built, not to keep West Berliners from invading the new "peoples paradise" but to prevent East Berliners from knowing just how quickly West Germany recovered from World War II.

While foreign dignitaries are taken on a tour of Gumma experiments stores in Moscow, a few know that the goods on the floor they are taken to are for the use of only Soviet officials and their wives.

Defectors from the socialist "paradise" tell much the same story - of discontent which, when it dares to become vocal, is whisked off to "mental institutions". It is known that between 1945 and 1960, some 15,000 Russian officers and their men managed to defect from East Germany to West Germany. When the director of Soviet prisons himself defected, he claimed that as against 3,650 prisons that existed in the U.S.S.R. in 1939, the figure had tripled by 1960, with some fifteen million citizens spending part of their lives in them each year.

As news of the Polish workers activity seeps through the Iron Curtain, so the stirring of unrest pervades the Soviet work scene - particularly among working women who have long since claimed that there is discrimination against the female worker. Along with food and automobile shortages, a continuing housing shortage is glossed over as Government commands that newly married couples live with their in-laws while undergoing a two year wait on the Government waiting list for accomodation!

Little wonder that one astute Italian manufacturer has a standing offer for a free two week vacation to the U.S.S.R. for any of his communist employees. And not surprisingly, the local Communist Party in Italy has disproved of the offer! Come to think of it, a two week "exchange" program between Soviet and North American communists might do a great deal more for the private enterprise system than all the bureaucratic theories of the communist schemers.

Report from Parliament Hill

MAZANKOWSKI CHALLENGES WHELAN ON FUEL TAXES

Don Mazankowski, M.P. (P.C. - Vegreville) today challenged figures used by the Minister of Agriculture concerning federal farm fuel taxes. "The Minister claims that federal taxes on marked gasoline and diesel fuel represent less than 20 percent of the retail price" said Mr. Mazankowski. "While our research puts the figure at 40 percent."

In a letter to the Minister, Mr. Mazankowski pointed out that federal taxes have now reached 60c per gallon or 44 percent of the average price of $1.36 per gallon, quoted by Mr. Whelan.

The Progressive conservative M.P. said "although the 7c per gallon excise tax on gasoline is rebated, the tax level is still over 40 percent."

"The federal government has consistently refused to recognize the burden high fuel costs are imposing on farmers", continued Mr. Mazankowski. "Mr. Whelan's claims reveal that they still fail to understand what is really happening. They will not act because they do not realize the true extent of the problem."

The text of letters exchanged by Mr Mazankowski and Mr. Whelan on this subject are following.

OTTAWA
Nov. 16, 1982

The Honourable
Eugene Whelan, P.C., M.P.
Minister of Agriculture
House of Commons
OTTAWA

Dear Mr. Minister:

Thank you for your letter of November 3rd concerning the level of federal taxes on natural gas used in farming.

It is regrettable that the federal government has not chosen to act more promptly to assist farmers by reducing energy taxes. This year many farmers are facing a 30-40 percent drop in income and an energy tax reduction would be of significant benefit to them.

Your reluctance to act may be caused by a misunderstanding of the impact of those taxes. In your response to Mr. Hobol you state that "in the case of both gasoline and diesel fuel, less than 20 percent of the price paid by farmers is returned to the federal government in the form of taxes". In fact, available figures put the total at nearly 40 percent.

Based on your gasoline price of 38.8 cents per litre ($1.36 per gallon), current federal taxes account for 60 cents per gallon or 44 percent of that figure. This amount is comprised as follows:

Excise tax ..... 7c/gal.
8% Federal Sales tax 16c/gal.
Petroleum
Compensation Charge ..... 18c/gal.
Canadian
Ownership Charge ... 4c/gal.
Petroleum, Gas and Gas Revenue Tax 7c/gal.
Corporate tax
36% of $24.78 ..... 18c/gal.
60c/gal.

Even with the rebate of the excise tax, farmers are paying 53 cents per gallon, or 40 percent, in taxes.

For diesel fuel, the figures are very similar with the exception, as you note, that the excise tax is not applied.

Although the exact tax component of natural gas, used either directly by farmers or in the production of fertilizer, is not clear it, too, is considerable. For fertilizer, federal natural gas taxes account for approximately 11% of the retail price.

I hope that these figures will make clearer to you the burden energy taxes are placing on farmers today. Once more I would ask that the Government consider specific and immediate action in this area.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter.

Yours sincerely,
Don Mazankowski

Dear Don:

Thank you for forwarding the motion of the Joint Agricultural Development Committee Meeting. I also received a copy of their motion requesting reduced federal taxes on natural gas for farm use. Enclosed is my response to Mr. Dave Hobol, Chairman, Joint Agricultural Development Committee.

I am not contemplating fall legislation to reduce the tax, given the freezing of the Natural Gas and Gas Liquids Tax for 1983 and the possibility of a reduction in the tax in 1983.

Yours sincerely,
Eugene F. Whelan

Mr. Dave Hobol
Chairman
Joint Agricultural Development Committee

Dear Mr. Hobol:

I am writing in response to your letter of August 13, 1982, in which you request that the federal government reduce the excise tax on natural gas for farm use, which you expect to rise to approximately 76c/GJ by 1983.

In the November 1981 Budget, the Natural Gas and Natural Gas Liquids Excise Tax was set at 63c/GJ, effective February 1, 1982. You are correct in expecting changes in this tax in 1983. However, it is not necessarily the case that the tax will increase or, if it does increase, it may not rise to 76c/GJ. Revisions on this tax are being considered at the present time. While I cannot promise a reduction, this is a definite possibility.

In order to reply more fully to your response, I should point out that, for many years, Canadians faced relatively low prices for petroleum-based fuels. Indeed, as late as the 1970's, the real cost of such products was relatively stable. Not surprisingly, this had exactly the result one would expect - we became very wasteful in our use of energy. Canada is one of the highest per capita energy users of any country in the world. In the case of fossil fuels, this means less and less fuel available for future generations - and greater dependence on oil imports. It is only during the last few years that Canadians have started to seriously try to save energy. Increasing real prices have provided the incentive necessary for such conservation.

However, even today, Canadian prices are not much different than those in the United States. For example, this fall Canadian gasoline prices to farmers averaged 36.2 cents-per-litre, while farm gasoline prices in the Northern States averaged 30.9 cents-per-litre. Diesel fuel prices to farmers averaged 34.5 cents-per-litre in Canada and 34.1 cents-per-litre in the Northern States.

As you make reference to tax levels on farm fuels, I should advise you that the federal government collects only a part of the total taxes and royalties levied by governments. In the case of both gasoline and diesel fuel, less than 20 percent of the price paid by farmers is returned to the federal government in the form of taxes. No federal excise tax is collected on diesel fuel, and the tax is rebated to all commercial users of gasoline, including farmers.

I should also add that I am very much aware of the economic difficulties faced by a number of Canadian farmers. Many other Canadians are also facing financial problems. However, Canada remains one of the most prosperous nations on earth. I am confident that careful conservation and management of our basic resources will enable us to maintain that status for many years to come.

Yours sincerely,
Eugene F. Whelan
Minister of Agriculture

Toros grab loop lead

Tofield Toros picked up two big wins over the weekend and surged to the top of the standings in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League

Toros edged Beehaw 3-2 on Friday night at home and went to Camrose on Sunday where they racked up an easy 15-6 trimp over the winless New Norway squad.

Tofield's only game of the coming week will be a home match-up on Friday night which will see Bawlf provide the opposition.

With a 6-1-1 record, Toros have taken over sole possession of the lead with a slim one-point edge over Bawlf which makes Friday's contest a very important one.

Four members of the Tofield team are in the top seven in the scoring race as the first statistics of the season have been released.

Loshack is in second place with 15 points, only one back of the leader, Dixon of Round Hill.

Hendrikson had sole possession of third place with 14 points while Garner and C. Olson are tied with Sawchuk of Bawlf for fifth place.

G. Olson of the Toros is in third place in the [illegible] race, behind Wilson of Round Hill and Haug of Bawlf.

Toros scored the lone goal of the third period and that was the margin of difference in the contest with Beehaw

G. Borden, Friesen and Gilbert scored for Tofield with Olafson and Manning notching the Beehaw markers. Each team had 16 penalties.

Tofield grabbed a 3-2 lead over New Norway in the opening period and coasted to an easy 15-6 triumph.

Jamieson picked up a hat-trick for Tofield while Garner, J. Haden, Herricks and Hendrikson each had a pair and singles were scored by Enns, Friesen, Gilbert and Schmidt.

O. Trautman had a pair for the losers whose other goals came from Hafner, Yaha, Bergstrom and Selverson.

Four players were thrown out of the rough contest which saw New Norway being assessed 15 penalties while Tofield had just one less.

Gymnastics begins

by Lesley Primeau

For the third year, members of the Holden Gymnastics Club are enthusiastic about the upcoming year and the prospects it holds for continued success and challenge Unlike previous years the Club meets twice weekly, on Mondays and Wednesdays again in the Holden Gym.

The instruction, which covers students in various age groups and levels of proficiency, is provided by Kathy Bunny and based on the Alberta Gymnastics Federation's guidelines. To date 33 gymnasts have registered between the ages of 6-16 and both boys and girls are actively competing for badges on their own level.

Students come from the Holden, Bruce, Ryley and Viking areas and many have been involved in the three years the club has been in operation. Assisting Kathy Bunney this year is Peggy Brown and new this year are two training instructors, Shelly Lusk and Sherie Collison who will be entering level one instructor training next year.

The Holden gymnasts are currently entering their first session with the balance beam. The adjustable balance beam was purchased jointly by the club and the Holden School. It is considered to be top of the line quality and extremely important to this year's programme.

The focus of the gymnastics club has taken on a slightly different view this year. The club will concentrate their efforts along the line of rhythmic gymnastics with greater emphasis placed on fitness, coordination, gymnastic skill and musical rhythm. In essence it means most classes will be instructed with the aid of music.

The Club's executive body, Bobbie Schweitzer and Fay Krause have high hopes that many of their students may be able to participate in various meets throughout the area. There is also mention of possible gymnastic displays within the schools or at various community group meetings and such. Although this has yet to be finalized, interested groups may contact either Fay or Bobbie for further information regarding displays by the gymnasts.

The Christmas Show will be held on December 6 in the Holden Gym and although the next session has not been finalized, instruction will commence March 1 and run through April 15.

4-H Club Reports

by Lori Brown

The November meeting of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club was held in the Arts and Crafts room on Nov. 17th.

Lori Brown led the 4-H pledge to open the meeting.

Cathy Brown gave the financial report.

Paul Laarhuis and Cathy Brown gave reports on the 4-H team judging competition held at Farmfair.

Plans for the turkey bingo to be held on Dec. 1st were finalized. Pop and coffee will be available and the winners of the blackout game will receive a turkey plus a hamper of Christmas baking.

A Christmas skating party and meeting will be held at the Peter Browne farm on Dec. 13th at 3:30 p.m.

Copies of the 1982-83 agenda were passed out to the members and read. There are currently 16 members in this year's 4-H Beef Club.

Club leader Don Wood and Joe Brown demonstrated how to make a rope halter and each member made a halter.

Prices were set for feed costs so that all members would use the same price per unit of feed.

Next meeting will be held on Dec. 13th and is the Christmas Party.

The Ryley Ladies Fastball League, represented by president Janice Kirklund, presented the Ryley Curling Club, represented by Dennis Patterson, with enough curling handles for three sheets. The total cost for 48 handles is in excess of $1300, money the ladies raised through their Hallowe'en Dance. The team also presented the Curling Club with $200 square footage. Lesley Primeau photo

Sunshine Tea

Another splendid Ryley Sunshine Tea, Bake Sale and Crafts Sales was held last Saturday in the senior's centre in Ryley with a capacity crowd on hand to pick up bargains in the crafts room and even better bargains at the bake table.

The Ryley Sunshine Club annually holds such a do and this year was no exception. The cozy club house was filled to capacity from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. when even those not shopping for Christmas gift ideas or home baking stopped in for tea and a light lunch.

Anton Kaudalien and Johnny Pish greeted those entering while Harriet Ruddy and Tessie Kilydechuk monitored the goings on at the bake table. Laden with goodies the table was quickly cleared as many piled through the door in the opening minutes determined to purchase homemade buns, cakes, cookies and pies.

Taking care of the crafts were Phylis Ness and Bertha Winsnes while in the same area Lucille Knudsien, Alice Albrecht and Clara Kozak encouraged gift seekers to purchase some fine ceramics.

Hazel Kellal, Marguerite Pish and Dorothy Ketcher prepared the afternoon tea and lunch with sandwiches, cakes, cookies and squares. Piping hot coffee and good tea complimented the light lunch.

Sarrel Diwriesz and Agnes Hagan were kept busy selling tickets on two beautiful quilts. The quilts, made by the seniors, were large, warm and just right for the on-coming winter season. When the quilt draw was made the lucky winner was Dorothea Kirklund, who as the incarnation of lady luck herself, won the door prize as well.

The Ryley Sunshine Club has always been one of the most active clubs in town. This year's executive is comprised of Harriett Ruddy as president, Pete Ness as vice-president, Alice Albrecht as treasurer and Bertha Winsnes as secretary.

The following article on the winter feeding of calves was originally published in the September 28, 1981 issue of Agri-News. Though more than a year old, the concepts this article discusses are still applicable for 1982.

WINTER FEEDING CALVES

Before you choose a winter feeding program for your calves, you should decide what performance you hope to get from them, the level of weight gain you want, which feeding program is likely to be the most profitable, and how interest rates will affect your profits. You should also know how much feed you have on hand and the quality of that feed.

In the past cattlemen have used feeding programs for calves that are designed to enable them to gain weight at a rate of 0.5 to 0.8 kg per day. Such a program is still appropriate for calves going back on grass the following summer and for those which must be grown out before going on full feed.

Some cattlemen are now aiming for a daily gain of 0.9 to one kg. Large growthy calves, especially cross-bred animals from the European breeds, can gain weight rapidly and still reach an acceptable slaughter weight and grade AI at 45. Anyone who is feeding calves as bulls from the British breeds as bulls should aim for a higher rate of gain.

However, a feeding program that will produce rapid gains should only be used if the calves are going to remain in the feedlot until they go to slaughter. If they are going to be marketed as feeder cattle, a program that will produce moderate gains should be considered because most buyers discount fleshy cattle.

Compensatory gains on grass are higher for calves fed to gain 0.5 kg during the winter than they are with higher winter gains. Hence, calves that will be going on to grass in the spring should be fed to gain only a modest amount of weight.

When deciding on your feeding program keep in mind that feed costs per kg of gain generally decrease as the rate of gain increases. If you are operating on borrowed money, remember the cost of borrowing the money is constant regardless of whether the calves gain 0, 0.5 or one kg per day and that it represents a substantial additional expense. You should also estimate your like selling price when setting up your feeding program.

You would probably find it helpful to discuss the market situation with your local district agriculturist, livestock market analyst or a representative of agribusiness and to get a copy of the publication entitled "Winter Feeding Programs for Beef Cattle and Calves". Published by Alberta Agriculture, it contains sample rations for calves being fed to gain at various rates and sample rations for untested beef cows.

Holden Trading General Store has changed hands. Lew and Pat Emmons of High Prairie have purchased Holden Trading. Lew was in the farming and carpenter business before coming here. He was also on the school board. In the past few weeks, they have been getting aquainted with Holden residents and have stated they appreciate the warm welcome they received in Holden.

Pat enjoys painting as a hobby. Mrs. Adam Schmidt will be employed at Holden Trading. This store was formerly owned by Marylon and Reg Dolson of Ontario. The Dolson's were very active in community affairs. At present, the Dolson's will be taking a holiday before making other plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ogonoski celebrated their 39 wedding anniversary on Nov. 8.

area, Schweitzer did a brief calculation indicating that the Holden School was used by outside groups for a period exceeding 100 hours from Sept. to November.

This includes the Gymnastics Club, 4-H, Sea Cadets, Girl Guides, A.T.A. meetings, Drivers Seminar, Scouts, etc. A variety of these meetings or gatherings are related to extra curricular activities for the students of the area. It is the groups impression that without the School and its students a great deal of the community will suffer.

The Future of Holden School group are prepared to discuss various alternatives but feel the results of their survey can not possibly be ignored. With the turnout of the meeting it became more apparent that the community as a whole harbours great concern over the future of their school.

The Board of Education, complete in attendance at the meeting, will be considering the results of the survey as well as the brief filed by the Holden teachers and feel that there will possibly be a second public meeting.

A summary of the briefs and a summary of the Alberta Education report will be published in next week's Mercury to allow residents a chance to see where the concerns lie. The Monday night meeting will have been a prelude for the Wednesday night meeting in Ryley where residents will be facing the same series of questions and concerns.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Reddick

The annual Ladies Club Fall bazaar held on Nov. 5 was once again a most successful affair.

It was the 35th fall bazaar of the club and each was convened by Jean Ferguson. Patrons came from Edmonton, Sherwood Park and Tofield as well as from the surrounding districts.

The home baking, candy and surprise and fish pond articles disappeared as if by magic. The serving table had only a very few articles left.

The store vouchers as gifts for the raffle were won by Connie Lesch and Eva Davenport. The two grocery hampers were won by Verden Sears. Levine Hicks was the blackout winner at bingo.

John and Truus Vandermeer celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary on Saturday by having all family members present for dinner and the day.

The November meeting of the Ladies Club was held on Wednesday afternoon at the hall. A most favourable bazaar report was given by convener Jean Ferguson.

Four November birthdays were observed of Lil Lesch, Margaret Paterson, Gladys Reddick and Dolly Reddick. Each lady received a birthday card.

Sarah Kleinschreib and Diane Fenske were lunch hostesses.

Next meeting will be the club's annual Christmas party and exchange of gifts.

The annual meeting of the Community League was held on Nov. 10.

After a short business session it was time for election of officers for 1983.

Grant Wilson as president, Joyce Bowerman as treasurer and Carol Dekinder as secretary, were all returned for another year, by acclamation.

Pat Paterson will replace David Williams as vice-president and Jean Wittig will be responsible for supplies for the hall and for hall bookings. She replaces Theresa Regier. Carol Dekinder gave her report on the recent Hallowe'en dance, which was a most successful one.

Tickets are on sale for a dance on Dec. 4th; also the New Year's Eve Frolic. Those desiring tickets for both occasions are asked to book them early by contacting Grant Wilson, David Williams or Glen Lawrence.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

This week is the celebration of the sixth Children's Book Festival, with the theme Reed Right Across Canada. There is more variety than ever before in the books published for young readers in this country. There are many new authors writing children's books of high quality, joining with old favorites familiar to us from our own childhood. Many of these books have been chosen from time to time in this column and can be found in the Tofield Library; some of them are arranged in a special display celebrating Canadian Children's Books. Children may ask for a Book Festival sticker or bookmark when choosing books, but come in soon, as supply is limited.

Newly arrived this week on the adult fiction shelf is James Michener's Space. His newest novel is based on the American space program and spans set years, but billions of miles beyond the surface of the Earth. Fictional, but solidly based on fact, this compelling narrative is the story behind the many spectacular achievements of the last 40 years in exploring space.

Richard Rohmer's Exxoneffect joins his other best-sellers, in being an exciting fictionalized account of what might happen, as once again Canada and the U.S. teeter on the brink of political and economic war.

In his new book, The Sasquatch and Me, Peter C. Newman has, for the first time, focused not on a group, or a family, but on an individual. The Globe and Mail has described author Newman as "the Jacques Cousteau of The Canadian corporate aquarium, probing the murky depths and prodding sharks, blubbery whales and voracious piranhas". The [illegible] is an unofficial but penetrating biography of one of Canada's most controversial businessmen, Conrad Black, the chairman of the board of Argus Corporation.

Around the town

On Monday, Nov. 29th at the Tofield Arts and Crafts room of the arena, there's going to be a meeting that hopefully will bring together enough people who want to organize a reunion of all Lakeshore teachers and pupils. If you'd like to see this kind of reunion pulled off be there with your ideas...meeting starts at 8:00 p.m.

Co-ordinating students of Donna Jaque will hold an exhibition at the Garden Hall this Saturday. Evidently the works are by students from Tofield, Hastings Lake, Ministik, Deville and surrounding areas. T'would be a nice outing...go ahead...go...

If you have any tidbits you want to pass on to us or any stories you think worthy of print, give us a call. If it's little then we can put it in around the town, if it's major it could well be splashed all over...give us a call at 662-4985.

Gardeners meet

The November meeting of the Tofield Garden Club was held at the home of Yvonne and Peter Brown.

After the Garden Clippings were given out, the minutes were read and the treasurer's report was given.

It was decided to bring some of our tables from the Arena to use in the hall for the Farmer's Market for the winter.

Yvonne showed slides of flowers and arrangements seen at the Tofield Fair and the Alberta Provincial Show held in Red Deer.

The Christmas meeting will be at Mary Pemble's on Dec. 30th with the usual exchange of gifts.

Lunch was served by Gladys Johnson and Barbara Peterson while everyone enjoyed a social time.

Meeting planned

An executive meeting of the Beaverhill Family Centre was held on Monday to organize activities for the coming year.

Monday at 8 p.m., is the date set for the next general meeting.

On the agenda will be discussion regarding a membership blitz, building and maintenance plans, program development, fundraising and social activities.

The executive expects this to be a busy, productive year and one interspersed with much family entertainment, but, assistance is needed.

Lioness presentation

On behalf of the Tofield Lioness Club, Nola Taylor presents Douglas Brown, acting for the Tofield Scouts, with a cheque for $250. The funds were raised through their flea market recently and will be used for the Scouts trip to Australia.

At the Ladies' Club meeting last week each member demonstrated a different Christmas craft, from very simple egg carton decorations to sophisticated dough art and embroidered felt doll motifs. The Christmas concert was discussed both at the meeting and at the subsequent Community Association gathering, and it was decided to hold it on Sunday, Dec. 19 at 7:00 p.m.

There will be children's entertainment, and supper, and Santa Claus may just possibly drop by to bear the [illegible]-ish.

Satellites win

In extremely exciting hockey action Tuesday night, the Tofield Satellites skated away with a 10-3 win over Ryley.

An enthusiastic crowd was on hand to witness Doug Nachtigal's three-goal evening while members Andy Chamberlain, Ernie Nachtigal and Randy Kerlisk scored two each.

Dave Berreiseth scored his first of the season while Gerry Frayn assisted on four, Doug Nachtigal on three, Ernie Nachtigal and Ed Donnan with two assists and singles went to Buddy Meisyk, Ed Smith, Andy Chamberlain, Randy Kerlisk and Stephen Donnan.

Last week the satellites faced their first defeat at the hands of Minister and skated away with a 4-2 victory on home ice.

Scoring for Tofield was Ken Stauffer and Doug Nachtigal while Keith Finseth picked up two assists and Ernie Nachtigal and Lionel Williams with singles.

This Saturday, Tofield tangles with Killam in the Arena. The game starts at 8:15 p.m.

Local business firms recognize the fact that you have a choice, and they're willing to work harder to get you to shop in their stores and then hold your patronage. Try them. You'll save money, your own personal energy, gasoline and learn again just how satisfying local shopping can be.

Teachers win beef

by Lesley Primeau and [illegible]

Marilyn Eisenbraun, kindergarten teacher at C.W. Sears School is today the proud owner of 400 pounds of prime Angus beef, courtesy of the Tofield Lions and the Tofield Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Eisenbraun purchased a ticket from the Lions that enabled her to have a chance at the beef bonanza from which funds will go towards the Tofield Scouts' trip to Australia next month. The Tofield Lions graciously held the raffle for the Scouts and [illegible] their fund raising endeavours have given the youths all the help and encouragement possible.

The Scouts have less than a month to collect the remaining funds needed for their jamboree down under and efforts to collect the remaining funds are in high gear.

The fellows are still collecting egg cartons, newspapers, cans and bottles and plan to hold another paper drive on December 4. Rural pickup can be made by calling 662-2651.

In the meantime, papers are being collected and stored in the granary at the rear of the Co-op Store in Tofield.

Farmers' Market participation has been very rewarding for the Scouts and they plan to attend the December market. Recently the boys undertook a job from the Hearthstone; folding all the flyers for [illegible].

The Tofield Lioness Club recently presented the Scouts with a cheque for $250. The money was raised through the flea market held recently. The Lioness Club was represented by Nola Taylor in the presentation.

Enroute to the jamboree the Scouts are expected to be billeted with an Aussie family and will present their host family with an appreciation gift. The gift will be a handmade cedar spoon rack in the shape of Alberta decorated with Town of Tofield pins. The racks will be engraved on the back and were made by Tom Eglaur.

The family will also be the recipients of a handmade Indian doll wearing a traditional red and white dress with a maple leaf on it made by Gloria Berg. Pens, key chains, calendars and balloons have been donated by the Tofield Treasury Branch as well.

Anyone having any fund raising ideas that might help [illegible] the Scouts over the top is asked to contact any Scout. The Scouts feel they will be taking a great deal of community pride and spirit with them to Australia and feel the trip would have been unattainable if it had not been for the community's support.

Well this is certainly going to be a hit and miss column this week, which, considering everything else is just about par for me. Ever have one of those weeks?? Every week?? Need one? I can sell you one cheap..No..too bad.

Can it be..can it possibly be that another year has gone by and a shy, cute and all around nice kid is another year older? Well, shut my mouth wide open. Bradley, eat all the pineapple upsidedown cake, is going to be fifteen this Saturday..why it seems like only yesterday he was fourteen...yup, it's true, Bradley is getting on in year and up in height. Why is it that some kids just grow and grow..must be county water...So kiddo, what are you doing for excitement? Taking in a trip to Calgary?? Hmmm...I heard all about fun and frolic in that city to the South...but wait, what do I see in my crystal ball...made out of plexiglass...a volleyball game...the Provincial finals!..the Ryley boys!! WOW...Good Luck guys...Happy Birthday Bradley...

And here's one for Karen, walk a chicken, Brennan...which came first the chicken or the egg...and how would you walk an egg...make it out of dough...At Karen's house these days it is literally wall to wall dough and on a good day if you're really hard up for fun things to do...go over and she'll show you how to break lamps...

A hearty thankyou to Vic and Babe for the scrumptious cookies I had the other evening. Nothing hits closer to my heart than a great cookie...well rocks probably would hit just as hard...but who needs it. Vic and Babe...the Allen and Burns of Tofield...you either have to keep up with them or you simply get left behind...and you have simply got to be fast with the quick wit or you'll be quickly reduced to a twit wit...take care...

When I first arrived in Tofield, oh so many moons ago, one of the first ladies I met was Helen Wiklun. Lammerts had brought me up to the Lodge to see the quilting room and Helen was busy with Maggie making preparations for the quilt sale. I never knew a great deal about Helen except that she was kind and fun, and enjoyed a good joke. Helen was just about one of the friendliest faces I ever met at the Lodge. Over the past couple of years, with my many visits to the lodge, I could always be certain that I would exchange a certain amount of quick witted reparte with Helen...she was a terrific lady and a dear soul. Helen passed away last week and I'll miss these lodge visits but I'll have forever and treasure dearly, the many moments of fun and frivolity we enjoyed together. Sadly missed but never ever forgotten; Helen was one nice lady.

And just a brief word of good cheer...to the 1982 Grey Cup which the Eskies better bring home...I think it would be a delightful way for Hugh to go south...even if they don't bring it home...that team has given us some great football action over the past few years...care to make a small wager on the game...Worton!!??

Finally ..which no doubt hasn't come soon enough...do you realize that with any luck at all, and if I remember the glue...Hilda and I will soon be finished the office..and then it's open house...so be watching for the great announcement..I know I will??

Don't forget the Lions Grey Cup Frolic...or the Legions Crib Tourney...or Ziggy's birthday...on that parting note I will take my leave and scatadle out of here...see you in the funny papers...til the moon shines and pj's come in valentines...will she never let go of that typewriter???

COUNTY OF BEAVER NO. 9

APPENDIX "A"

School and School Bus Operations During Storms

1. Schools in the County of Beaver will operate on all regular school days. Should school buses be cancelled due to hazardous road conditions, all pupils will be excused from attendance. Teachers will be expected to attend and will be utilizing this time for preparation purposes.

2. Should an overnight storm cause blocked roads or the serious danger of blocked roads, school bus runs will be cancelled. Radio station CFCW (Camrose) will broadcast messages, starting at 6:30 a.m., informing parents of the cancellation.

3. Should it be necessary to send pupils home by school bus at some time during the school day because of stormy conditions, these procedures will be followed:
   1) The Principal of the school has authority to send school buses home at any time during the school day.
   2) Radio station CFCW will broadcast messages that rural pupils are enroute home.
   3) Parents, school bus drivers and others who are informed on road conditions are asked to telephone the Principal, the County Councillor or the County Office at Ryley should they suspect that stormy conditions will block roads.

4. Road and weather conditions vary considerably throughout the County. For this reason, each school will operate independently under this procedure. It is possible that morning runs may be cancelled at some schools and not at others. Similarly, buses may be routed home during the school day at some schools and not at others.

5. Parents are reminded that it is their right to decide whether or not their children will get on the bus in the morning should conditions be stormy or hazardous.

6. Please be certain that all pupils are dressed adequately warm each day. A school bus can become stranded on any given day due to road conditions or mechanical breakdown.

Christmas tea

Cool winds prevailed outside, but inside at the A.C.W. Tea and Bazaar, festive spirits kept the tea room warm. Many area residents partook of afternoon tea and enjoyed an afternoon out.

Fashion show is held

by Lesley Primeau

Although the drizzling rain and snow dampened the turnout for this year's tea and fashion show sponsored by Aspen Textiles and the Hearthstone, it certainly didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the those who braved the dropping temperatures and impending blizzard. Well over two hundred fashion conscious trendsetters gathered in the hall to watch a retinue of models display various garments they had made. Much of the fabric and material as well as patterns and instruction was provided by the staff of the Hearthstone and Aspen Textiles.

Many articles were modelled such as jeans for the entire family, outdoor sweaters of acrylic and polyester and gabardine suits. A large number of garments were made from natural fibres such as wool and cotton.

Modelling this year were Sandra, Crystal and Ryan Norton, Louella Lauber, Cheryl Ford, Yvonne Brown, Bobbi-Jo Connolly, Quentin Connolly, Mary Fels, Jan Appleby, Cindy Mueller, Kerri Krystal, Teresa Williams, Taya Anderson, Kim, Ben and Levi Jones, Myrna Boettger, Brenda Voltner, Linda and Shannon Morris, Cora Harder, Marilee Jones, Sharma Adair, Michelle Wiechert, Joanne Briz, Ellen Lauber, Judy Rudzcki, Donna McShane, Evelyn Moore, Donna Muir, Linda Klarer, Jody Yurkowski and Kathy Freeland.

Again this year, fine commentary was provided by Josie Aubrey of Aspen Textiles and Sharon Strong of the Hearthstone. The two ladies provided a great deal of detail about the making of each garment, with what fabric from what kind of pattern.

The Tofield Dancing School, for whom the funds collected go to, provided the lunch served.

At the back of the hall was an interesting display of quilts and handwork provided by Marg Lammerts whose talent extended to the magnificent posters that were displayed throughout the town.

Florence Ingram was responsible for coordinating the models for the evenings presentation while Rose Simpson is to be thanked for her work on this year's program. Taya Anderson had a rather interesting collection of Barbie doll clothes at the back of the hall; the collection was made entirely by her hand.

Hans Christensen was responsible for providing the sound system for the evening's gala event and the many ladies who served coffee and cakes must be included for thanks as they were responsible for keeping the cups warm and the plate full.

This year's door prize, a hand crafted rice paper lamp, made by Sharon Strong of the Hearthstone was won by Yvonne Brown who, as usual, spent a good portion of the evening taking pictures so those modelling could see how well they did.

Tea and Fashions '82 differed from last year in that the models walked around the tables set for guests. This allowed a better view of each garment and made for an informal get together. Those attending are urged to offer suggestions for next year's show.

May form local Weight Watchers

In this day and age of fast foods and microwaves, a variety of delicious foods is only as far away as your kitchen or car. With the plentiful food comes the scurge of the affluent world, gained weight, and for years people have been devising methods by which one might lose those extra pounds quickly.

One of the more proven diets is that of the Weight Watchers, which has consistently over the years aided those who enjoy food but don't want to gain weight. Many residents in the communities of Holden, Tofield and Ryley journey to Camrose weekly to take in this programme that consists of eating properly and exercising to some degree.

A number of weight conscious people approached life time member Barb Teaster in Tofield and suggested that she start a new chapter of Weight Watchers. Barb, seizing this opportunity to aid others along the same guide as she was, contacted the head office in Edmonton and has now embarked on the challenge of startiang a Tofield chapter.

Barb will need fifty new members by January 31 if she is to be allowed to form a chapter here. The group will also need a weekly meeting place where each participant will be weighed to control their programme.

Each week members will discuss various merits of dieting and problems which seem to prevent some from attaining and keeping their desired weight. The programme works on the theory of others helping others.

Anyone interested in joining may call 662-4618 for more information.

Vincent Bates — My Grandpa

Vincent Bates was born on April 28, 1911, in Lethbridge, Alberta. He was the third child of four; the only son. He lived in Lethbridge until 1927, when his mother, father and youngest sister Margaret, moved to the Hastings Lake area. It took them two days, riding in a 1917 Chevrolet touring car, to make the journey. Two days later the crankshaft wore out in the car.

When Grandpa and his family moved to this area, they bought a farm on which Vince did all the mixed farming. He started shearing his own sheep in 1928, and soon was travelling to other communities to do this work. He would go from farm to farm, shearing sheep from the middle of April until the end of June. To make extra money in the fall, Grandpa would go threshing as far away as Provost, for five or six dollars per day.

During his summers, living on the Lake, Vince operated an excursion boat on it, and sold home-made ice cream. In the winter, Grandpa was an all-star player for the Hastings Lake Aces hockey team. He played not only centre, but also left-wing defenseman. Ministik, Spilstead, Woodlawn, and Lakeshore were some of the teams he played against. Playing hockey was Grandpa's most loved pastime. During his hockey career, Vince created and built his own skate sharpener.

While living on the Lake, Grandpa never farmed with anything but horses. He designed, redesigned and built the majority of his farm equipment. Grandpa is still continually creating some new, useful device. He was, and is, painstakingly meticulous in everything he does.

In 1947, after his fathers retirement, Vince sold the farm and moved north of Tofield. He started joint-farming with Margaret's husband, Harold Weatherill. They grain farmed and raised purebred Hereford cattle. Some of their cattle won ribbons in the Toronto Royal Winter Fair and some were taken over to Russia; as well as winning many other Western Canadian Championships. During this time Vince kept up his sheep shearing. Grandpa spent ten years with Margaret and Harold.

Grandma, then Roberta Dunn Tiedemann, a friend for years, became the recipient of his affections. She was a widow left with four sons, one only fifteen months old. They were married in the Catholic Church in 1957 on June 29. Vince took up residence on Roberta's farm, and with the help of the sons, carried on a mixed farming operation until 1969, when he retired from active farming. Grandpa and Grandma then moved into Tofield.

Vince made many contributions to the communities of Tofield and Hastings Lake. Some of which include: being instrumental in creating the Rural Electrification Association in 1951 and being the secretary-treasurer since it's inception; investing in the Tofield Community Hall, after fire destroyed the original building; investing in the Curling Rink and the Skating Arena and being the founding chairman of the Beaverhill Gas Co-op in 1975. Grandpa is a pillar of the Catholic Church, and does much of the upkeep of the Hastings Lake cemetery - St. Margaret's.

Besides being all this, Vincent Bates is my caring, wonderful and talented Grandpa, whom I love very, very much.

Written by Dianne Tiedemann on March 19, 1982 for an English 30 assignment.

Vince Bates passed away in the Tofield Hospital on Saturday, October 23, 1982 and was laid to rest in St. Margaret's Cemetery, Hastings Lake.

Bazaar is held

by Lesley Primeau

Local ladies by the score gathered in the Tofield community Centre to partake of tea and cakes, pleasant conversation and the annual Anglican Church Women's bazaar.

Many shoppers took the opportunity to purchase early Christmas gifts and others were thrilled to simply pick up a good bargain.

Walking in the door, noses were greeted by the sweet smell of home baking and it wasn't long before the bake table stood empty and the sellers, Ena Dale and Elizabeth McLachlan idle; but only after a period of running ragged.

Dorothea Freebury joined with Edith Bailey in assuring all those who purchased crafts that they would be pleased with their purchases or their gift recipients would be equally delighted. There were many crafts from aprons to bottle warmers, knitted dolls to puppets and Christmas cards to pin cushions. Very few crafts were left at the end of the afternoon.

Kim Brulée sold tickets on the doll and panda bear. The doll came complete with an entire wardrobe while the bear was a bundle of cuddliness and charm. Louise Kyle and Shirley Neville were responsible for the odds and ends table which included everything from pots to plants. The items, too numerous to mention were snatched up quickly by many bargain seekers.

Mrs. Georgina Chrispin sold tea tickets which entitled the purchaser to all the tea and coffee they could possibly consume as well as a wide assortment of sandwiches, cookies, cakes and tarts.

Serving those who stayed for tea were the young ladies of the Anglican Church. Among them were Lori Brown, Karen Hubbard, Lisa Brulée, Jennifer Neville, Ann Tiedemann, Cathy Brown and Yvonne Van Der Kley. The young ladies were all dressed in their Sunday finest and were extremely prompt with hot refills.

The Anglican Church Women have been holding their annual tea and bazaar for a number of years and count on the support of the community to keep their various charities sponsored. This year the funds raised will be sent in part to the Wood house in Edmonton, a home for battered women, while some funds will go towards church support and mission fields.

Serving on the executive this year are Myrtle Norland as president; Louise Kyle as vice-president; Margo Dafoe as secretary; Georgina Chrispin as Treasurer; and Dorothea Freebury as social service director.

Holden news

Miss Ethel Brown visited with her sisters, Mrs. Agnes McGinitie and Mrs. Janette Lawson in Tofield, last week.

Many friends and relatives attended the open house held in Holden Community Hall on Saturday afternoon, when Pauline and Peter Hrabec, residents of Holden for many years, celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary. Their niece, Mrs. Helen Harbec, organized the event.

A surprise visitor with Mrs. Beth Campbell on Saturday evening was Arthur James, a former Holdenite, of Kamloops, B.C., who was in Edmonton on business and came down to see her. The James family were long-time residents of Holden, some years ago.

Mrs. Irene MacGregor was a Monday visitor with Mrs. Hagrud for her birthday at Bethany Hospital in Camrose, also called on another former Holdenite, Mrs. Freida Dorin. Later, Mrs. MacGregor called on her niece, Mrs. Alice Larson and Glen.

A former Holden resident of some years ago, Leslie Edward Hughes, of Rosehaven Home in Camrose passed away on Saturday at the age of 65 years. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. James (Gladys) Peterson of Edmonton and Mrs. Helen Robertson of Gloucester, Ontario; 13 nieces and nephews; and one aunt, Miss Lydia Carlson of Vancouver, B.C. The funeral service was held on Tuesday at the Foster and McGarvey Funeral Home, Edmonton with Rev. Canon T.L. Leadbeater officiating with cremation following. Ryley district news

by Lena Rail

A large crowd turned out for the United Church turkey supper on Saturday evening in the Community Hall. They came from Sherwood Park, Camrose, Tofield and Bennyville.

It was nice to receive a letter from Mrs. Norma (Reuben) Roth of Wauseon, Ohio, saying they enjoy receiving the Mercury and reading of people they knew of the Dodds and Salem area.

Ludvig Lysio and Jergen Danick have been patients in the Tofield Hospital.

I had a pleasant phone call from Edna Phillips in Church Creek, Maryland, U.S.A. Weather there is getting cool but not like it has been here lately. She says 'hi' to those who know her.

Richard Kope of California has been visiting in the Ryley area.

Last weekend, Elvera Rail and Glenn's motored to Newbrook to spend the afternoon with Elvera's son, Dennis and Louida and Kenny and on Monday, Dennis' son Darrell and family motored up to spend the day as his dad was having a birthday the next day.

Maynar and Erma Stauffer visited in Ontario for two weeks with Maynard's sisters, Freda and Beulah. They also enjoyed a trip to Niagara Falls.

Raymond and Margaret Hjelter of England have been visiting Ray's mother, brother, sister's and other relatives in Holden, Camrose, Round Hill and Calgary. They also took in the turkey supper on Saturday and after three weeks left for home Tuesday.

Mrs Mary Hodge of Nakomis, Saskatchewan is visiting with friends in the Ryley area.

Emblems presented

Five young people were recently presented with important emblems by the Holden United Church.

Receiving the Religion in Life Emblem were Sharon MacGregor, Lisa MacKenzie, Shala Schweitzer, Laura MacGregor and Jason Lusk.

Powdered Egg Market Grows Despite Recession

Maybe the best way to fight the recession is to throw eggs at it. Highland Produce Ltd. of Two Hills reports that the market for powdered eggs has increased 20 percent this year and is expected to grow by another 20 percent next year

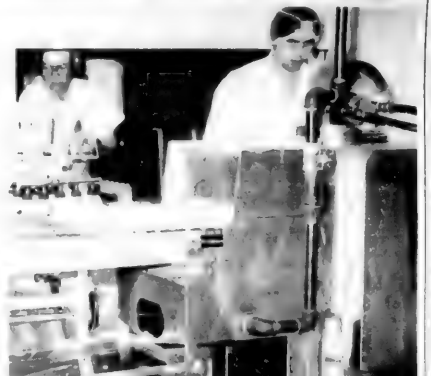
General Manager Larry Ewanishan says that thanks to a major plant expansion in 1979 egg dehydrating capacity has doubled and Highland has been able to broaden the scope of its freeze-drying operation. The expansion project was aided by a federal-provincial Nutritive Processing grant.

The plant's freeze-dryer had been totally occupied by plankton, which was shipped in from B.C., freeze-dried, and sold to California for use in fish food. After the expansion Highland has gone into freeze-drying vegetables and plans to market canned freeze-dried meals for campers next year.

We'll put the meals in zip-top cans. Ewanishan explains. Campers can cook them right in the can and eat out of the can. The cans will also be easier for stores to stack than the foil packs are.

Highland's biggest impact so far has been in eggs. The plant buys fresh eggs that are surplus to the Alberta table market and thereby helps stabilize production rates and prices. This benefits both producers and consumers.

The plant uses Alberta eggs and sells the powder all across Canada except for the Maritime provinces and provides supplies for international relief agencies which distribute to needy or strife-ravaged countries all over the world.



Highland Produce of Two Hills dehydrates eggs and ships egg powder all over the world. Here eggs are being graded and fed into the cracking machine.

Falls Feeds in Forestburg employs six, serves over 70 area farmers, and all the grains used in the feedmill are purchased from local producers.

Mill Creates Market for Discarded Screenings

A recent modernization has enabled a Forestburg feedmill to get actively involved in weed control and to put more money into farmers' pockets at the same time.

Weeds and crops are always harvested together and the weed seeds, screened out afterward. Since Falls Feeds began operating its primary mill in 1979 the firm has bought these screenings from grain growers who had been discarding them. Plant Manager Terry Falls says. The cows would just pass the weed seeds and viable grains wasted. Since we grind up the seeds and use them to make feed, we can pay $40 a ton for screenings and break the cycle.

Falls Feeds had been operating a secondary feedmill in Forestburg since 1969 and added the primary mill in 1979 with the help of a federal-provincial Nutritive Processing grant. The firm purchased second-hand equipment to help keep costs down, but the market is so promising that more efficient up-to-date equipment is being installed this year.

I don't think we could have initially broken into the primary market if we had bought new equipment when we started up in 1979, Falls reports. We would have been forced to keep prices too high just to pay it off.

Federal-Provincial Grants Boost Rural Agricultural Processing

If you want to start up a business in rural Alberta, you might qualify for a Nutritive Processing grant to help you. If you already operate a business that processes plant or animal products, or processes products of nutritional value to humans or animals, you might qualify for a grant to help modernize your plant or increase your capacity. Grants are also available to research facilities.

These grants are part of a major effort, undertaken jointly by the provincial and federal governments, to encourage value added processing of nutritive products to strengthen and diversify the economy of Alberta.

1,460 Jobs Created

Since 1975 nearly $20 million in federal-provincial grants has been offered to meat packers, feedmills, bakeries, dairy plants, and a variety of [illegible] under the Nutritive Processing Agreement. These grants have been applied to projects with a total value of almost $103 million and have been instrumental in creating approximately 1,460 jobs.

In August 1981 a new agreement was signed at Brooks pledging $28 million over the next three years to nutritive processing enterprises in rural Alberta.

Rural Development

NPA grants encourage Alberta entrepreneurs to develop the agricultural base on which rural Alberta's economy depends. They have helped businesses which process locally produced materials and, as a result, many fine Alberta agricultural products have displaced goods formerly shipped in from other parts of Canada or imported. Some of the firms have also been successful in exporting Alberta products to [illegible].

Those who have received grants are generally effusive in their praise of the program, and for many, the grant was the difference between success and failure, or it was essential to being able to start up or expand.

Ronald Doi, owner manager of the new IGA grocery store in Spirit River, received a grant to pay for part of the store's butcher shop. The store employs 11 people now, but Doi admits that "We couldn't have put a store in here at all without the grant."

Grant "A Godsend"

Newell Vegetables of Brooks received a grant in 1979 to help with a major expansion. "That grant was a Godsend," says General Manager Andy Cochrane. "Annual production has grown from 1,500 tons of carrots to 8,000 [illegible]."

To be eligible for NPA assistance, firms must be located at least 10 miles from the city limits of Edmonton and Calgary. Firms in rural centres of over 40,000 people are eligible if no other location is acceptable for the project under consideration and if nearby rural areas will also benefit from the project. These geographical restrictions do not apply to research grants.

Grants may cover up to 35 percent of the total capital cost of a new project and up to 20 percent for modernization or expansion. All applications are considered by a joint federal-provincial committee, and funding is shared equally by the two levels of gover[illegible].

How to Apply

Alberta Agriculture must receive applications before commitments toward a project have been made and before any equipment is purchased. The applicant should be prepared to provide equity of at least 20 percent of approved capital costs and be able to demonstrate the long-term viability of the project. Applications must be received before October 1 1983. For detailed information and application [illegible]

Hendy's Makes Distinctive "Licrish"

Dr Len Pearson, President of Hendy's Candies of Innisfail, believes his product is so distinctive that he has changed the spelling to "licrish" just to emphasize the point.

"We jokingly refer to all other licorice as 'plastic' because it's so hard and glossy. Ours is not as shiny or as hard," Pearson explains. "Our packaging, with colourful graphics on the outside, is very different too."

The Hendy's plant, which opened in April, was built with the help of a Nutritive Processing grant.

"No one can go into a nutritive processing business today without some form of government assistance," Pearson says, "especially when you're making a product with a low mark-up that requires a high volume. This endeavor would have made no investment sense without the grant."

Hendy's began by producing strawberry, raspberry and licorice-flavored "licrish" and this summer started making all-natural varieties. All the major ingredients the firm uses, such as flour, sugar, and oils, are produced in Alberta. The factory employs between 20 and 30 people per shift. Hendy's has already begun exporting to the U.S. and plans to expand into eastern Canada and the eastern states in the near future.

The media have focussed on the apparent incongruity of Pearson's quitting his dental practice to manufacture candy, but Pearson explains that there is a clear connection. To him the most relevant points are honesty in packaging and avoiding the use of chemical additives in food.

"When you buy our candy, you know what you're getting," he says. "As a medical practitioner, I'm concerned about all the additives in food today. I have seen quite a number of people who have been dramatically affected by chemicals in food. That is part of the reason for the all-natural candy."

Hendy's Candies of Innisfail is one of the few licorice makers in North America. Here, Randy Mottle makes a slight adjustment to the licorice [illegible]

Willy Baumgartner of Medivet Pharmaceuticals in High River compresses powdered medicine into large, cattle-sized pills, which are called boluses

Alberta-Made Veterinary Medicines Now Available to Western Cattle

Until last year, all of the veterinary medicines used on Alberta cattle were imported from eastern Canada or from the United States. Many of them still are, but Medivet Pharmaceuticals is now manufacturing a wide variety of these medicines in High River and distributing them across western Canada.

Medivet makes two dozen varieties of powder medication, and produces one dozen varieties in bolus form, a pill as big as a fist. You won't find Medivet's products in your local drug store, because all the medicines Medivet markets are strictly for veterinary clinics. The factory also does custom manufacturing for companies that serve the retail market.

It might appear logical for a firm like Medivet to start up in the middle of southern Alberta's ranching country. However, Willy Baumgartner, one of the partners in the venture says, "We would have preferred Calgary or Edmonton. We chose High River because here we are eligible for Nutritive Processing grants."

Medivet was established with the help of one of these federal-provincial grants which are administered jointly by the two levels of government under the Nutritive Processing Agreement. The agreement was designed to strengthen the economy of rural Alberta. Grants are available for firms engaged in processing nutritive materials for human or animal consumption, but only firms located at least 10 miles from Edmonton or Calgary are eligible.

Want to Make Better Cheese? Apply for a Research Grant

Build a better mousetrap, and the world will beat a path to your door, establish a facility to study how to make better cheese or some other nutritive product and you might qualify for a Nutritive Processing research grant.

The new Nutritive Processing Agreement signed by federal and provincial ministers on August 19, 1981, includes a new research initiative. For the first time, Nutritive Processing grants are being offered to firms to help pay for full-time [illegible]opment facilities.

"Research and development are extremely important if nutritive processors are to have up-to-date technology available to them," says Dr Jim Wiebe, Executive Director of Rural Development for Alberta Agriculture. "There are many possibilities for value added processing of agricultural products in Alberta, and research and development increases the chances of realizing these possibilities."

Don Lennie, Director General in Alberta for the federal Department of Regional Economic Expansion, adds that processors themselves are not the only ones to benefit from research on nutritive [illegible].

"The development of innovative processing techniques contributes to ongoing improvements in the effectiveness and efficiency of the industry," he explains. "This in turn leads to more and better products for the consumer, at lower cost."

Research facilities are eligible for assistance regardless of where they are established in Alberta. Grants can be up to 20 percent of the eligible capital, with a maximum of $500,000 [illegible].

Olds Economy Gets $1 Million Boost; Pharmaceutical Plant Employs 55

Over $1 million a year is being injected directly into the economy of Olds, Alberta, by a new pharmaceuticals manufacturing plant. The new plant, a branch of Banner Gelatin of California, was built to enable Banner both to serve the Canadian market better and to compete more effectively on international markets.

The $4.4 million plant began production in July 1981 and is the largest private employer in the area, with 55 employees and an annual payroll of $1 million. Domestic sales are the plant's major market now, but Banner hopes that up to 50 percent of production will soon be for export.

By having a plant in Canada, Banner is able to manufacture for world markets drugs that the company is not permitted to produce at its California plant. U.S. law prohibits the manufacture of drugs not approved for use in the U.S., whereas Canadian law is less restrictive on drugs made for export.

The plant is said to be the second largest soft elastic gelatin (SEG) encapsulator in the world. Banner makes SEG capsules from meat by-products and fills them with food supplements, vitamins, and drugs.

Banner had considered locating its Canadian plant in Ontario or B.C., closer to its major Canadian markets, but was persuaded to build in Olds because of a Nutritive Processing grant offered by the federal and provincial governments and the availability of reasonably priced land in the Olds [illegible].

"As well, Olds was chosen because it's only 50 minutes from Calgary International Airport," says Plant Manager Jack Bischoff. "With good connections to our head office in Los Angeles, technical experts can be up here for consultation on less than a full day's notice."

The meat by-products for the gelatin come from an Alberta meat packer. Banner obtains vegetable oil and glycerine from Canadian sources, but buys many materials from all over the world.

"Anytime we can buy material from a Canadian source, we will," Bischoff notes.

Part of the quality control required at Banner Gelatin's plant in Olds involves picking out imperfectly-shaped soft elastic gelatin capsules

De-heated mustard is the specialty of the house at Alberta Industrial Mustard in Warner. A unique process is used to remove the spicy flavor from mustard so mustard powder can be used as a high protein binder for [illegible]

Innovative Process Puts Mustard Inside Hot Dogs

Everybody knows that mustard goes with hot dogs. That is a long-established North American tradition. After considerable research, a Lethbridge-[illegible] on that tradition and now makes mustard to go in the hot dog, rather than on it.

Alberta Industrial Mustard Company Ltd (AIM) employs a unique process whereby 2 million pounds of mustard seed a year is "de-heated" removing the familiar hot spicy flavor to produce mustard powder, a substance that has long been known to have excellent binding properties. The powder is being sold to meat processors across Canada and the United States as a binder in hot dogs, sausages and cold cuts.

Skimmed milk powder has until now been the primary binder used in the meat processing industry but, says AIM President John McDonnell, "Mustard can do it more cheaply. It is a better binder, is low in sugar and has 20 percent more protein than the milk powder. Mustard has a slight nutty flavor," he adds, "but I don't think you'd notice it."

AIM built its new plant at Warner, partly because it was eligible for a Nutritive Processing grant, which it was offered in 1980, and partly because the area produces high quality [illegible].

"They've been raising mustard here since 1950," says McDonnell. "This was the first area in Canada to raise mustard."

At present AIM uses mustard seed from about 3,000 acres annually or about 1 percent of the mustard grown in Canada, but the company aims to increase that amount significantly in the years ahead.

Gerald Tymchyshyn of Andrew employs 15 in his poultry processing facility. He specializes in heavy fryers (4½ to 6 pounds) which he delivers to homes within 60 miles of the plant

Producer in Andrew Solves Ancient Riddle: The Egg Came First

Which came first the chicken or the egg? Gerald Tymchyshyn of Andrew has solved the age-old riddle first it was eggs and then the chickens His answer may not be universally true, but it does summarize Tymchyshyn's own route to success

He had delivered fresh eggs directly to homes in Edmonton but in 1979 he built a new chicken eviscerating plant on his farm Now every week he delivers 2 000 to 3 000 fresh chickens to homes in the city and to other [illegible] farm He recently extended his [illegible] of popular demand

The facility was required because of new standards which compelled Tymchyshyn [illegible] small chicken slaughtering operation (4 000 birds a year) or to expand With the help of a federal-provincial Nutritive Processing grant Tymchyshyn built a plant that every week processes approximately 1 000 birds on a custom basis and 2 000 to 3 000 of Tymchyshyn's own chickens

I couldn't have done it without the grant he reports It helped finance the plant If I hadn't had the grant, the banks wouldn't have talked to me

The facility employs 15 people and serves hundreds of small producers

Tymchyshyn specializes in heavy fryers from 4½ to 6 pounds Customers must order a minimum of 10 chickens in order to take delivery Most of his regular customers buy 20 at a time and keep them in home freezers

Citizens' Initiative Sparks Development

Consort area meat buyers can now purchase locally grown meats and local producers can have their custom butchering done right in their own neighborhood Before a group of area residents spearheaded a drive to establish Consort Packers Ltd., however, there was no meat packer within 60 miles.

The local development group invited Victor Bush and his wife to establish the company and supported the construction of the new facility Consort Packers also received help from the federal and provincial governments in the form of a Nutritive Processing grant

The new plant employs six people and processes 18 to 20 cattle and five to seven hogs a week Half of its business is retail and half is custom butchering

There was nothing like it in the area. Manager Victor Bush points out The nearest meat packer was 60 miles away A farmer would run two days just getting there and back

Bush adds that because of higher productivity he can sell sides of beef for much less than they would cost in Edmonton People from Edmonton who come here to visit relatives often pick up a side of beef They say it's cheaper and tastes better too

Processed Cheese Plant Would Be Western Canada's First

A cheddar cheese processing plant under construction in Bashaw could significantly benefit dairy producers all across western Canada The plant will be owned by the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool (NADP) and operated by five joint venture partners The Central Alberta Dairy Pool, the Fraser Valley Milk Producers of B C the Dairy Producers Co-op from [illegible] the Manitoba Dairy Co-operative and NADP The joint venture company is known as Armstrong Foods Ltd

The greatest benefit of the plant will be its ability to use excess milk production and market the finished product in western Canada At present all of western Canada's processed cheddar cheese is manufactured in the east

Up to now we've had to put up a lot of milk powder reports NADP General Manager Bill McBride We've had the plants here making powder at capacity, and ended up sending milk to Saskatoon and Abbotsford, B C , at great cost to producers We want to cut down on powder It is excess to Canada's needs and is sold at world prices, which are half the Canadian price

The $4 3 million plant will be assisted by a $1 2 million federal-provincial grant offered under the Nutritive Processing Agreement We had been considering the project for four or five years McBride points out We probably wouldn't have gone ahead without the grant

The plant will use surplus cheddar cheese from all the western provinces As well, curds will be conveyed into it from an existing NADP cheese plant adjacent to the new building Construction began in June, and NADP hopes to begin trial runs next March, with full production following shortly thereafter Plant capacity will be 15 million pounds per year

Edward Stawnichy and Verna Sharun are placing garlic sausages on racks, ready for sale Demand for quality sausage from Stawnichy's Meat Processing in Mundare has led the firm to expand its facilities significantly and to open a branch plant in B C

Sausage Quality Spurs Expansion

Some people think that sausage-makers use only meat by-products and meats that cannot be used for anything else. Edward Stawnichy of Mundare, however, buys only the best meat and then has four employees working full-time to cut out veins, trim fat, and remove imperfections.

Stawnichy has been involved in a small family-run sausage-making operation for over 20 years, but demand for quality sausage has led him to build a new facility to have a branch plant in British Columbia and is considering opening another in Calgary

Stawnichy's father started making sausages in the late '50 s when the family operated a general store in Mundare In 1979 Stawnichy's Meat Processing moved into a new facility and Edward Stawnichy became involved in meat processing full time

The new plant was built with the aid of a federal-provincial Nutritive Processing grant The facility enabled Stawnichy to increase his weekly volume from 2 000 pounds to 7 000 pounds in just one year Now production is up to 12 000 pounds per week, the plant's capacity

In Alberta, Stawnichy markets primarily through delicatessens and smaller, local stores

"I'd rather help the smaller outlets," Stawnichy says We can monitor how they rotate their stock and make sure they don't order too much That way we can ensure that what the customer gets is always fresh

Ryley meeting draws

by Lesley Primeau

Approximately 150 Ryley residents joined with the Holden residents at the Ryley School Gym to discuss the future of the Ryley School and its students with particular emphasis on the junior and senior high.

A good cross section of residents attended the meeting which was the second held by the County of Beaver Board of Education. The entire Board was present for the meeting as was Fred Reinholt, Superintendent of Schools.

Unlike Holden's meeting where a parents' group, Future of Holden School, presented a brief, the parent group in Ryley has been unable to process all their questions, although there is growing speculation that they will have a presentation for the Board shortly.

The Ryley Teachers put forth a brief stating recommendations they would make to the Board that they feel represents the feelings of the school as well as what is perceived to be the best for the students. This brief is expected to be discussed to some degree at the regular December Board meeting.

Many questions regarding alternatives were asked and a large percentage of the audience was particularly interested in cost figures It was estimated that to bus students to either school or to schools at either end of the county would cost an additional $1.16 per mile per student.

Dave Wilde, former member of the Board of Education, stated that he could not, in all consciousness support any cut back on the [illegible] staff, explaining that a cutback would simply [illegible] the quality of education now enjoyed at the school. Mr. Wilde felt the students in the Ryley area should be guaranteed a basic education and felt that perhaps not all avenues of additional financing had been thoroughly investigated.

Many agreed that centralization was not the answer and that in itself contained many inherent problems. Larger schools, do not in themselves guarantee a better standard of education.

Dianna McKean, who spoke as a parent and business person as opposed to a teacher, felt that by eliminating the school, the local businesses would suffer a great deal. The School is an integral part of the community and as such great care should be taken to preserve its very existance.

A great many questions arose over possible tax hikes to [illegible] the increasing deficit although no figure could be finalized. One member of the audience wondered how long the situation could remain until something had to be done and many others questioned the priority spending of the tax dollar.

Bob Cress, former secretary treasurer for the County of Beaver stated that the only basic question was whether or not the community would be prepared to accept less service if additional funding could not be found.

The Board of Education is currently reviewing all alternatives to the schools' future and to date have made no comments either way. The topic is expected to garner a great deal of interest in the community.

Reunion planned

Thirteen people attended the first meeting, what a better turnout will be present for the December 7th meeting and that from those attended a secretary can be elected.

The Lakeshore-McKenzie Reunion is set for July 30-31 and will be held at the Tofield Arena. A great many volunteers are needed to make this reunion one of the most memorable in recent history.

Those wishing to partake in further planning are most welcome to attend the December 7th meeting which will be held in the Tofield Community Hall meeting room.

New D.A.

Barb Bennett, formerly of Dodsland, Sask. will be taking over from Jerome Manchur who has returned to school. Barb, a graduate of the U of S. has a degree in Ag. Crop and extensive practical knowledge working in such places as Saskatchewan, Alberta and West Germany. An avid horseperson and sports fanatic, Barb is anxiously anticipating a busy year and hopes to become extremely active in the Community. Next time you're in Ryley, pop into the Ag office and meet Barb

Auxiliary needs items

Members of the newly formed Tofield Hospital Auxiliary have started to collect goods which they feel will just add to the comfort and care of the patients at the hospital.

They are currently collecting sleepers and slippers for the infants and toddlers. Slippers are also needed for the older patients but, these must have slip-proof bottoms.

Pat Litwin, co-ordinator for crafts and special projects, feels that the Auxiliary must also aquire some ingrobes. The robes can be knitted, crocheted or pieced together with flannel and should be approximately 1 metre by 1½ meters. These robes will provide warmth for many patients

The Auxiliary also plans to sponsor the New Year's Baby Contest and so far has put a baby shawl towards the list of gifts they hope to obtain.

Individuals, organizations or business wishing to contribute to the baby hamper may contact Pat at 662-2266 or Delores Roth at 662-2302.

Old, clean rpbons are also being sought out. These would be great for making stuffed toys and anyone wishing to donate some may contact the above ladies.

A request for pictures has also been made. These pictures would be hung in patients rooms and can be returned at a later date. The pictures could be dropped off at the Value Drug Mart.

There will be two tables at the upcoming Farmer's Market for crafts and Christmas baking.

It was decided at the last meeting that the penny sale would be postponed until after Christmas and the spice sale would possibly be held in the new year.

For patients staying in the hospital over Christmas, the Auxiliary plans to decorate each room festively and present each patient with a handmade gift.

Patients coming out of surgery will also be given personally decorated cards and tray favours will be available on a monthly basis.

Volunteers are needed for the visitation roster as well as the truck cart.

Interested residents of the Tofield area, who would like to join the Auxiliary are more than welcome to attend the next meeting which will be held on the third Monday of January.

Drugs wanted

by Lesley Primeau

The Town and Country Drug Mart in the Town of Tofield has embarked upon a "Great Drug Round-up" which urges [illegible] residents of the community to bring in half used or out-dated drug prescriptions to the pharmacy until this Friday.

The aim of the promotion, which is expected to involve over 200 pharmacies, is to get out-dated drugs of any kind out of the way of children.

Sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council, the Alberta Pharmaceutical Association, the Alberta Medical Association, the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses and Alberta Social Services and Community Health, the program emphasizes the number of needless poisonings that occur due to these drugs.

In 1979 alone, there were 4,041 poisonings from all causes with 1,149 resulting in the need for hospitalization.

Further to that, 3,529 children under the age of six required treatment for drug poisoning.

Pills and out-dated liquid medicines can be extremely harmful to young children and parents are urged to check the expiry date and if medication is left so long that the reason for getting it has long since faded, then that medicine should be disposed of

The Town and Country will have collecting sheets available for the younger children who may complete them and bring them back to the drug store Winners will be announced at a later date and prizes will be awarded

Jack Cargill of the Town and Country has high hopes that residents in and around the area will [illegible] all the pre-[illegible] and return any type of medication they are uncertain about.

Scouts borrow funds

by Yvonne Brown and Lesley Primeau

With less than a week before their departure to Australia, the Tofield Scouts find that they are 5% short of their intended goal and now plan to borrow the remaining funds.

The Scouts have been working over the past half a year in order to raise money to take this journey that will enable them to participate in the Scout Jamboree.

The Scouts plan to renew their fund raising ventures after they return and will then pay back their loan.

The loan will ensure that all Scouts, who have diligently worked for the cause will be able to make the trips without causing undue financial hardship on any family.

The Scouts have also decided that they will continue fund-raising projects in the event that another adventure catches their fancy. The funds will then be used to further their international exposure

To this extreme, the Scouts will endeavour to hold a paper drive the first Saturday of every month.

The papers will be stored at the Brown farm and when approximately seven tons have been collected the papers will be sold in the city.

Rural pick-up can be arranged by calling 662-3961.

As well, the Scouts plan to continue collecting egg cartons, pop cans, bottles and other returnable products. Hopefully the Scouts will continue to provide baking at the Farmer's Market each month and throughout the winter months the Scouts plan to shovel as many walks as possible.

The students will then be able to keep almost abreast of Pigheaded stupidity

Western farmers are in for a tough fight if they hope to stave off the Canagrex bill which Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan has been trying to ramrod through the House of Commons. Crowfoot MP Arnold Malone this week, in his "Keeping in Touch" letter from Ottawa, is urging farmers to get out their ballpointz and write to Ottawa . . . and he hopes their letter will be in protest.

Mr. Malone makes the point that the measure is opposed by nearly all Western farm organizations, several national ones, and by many marketing groups throughout the country, including the Canadian Manufacturers Association, and, as he says, by many others.

But the Ontario Federation of Agriculture stoutly supports the bill. Indeed, the OFA president has declared the western opposition nothing more than "pigheaded stupidity".

We're not at all sure what arguments, what logical arguments, he may have to support the OFA's case, but we doubt he will win much western support by his name-calling. If anything, that's just the sort of thing designed to make the West dig in their heels, and refuse to understand OFA's viewpoint.

Probably the biggest problem with Canagrex is that it has the potential to be so all embracing. Mr. Whelan assures everyone it isn't meant that way, that it will be just a small organization (maybe twenty employees to start) helping to market the farmer's produce in a competitive world, but while he may have every intention of seeing it work that way, he has ensured that the legislation is as broad as it could possibly be, that it gives the agency absolute powers over just about every phase of farm production and marketing. What's worst of all is that, faced with all the doubts, all the queries, all the misgivings, he hasn't diminished by one iota the all-encompassing powers written into the proposed legislation. He has done nothing to allay the suspicions of opponents.

Surely, if his intentions were honorable, if he truly hoped to serve the agricultural producers of the nation, he would at least back off in the initial legislation, then slowly introduce the broader aspects of it as they appeared acceptable to the industry.

In the absence of this, western producers must assume it is just one more act of government designed to support the already strong position of Ontario-Quebec producers, and to bring producers in the four Atlantic provinces and the four western provinces once more into a less important role, one which is utterly controlled by the Ottawa agency.

Farmers who prize their independence, farmers who feel controls rarely work in their interests, farmers who oppose the concept of overall regimentation, should follow Mr. Malone's suggestion, and write.

H.M.C.S. SIOUX RE-UNION

A re-union of all ex-crew members of H.M.C.S. Sioux and their wives, is set to be held in Esquimalt, during the weekend of September 30, October 1st and 2nd, 1983.

The Sioux's history dates back to early 1944 when she was commissioned into the Royal Canadian Navy. She had been laid down and built for the Royal Navy (HMS Viscon) and was turned over to Canada as part of a six ship programme being bought from the U. K. for our Navy.

Sioux saw action almost as soon as she was commissioned, taking part in Murmansk Convoy duty, followed by action in "Operation Neptune" the Naval Force that was so successful in the invasion of the Continent.

Her post war years included service in the Korean so-called "Police Action" followed by service as an integral part of our Navy's training Squadron.

Information may be obtained by writing SIOUX '83, P.O. Box 4371, Station 'A', Victoria, B.C. V8X 3X8.

Need tougher heroin laws

Dear Sir:

The RCMP estimate that more than 15,000 heroin addicts across Canada are spending about $2 billion a year on their habit. A recent study by an American university team concludes, moreover, that 227 addicts in one of their cities committed an astonishing half million crimes during an 11-year period while they were out of jail and using the drug. The link between heroin addiction and crime in our own country would strongly indicate that an excellent place to step up the fight against serious crime is with organized heroin traffickers.

A national strategy to reduce the flow of heroin into Canada is also needed now that the U.S. Administration's recently-announced and ambitious program against the drug will inevitably encourage importers to use Canada as an easier point of entry to North American markets. Additional equipment, expertise and training are required for our customs and coast guard officials. The use of trained dogs, for example, to detect heroin in air cargo and passenger baggage has proven successful in West Germany, the U.S.A and elsewhere, but Toronto's Malton airport, our busiest airport, still lacks even a single drug dog.

Another area of concern is what one senior customs official estimates are "thousands" of letters containing drugs being delivered within Canada. Our current postal legislation appears to be unique in the Free World in not permitting the opening of a letter except in the presence of an addressee no matter how overwhelming the indication that it contains heroin. Customs officials should be given the authority to seek a court order to open and stop mail in specified circumstances.

Two other programs likely to make life significantly more difficult for heroin traffickers:

- Enacting federal and/or provincial legislation authorizing the forfeiture of profits and property of heroin traffickers similar to that passed by the U.S. Congress during 1970. The American legislation, relying on the forfeiture principle under which property illegally used or acquired has been seizable without payment for confiscaries, has become a powerful weapon against traffickers there because it requires the lesser civil law standard of proof, namely that of a balance of probability, and not the criminal requirement of proof beyond a reasonable doubt.
- A soundly-based education program across Canada to mobilize parental, educational, youth and religious groups to reduce heroin (and other drug and alcohol) abuse. The State of Texas, for example, has an excellent program which might serve as model for provincess, and more than 3,000 groups of parents in the United States have formed a Parent Movement to counteract the drug culture as a whole by fira. ~~educating~~ themselves about drugs so that they can avoid misconception, myth and error in their dialogue with children.

Heroin and its associated crimes have become a national crisis worth understanding by every Canadian. Political will, fresh approaches and a more concentrated attack on its profiteers are required for many reasons, not least of which is the importance of better protecting our most important national resource: young people.

Past Time Pastimes

by Harvey Shaak

November 30, 1867— Prime Minister Lester Pearson told a cheering House of Commons that French President Charles de Gaulle's remarks concerning the constitution and future of Canada were 'intolerable'. Pearson stated that the Canadian Government would not be provoked into action but resented de Gaulle's interference in Canadian affairs. Earlier, de Gaulle had stated that Quebec should be given a 'level of a sovereign state, with mastery of it's nationality.'

December 1, 1869— originally Canada was to assume control of Rupert's Land from the Hudson Bay Company on this date. However, the Red River Colony was under a provisional government headed by Louise Riel. Riel was trying to achieve better terms for the entry of the Red River Colony into Canada. William McDougall had been appointed Lieutenant Governor of the territory but was prevented from entering the Colony by armed border guards. A sever blizzard enabled McDougall and his aides to cross the border into the Red River Colony and read a proclamation declaring that the territory now belonged to Canada. Before morning, McDougall and his aides recrossed the border to the safety of Pembina.

Unknown to McDougall, Prime Minister Macdonald had earlier refused to take over the territory until the Hudson Bay Company restored order in the Red River Colony.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

Like so many other things, the freedom of choice we enjoy in North America today is taken for granted — largely because we have never known it any other way! We have the freedom of choice in a thousand and one brands of foods, automobiles, clothes and homes. We have the freedom of choice in our religious beliefs, our political parties, our Clubs, profession and associates — not to mention the freedom of choice as to where we travel. We are free to write a nasty letter to government, to write a stinging letter to any newspaper and even our choice of radio stations where the call in program permits an anonymous freedom of opinion.

Yet since the beginning of time, it seems, evil men have tried to rob other men of their freedom of choice, often in the name of economic progress, security or the "rights" of a minority who must somehow be "equalized" with the rest of society by cutting all down to the same size of the smallest.

At the far end of this spectrum is out and out physical slavery — known since the days of ancient Greece, Egypt and Rome as well as Africa. Yet it was not until the sixth century that the word slavery emerged, indicated that man believed some human beings to be superior to others.

The word slave came into being when the warring tribes of the Baltic areas first marched on their German neighbours in search of more living space. Those who were not killed were taken captive. These captives delay or sclaves were promptly sold like cattle to Greek or Roman buyers. It was not until the sixteenth century that the word Sclave reached England. While history is replete with tales of serfdom and bondage, the world moved slowly toward enlightenment.

Oddly enough, many of the great figures of history did not recognize such things as human rights. Aristotle, Plutarch, Christopher Columbus, Martin Luther, John Calvin and even Patrick Henry all owned slaves. By the same token, many of today's most vocal proponents of human right and civil rights are the first to plan the way and wherewithall of choices for others — for their own good! Even Bernard Shaw once wrote a book at the ideal society where man would be fed, clothed, put to work and secured. Should man dare to want to do his own thing and not appreciate the largesse of a benevolent Big Brother, he would be quietly but firmly put to sleep!

Sing-a-long

Pre-school hour at the Tofield Library is fun filled. The children engage in story telling and sing-a-longs, just like this one all about the duck. The programme runs for another week or so and will commence again in the new year. Lesley Primeau photo

Two teams are unbeaten

There are two undefeated teams in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Killam and Mundare are both undefeated in five starts and hold down the top two spots in the standings.

Tofield Satellites and Lamont are currently tied for third place, followed by Ryley, Holden and Viking.

After getting one tie and absorbing four losses, Andrew has folded its team and has withdrawn from the league.

Games on Saturday night will see the Satellites at home to Viking, Holden will host Lamont while Ryley travels to Mundare.

On Tuesday night, Satellites will host Mundare, Holden will be at home to Killam and Ryley will travel to Viking.

The regular schedule will continue until the middle of February and will be followed by playoffs with four teams involved.

Tofield blasted Ryley 10-3 last week and then were doubled 8-4 by the new entry from Killam.

In the other two games that were played, Holden was edged 6-5 by Mundare and Lamont trounced Ryley by a 9-4 count.

A game between Viking and Killam was postponed and results of a contest between Mundare and Lamont was not forwarded to CFCW.

Although The Mercury has just received a league schedule, the paper would also appreciate it if a copy of the list of executive members and team representatives could be forwarded by the league.

In the contest with Killam, Tofield's attack was led by Andy Chamerlain when netted two goals and added two assists with the other Satellite markers coming from Doug Hochkigel and Gary Fraya.

primeau's play pen

by Lesley Primeau

Let me be the first to congratulate Marie Werton on winning that magnificent bet the other day. With all that lot I am certain that she will want to buy everyone a candy cane ..at the very least. Seems Werton and I engaged in a little money speculating...on the Green and Gold and I lost.

Of course that doesn't mean I bet against Edmonton, it just means they won by more points than I thought they would. How'd I know the Eskimos had an in upstairs and could make it rain, drizzle and snow on command. I mean look at their coach...didn't he once pick the wind in the third quarter 'cause he thought the direction would change...really now...

Actually I thought Toronto played well in the first half...but then the fancy footwork and dedicated teamwork of the Eskies took over...so I lost the bet...might just as well head down to the loan department and sell my soul...or at least the land. I just can't imagine where Werton thinks she can spend the entire amount in Tofield.

Let me put it to you this way...how many local businesses can handle that much cash all at one time?? I dunno, it might have been a little more than I should have bet...I'll know for next year...next year it's back to the quarters...

I smashed a knee the other day...where...the Ryley Curling rink...why...escapes me... One Strichuk was certain that I could master the finer points of curling if I just took the time...well seeing as how I have drastically reduced my physical activity lately...I am beginning to feel like Hercules after the haircut...get my drift??? But have no fear, I may try this curling thing again ..tho I doubt it...heck...you get less bruises playing racquetball...which I haven't played in awhile either...

And about that goat...Ryley has the wonder ticket thing where you buy one for a friend and if he's unlucky he gets to exercise a goat for a week. Sound bizarre...struck my funny bone too. Trouble is with any luck...especially like I've had in the last two months, I will win that goat...I wonder if he's a very good watch goat..??

Don't forget to give the office plenty of warning if you have any Christmas things coming up. Holden plans to have Santa visit this Saturday, the School's are prepering their concerts, the various community groups are gearing up and I have taken out extensive stock in Valium. If you do have something you want covered give us a call. If I don't know..I won't show...and they said I'd never make it...

Our office is beginning to look a lot better...we're still entertaining the idea of having an office opening or what have you...we'll keep you posted...

That just about wraps up this for that if only I could get the shoe on the right foot which generally speaking is not where I left it last. Now don't forget to make your Christmas wish...you can never tell when the Great Pumpkin will be listening...

Ryley attends finals

by Lonnie Lowen

James Fowler High School, Calgary was the site of the 13th annual 'A' Boy's Provincial volleyball championships, last Saturday, and the Ryley Rebels were one of the eight teams present for the competition.

The Rebels played the host team, Acme. Here, the Rebels got their first taste of provincial volleyball, and unfortunately they did not do so well, losing the match in two straight games.

In their second match, the Rebels got tough, and played perhaps the best volleyball they've played all season, quite convincingly defeating Westlock in the first game. In game two, the two very evenly matched teams battled it out, and this time St. Mary's came out on top. This forced a third and deciding game, which proved to be one of the most thrilling games of the tournament. After playing some very close volleyball, the Rebels got into trouble late in the game, falling behind by a score of 13-8.

However, the team regained it's composure, and slowly fought back to tie the game at 14. Again Ryley fell behind, and faced a possible game and match situation. But some fine play paid off as the rebels went on to defeat St. Mary's 17-15 and win the match.

The Rebels then went into their final match against Pincher Creek. After losing the first game, the team began to crumble in game two and it wasn't until the last points of the game that they began to make a comeback. However, it was too late to make a difference, and St. Michaels went on to win the match, leaving Ryley, Westlock and Pincher Creek in a three-way tie for second place in the 'B' Pool, each having won one match. However, because Westlock had won one game in their match against Ryley, they held a record of 3-4, while Ryley was 2-4, and St. Michael's was 2-4, thus eliminating Ryley and St. Michaels from entering the playoffs.

For the Ryley Rebels, this season, even though it was not capped with a provincial title, was one of the most competitive and memorable seasons in the history of Ryley High School volleyball. Not only was this the first time a Ryley team made the provincials but, it was the first time any volleyball team in the county made the provincials. The volleyball season draws to a close with the county tournament this Saturday in Viking.

Toros still 1st

Tofield Toros still have sole possession of first place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

But, they are being hard-pressed.

Toros have ten points following action during the past week and three teams, Bawlf, Bashaw and Round hill are all deadlocked in second place, only one point behind the Tofielders.

In their only-match-up of the past week, Toros and Bawlf battled to a 2-2 draw in Tofield on Friday night in a penalty-studded contest.

Only one game has been scheduled for the Toros in the coming week and that will be on Friday night when they will host second place Round Hill in a fight for the league lead.

No games have been scheduled in the league for Sunday night.

League officials are working on plans for the annual All Star game which will be played in Camrose on Jan. 18th.

On that occasion, the defending champions from Bawlf will face an all star line-up composed of players from all other teams in the league.

Planning for the league's second awards night dinner, scheduled for April in Camrose, are also underway and details should be announced early in the new year.

In Friday's contest with Bawlf, Hendrickson came up with both Tofield goals while B. Sawchuk and Campbell replied for Bawlf.

The wild match saw Tofield being assessed a total of twenty-two penalties while Bawlf had only eight.

GUIDE NEWS

by the Oriole Patrol

Hi folks! We are the Tofield guides. We have done some fun things such as: an area rally at Killam with challenges, games and a campfire. We also went on a hike of about 5 km at the Tiedemann farm and there we did challenges on an open fire (maybe your parents saw us when they went by on the highway). We learned about things we saw and did. Soon we will be going roller skating and then we will be skating at the Coliseum with a party for Brownies, Guides and families as our Christmas wind-up. On Nov. 11 we marched and carried wreaths with the Legion and other groups.

If you are interested in Guides please contact 662-2280, Mrs. Tiedemann and 662-2363, Mrs. Paulsen.

FASHIONS IN VELVET

Add a special touch to your holiday wardrobe with a velvet outfit. Expensive upkeep need not accompany the outfit if washable velvet is chosen as the fabric. Even the younger members of the family can be clad in velvet with its easy care properties.

A few tips to keep in mind when sewing washable velvets will make sewing them as easy as their care.

Choose patterns with as few design lines and darts as possible to enhance the beauty of velvet. Because velvet has a nap, extra fabric is required for laying pattern pieces in one direction. Usually .5 metres is sufficient for a "with nap" layout.

Since many washable [illegible] cotton or a high percentage of cotton combined with polyester or viscose, the fabric should be pre-shrunk. Use the same laundering method to preshrink that will be used on the finished garment.

When laying out pattern pieces, be sure to follow the nap. For richest color, place pieces with the nap running towards the top of the garment. To avoid marks on velvet, place pins in seam allowances and remove pins as soon as possible. Any marking should be made with chalk, or tailor's tacks using silk or cotton thread. Avoid using a tracing wheel.

Interfacings slightly lighter in weight than the velvet work best. Do not use fusible interfacings.

When pressing seams use a thick towel on surface of the ironing board to prevent crushing the nap. Always press on the wrong side of washable velvet using a steam iron. Place paper under seams and darts while pressing to avoid imprints.

By following care recommendations carefully a velvet Christmas outfit will last for many occasions throughout the year.

Descriptions of hardware and software, practical applications and how producers view their usefulness are some of the topics to be discussed. Choosing the right system for your operation is also included in the agenda. The registration fee is $25 per person and pre-registration is required by Nov. 22. For more information give us a call at Ryley or phone the D.A. office in Camrose.

Revision of federal electoral boundaries in Alberta.

Six new House of Commons seats in Alberta

The 1981 census reports a provincial population of 2,237,724, entitling Alberta to six additional seats in the House of Commons, increasing the province's representation to 27. The Electoral Boundaries Commission appointed to redraw electoral district boundaries has now prepared its proposals in accordance with the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act.

Changes in electoral district boundaries

Changes proposed by the commission are set out in Part 3 of the following notice and projected electoral boundaries are outlined on the maps appearing on pages 4, 5, 6 and 7. Reasons for the proposed new boundaries appear in Part 4, page 8.

Your opinions will be heard in public hearings

You will have an opportunity to voice your reactions and your opinions on the proposed boundary readjustments at public hearings to be held by the commission in all parts of the province. Sittings are scheduled to commence January 11, 1983, finishing on February 10, 1983, as detailed in Part 1, page 2. Those wishing to make representations at these sittings are required to give notice of their intentions within 23 days of the date of this notice, as set out in Part 1, page 2. Rules for the sittings are outlined in Part 2, page 3.

Part 3

NOTICE OF SITTINGS FOR THE HEARING OF REPRESENTATIONS

In November of 1964, Parliament enacted a law called the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act. This law brought into being a new method for fixing the boundaries of federal electoral districts (constituences). It authorized the appointment in each province of an independent commission to be responsible for recommending the sizes of federal electoral districts — as well as their shapes and names — and it also laid down the principle of representation by population as nearly as might be accomplished. The Act, as amended, permits the commission when necessary or desirable to take into account special geographic considerations, the sparsity or density of population of various regions of the province, the accessibility of such regions, the size or shape thereof and any special community or diversity of interests of the inhabitants of the various regions of the province.

In 1975, commissions appointed under the new statute carried out the task of readjusting electoral districts in their respective provinces in line with the census of 1971. The new boundaries were made official in 1976.

The Act calls for re-examination of the electoral boundaries following each decennial census, to take into account population growths, shifts and changes. The census of 1981 revealed those changes which took place since the last reapportionment. Accordingly, a proclamation was issued on May 28, 1982, appointing new commissions in all provinces, to recommend such alterations in the federal electoral boundaries as might be required to reflect the census changes.

The Chairman of the Alberta Commission is The Honourable Mr. Justice W. J. Cameron Kirby, Justice of the Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta. Serving on the commission are Mrs. Hilda Wilson of Vermilion, Alberta and Mr. Kenneth A. Wark of Edmonton, Alberta.

The census of 1981 established the population of Alberta as 2,237,724. Pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution Acts, 1867-1982, Alberta became entitled to 27 seats in the House of Commons, an increase of 6 over its present representation.

Dividing the population by 27 yields an electoral quota for each federal riding in the Province of Alberta of 82,878. The Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act charges the Electoral Boundaries Commission with the responsibility of creating electoral districts whose population shall correspond "as nearly as possible to the electoral quota for the province." The commission is empowered to deviate from the electoral quota in circumstances specified in the Act to an extent no greater than or less than 25%, which in Alberta, imposes a maximum population of 103,597 and a minimum of 62,159 in each constituency.

The Alberta Commission has now concluded the first phase of its work. Attached as Part 3 of this notice is a map which shows the proposed electoral districts and their names. Along with the map is a schedule of each of these proposed electoral districts describing the boundaries and stating the populations. Attached as Part 4 of this notice are reasons cited by the commission for drawing electoral district boundaries in the manner set forth.

Pursuant to the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act, the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Alberta will hold public sittings for the hearing of representations on the matter of the proposed electoral districts for Alberta at the following times and places:

Part 4

REASONS FOR PROPOSALS

1. The commission's task was to accomplish a redistribution of federal electoral districts in the Province of Alberta based on a population determined by the 1981 decennial census and its apportionment into twenty-seven (27) electoral districts

2. The commission proposes that the electoral districts for the City of Calgary be confined to the city limits and for the City of Edmonton to comprise the city limits and a portion of the County of Strathcona lying between the east boundary of the city and Range 23 In applying this proposal, Calgary and Edmonton are each entitled to seven (7) electoral districts. Accordingly, the commission proposes that the balance of the province be divided into thirteen (13) electoral districts.

   Section 13 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act provides

   "In preparing its report each commission for a province ... shall be governed by the following rules

   (a) the division of the province into electoral districts and the description of the boundaries thereof shall proceed on the basis that the population of each electoral district in the province as a result thereof will correspond as nearly as may be to the electoral quota for the province, that is to say, the quotient obtained by dividing the population of the province as ascertained by the census by the number of members of the House of Commons to be assigned to the province as calculated by the Chief Electoral Officer under section 12;

   (b) (not applicable),

   (c) the commission may depart from the strict application of rules (a) ... in any case where

   (i) special geographic considerations, including in particular the sparsity or density of population of various regions of the province, the accessibility of such regions or the size or shape thereof, appear to the commission to render such a departure necessary or desirable, or

   (ii) any special community or diversity of interests of the inhabitants of various regions of the province appears to the commission to render such a departure necessary or desirable, but in no case, ... shall the population of any electoral district in the province as a result thereof depart from the electoral quota for that province to a greater extent than twenty-five per cent more or twenty-five per cent less."

   The commission has complied with the above rules.

3. With respect to the names for electoral districts, the commission has, where possible, retained the same nomenclature of existing electoral districts. By reason of the increase in the number of ridings in the cities of Calgary and Edmonton, it was considered desirable to give them different names having historical significance

   Names considered appropriate were given to the two new rural ridings. A new name considered appropriate was given to one of the existing ridings

Crime Watch meets

At the last meeting of the Beaverhill Rural Crime Watch, Cst. Paul Schneider, livestock investigator for the Edmonton Detachment of the RCMP, discussed the problems arising through cattle rustling.

Cst. Schneider showed films for the approximately fifty Crime Watch members and followed them with an in-depth discussion on livestock handling and management.

He discussed many aspects of the livestock industry with particular emphasis on the rustling aspect, a crime that costs the Alberta farmer an expensive dollar.

Information was given on new rules concerning the butchering of livestock for personal consumption. Members of the Rural Crime Watch can pass on this knowledge to any interested person.

The meeting, held at the Shaw Community Centre, was one of many the organization has had since its inception.

Many topics are brought up such as whether it would be a good idea to form a C.B. Patrol in the area. This subject is expected to receive further discussion at later meetings.

At the next meeting of the Beaverhill Rural Crime Watch, it is hoped that speakers from the Department of Highways and Transportation will be in attendance. Aim of note, Rural Crime Watch caps for men and women are now available to those wishing one.

Those members in the west-thwhile organization are always welcome.

Keep Holden School going

... says delegation

by Lesley Primeau

Bobbie Schweitzer, Ken Mullich and Hank Keller attended last Tuesday's Board of Education meeting with the sole purpose of stating emphatically that the Holden School is an integral part of the community and every effort should be made to see that it stays within the community.

The Board of Education is investigating alternatives laid out by a regional study done by the Department of Education which suggests that the Holden and Ryley schools could possibly close their high schools, or transfer the junior high to one and the senior high to the other possibly leave one school geared toward academic subjects while the other emphasized the general program.

A great deal of opposition has centered on the possible closure of the school's junior and senior high schools and as a means of providing the community's reaction to that the Holden Chamber of Commerce formed the Future of Holden School Committee.

The group gathered facts through a well responded to survey which indicated that many parents and students were not happy with the school's program but were emphatic that they wish to remain in the Holden School and would not be pleased if it closed.

During their well prepared presentation the Committee felt that three main problems had to be addressed; the building of a new school; programming courses for maximum benefit and re-assessing the financing of schools with regard to capital and operation costs.

It was pointed out that the community of Holden has been under the impression that they were slated to have a new school facility and feel the Board has been almost derelict in their duty to repair existing problems. The Committee also feels that the facility is widely used by outside groups re-affirming that the school is part of the very centre of the community.

In the brief submitted by the Committee it was also noted that many would prefer a return to an eight period day This extra time would allow a re-structuring of existing courses and therefore allow each student a wider choice. The brief points out that this would not require more teaching staff it would merely make better use of the staff currently employed.

With regards to the financial status, the brief points out that the Holden School has not been the recipient of any capital expenditure since 1966. Questions arose as to the availability of grant dollars through the Department of Education.

The Committee's intent was to illustrate to the members of the Board of Education that the community is very concerned about the possible closing of the school. It is hoped that all avenues will be investigated before the Board makes any decisions.

In a surprise move by Nestor Somotiuk, trustee for the Village of Holden, a motion was put forward by Somotiuk that stated he favoured the building of a new complex and felt that both schools should remain open.

Other councillors argued they could not possibly vote on such a motion at this time as all the facts have yet to be compiled and the financial picture is certainly not clear Many councillors expressed a desire to comply in principle with Somotiuk's motion but at this time it would be inappropriate. The motion was then amended that the question would be placed on the floor in February allowing administration ample time to gather the needed data.

George Knudsion, Reeve for the County of Beaver, stated that it was high time the Minister of Education was made to realize the seriousness of the problem. While it is more than apparent that nobody wants to close either school, without the loosening of government purse strings the schools future remains doubtful.

It was then the Board's decision that a delegate consisting of Hjordis Armitage, Fred Rolahoft, Garth Bancroft and George Knudsion make an appointment with the Minister to get a direct response to the problem, which in the view of the Board, can only be lessened if guidance faced in all communities with limited tax dollars.

Knudsion also felt that perhaps administration should investigate whether the tax dollar division is adequately covering the needs of the education system in the county. Whatever the problems faced by either school it was the Board's feeling that the problems would require direct Departmental involvement.

Crackdown

Alberta courts are becoming highly interesting centres, as more and more the senior judges are joining together in offering suggestions aimed at building a more uniform range of sentencing for various crimes.

And just as interestingly, the senior judges seem more and more to be leaning to greater severity, to less toleration, particularly in crimes of violence. It was interesting to note a recent crackdown, for instance, on robberies with weapons. Indeed, one of the judges was moved to comment to the effect that it must be highly disturbing to suddenly be faced with a gun (the victim would hardly know whether it was loaded or not) or possibly a switchblade.

At the same time, another judge referred to the slaughter on our highways, and wondered if the public would stand for a crackdown on drunken highway killings. There is widespread sympathy for drinking, he pointed out, and for driving while drinking. And he wondered if the public woud tolerate such a crackdown.

We can only suggest that he try it, and see how much flack he encounters. Our own opinion is that the public is heartily sick of seeing carnage on the highways, or anywhere else for that matter, or brutality, or vandalism, rape, assault or whatever, wherein alcohol or drugs are claimed as an excuse, an ameliorating influence since "the defendant was incapable of forming any intent".

If one judge feels it must be a highly emotional experience to suddenly face a gun, which may not ever be used, think of how terrifying it must be to realize a two ton vehicle is careening inescapably your way.

Most people feel that far from impaired judgment being seen as an excuse, it should once again be seen as an added offence, a charge on top of, and augmenting, the original charge.

And they're more than ready for a crack-down which would make the roads safe for themselves, their families, and their friends.

Nevermore?

Everyone knows interest rates have been coming down. And most people expect they'll keep coming down for at least a little bit more. Indeed, many people, lenders as well as borrowers, hope they do, because even lenders feel safer with lower rates.

The question everyone asks of course, is will rates come down to reasonable levels. But everyone has different views as to what constitutes "reasonable".

It was interesting this week to turn over a statement of some eighteen months ago by Martin Hattersley, as leader of the Social Credit Party of Canada, who pointed out that as recently as 1967 it was illegal for Canadian banks to lend at a rate higher than 6 percent. (Six percent!) And most people feel today twelve is a wonderful level to get down to.

That's only fifteen years ago, but it means you almost have to have reached middle age to remember it.

Even more surprising, Richard Gwyn's book on Pierre Trudeau, The Northern Magus, points out that in 1972 the Bank of Canada's prime rate was barely four and a half percent. Imagine, four and a half! It took Trudeau only two years, however, to double that rate.

Does anyone think we'll ever see rates that low again?

Report from

Parliament Hill

The Honourable Don Mazankowski, P.C., M.P.

For many Canadians this winter promises to be a long and difficult one. Over a million and a half Canadians are unemployed and many more fear that they will lose their farms, businesses or jobs in the months ahead.

The Government has taken some action to help Canadians but it amounts to a very minimal effort. For farmers, the only new program is the Farm Loan Interest Rebate plan announced in the June 28th budget that provides a 4% interest rebate on the government legislation for this program and, while supporting it, noted that the $200 million allocated by the legislation would provide relief for only 1,000 of the estimated 20,000 farmers in serious financial difficulty. It is a worthwhile program but, at best, a half-measure.

We have been calling on the Government to complement this action with three other measures to assist farmers. Firstly, we recommended the implementation of the agri-bond concept put forward by many farm organizations as a means of providing a larger pool of low-interest capital to producers.

Interest rates alone are not the only problem facing farmers. Lower prices and rising input costs will reduce farm income by 30% in many areas this year. Regulated energy prices are contributing to higher input costs and our second recommendation is that the Government consider reducing farm energy taxes, which now amount to 6% of the cost of a gallon of gasoline or diesel fuel.

Thirdly, as a measure to aid grain producers, we have suggested that the ceiling on the CWB advance payment be raised. Senator Argue, while favouring such a move, doubts that it will take place before the 1983-84 crop year.

We have also continued to oppose Canagrex, the proposed state-run exporting company. We support the need to promote agricultural exports but do not feel that more government control is the best method of doing so. As more groups have recognized the dangers of Canagrex, it has lost the support of many government members. Recently the Bill was to be debated in the House but the Liberals could not raise the sufficient number of MPs to form a quorum, so the debate was bandoned. It is unclear when the Bill will come forward again.

Small business is another sector of our economy particularly hard hit by the recession and again the government's response has been minimal. The $400 million set aside for the Small Business Investment Grant program pales in comparison to the corporate bail-outs for Dome, Massey-Ferguson, Canadair, de Havilland, Maislin and Chrysler, particularly since 97% of all Canadian firms are small or medium businesses. We have asked the government to consider reintroducing the Small Business Development Bond program which we began in 1979 to provide low-interest credit to small business. This bond was available to a wider range of businesses than is the SBIG which is limited to just those in financial trouble. The SBDB promoted the expansion and development of new industries, and as such, it could be an important tool in generating recovery.

For more information on the Farm Interest Loans Rebate program, the Small Business Investment Grant or other issues please call my constituency office here in Lloydminster or in Vegreville.

On a sad note, the House of Commons and the P.C. Party lost a long serving and respected member earlier this month with the death of the Hon. Walter Dinsdale, who represented the constituency of Brandon, Manitoba for 31 years. Having worked with Walter I found him to be a truly remarkable man dedicated to helping others. A devout Christian, he served with distinction in the military, as a Cabinet Minister in the Diefenbaker government and, recently, as a leading spokesman for the handicapped. Walter Dinsdale was an example to us all and his honesty, energy, and dedication will be sorely missed.

REDA winter information programs

"Transportation 1990" is the title of one of 10 papers being offered in the Rural Education and Development Association's (REDA) adult Winter Information Program.

Written in three parts by three different authors, this paper presents three views of what lies ahead for the transportation of agricultural commodities. The authors are Howard Falkenberg, President of Unifarm, Dr. J.J. Richter, Faculty of Rural Economy, University of Alberta; and Ross Walker, Vice-president, Mountain Region, Canadian National Railways.

The other nine papers are entitled: "Farm Computers - A look at Present and Future"; "Surviving the Credit Crunch in Agriculture"; "Getting Volunteers and Keeping Them"; "Tax Planning for Farmers (Update 1982)"; "Housing Ourselves - An Introduction to Co-op Housing"; "Rural Women as Community Leaders"; "Is this Really It" (Responsibilities of Being Independent for Young People); "Water Conservation"; and "The Touch of Her Hand (The Changing Role of Rural Women)".

REDA also provides a Winter Information Program especially for young people. This year there are eight papers which have been designed to meet the needs and problems of today's youth.

Subscribers to either the adult or youth Winter Information Program may choose two papers free. The rest are available at $1 each in the adult program and for 50c each in the youth program. Orders of 25 or more under either program will receive a 20 per cent discount.

REDA, now in its 17th year of the Alberta Rural Development Studies Program, is designed to provide information to individuals, families and groups on current trends and problems in the economic and social development of rural Albertan towns and farms.

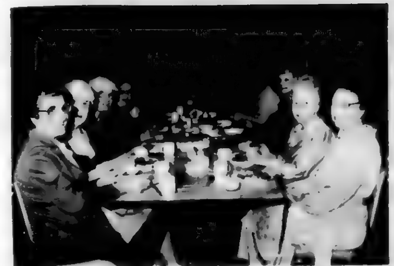
Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

The more I think about it, the more I conclude that the demise of "romantic love" has landed us in a land of fantasy, escapism and a bed-hopping search for that special something lost in todays climate of equality, marriage contracts and bargaining rights!

Fact is, love is not a "right" that can be bargained for or demanded. Little wonder that so many women (and some men also) are hung up on the prides and passions of the soap opera. Little wonder that so many housewives read one or two romantic pocketbook novels a week. Little wonder that they try to recapture that lost something by purchasing every last artifact put on the market in the name of sensuality!

Time was when women protected their "feminine mystique." Today, they are pressured to let it all hang out. And as one male charmer once observed: "Why buy a cow when you can get free milk through the fence!" Yet the leaping sale of the romantic novel would indicate a female yearning for all the tenderness of a "knight in shining armour" or at least a brief escape from the quiet desperation of her bland equality.

To be sure, the reality of love is no bed of roses. But neither is it a bed of onions. Somewhere between there is a reality of respect wrapped in the reality of roles evidenced in all of nature. To be sure, there are one or two exceptions — but do we really want a world of black widow spiders? While no one wants to set the female back in the Dark Ages, it becomes increasingly clear that most women do not enjoy the role of mini-man! As for the idea of a two salary income being such a necessity in today's world of inflation, I don't buy it. Personally, I'd settle for one less car in the garage if it meant being pampered with a cup of tea in bed in the morning, someone who treats me like a piece of rare china and doesn't complain when the garbage isn't moved out onto the lane! I do not thank those champions who work so tirelessly to strip the mystique from femininity; who have somehow managed to get all those female aids advertised on TV. Come to think of it, we don't see too many jock straps dangled before us these days! Feminine mystique? Why honey, she hasn't the mystique of a mushroom these days. Could be she longs for it by reading the "romantic novel" and watching the soap opera. As for him — could be he finds more mystique in the boy down the street!



Christmas dinner

The 75 members of the Tofield Golden Club celebrated their annual Christmas dinner at the Tofield Legion Hall. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion catered a superb meal for the event and following the meal the club engaged in a number of pastimes such as darts and cards before nibbling again. Contest is held

By [illegible]

Grade eleven student, Lynn Misick of Vermilion has won the 1982 UN Speaking Contest sponsored by the Oddfellows and Rebekahs. The engagement was held in Ryley with judges Mrs. Janet Niehaus of Lougheed, Mrs. Ruth Munkedal of Ryley and Joseph Voegtlin also of Ryley.

Miss Misick's topic of conversation was, "Pardon Me!" an expose on words and communication. Lynn felt that as a populace we are being drowned with a proliferation of words. She said that originally she had planned to speak on stress but was so thrilled with a communication seminar sponsored by the 4-H Club that she decided it would make a much better topic.

This change in subject matter required her to write her subject material with less than a week before the competition. Lynn felt that will all the problems faced by the world communication should be a solution, not merely part of the problem.

As the winner, Lynn will be making a three week journey to Ottawa and New York to see how politicians tackle the problems of the country and to view the workings of the U.N. first hand. Lynn has already expressed great anticipation for her summer trip saying she felt the challenge and rewards would be immeasurable.

Six entries were heard at the speaking competition and placing second was Carla Crisp of Monitor who spoke on behalf of Canada's Inflationary Recession and third place was awarded to Christine Wolski of Camrose who spoke on Acid Rain.

The topics the students would speak on had to be of either [illegible] or international [illegible] and students must still have at least one semester of school left following their trip in which they can share their experience. Last year's winner, Mark Daugela of Vermilion gave a slide presentation of his trip last summer. He felt that the trip to the U.N. heightened his awareness of world affairs.

The Oddfellows and Rebekahs pick up the cost of the trip for the students who come from areas in Saskatchewan, North Dakota, Manitoba and Alberta. Each zone in the province may sponsor a competition.

Around the town

Marguerite and Johnnie Fish made a trip up to Hinton recently to visit with friends. While there some good Tofield luck followed as Johnnie won the crib tournament held at the Legion. Perhaps he will have the same luck at the Tofield tournaments.

Speedy recovery to Ronaldo Pepper, that dashing man about town in the wonderful little village of Ryley. Seems Ronaldo has been suffering with the "lodgepole flu' " and hasn't seen a lot of action lately...get well ole sport...

Peter Ogonoski and his lovely wife Katherine celebrated a fiftieth anniversary recently...lucky twosome...fifty years together and still made about each other...Congratulations!!!

If you have any tidbits try to remember us...we'd love to hear all about it and we're sure your friends would too...

Congratulations to Barb out there at the county office who has stuck with her weight watching, reached her goal and looks terrific...now that's determination...seems it's a catch notion...our very own Chairman of the Board, Hjordis Armitage is looking splendid these days...can you beat that...working for the county must curb the appetite!!!

A special congrats to the Ryley Boys Volleyball team...County Winners...now it's time for basketball...let's see some great action...

And let's show some sympathy for poor Bert [illegible]eltzer who broke his arm playing hockey...some kids have all the fun!!!

Census shows rural revival

Small is beautiful, or so it seems, for more and more Canadians are making the switch from big-city life to the nation's small towns and rural areas. Whether it is a reflection of back-to-the-land, an element to escape the big-city population and pressures, or simply a function of urban spillover into the countryside, Canada is in the midst of a rural renaissance.

In fact, the 1990's were the first decade in Canada's history to record a faster growth rate for rural areas than for urban areas. The most recent figures from the 1981 Census show that since 1976 the rural population has grown by 8.9 per cent - almost double the urban growth rate of 5 per cent. Of Canada's provinces and territories only four recorded greater population growth in urban areas than in rural areas - Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and the Yukon.

Canada's non-urban population now numbers some six million - 800,000 more than a decade ago - and it has meant big changes for Canada's small towns. Urbanites may slip away from the nation's cities unnoticed, but their arrival in a small town can quickly change the social landscape, the local market place and the level of demand for municipal services.

Understanding the nature and scope of changes on the local scene is vital for local businesses, citizen's groups and public officials. Statistics Canada has recently released a series of profile publications for every municipality in Canada - urban and rural. These include 1981 Census information on the population by age and sex, marital status, household and family size, dwellings and language.

Asked to comment on the value of these profiles, Mr. James Knight, Executive Director of the Federation of Canadian Municipalities, said that "without this information municipal officials could be seriously hampered in planning and delivering the municipal services expected by most Canadians ranging from choosing the best site and size of senior citizens' facilities, day care centres and fire and police station, to mapping out transit routes, zoning and industrial parks."

Mr. Knight went on to say: "These most recent data showing a renaissance in our rural areas will be invaluable to municipal officials in towns and villages across Canada who might be faced with a sudden influx of former city dwellers used to big-city services and conveniences. To meet their needs without disrupting local finances, officials must have access to detailed information which only census data can provide".

Dinner enjoyed

by Lesley Primeau

The seventy odd members of the Tofield Golden Club joined with some guests and friends for their 1982 Christmas dinner at the Tofield Legion.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion prepared a meal that included the traditional turkey with all the trimmings.

The ladies cooked well over one hundred pounds of turkey and were up as early as 5:30 a.m. to start the birds.

Many of the seniors looked very spiffy indeed in the Sunday finery as they blessed the good food and fine friends. The Tofield Golden Club annually puts on the dinner for their membership and each year the event becomes more popular.

The members of the Golden Club are currently very active in the planning stages of their proposed drop in centre which will be located in the old fire hall on main street. Bld. Committee chairman is George Lee. Recently the Club presented the Tofield Town Council with an outline for the proposed renovations and stated that time have enlisted the aid of an architect to draft the blueprints.

Bob Scott, president of the Golden Club feels the project is progressing well and hopes the Club may be able to move in before summer. The Tofield Golden Club held a very successful heritage day celebration last summer in an effort to raise some funds for the project.

Anyone interested in joining the Golden Club may attend their weekly Wednesday get-together at the Tofield Legion.

Cartwheels

Cartwheels just seem so easy when these kids do it. The Holden Gymnastic's Club put on a fine Christmas presentation at the gym last Monday evening. Almost 75 people filled the gym to take in the show.

The thirty or more students of the Holden Gymnastics club performed their Christmas programme to the delight of almost seventy-five family members, friends and interested spectators in the Holden gym Monday evening.

Almost every age from pre-beginners to teens participated in the programme that featured the talent and expertise of various levels of gymnastics. The young gymnasts performed many gymnastic feats and for a grand finale, Stacy Mattison of Viking, the only Bronze gymnast performed a solo.

This year's pre-beginners included Gloria Mandiuk, Jody Duncan, David Corliss, Wes McCloy, Kathryn Andrusky, Tara Komarnisky, Pam Grinde and Jaime Kawalliak. Each of these students was presented with a certificate and badges to signify their completion of this program.

In the pre-red and red group were Dorothy Mandiuk, Melvin Bignell, Cherie Hybida, Kathy Laube, Laurie Laube, Lisa Pooke, Erin Fleming and Cassandra Peterson. In the pre-white and white group were Lisa Bunney, Christy Cheremshynski, Cindy Grinde, Monica Ness, Mark and Lanette Lefsrud, Robyn and Shala Schweitzer, Lori Kraus, Rosanne Hisey, Sheri Collison, Sharon MacGregor and Karen Lusk.

Earning blue badges were Neil MacGregor and Shelly Lusk while Stacy Mattinson was the only bronze recipient. Kathy Bunney taught this session again but had the help of two junior instructors Shelly Lusk and Sherie Collison.

The gymnastics club is expected to start soon in the new year and further information can be received by calling Fay Kraus or Bobbie Schweitzer.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Tuesday Dec. 14 will be the last story session for this year. If your three or four-year old missed out this time, you can register now for the next session which will run for six weeks beginning Tuesday, Jan. 11, 1983. Story session begins at 10:30 a.m., and lasts about 30-45 minutes, introducing children to good books, a little music and the use of the Library. The cost is minimal, $1.00 per child, to cover materials costs, and contribute towards a new book or two!

Programs for other age groups may be considered if justified by demand, and if further volunteer readers can be found.

On the New Book shelf this week, you will notice The Whole Kitchen Catalogue by the editors of Consumer Guide. For those of you intending to build, or to renovate or redecorate your kitchen, this book will provide many good tips and ideas. It includes chapters on kitchen design, building techniques, and buyers guides to appliances and materials.

Alberta Landscapes by Rusty Macdonald and Grant MacEwan, is a delight to browse through, especially for those of us who love our province and its beauty.

There is also a wide selection of new-to-the-library paperback books, in fiction, mystery, and non- and science-fiction. You will see titles such as Artists in Crime and Grave Mistake by Ngaio Marsh, I, Robot by Isaac Asimov, Passion's Promise by Danielle Steele, and Rose, My Life in Service, the autobiography of the personal maid to Lady Astor, first woman member of Parliament.

Wild game supper is held in Tofield

The annual Wild Game Supper Night, sponsored by the Tofield Gun Club, was well attended again this year as connoisseurs of wild meat gathered at the Tofield Legion to sample such delicacies as trout, grouse, pheasant and the new dish this year, duck soup.

The pot luck supper has become a tradition among the club's members who annually prepare exotic dishes for their [illegible] companions. Following the meal trophies were awarded for various feats and [illegible].

Allen Warner was presented with a shot gun and 22 sporting rifle for his efforts at the annual Warner Thiessen memorial shoot held in September. Walter DeMuth was awarded a hand gun and Tom Bodnar won the Big Game rifle competition as well as the aggregate trophy.

This year's winner of the most un-coveted Bawana award was won by Clara Bodner who distinguished herself with a group of unruly sparrows. The award is given annually to the person most deserving of a 'boner' award.

It seems, as legend goes, that Clara was becoming quite upset by a group of sparrows who continually made meal of her flower garden. Deciding to take action she grabbed her faithful musket off the hearth, where all faithful muskets rest, took steady aim at the perpetrators through her window, getting a mean bead, so to speak and shot. Unfortunately Clara forgot to open the window and killed her sill.

The Tofield Gun Club's annual Wild Game night is one of the more enjoyable dinners in town and this year's rendition lived up to past experiences.

primeau's play pen

The dawning of the age of Christmas has just about hit home and like all good people I am about to enter the pre-Christmas panic stage...that's the stage that never leaves town at noon...that's when you know you have to buy six thousand presents but you not only have no idea what to buy you seem to be too poor to buy them if you found them which you are unlikely to do since the mere thought of Christmas shopping sends you into a deep depression get the idea...I have decided to simplify everything this year...I think I'll merely accept gifts and not give any...tacky...it's very difficult to buy presents...first you have to realize that the person you are going to buy for has distinct likes and dislikes and although I never understood how anyone can not appreciate a six foot Donald Duck mounted, I would not give one to everyone I know...some people seem to lack the sense of flair...

Have you looked at kid's presents lately...now I ask you...who wants a baby that comes completely with its own potty and a handbook on how the young mother should train her 'child'...that's obscene...get the kid a dog...don't waste the $20 or whatever...and what about these toys that do everything you want and more...frankly unless they manufacture money or teach you how to rob a bank and not get caught...they aren't doing enough...

What's Christmas...that's the time of year when you really want snow tires but get your 60th ugly tie...that's the time when a microwave would look so good over there...but you get a new mop instead...that's the time when your scales become your worst enemy because for some unexplained reason the numbers keep going up...and that's the time when peace on earth means building a room in the garage...

Actually all in all considered it isn't that bad...there are lots worse things...being stuck in a theatre that only plays re-runs of the Gong show...or being stuck in an elevator when nature calls...or the ever popular not being able to get your car started at five in the intersection of Jasper and first...lots worse...not much worse but worse...

Just look on the bright side...in three weeks you can start making your shopping list for next year...

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Ray Nichols, who has been a patient in Tofield Hospital for a couple of weeks, was transferred to the University of Alberta Hospital in Edmonton for further treatment and tests.

Ralph and Emily Gerrie of Vegreville were Sunday afternoon visitors with his mother, Mrs. Roy Nichols.

Earl Hardy and Lyle Grosland called on Mr. and Mrs. H. Taylor on Monday afternoon bringing congratulations to Mr. Taylor who was celebrating his 82 birthday, from members of the Holden Masonic Lodge.

Mrs. Olive Good attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Carrie Brutrud, sister of the late Lars Rilland last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Irene MacGregor and Miss Ethel Brown were Monday afternoon visitors last week with Roy Nichols.

Bud Fjellstrom, a member of a long-time Holden District family, passed away suddenly on Dec. 1 after a very brief illness. The funeral was held on Saturday in Holden Lutheran Church with Rev. Sid Hougen officiating. Interment was in the Holden Cemetery. He is survived by a friend, Della; two brothers, Alfred of B.C. and Gordon of Wilkwood and one sister, Mrs. Harriet Giebelhaus of Holden.

Saturday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. H. Taylor were their son, Brian, grandchildren, Ronald, Barbara, Richard and Cathryne of St. Albert to help celebrate Mr. Taylor's 82 birthday. Their son, Robert of Viking, also called in the afternoon.

Olaf Valan of Devon, a former Holden district farmer, passed away over the weekend after suffering a severe stroke and being in a coma for two weeks.

Vernice and Lyle Grosland attended the 60th wedding anniversary of Rev and Mrs. Herb Ericksen (nee Grace Hansen) in Edmonton on Saturday.

Several ladies of Holden L.C.W. were to Camrose on Tuesday to visit with one of their former pioneer members and long-time resident of Holden, Mrs. Ragnhild Hagrud, a resident at Bethany Nursing Home, to help her celebrate her 92nd birthday.

Saturday visitors with Mrs. Beth Campbell with congratulations on her 96th birthday were her family from Leduc, Marjorie and Ken Campbell, grandson, Bill and wife, Pat and three children.

Mrs. Harriet Giebelhaus received word last week that her brother, Alfred in B.C. has made some improvement the past several days after his serious accident of some weeks ago.

Last Wednesday afternoon (Dec. 1) a number of friends and neighbors gathered in the Holden United Church parlors to honor a long-time member of the church and resident of Holden, Mrs. Beth Campbell and to help her celebrate her 96th birthday. Among those attending were her daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Campbell and a friend from Leduc; her niece, Mrs. Beth Morin and Mrs. Elsie Morin of Viking; Rev. Dan and Mrs. Newell and a friend from Tofield. Mrs. Olive Good, president of the Holden U.C.W. presented the guest of honor with a pink rose corsage and read a brief history and a special birthday card composed of appropriate verses and pictures by Mrs. Pearl Allan and Mrs. Bea Frederick; was read by Bea. A decorated cake centered the head table flanked by poinsettia plants brought by Mrs. Marjorie Campbell, from the family. The cake was a present from the ladies of the U.C.W. Mrs. Campbell thanked all those involved for the memorable occasion. She was most pleased that the party had been held in the church as it meant a great deal to her being a member for so many years and had been the Sunday School superintendent for 48 years.

The ladies of the U.C.W. served lunch and all enjoyed the birthday cake.

Don Allen, who is a patient in the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton, had successful surgery on his hip and it is coming along well but, Don has had other problems and is still feeling not too well. He has been having surgery and therapy since last June.

Lloyd Bell is taking therapy for his bad hip at the Glenrose Auxiliary Hospital in Edmonton.

Bruce Budd feted

by Lesley Primeau

More than one hundred and forty residents of the Village of Holden were present in the Community Hall when Bruce Budd was formally recognized as Citizen of the Year.

Mr. Budd's announcement was met with a standing ovation by the crowd who had gathered for the annual Chamber of Commerce Christmas Dinner and Dance.

Mr Budd has been a member of the community for well over 35 years and during that time he has distinguished himself with community involvement. He served many years as a member of the Chamber of Commerce as well as the local Ag. Society.

At one time he was the fire chief for the Village and is also further recognized as being one of the founding fathers of the Holden Sea Cadets.

A member of the curling club and the Masonic Lodge, Mr. Budd further distinguishes himself as a man who served 16 years on the Village Council and six years as Mayor of the Village.

Although he supposedly retired in 1977, Mr. Budd still has a seat reserved for him at the Country Kitchen and he and his 'golden bomb' are easily recognized around town.

Bruce Budd has enjoyed many wonderful years with his wife, Mae and his family is blessed with Linda, Tom and Jim as well as an assortment of grandchildren. The Budds are always involved in the community and can be counted on to represent the Village well.

Prior to naming Bruce Budd citizen of the Year, Bobbie Schweitzer of the Chamber of Commerce made a special presentation on behalf of a community man who passed away a short time ago. Harry Christian, well known to the residents of Holden was a man who devoted his life to the betterment of the community. Because of his never ending contribution to the community the Citizen of the Year Award has been renamed the Harry Christian Memorial Award.

As no citizen was honoured last year, an award was given to Mr. Christian posthumously and presented to his brother, Metro who travelled from Mississauga for the occasion and to Ann Scherger, long-time friend of Harry Christian.

For the rest of the evening, Ken Sharpe acted as Master of Ceremony and as such drew a number of tickets for various prizes. Given away were flashlights courtesy of the U.F.A. Bulk and Schweitzer Enterprises, a metric calculator on behalf of Ron and Sonia Malick, a dinner-ware set from Holden Lucky $ and a number of smaller gifts. The winner of the $100 was Bonnie Ewert.

Dinner was prepared and served by the Ladies of the Royal Purple and music for the dance was provided by the Altones.

The Holden Chamber of Commerce, which represents at least twenty businesses and services is headed by Matt Helfrich as president; Howard Sawers as first vice-president; Ron Malick as second vice-president; and Sharon Gill as secretary-treasurer.

Winners of the daily draws during the Holden Christmas Days include: Annie Tobir who won a smoke detector from A.E. LePage; Art Micklish who won a jacket from the Alberta Wheat Pool; Pearl Tkaczyk who received an oil painting from Holden Trading Post; Jerry McCracken who gets a free oil change at Jack's Esso; Joe Mlekmaka who picked up a case of antifreeze at Beaver Motors and Mrs. Stanley Komarnisky who wins a turkey from Holden Frozen Foods.

Gloria Stefaniuk won $50 from HillTop Construction; Nancy Semeniuk wins dinner at the Country Kitchen; Mae Budd will feast on a turkey from the Lucky Dollar; Howard Sawers picks up a case of oil from the U.F.A. Bulk; Matt Helfrich won a case of grease from Central Services; Orline Rennie gets two jugs of antifreeze from Olsen and Armstrong; Emma Norstrom received a curling iron from Jubilee Hairstyles and Lyle Grosland won a rain gauge, Ben Lutz playing cards, Adolph Shimke a tongue and bat; Ann Scherger a pen and pencil set and Annie Rarka won a set of glasses all from the Royal Bank.

The Christmas celebration in Holden was a huge success.

Toy clinics held

by Lesley Primeau

Maureen Bauman, District Home Economist for the County of Beaver, has circled the county holding a 'Toy Clinic' for those persons interested in knowing how certain toys faired with the Canadian Toy Testing Council.

Approximately 35 toys, games and puzzles were on display from various well known manufacturers such as Hasbro, Mattel and Fisher Price as well as manufacturers of smaller lines of toys.

Each toy displayed been put through home testing to determine its play value, durability and safeness. Toys were also checked for cost and indications are that a toy need not be expensive in order to provide lasting joy.

It was also pointed out that when shopping for toys it is wise to check various shops as toy prices vary a great deal. Many toys have a higher price tag merely because they are a name brand, when another product would be just as good and is priced cheaper.

According to the C.T.T.C. toys should encourage a child's growth and development and attention should be given to not purchasing toys that are beyond the child's grasp, both physically and mentally. Remember the age of the child you are buying for and purchase accordingly.

As pointed out by the Council toys that require batteries have a tendency to 'die' and toys that do everything on their own soon lose the interest of their young charge The Council points out that the 'sophisticated' toy often bores the child because it lacks flexability in play as compared to blocks, crayons, tinker-toys and the like

Warnings are given about toys that have sharp edges or paints and have been made from brittle materials. Wooden toys should be checked carefully for rough edges and toys that have cords, strings or tapes should be avoided if the child is apt to put them around his neck.

Smaller children should never be permitted toys they may possibly swallow or toys that could catch little fingers. It is imperative to remember that toys for older children are often not good for smaller ones.

The C.T.T.C. puts together a book entitled 'Good Toys' that lists the various toys they have tested and either recommend or do not. The Book is available through the C.T.T.C. for a nominal fee and Maureen Bauman has more information about this publication in her office in Ryley

It is the council's intention that quality not quantity is the best guide when purchasing Christmas toys. For further information regarding toys for children of all ages contact Maureen Bauman.

Greenhouse task force

Alberta Minister of Agriculture, Honourable Dallas W. Schmidt has announced the appointment of a Greenhouse Industry Task Force to study all aspects of Alberta's greenhouse industry.

In it's report, due January 31, 1983, the Task Force is expected to recommend means of improving and stabilizing the greenhouse industry In particular, the Task Force will concentrate on those aspects which affect the industry's financial viability

"In recent years greenhouse growers have faced very difficult business conditions," said Mr Schmidt "Fuel costs in particular have been on the increase and now represent a high proportion of the greenhouse grower's total operating costs"

Depending on location and the type of structure, heating a greenhouse in Alberta can cost between $20,000 and $40,000 per acre per year. In many instances fuel costs account for 25 percent of a producer's gross sales. A recent announcement to revise the current natural gas price protection plan may offer temporary relief for greenhouse operators.

As well as studying energy costs and the impact of possible rebates, the Task Force will also look into the effects of changing market conditions and other factors and improvements that might be available through energy conservation and more efficient methods of energy use.

The Task Force, composed of producers and staff members of the Alberta Government, will be chaired by Mr Herman Wahl, a rose, chrysanthemum and cucumber grower from Redcliff. Mr. Clive Schaupmeyer of the Alberta Horticultural Research Center located in Brooks will act as Task Force Secretary Producer members of the Task Force include John Deys, Redcliff, Harold Good, Blackfalds, Hans Johanson, Calgary; Bob Ermter, Calgary; Doug Hornbeck, Edmonton; Ted Hole, St Albert; Stephanie Ho Lem, Calgary, and Peter Scott, Welling Mr Scott is currently president of the Alberta Greenhouse Grower's Association.

Other members of the Task Force are Dr. Mirza Mohyuddin and Paul Barlott of Alberta Agriculture and Mr Doug Gerrard of Alberta Economic Development

Satellites share lead

It's getting crowded at the top of the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Three teams are currently tied for first place while a fourth team is just one point off the pace (not including games played on Tuesday).

Killam, Lamont and Tofield Satellites are the teams deadlocked for the lead although Killam does have two games in hand on the other two squads.

Mundare has dropped to fourth place while Holden has jumped into fith place and is followed by Ryley and the winless team from Viking.

Games on Tuesday night were played in Tofield, Holden and Viking and will be reported next week.

On Saturday night, Ryley will host Holden, in Tofield.

Tuesday night's action will see Holden again travel over to Tofield, this time for a game with the Satellites.

Ryley was supposed to have played in Mundare on Saturday night but, if the game was played, results were not received by CFCW. Earlier, a game between Mundare and Lamont had not been reported.

According to results received to date, Killam and Mundare are the only unbeaten teams in the league.

Killam did not see any action during the past week.

Tofield grabbed its share of first place when, after battling Lamont to a 5-5 stalemate, they racked up an easy 17-3 triumph over Viking.

Lamont got its share of the lead with a 7-4 decision over Holden while the latter moved up in the standings by edging Viking 7-6.

In the win over Viking, Satellites got six goals from Andy Chamberlain while a pair and singles were scored by Buddy Memnyk, Ivan Nachtigal and Ed Donnen.

The Mercury would appreciate it if someone from Tofield, Holden or Ryley, could forward a copy of the list of members of the league executive and team representatives.

School problems debated

by Lesley Primeau

A delegation of five parents, whose children are currently enrolled at the Ryley School attended Tuesday's Board of Education meeting to discuss problems they feel are getting out of hand at the school.

The parents, Gladys and Walter Ewaniuk, Ray and Liz Kropielnicki and Gloria Sanders felt that in recent weeks the incidents of stolen property has gotten to the point that they felt the Board should be made to deal with the problem.

The committee also felt that some investigation was needed into allegations that state children are not permitted access to washroom facilities over the noon hour, lunches are rushed and children are kept outside in cold weather.

Hjerdis Armitage, Chairman of the Board of Education felt that perhaps the School was the best place for the discussion and as the problems had not been made known to the principal, perhaps that would be the logical route.

Attending on behalf of the Ryley School and its teachers were Jim Clarke, Principal and Ethel Pepper, Vice-Principal, who both stated emphatically that without specific incidents and names of those involved it was hard to conduct a proper investigation.

Pepper took strong objection to the word stolen, with regards to children's belongings suggesting that when dealing with the younger children this was perhaps too strong a word for articles which may have been taken home by mistake or articles which may have been misplaced by the youngster.

It was pointed out that the school's lost and found was over-flowing with articles that had been turned in, but despite continued efforts on the part of the school to reunite clothes and students, every year garments are left over.

Clarke felt that if any parent feels that a child's belongings are being stolen that parent should contact him personally to have the charge looked into immediately. With regards to allegations that the children are not permitted use of the washrooms during the lunch hour, he felt he could safely say that, to his knowledge, no student was ever kept away from nature's call.

A certain degree of mistrust was held on both sides and it was the suggestion of Armitage that perhaps an open line of communication between the school and the parents could resolve the problems. She suggested that the parents meet with school officials to look into the matters with a keener eye.

Mr. Kropielnicki had one final comment to make on the issue of sending children out to play saying, as a tax payer, his taxes are used to heat the school, therefore students should have the choice as to whether they wish to go out and play or not. The Board felt they really had no answer to that question and Mr. Clarke felt that fresh air never hurt anyone and studies indicate that play is good for the development of every child.

The matter is expected to receive more discussion at the school level.

IMPROVING SEED POTATO STOCKS

A project is underway to improve the quality of seed potato stocks.

The Prince Edward Island Potato Marketing Board is examining the use of meristem techniques to assure seed potatoes of maximum freedom from disease. The meristem techniques involve growing the growing tips of potato plants in test tubes. This technique also allows for the rapid multiplication of seed potato stocks.

Agriculture Canada is providing up to $86,000 towards this project under the department's Productivity Enhancement Program for P.E.I.

Dough...nuts...

Karen Brennan and Gloria Tripp ventured to Edmonton last weekend to peddle their wares at the crafts fair at the Kinsmen fieldhouse. The fair was a gigantic event and the ladies did well with their dough art. Perhaps they might even show up at a Farmer's Market one of these days.

The study, undertaken by Western Research for the Department, forecasts a modest increase in sulphur dioxide emissions for the near future (up to 1985), followed by a reduction in emissions to [illegible]

The study forecast indicates the goal of maintaining sulphur dioxide emissions at or below current levels to the year 2000 can be met.

Alberta Environment commissioned the study in response to the 1981 report of the federal sub-committee also recommended Alberta adopt a goal of zero increase in acid rain-causing emissions over current levels up to the year 2000 and a prescribed annual decrease thereafter.

The forecast is based on a number of industrial development scenarios, including an optimistic high growth outlook and a more conservative [illegible].

All major sectors of the Alberta economy that may emit sulphur dioxide are examined, including natural gas and conventional oil production, oil sands development, electric power generation and other small emitters such as fertilizer, pulp and paper and refinery industries.

ADC lending results

J. Harold Hanna, chairman and managing director of the Agricultural Development Corporation (ADC), has announced the corporation's results for the six month period ending September 30, 1982.

Direct farm loans for the first half of the present fiscal year numbered [illegible] for a total of $121 million, compared with [illegible] for a total of $122 million during the same period in 1981.

Of the [illegible] loans, [illegible] were approved for beginning farmers and they amounted to $[illegible] million. These figures are down from 727 beginning farmer loans and $110 million recorded in the first half of the 1981 fiscal year. Conversely, an increase in the number of loans made under the corporation's other direct farm loan programs occurred, due largely to the increased demand for financial restructuring.

Direct agribusiness loans in the current year numbered 25 for $7 million compared with 19 for $5 million in the same period of 1981.

Alberta Farm Development loans (AFDL) guaranteed by ADC in the six month period in 1982 numbered 2937 and amounted to $41 million, compared with 2,700 and $36 million in the same period last year.

Specific guaranteed loans to farmers and agribusinesses in the first six months of the current fiscal year numbered 41 loans and totalling $27 million compared with 32 and $12 million in 1981.

During the first half of the fiscal year ADC's incentives accrued or paid to Alberta farmers amounted to $11 million compared with $6.5 million for the same period of 1981.

Mr. Hanna says that the levelling out in direct farm loans in the current year can be attributed to the general economic downturn and to future uncertainty. However, the more recent decline in interest rates generally, and the introduction of the new Alberta interest shielding programs should have a positive effect on the overall provincial economy, and agriculture in particular, Mr. Hanna added.

He indicated that the corporation is currently working on improvements to the loan application process as well as modernizing internal methods and systems.

ADC's lending continues to be funded through the sale of debentures to the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund.

Reil heads Ag. Society

The annual meeting of the Tofield Agriculture Society was held on Thursday with a good turnout.

President Don Litwin welcomed the many new faces.

The main item of business was the election of officers.

President for 1983 will be Derrill Reil with Edith Wiebe serving as secretary and Yvonne McAllister continuing as treasurer.

Leonard Stauffer and Rolf Kugelstadt will serve as first and second vice-president respectively.

The present directors, Tom Cunningham, Ken Stauffer, Herb Sware, Margo Bernscheth, Billy Mishaw, Don Litwin, Glenn Jones, Peter Brown, Fred Bunney and Rick Neufeld will be joined by five new members, Glen Simpson, Bob Mode, Dave Hare, Kai Kristensen and Bruce Telford. The new members will serve three-year terms.

The Tofield Ag. Society is responsible for the operating of the Arena, the fair, and co-operating in July 1st organization.

The Society was also involved with the Town of Tofield in the hiring of the recreation director.

A new idea for 1983 (which is being investigated) is the hosting of a rodeo in early summer.

For the next month, directors will be recruiting new members and contacting old members to renew their memberships in the Ag. Society.

Anyone interested in joining the Ag Society may contact any of the directors or, the recreation director.

Any persons having concerns about the operation of the arena is free to contact Tom Cunningham, chairman of the business management committee.

Delegations attend

by Lesley Primeau

Three delegations attended what could possibly be the last Tofield Council meeting for this year. The three had different matters of concern they wished to bring to Council's attention for consideration.

Dick Thiessen was introduced in discussing possible future development of the former Dennis Reil property and Council assured Mr. Thiessen that his concerns would be taken into consideration.

Mrs. Jean Collins and Dave Schmidt, on behalf of the Vision House Society, question whether That Place could not be taxed under similar provisions as church properties are. Mrs. Collins felt that as a Christian organization geared towards the betterment of the community, the Vision House might possibly be reclassified for tax purposes and thereby have the taxes reduced or possibly eliminated.

As the Society is not a business as per se, it was the Executive's feeling that possibly something could be done about the more than $1000 paid in taxes. Council questioned whether they would encounter same problems reclassifying taxes for the Vision Society when with the coffee shop they are in competition with other such facilities in Tofield.

Regehr suggested that perhaps the Society should find out whether other such facilities that provide much the same service as That Place have any tax concessions in other communities. Collins and Schmidt felt they could also contact the Canadian Bible Society in Edmonton to see what their taxes fall under.

Also attending the last regular council meeting was Al Seemcheon who felt penalties on taxes should be re-evaluated. Seemcheon felt that insufficient notice was given the taxpayer regarding the change in date of penalties. Council had previously decided that penalties on arrears would be levied in March and notice was sent to everyone.

Seemcheon felt the tax notice was open for interpretation and therefore the taxpayer should be given the benefit of the doubt. Following the discussion with Council, Seemcheon gave his town a cheque to cover his arrears.

Council received a letter from the Tofield Fire Department regarding action taken by the department with regards to fire phones. The County of Beaver has decided that although they feel a new system for communication

Moore is inducted

by Lesley Primeau

John Moore of Tofield, who for the past 53 years has spent a great deal of time and effort developing the fine name of Hereford, was inducted into the Alberta Hereford Hall of Fame at a commemorative dinner held in Red Deer earlier this month.

The association has 2300 active members throughout the province and originated the Hall of Fame in 1973 to pay tribute to those cattlemen whose efforts deserved recognition.

Born in Jarrow a number of years ago, John took to cattle the way a duck takes to water. By the time he was ten he was roping and training young calves. As a means of getting even more practice he would swap his sister a game of house if she would agree to be either a cow or a dog chasing cows.

By the time he was twelve his father, the late Earl Moore felt it was time for the young John to have his own heifer and made an agreement with the boy that the cow would be his but, the first heifer belonged to his mother, the interest in his sister and all bull calves would belong to Dad. John heartily agreed and following the birth of two heifers and one bull calf, the cow died. And so began a career in the cattle business, not off to a good start but a valuable lesson in patience was learnt.

John became partners with his father in 1929 on a farm known as the Silver Willow Polled Hereford. Their first polled Hereford bull was Hiawatha Polled Prince who was 7th generation of Giant, the first polled bull.

The Irons fair of 1938 gave John his first taste of showing cattle and he followed that with a showing at the first Viking fair and in 1939 the Edmonton Bull Fair. In 1933 the Moores moved to Tofield where John finished his high school and studied agriculture in Vermilion.

In 1941 his father imported a bull calf from the Warner Polled Hereford Farm in San Jose, Illinois adding to their impressive stock. John left the family farm for a stint in the Air Force and returned to his first love, cattle, in 1945.

Many changes have taken place since those early days; cattle have gone through many changes and the way they are fed has gone through an equal number of changes. When John first started, cattle were desirable if they were fattened on grass and three years old; then they went through a period where an 800 lb. Hereford was most wanted but the shorter, smaller cow, which took less to feed proved not to be exactly what the Next issue special

Next week's paper will be the annual Christmas edition of The Mercury.

Although this is a special issue, deadlines for news and advertising will not be changed.

The Mercury's advertising manager, Dan Barr, will make his usual rounds next Tuesday.

However, news correspondents and advertisers should keep one important fact in mind.

Following a tradition established many years ago, The Mercury will not be printed between Christmas and New Year's.

The first edition of The Mercury in 1983 will be printed on Jan. 6th.

For that edition, Mr. Barr will make his usual rounds in Tofield, Ryley and Holden on Jan. 4th.

"Now you've done it, Hooper"

Prosecution, yet?

At the outset, Canadians were assured a national changeover to metric would be on a purely voluntary basis . . . it was good for our international trade. Now trade has gone down the drain, but metric has become essential for our national fibre, not only essential, but obligatory.

So says the Hon. Andre Ouellet, who this week threatened there would be prosecution for anyone failing to comply with what the government by order-in-council changed from voluntary to compulsory.

What's it all about? Another smokescreen to divert our attention from the economy being so badly bungled by the government. Mr. Ouellet has been an insider with for so long? A program to defang the hated Tories who have threatened to challenge the legislation? Imagine! They had the audacity to challenge it's universality! Such action obviously calls for jail terms.

Is it possible the inch-poundgallon system wouldn't have been so hatched to Mr. Ouellet and his party had it not been labelled "Imperial"?

Or is it just one more example of the government's war against small business? It's Small Business which faces the greatest opposition from the Canadian public in introducing the new system . . . because Small Business is usually face to face with the consumer, right on the firing line. BIG Business, meanwhile, tends to be far more anonymous, far less visible.

So the government, represented this time by Mr. Ouellet, is throwing the gauntlet down to small business, and to the ordinary consumer. What is the old saying about picking on somebody your own size?

"GIVE CREDIT"

Dear Sir,

On Dec. 7th, parents were invited to attend an address given at the Tofield School by Constable McKenzie of the Tofield R.C.M.P.

The subject of the address was "The Signs and Symptoms of Drug Usage by Teenagers."

The talk given by Constable McKenzie proved very interesting and enlightening. A film was also shown and those present viewed a display of actual drugs and drug paraphinalia.

A question period followed and staff members and parents had the opportunity to ask questions and voice their opinions.

It is regrettable that more parents did not attend this very worthwhile meeting!

Once again, I give credit to the staff of our school for the effort they put forth. I feel that education is the key to helping young people deal with this very serious problem.

As parents, it is our responsibility to teach our children by word and deed how to cope with life but, what is more, to know that our efforts are reinforced by the teachers in our school.

A grateful parent

FRIENDLY

Dear Sir,

As a 1981 "newcomer" to Tofield and having lived in many towns and cities in both Canada and the U.S., I would like to compliment the business people and individuals in this town as being the most courteous and friendly group of people that I have ever encountered.

A very Merry Christmas to you all.

Sincerely
Phyllis Fels

Vet urges caution in giving pets as gifts

Most veterinarians have seen numerous victims of cases of cruelty toward animals - rabbits with teeth growing over their lower jaws, guinea unable to walk because of elongated hooves, dogs and cats emaciated from neglect, abandonment or poison.

What many of these examples of abuse toward animals have in common is that all the victims were given as pets, many at Christmas.

"Before anyone even considers giving a pet as a gift, they had better make damn sure the people who will be receiving the animal really want it," warns Canmore vet Dr. Harry Ferguson.

"It's cruel to the animal to be given to people who don't really want it. They often become abused or neglected."

Ferguson, who has seen hundreds of animals inadvertently neglected or intentionally abused, says a family may initially welcome a pet, but later reject and punish it

"It's very sad, but also very true. Once the Christmas season is over and the novelty of having a new pet wears off, some families realize they really didn't want it in the first place."

Ferguson suggests new owners learn as much as they can about any animal, bird or reptile received.

In the case of pups and kittens — by far the most popular pet gifts — Ferguson says they should be vaccinated against rabies and distemper at age 14 weeks.

And he urges parents to carefully inspect toys around young children who might unintentionally injure the animal.

"One child was playing and placed an elastic band around the dog's neck. It eventually worked its way through the skin and was slowly cutting through the neck muscles," he recalls.

Ferguson warns that "teething" animals may chew through electrical cords running from Christmas trees, and shred cardboard and newspaper.

"I can't emphasize enough how important it is to have a healthy diet for a young animal, and to keep the pet's eating hours separate from the rest of the family," he adds.

He also cautions against giving pet rabbits as gifts. "Rabbits are a headache because not that many vets know much about them. I wouldn't recommend one as a pet."

The doctor insists that a pet is "one of the family," and has custody of those who mistreat them.

"I'd put every one of them in jail," he adds.

Meat needed

It is possible that a wildlife dinner, scheduled for next month (January) in Canmore, might not be held.

Members attending the annual meeting of the Canmore Agricultural Society were told last week that meat needed for the dinner is scarce.

Annette Hillaby has issued an appeal to anyone with wild game of any kind to contribute some meat so that the dinner can proceed.

According to Mrs. Hillaby, if enough meat is not forthcoming by the end of this week, the dinner will be cancelled.

Mrs. Hillaby indicated that a substantial amount of meat would be required as interest already shown points out that a crowd of about 250 people could be expected to attend the dinner.

Wild meat of any kind would be appreciated, according to Mrs. Hillaby and that includes deer, moose, bear, elk, sheep, muskrat and birds.

Anyone wishing to contribute meat for the dinner can get in touch with Mrs. Hillaby at 673-2256.

Past Time Pastimes

by Harry Stack

December 9, 1916 - The Canadian Pacific Railway opened the Connaught Tunnel in the Rogers Pass. A force of 1,000 men laboured for three years to bore the tunnel through Macdonald Mountain. Previously, to cross the Selkirk Mountains by Rogers Pass, westward trains had to overcome a steep grade, made hazardous by countless curves and heavy snowfalls. The Connaught Tunnel not only lessened the grade, but also shortened the distance through the Pass by four miles.

December 12, 1905 - The first train carrying Manitoba wheat left Portage La Prairie. The wheat was destined for the port of Montreal on the recently completed CPR main line.

December 12, 1916 - Father Albert Lacombe, one of the greatest figures in Canadian history, died in Midnapore, now part of Calgary. Father Lacombe, an Oblate missionary, came to the Lac St. Anne area of Alberta in 1852 to perform missionary work among the Cree Indians. In 1861, Lacombe started an agricultural colony at Saint Albert in partnership with the Metis people. The success of this colony proved the merit of agricultural development in that area. In 1866, Lacombe left the colony to become a missionary amongst the Blackfoot and Cree tribes on the vast plains. In his long years of service to the Indian people, Lacombe earned their trust and confidences. Lacombe used this influence to keep the Blackfoot and Cree, long time enemies, from having many bloody clashes. In 1885, Father Lacombe convinced the Blackfoot chief, Crowfoot, to remain peaceful when many feared he would lead the Blackfoot Indians into the Northwest Rebellion. Although Lacombe retired in 1897, unofficially he never ceased in his missionary work. Up until his death, Lacombe was a strong voice in protecting Indian and Metis interests, providing care for the aged, sick, and infirmed, and supporting the development of Western Canada.

December 14, 1929 - Alberta achieved success in a long and important political battle. The Federal Government handed over control and jurisdiction of natural resources to the Province of Alberta.

would be an asset, they are not prepared at this time to authorize the expenditure and feel that a fire phone at the hospital would alleviate the weekend problems.

The county has decided that they will institute an entire review of all fire equipment in the county to determine where upgrading is needed and act accordingly. The Tofield Department feels that they offer a great deal of time and service to the community and the county's portion of the cost, which would be halved with the town of Tofield, would be well spent.

Tofield Fire fighters will no longer man the phones on weekends and in the case of a fireman not hearing the phone the hospital will answer as they do in Viking. Fire officials in Tofield feel this may cause many problems as phone answerers at the hospital may be unfamiliar with the area the fire is in or the caller.

Tofield fire officials feel that without adequate communications the fire risks in this area will increase. The matter will be open for discussion in the new year as both sides investigate further.

Council gave final reading to by-law 813 which will see the closure of streets in the new Highway 834. The streets will be considered cut de sacs. Final reading was also given to by-law 826 which amends by-law 804 stating that any person who misses three consecutive meetings of the Tofield Parks and Recreation Board will no longer hold a position.

Another matter dealing with the Rec Board was formally recognized. Fred Bussey's replacement of Richard Strong who has resigned from the Board. The change of representatives takes place immediately.

Delta Cable Company has still not forwarded certain documentation needed to firm the arrangement with the Town of Tofield for cable television. Cable representatives did indicate at a meeting recently they felt the T.V. would be in place by February. Any other inquiries regarding this cable network should be directed to Delta.

Ed Regehr put forth a motion that the town formally invite an officer of the fire commissioner office to a meeting to explain the regulation regarding capacity at the community hall At the Carol Festival held last Sunday, it was apparent that more people could fit in the hall than is specified by the commission.

It was pointed out that it was illegal to allow more than specified to be in the hall and should any unfortunate incident happen the town would be liable. Regehr felt that perhaps arrangements could be worked out for special events like the festival.

The town office will be closed December 24 and 27 and garbage pickup over the holidays will be the Tuesday following Christmas and New Years.

breeders were after. Today things have taken a turn for yesteryear.

Herefords and 4-H go hand in hand and for over 28 years John devoted a great deal of time to local 4-H clubs. John recalls readily those that attended his first 4-H club including Howard and Doris Brown, the Kallal boys, the Causey boys and the Pisanis. Over the years the Moore daughters have also taken an active part in the 4-H Clubs led by their father.

John married the former Evelyn McRoberts in 1948. Together they have a family of daughters and as a family have contributed a great deal to the Hereford industry. Active members of the community and church the Moores still spend a great deal of time in the cattle business.

In 1955 when the first Hereford Club was formed John joined and subsequently served terms as president and vice-president. He has also taken part in the annual Hereford tour which started in *-grath and ended in Tofield.

In 1970 John leased his cows to Howard Schneider and is now an active partner in the Bar V operation and with that has enjoyed the success of sending a number of cows to England in 1981 and Agrentina in 1979. Many other cows from the Bar V have found homes in Canada and various parts of the United States.

At the dinner held in Red Deer John responded to the award by giving thanks to the many who have supported his endeavours throughout the years. He concluded his thankyou speech by, saying the thrill experienced by being inducted into the Hall of Fame will never be surpassed and he hopes many of his fellow cattlemen will be able to feel the same excitement if they too are inducted.

John was presented with a picture of himself with an appropriate plaque commemorating the honour. A larger copy of the photo will be mounted in the Hall of Fame for all to see. John Moore, resident of Tofield, Man of the Hour for the Alberta Hereford Association

Scouts on their way

by Yvonne Brown and Lesley Prinsen

After months of hard work the Tofield Scouts and their leaders have taken off for the islands of New Zealand and Australia.

The Scouts left the International Airport on Saturday and made a brief stop in Calgary before jetting to Los Angeles where they enjoyed a five-hour stop over.

Almost thirty relatives and friends gathered at the airport to wish the boys well. Joining the Tofield Scouts are two Ryley Scouts who also spent a great deal of time preparing for and consuming the many for the grand adventure.

Following their pit stop in L.A. the Scouts will board Air New Zealand and after a small eternity will touch down in Auckland, New Zealand where they will spend eight days touring the country, conceived by many, to be the closest thing to heaven on earth. The Scouts will leave Christchurch for Sydney, Australia where they will spend three days with host families who will show them the sights.

Christmas will be spent lying around the beach soaking up the sun and thinking of poor cold Tofield miles away. Following this the Scouts will take part in the Australian Jamboree before venturing back to Canada. Before they reach home they will spend a day at Disneyland and Knots Berry Farm and a glorious day on the beaches of Hawaii.

The Scouts worked right up to the last day carrying the necessary funds to allow this trip.

On Dec. 4, the Scouts were involved in a major drive collecting egg cartons, papers, bottles, cans and coupons.

The Scouts have been very successful with this fund raiser and plan to hold such a drive the first Saturday of every month starting in February.

A group of the Scouts put the finishing touches on John Bauman's garage just prior to departure day.

Last Friday the Scouts again had a table at the Tofield Farmer's Market where they successfully sold $130 worth of baked goods and assorted goodies.

Gloria Berg, who has been instrumental in the success of the Scout table, plans to continue the practice after the Scouts return. The funds in the future will be used for other projects or trips.

The Scouts feel that they owe the community a great deal for the continued support and encouragement in their latest venture.

Without this continued support, it would have been impossible to make the thousands of dollars needed to venture down under.

Program scheduled

by Lesley Prinsen

Tofield R.C.M.P. will be conducting random check stops during the Christmas season and warn drivers they will bear the full brunt of the law if driving while under the influence.

The check stop program which originates through the Attorney General's Department is one way the legal system deals with the increased drunk driving incidents over the festive season.

R.C.M.P. suggest to drivers who feel they may be over the limit, have a friend drive you home and pick up your car later

The random check stops will be carried out throughout the Tofield, Ryley and Holden areas.

It's hard to believe that this year is almost over and what do I say about that...good riddance...I would be among the first to say I think we got stuck with a used year at best...we should now set our sights on next year which needless to say can't be nearly as bad as this one.

Although, I have survived the holocausts rather well if not wearily...so onward and forward and up, up and away...so sayeth the hot air balloonists...it has been a particularly trying week...have you any idea how many Christmas things are going on...in how many places... many at the same time...I guess that's life in the fast lane.

Hey before you venture off to your Christmas holidays don't forget to stop in at the office and wish us goodness and lots of peanut butter...these kind of wishes go a long way...besides, it will give us a chance to return the warm wishes...

Have notice with any particular brilliance that I am babbling??? That's only because I don't have anything worthwhile to say this week...cat's got my tongue...and two toes but then you never could trust a cat who had his back to the other side of your face...that's why they wrote a book called 1001 uses for your dead cat...

And did you hear the one about the travelling salesman?? Me neither...according to ziggy Wednesday...the day I am worrying about right now but the same day that you left behind yesterday...anyway...is your day to touch base...and this Friday you get to knock on plastic...ah...these great literary masterpieces that I, unfortunately didn't think of and thus...explains why I am poor and...and what's his name rides in limos and on the backs of dead cats...after all when all is said and done...everyone else has their two cents they want to throw in...

Really is too bad with all this talent I can't harness it or at least draw cartoons to explain my insanity...had enough yet...I know I have...you really know you have problems when after a tangent of your creativity someone walks up to you and says...now that makes sense...that my friends...is the time to seek a hiding place...

You will be thrilled to know...the I doubt it...that after two months...almost...I have very nearly completed moving into the suite that already distinguishes itself from anywhere else I have lived because I have survived one break and enter, one near try, two floods, assorted mail thefts and an unmentionable amount of dirt...usually when I move I get right to it, making everything feel like home...all I did here was shuffle from one room to the next...well there you have it...are we done yet...no chancey chancey...who by the way used to have his own cartoon column but ran out of ink...unlike me who just put in a new ribbon...
